The Honorable Federico Peña
Mayor, City and County of Denver
350 City and County Building
Denver, CO 80202

Dear Mayor Peña:

Each year it is a distinct pleasure to submit the Annual Report of the Denver Police Department which highlights achievements of police civilian and sworn personnel. The year 1986 will certainly etch an indelible mark in Denver Police history because of the dramatic improvements involving departmental reorganization, acquisition of new vehicle fleet, application of innovative computer technology, significant increases in productivity, and authorization to increase the total number of sworn officers in the Department were positive milestones.

Under Chief Tom Coogan's leadership, decentralization of personnel and expansion of District Command responsibility to serve Denver's neighborhoods continues to bring our police officers closer to the residents of the community they serve. Our accomplishments are significant because their achievement occurred in a year of economic scarcity, and this progress would not have been possible had we not enjoyed your personal support as well as the leadership of your office.

In the name of all the officers and civilians of the Denver Police Department, we submit this Annual Report for your review and consideration.

Sincerely,

J. D. MacFarlane

Dear Manager MacFarlane:

It is my pleasure to submit to you the Annual Report of the Denver Police Department for 1986. This report reflects not only the considerable individual efforts made by our employees but also the departmental measures which encouraged and facilitated those efforts over the past year.

Traditionally, fear of crime has been of paramount concern to the public. The reassignment of personnel from support units to the patrol districts and the resulting increased visibility of police has reinforced public confidence in our department. The organizational changes of 1986 which created this more effective utilization of available staff resources also allowed officers to work more closely, thus fostering teamwork and cooperation in the achievement of common objectives.

We were able to positively resolve many important personnel issues by seeking and bringing about a significant revision of the City Charter which changed the working rules and responsibilities of the Civil Service Commission. In concert with the new disciplinary procedure, a grievance process was successfully implemented.

In order to enhance departmental communications and narrow the span of control at the administrative level, the new position of Deputy Chief was established. Department operations can now be more closely monitored and additional managerial accountability is assured.

Our progress during the past year has been furthered by your continued efforts toward the acquisition of additional personnel and state-of-the-art technological resources. The success of our many endeavors throughout 1986 and, no doubt, in the future is dependent upon your continued involvement and support.

Sincerely,

The Deputy Chief, a rank established during 1986, has the authority to supervise those bureaus which had previously reported directly to the Chief of Police. The Deputy Chief is responsible for the disciplinary, budgetary and intelligence activities of the Department.

rudolph phannenstiel*

The Operations Division provides immediate response services to the public as well as traffic control and enforcement. Support units within this division offer tactical assistance to line officers.

division chief casey simpson

The reorganization of the Department added juvenile and accident investigation responsibilities to the Criminal Investigation Division, making it the Department's second largest Division. All investigation assignments are now centralized in one Division.

division command

division chief robert dunkley

A wide range of support activities is carried out by the Staff Services Division: management of the police fleet and Department facilities, research, inventory and security of recovered property and evidence.

division chief michael o'neill

Accelerated hiring and the increased emphasis on training for veteran officers gave impetus to the creation of the Training Division. This Division also manages the Psychological Services Unit and the new Public Safety Cadet Program.

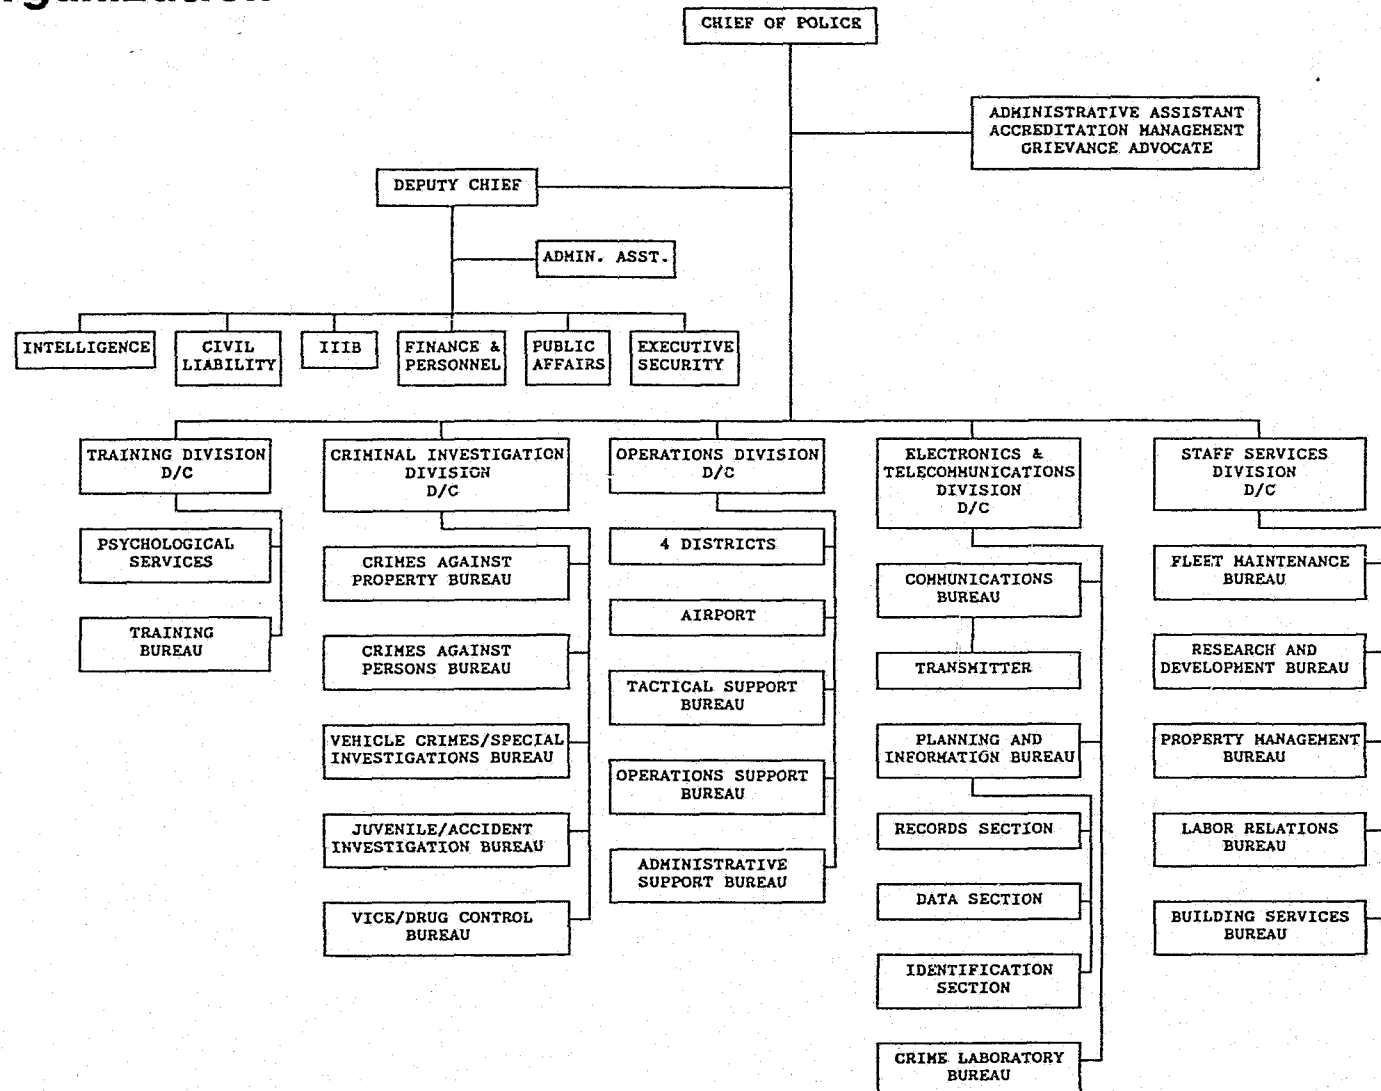

division chief donald mulnix

The Electronics and Telecommunications Division was created this year and encompasses those departmental units heavily reliant upon computers and other complex technical equipment. Radio communications, automated information systems, crime laboratory services and record management are provided by this Division.

Officer and Civilian Salaries/Benefits	$77,737,800.00
Operating Expenses	$ 4,722,800.00
Minor Equipment Replacement	$ 70,000.00
TOTAL POLICE BUDGET	$82,530,600.00
Per Capita Cost	$161.89

Fifty years ago, Denver's police fleet of sixty-five vehicles, twenty motorcycles, and two ambulances travelled 1,868,539 miles a year. The fleet cost was $89,727.12 and the fleet operation was managed by one detective assigned to the Automotive Equipment Unit.

In 1986, the 884 vehicles in the police fleet travelled over 10,660,116 miles. The fleet's annual cost of $2,632,021.00 was administered by the Fleet Maintenance Bureau. The Fleet Maintenance Bureau was organized into a Garage Section, Service Center and a Motor Pool. The Bureau was staffed by four police officers (lieutenant, sergeant, detective, and technician), four civilian supervisors and thirty-six civilian employees.

In addition to maintaining, operating and equipping the police department's vehicles and motorcycles, the Fleet Maintenance Bureau was also responsible for the vehicles used by the Denver Sheriff's Department, District Attorney's Office, County Court Marshals, Manager of Safety's Office and the Mayor's Office. Thus, the administration of one of the Department's largest expenses required a number of innovative programs designed to minimize fleet operating costs and to maximize vehicle utilization.

The first major program in 1986 was the acquisition of new patrol cars through a Master Lease Purchase Arrangement developed by the Manager of Safety. This contractual arrangement calls for the addition of 214 new patrol cars to replace an equal number of older vehicles each year. The leased vehicles will be used for two and one-half years, or 50,000 miles, before they are sold as surplus.

The Master Lease Purchase Arrangement program allows the Department to utilize new patrol cars every year, pay only for the portion of a vehicle's life used during the term of the contract, and receive a guaranteed residual value from each car at the end of the lease. The lease agreement also provides an additional maintenance package beyond that provided by each new vehicle's warranty.

A second improvement program included the development of a mileage rotation system designed to insure an equitable accumulation of mileage among the entire fleet. For example, a precinct car rolling up high mileage, usually 30,000 miles, within one year will be replaced with a lower mileage unit. High mileage cars are either placed in a motor pool or refurbished for plainclothes assignments for an additional 20,000 miles. This system guarantees full vehicle utilization and a higher re-sale value when the car is sold at 50,000 miles.

In addition to keeping the best cars on patrol, the Fleet Maintenance Bureau has equipped the patrol cars with first aid kits, disposable blankets, fire extinguishers, flares, and extrication devices. The outfitting of the patrol cars with emergency and medical supplies has improved the emergency response capabilities of the patrol officer.

Another improvement has been in the development of a participative preventative maintenance program at each district station. An officer from each station assumes the role of a Vehicle Maintenance Coordinator (VMC). The duties of the VMC's are to maintain the necessary liaison between the precinct officer and the garage mechanics, to insure that district cars receive the necessary preventative maintenance and repairs, and to follow-up on all work performed by the garage and service center.

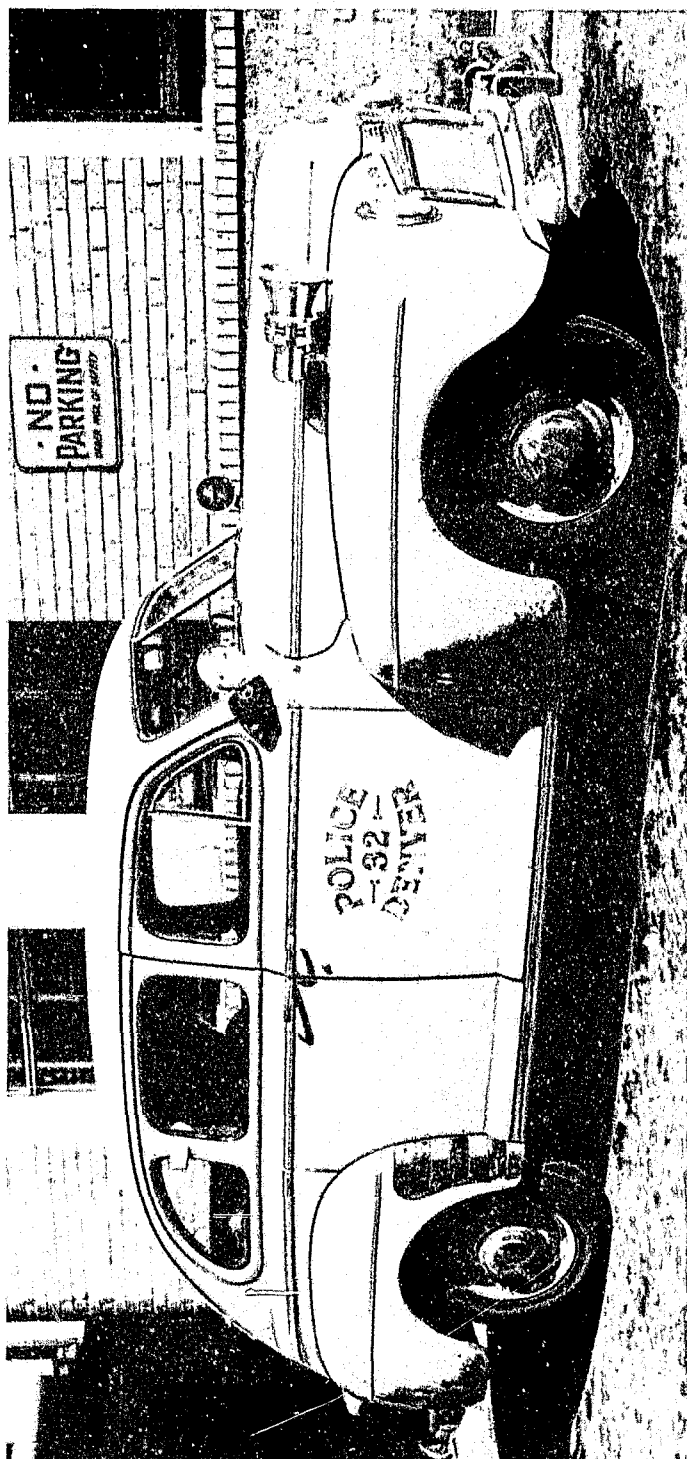

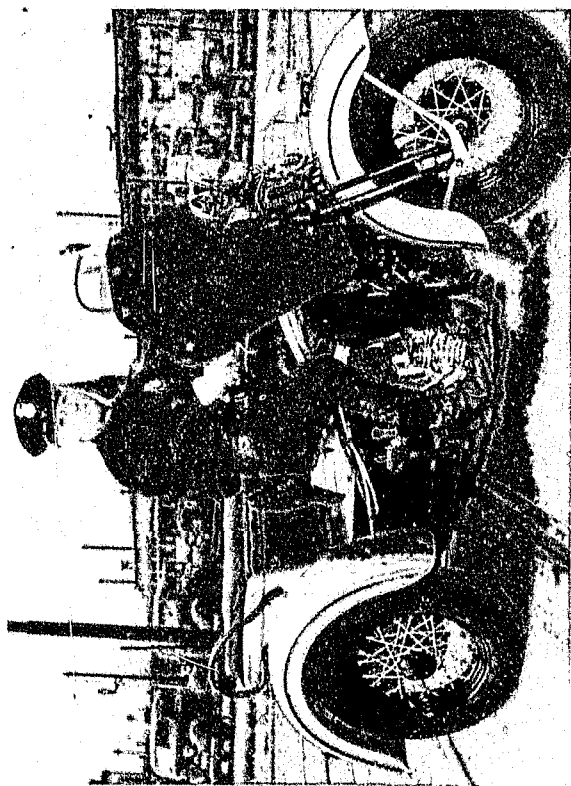

A final improvement program has been the installation and utilization of a computerized fleet management information system. The system provides worthwhile information on such things as maintenance checklists and costs, gas and oil consumption, vehicle mileage and costs, and inventories. The system affords management reliable and timely information on every aspect of the fleet service operation.

The operation of the police fleet has come a long way since the days of a single supervisor. The Fleet Maintenance Bureau has acquired dedicated persons with specialized talents to operate a multi-million dollar operation.

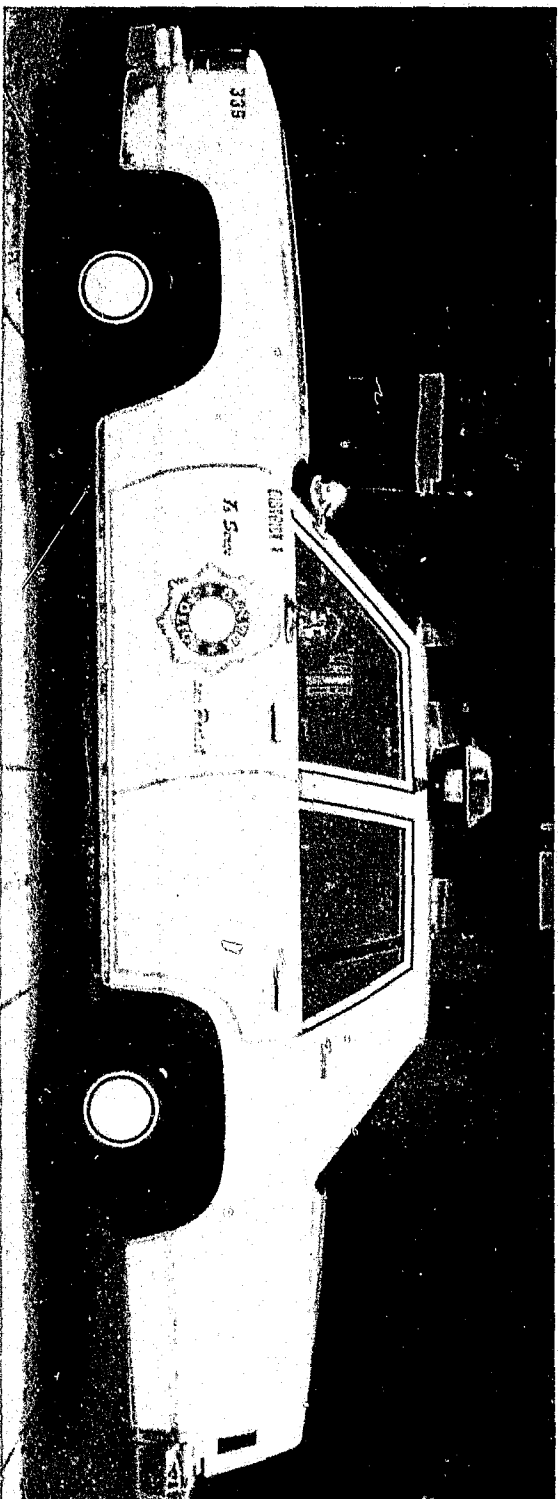

What does the future hold? In one respect it will be more of the same: continued emphasis on supplying and maintaining the best transportation available to assist the Department in fulfilling the police mission.

In 1969, the Denver Police Cadet Program began under the direction of Division Chief Tom O'Neill. Before it was discontinued in 1977, 157 young people with an interest in law enforcement became Denver Police Cadets. Of these 157, 91 eventually joined the Department and 83 are still so employed. Many of these Cadets have attained rank: there are currently 9 Lieutenants, 23 Sergeants, 16 Detectives, and 13 Technicians on the Denver Police Department who are former Cadets.

Under the direction of Manager of Safety MacFarlane, the program was restarted on September 16, 1986 as the Public Safety Cadet Program. Of the 54 Cadets hired, 34 were assigned to the Police Department and 20 to the Sheriff's Department.

The current program is under the supervision of Division Chief Michael O'Neill of the Training Division and is designed to be an apprenticeship program for a career in law enforcement. Additionally, it is hoped that it will prove to be an effective minority recruitment tool. The Cadets work twenty-five hours per week for the Department while taking ten credit hours of college instruction per semester, with tuition paid by the City.

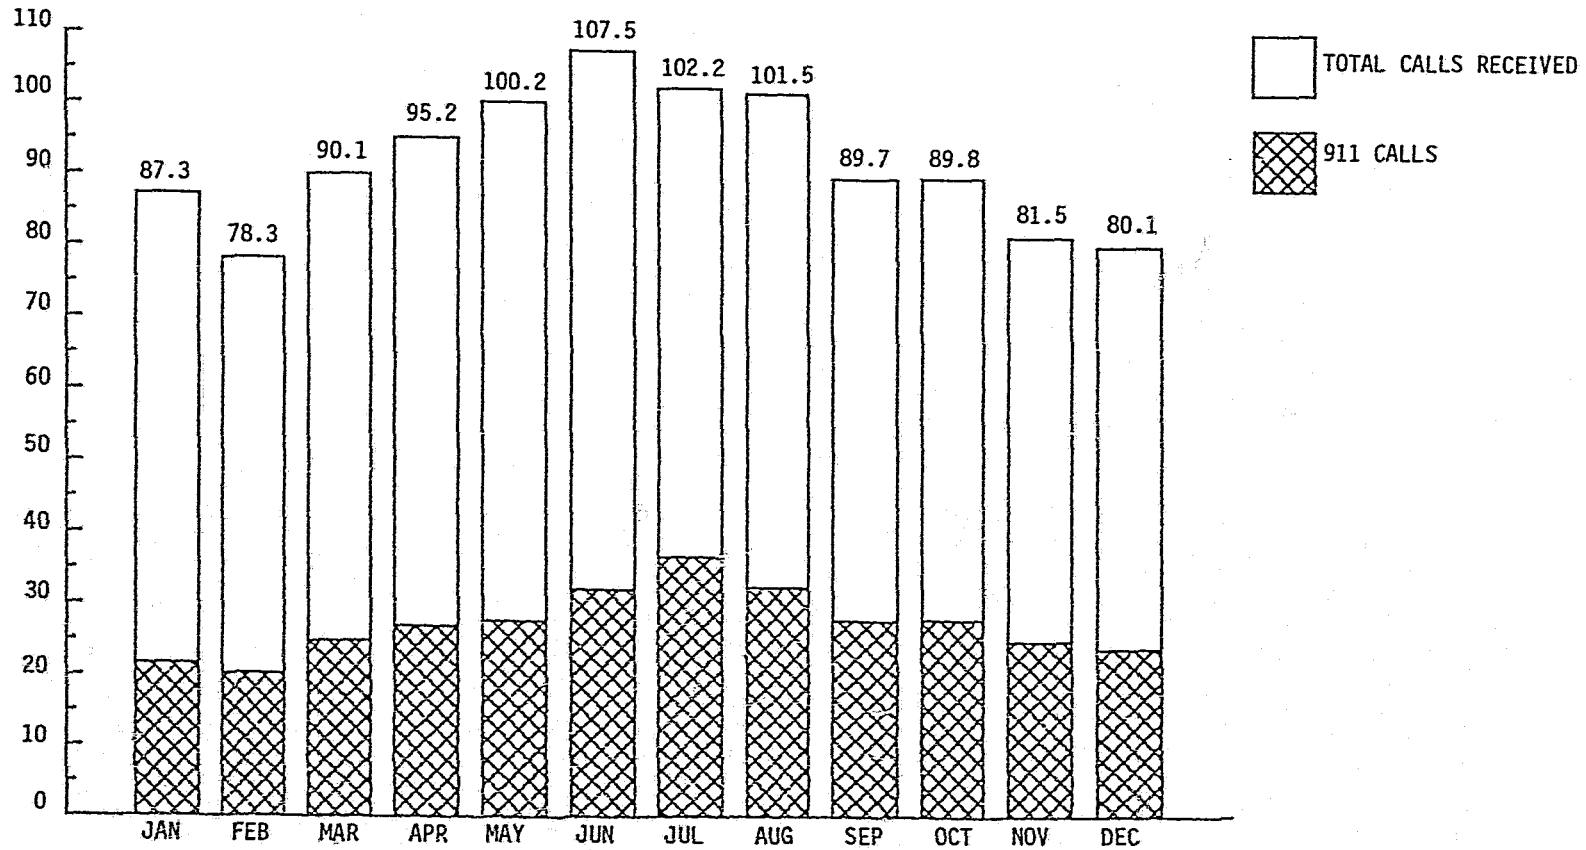

The Cadets are assigned to clerical duties throughout the Department, the assignments being rotated on a regular basis so that they might receive a broad overview of the Department.

On January 1, 1986, the option of a twenty year retirement for officers on the old pension plan became a reality. The following day, a class of twenty-nine probationary officers was sworn in and began training. The Denver Police Museum, a collection of police memorabilia dating to the late 1800's, began moving to the lobby of the Police Administration Building from the Research and Development Bureau on January 7.

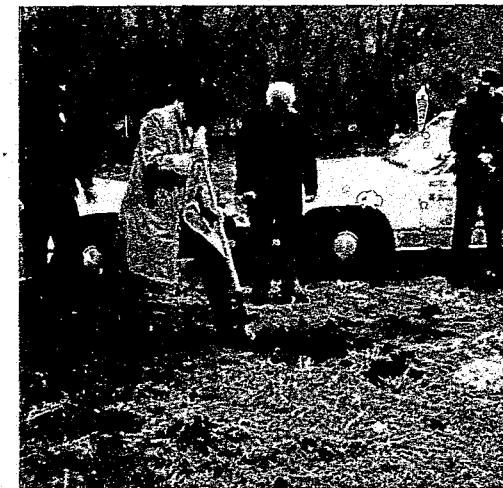

On February 14, the long awaited yearbooks became available for distribution. The yearbook, a pictorial history of the Denver Police Department and summary of the "good old days", was the culmination of many months of work by Officer Bill Almond. On the 16th, Division Chief Art Arita retired after twenty-nine years of service. His position was filled by the promotion of Captain Rudy Phannenstiel. Also promoted on the 16th were James Collier to the rank of Captain, Chester Gordon to the rank of Lieutenant and Robert Organ and Darrell Wisdom to the rank of Sergeant.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held on the 18th of March for the new District Four substation located at West Evans Avenue and South Clay Street. This new facility will include modern work-out facilities as well as needed "breathing space" for the officers and detectives assigned to District Four.

On May 1, twenty-five officers were promoted. Eleven Sergeants were promoted to the rank of Lieutenant: Fred Carter, Donald Fink, Thomas Haney, Dale Lawless, Paul Mueller, Joseph Ortiz, Thomas Sanchez, Daniel Sewald, Charles Smith, John Weber, and Thomas Wood. Fourteen officers were promoted to the rank of Sergeant: William Chew, J. Milton Gras, Thomas Heath, Alan Jones, Donald Maddock, Marsha McCall, Robbi McKay, B. J. Morgan, Martin O'Dowd, Michael Phelan, Gordon Reed, Michael Rondinelli, Dale Spence, and Timothy VanPortfliet. On the 11th of May, Officer Dave Duncan was shot and wounded at Joe's Buffet. The suspect was located and arrested.

Officer Tim Pulford was shot while observing an unruly crowd from a rooftop at the Juneteenth Celebration in Five Points on June 21. The suspect was later arrested. Due to projected city budgetary problems, the option of officers taking unused sick leave in pay was denied for 1987.

The new Offense Reporting system went into effect on July 1. This system places more responsibility for initial field investigations on the reporting officer and has solvability factors built into the system.

On August 8, LaDonna Tramble of the Pawnshop Records Unit was honored by Mayor Peña as the Denver Career Service "1986 Employee of the Year". Officer Frank Padilla was shot and wounded in Curtis Park, 31st and Champa, on August 13. Officer Padilla was able to return fire and fatally wound the suspect. The reorganization of the Denver Police Department went into effect on August 16. The Traffic and Patrol Divisions were combined and all investigative assignments were centralized in the Criminal Investigation Division. The position of Deputy Chief was also created.

The new Grievance Procedure went into effect on September 1. For five days, September 6 - 10, the Denver Police Department hosted the 24th International Association of Women Police Training Conference. Four hundred thirty women officers, from as far away as Australia and Israel, attended. On the 16th of September, the new Public Safety Cadet Program became a reality. This new program is patterned after a highly successful Police Cadet Program which was discontinued in 1977. Of the fifty-four college students hired for service in the Department of Safety, thirty-four were assigned to the Police Department.

October 16th saw eight departmental promotions. Sergeants Timothy Cuthriell, Robert Hilburn, Juan Maldonado and Dennis Salazar were promoted to the rank of Lieutenant. William Clayton, Donald Lindley, Michael Ross and Rolf Vensand were promoted to the rank of Sergeant.

Forty probationary officers were sworn in on November 3. The municipal election of November 4th saw City Charter changes pertaining to the Denver Police Department being passed. These included the official creation of the rank of Deputy Chief and the approval of changes in Civil Service Commission duties and responsibilities. On November 14, officers from the Denver Police Department Bomb Unit and the METRO/SWAT Section were called to assist officers from other jurisdictions in what became a fifty-six hour barricade situation in Thornton, Colorado. After hours of unsuccessful negotiations, as well as repeated incidents of officers being fired upon by the suspect, explosives were used and entry made into the house. The suspect in the incident was shot and killed.

Nineteen eighty-six ended on a tragic note. Officer Patrick Pollock was shot and killed while pursuing a robbery suspect on December 12. The suspect was then shot and killed by Officer Dan Saracino.

no, this wasn't wyatt earp, all alone against the bad guys. but, sort of.
the bad guys are out there, more and more of them.
and it's not just a job. it's lousy hours, ridiculous pay, broken ribs, emotional strain, and lost of second thoughts.
but maybe, once in a while, they like to think they helped somebody.
and that, finally, is their reward.

john coit, as quoted in the rocky mountain news, 1985

the last hurrah !

God does not deduct from man's allotted time those hours spent in fishing.

A man could retire nicely in his old age if he could dispose of his experience for what it cost him.
