Preface

This publication is the 17th in a series of reports that present public expenditure and employment data on civil and criminal justice activities in the United States. In this report, expenditure data cover fiscal years 1971-79 and 1985, and employment data are for the month of October of those years. The survey methodology section of the text discusses the variation in some fiscal year ending dates.

Specific data are supplied for the Federal Government, each of the 50 State governments, and the aggregate local level of government within each State. Data are published separately for the aggregate county governments and the aggregate municipal governments (cities, towns, and townships) within each State, for each of the 72 counties with a 1982 population of 500,000 or more, and for the 49 municipalities with a 1982 population of 300,000 or more.

The data in this report were collected by a special Survey of Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment, which was an annual survey from 1971 to 1979. The report series was resumed with less detailed data beginning with fiscal year 1980 from an alternative source. The data in this report are derived from a methodology that is essentially comparable to that which produced data for 1971-79, but not to that which produced data for other years. See the survey methodology section for details.

Important note

Changes in methodology in the justice expenditure and employment series in 1980 complicate trend analysis. The data in this report are comparable to data for 1971-79. Short-term, single-year trend analysis for 1980-85 should rely on data from Justice Expenditure and Employment Extracts: 1980 and 1981, 1982 and 1983, and 1984 and 1985 (forthcoming). See the survey methodology sections of this report and of the Extracts reports for more information.

Introduction

Organization of this report

The text describes in detail the survey methodology, data sources and limitations, and significant changes in methodology since 1979.

Following the text are the main tables, which are organized into four major parts:

- Section I presents summary tables designed to be comparable to the text tables in the 1971-79 annual and trend reports (tables A-R).

- Section II presents "variable pass-through" data (table 1), with an accompanying explanation of this unique concept.

- Section III presents summary data for the justice system at the Federal, State, and local government levels and data for individual governments, showing the interrelationship of the various sectors of the justice system (tables 2-20).

- Sections IV-IX cover each of the six "sectors" of the justice system individually, providing where possible a further breakdown of data on particular justice activities (tables 21-54).

Within section I, tables A through J present trend data for 1971-79 and 1985; tables K through P present detailed national data for 1985, particularly for judicial and correctional activities; table Q presents trend per capita expenditure data by State; and table R presents population and justice expenditure and employment data for independent cities and city-county consolidated governments.

Two tables in section V present data on State and large county judicial expenditures by type of court. Several tables in section VIII display data on expenditure for the three corrections subfunctions (that is, institutions; probation, pardon, and parole; and other corrections) by State and type of government.

Within sections III-IX, tables are arranged to show--

- State and local estimates by type of justice activity, by State
- data for each of the 50 State governments and for 72 large counties and 49 large cities.

Within each of the sections, the expenditure tables are presented first, followed by employment and payroll tables.

Finally, appendix 1 contains definitions for concepts and terms used in this report, and appendix 2 presents the questionnaires used in the mail panel of the survey.

Unlike earlier volumes in this series, this report contains no analysis of the data. Data findings were presented in Justice Expenditure and Employment, 1985 (BJS Bulletin, March 1987, NCJ-104460). Single copies of that bulletin can be obtained as described on the inside front cover of this report.

Obtaining additional justice expenditure and employment data

The inside front cover of this report lists other BJS publications and describes how to obtain them. Data are also available on magnetic data tape through the National Criminal Justice Data Archive, Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research, P.O. Box 1248, Ann Arbor, MI 48106, (313) 763-5010.

Important definitions

Although detailed definitions for the terms, concepts, and categories used in this report are presented in the appendix, four concepts that recur frequently are worth noting.

The first, total expenditure, comprises direct and intergovernmental expenditure of a government or type of government. In the expenditure tables, certain totals were adjusted to exclude duplicative intergovernmental expenditure amounts. For example, money paid by a State government to a county government within that State is reported by the State government as an intergovernmental expenditure and by the county government as a direct expenditure when the money is spent (for salaries, wages, equipment, and so forth). Therefore, to arrive at a combined State-local government total that does not duplicate these transactions, intergovernmental expenditure amounts are deducted from the State-local total because those amounts also are reflected in the direct expenditure of the recipient government. The same treatment is used for intergovernmental payments between counties and municipalities within the same State when computing local totals. Thus, the only intergovernmental amounts included in "local, total" figures are those to the State government. Totals reported for "all governments" also are adjusted to exclude duplicative intergovernmental expenditure involving the Federal Government.

The second concept is full-time equivalent employment. This is a statistical measure that represents the total number of employees (full time and part time), discounted by applying average full-time earning rates. It is calculated by dividing the total payroll amount (full time plus part time) by the full-time payroll amount and multiplying the resultant quotient by the number of full-time employees. This calculation is performed separately at the individual function level for each respondent government. Consequently, summaries by State, type of government, and function are aggregates of individual calculations.

Introduction

Total general expenditure includes data for general purpose governments (Federal, State, county, city, town, and township governments) and limited purpose governments (independent school districts and special districts). Justice expenditure and employment data are not collected for school district and special district governments by design so that the level of justice activity among general purpose governments, main providers of such services, can be measured or compared separately. However, tables that present justice expenditure and employment as a percentage of all government functions include special districts and school districts in the base to allow comparisons across States that make varying use of such governments.

Note that these percentages are not comparable to those presented in reports for 1971-79 because the 1971-79 reports used different denominators.

Also important to note is that in the justice expenditure and employment series the judicial, legal services and prosecution, and public defense categories include expenditure and employment data for both civil and criminal justice activities because available source documents for many governments do not segregate these activities for courts or agencies that handle both. Nor are the State and local government officials who provide the survey data able to make this break reliably and consistently. Therefore, in the absence of a consistent and reliable basis for proration, both criminal and civil activities are included for these categories to preserve uniformity in the collection and presentation of data.

Independent cities and consolidated city-county governments

Certain cities are either independent, being wholly outside any county area, or operate wholly or in part as a consolidated city-county. Data for these governments are included in the city tables and under "municipal" government totals in the summary tables because the Census Bureau classifies them this way for general governmental surveys. However, these cities are more similar to large counties than to other large cities in the scope of their justice responsibilities; that is, in addition to police protection, which is the primary justice function in most cities, these cities also operate extensive judicial and corrections systems and may have significant public defense expenditures.

The independent cities are: Washington, DC; Baltimore, MD; St. Louis, MO; Carson City, NV; and the following cities in Virginia: Alexandria, Chesapeake, Hampton, Lynchburg, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Richmond, Roanoke, Virginia Beach, and 31 others. Data are not available for six Virginia cities not included in the survey sample and for four cities that did not respond.

The consolidated city-county governments are: Anchorage, Juneau, and Sitka, AK; San Francisco, CA; Denver, CO; Jacksonville, FL; Columbus, GA; Honolulu, HI; Indianapolis, IN; Lexington, KY; Baton Rouge, New Orleans, and Houma, LA; Boston and Nantucket, MA; Anaconda-Deer Lodge and Butte-Silver Bow, MT; New York City, NY; Philadelphia, PA; and Nashville-Davidson, TN. One government did not respond.

Data for independent cities and consolidated city-county governments appear in table R to show their effect on total municipal direct expenditure and employment for all criminal justice functions.

Survey methodology: Sources and limitations of the data

Survey coverage and collection methods are described in detail below, and the definitions applied in the collection of data are presented in appendix 1 and the questionnaires in appendix 2.

Survey coverage

The data in this report were collected by the Bureau of the Census for the Bureau of Justice Statistics using a special sample survey of State and local governments. Data were collected for the Federal Government, all State governments, all county governments, and all municipalities (and townships in the six New England States, the three Middle Atlantic States, Michigan, and Wisconsin) having a 1980 population of 10,000 or more as well as for a sample of the remaining municipalities and townships. A total of 8,223 local governments were included in the survey panel (3,041 county governments, 4,215 municipalities, and 967 townships).

The justice data in this report include the expenditures and employment of the Federal Government, the State governments, all county governments, and a sample of municipal and township governments. Unless otherwise noted, data for total general expenditure also include the expenditures of special districts and school districts, which generally do not have justice functions. Justice expenditure data for these districts are no longer collected; in 1978 (the most recent year for which such data are available) 0.6% of justice expenditure was made by such districts. The special district and school district data are included in the total government spending to allow State-by-State comparisons across States that make varying use of such districts.

It is important to note that long-term trend comparisons between the data in this report and data in the Justice Expenditure and Employment Extracts reports are complicated by changes in methodology in the justice expenditure and employment series. These changes are described briefly later in this section and in detail in the BJS reports for those years.

The survey period

Federal Government data are shown for fiscal year 1985, which began on October 1, 1984, and ended on September 30, 1985. The State expenditure data presented in this report cover the fiscal year ending June 30, 1985, for all States except four whose fiscal years ended as follows: New York, March 31, 1985; Texas, August 31, 1985; and Alabama and Michigan, September 30, 1985. However, there are some State agencies that operate on a different fiscal year basis from the rest of the State government. In such instances, figures shown are for the agency's fiscal year that ended within the State's regular fiscal year.

For local governments the 1985 fiscal years reported are those that closed between July 1, 1984, and June 30, 1985. Most municipalities and counties ended their fiscal years on December 31, 1984, or June 30, 1985. The fiscal year reported for Washington, D.C., ended on September 30, 1985.

Employment and payroll data shown for Federal, State, and local governments are for October 1985.

Data collection

The survey was accomplished using two methods of data collection: field compilation and mail canvass. Trained field representatives compiled expenditure and employment data from the governments' own records for the 50 States, the 72 largest counties, and the 49 largest cities. The compilation work was done between July 1985 and April, 1986, in accordance with the definitions presented in appendix 1. All other units in the sample were canvassed by mail for expenditure and employment data over a 6-month period beginning in December 1985 and ending in May, 1986. Response for field-compiled units was 100%. The response for mail canvass units was 88%. The mail canvass questionnaires are exhibited in appendix 2.

Data for the Federal Government were extracted from Budget of the United States Government, Fiscal Year 1987, Appendix. For 1985, that document allowed the classification of appropriate expenditure and employment amounts for the Naturalization and Immigration Service, the U.S. Customs Service, and the Internal Revenue Service as "prosecution and legal services." In earlier years, those amounts could not be broken out of the "police protection" category.

The field survey efforts and mail canvass were supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, financial statements, and audit reports. In some cases, such sources were the basis for breakdowns of totals into more detailed employment and expenditure figures.

Changes over time

As discussed earlier, this series of annual reports dates back to fiscal year 1967. The series originated in the Bureau of the Census as a special in-house study in which police protection, judicial, and corrections data were extracted for selected large governments from data compiled in the Bureau's regular annual finance and employment sample surveys. In the fiscal year 1969 survey, prosecution and public defense were added to the original three criminal justice categories, coverage was extended to the entire regular annual survey sample of counties and municipalities, and a mail canvass questionnaire designed specifically to elicit criminal justice data was used for all but the largest governments that were canvassed by field agents. For the 1971 survey, a separate sample was designed and selected, and definitions were refined to meet the needs of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration block grant program that used expenditure data in its allocation formula. These changes must be taken into account in making year-to-year comparisons from fiscal years 1967 through 1971. Data for 1971-79 are essentially comparable.

Survey methodology: Sources and limitations of the data

In late 1980 the Survey of Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment (CJEE) was canceled for budgetary reasons. That survey was the source of detailed, comprehensive statistics on the justice activities of the Federal, State, and local governments for 1971-79. Each annual survey resulted in a preliminary report, an annual publication providing national and State-local estimates as well as individual government data, a volume displaying trends since 1971, and additional data accessible on magnetic tape.

Beginning with data for 1980, limited justice expenditure and employment data were extracted from the Census Bureau's censuses and sample surveys of governmental finances and employment and were published in the 1980-86 Justice Expenditure and Employment reports. These sources have traditionally provided limited data on the justice sectors of police protection and corrections, with slightly more data being collected for the State and largest local governments. Beginning with 1982 these surveys began collecting "judicial and legal services" data as a separate category, allowing estimation of total justice expenditure and employment for the first time since 1979.

For comparative purposes table E of the 1980 and 1981 justice expenditure and employment report provides State and local government police protection and corrections expenditure for fiscal years 1979 (the last year of data from the CJEE survey), 1980, and 1981. Table F provides similar data for employment covering October 1979, 1980, and 1981.

In making trend comparisons, users should limit their analysis to one of the two sources:

- long-term trends for 1971-79 and 1985 from the CJEE series
- recent single-year trends from the 1980-86 Extracts reports.

Data limitations

The sample selected to develop local government figures is one of all possible samples of the same size that could have been chosen using the same sampling design. Estimates derived from these different samples would differ from each other and also from a complete census using the same data collection procedures. This variation among all possible estimates is sampling error. Because all State and county governments were included in the survey, State and county figures are not subject to sampling error.

The local government sample for the 1985 survey was designed to produce an estimate for each State of the portion of total justice expenditure made by local governments, with a relative sampling error of less than half of 1.0% at the two-thirds confidence level. Testing at the 95% confidence level found that the errors were less than half of 1.0% in 23 States and between .5% and 1% in 22 States; it was between 1.0% and 2.0% in 5 States.

The results of the computations of standard errors for local government totals by State on a relative standard error basis at the 95% confidence level are:

.5% or less	.5%-1.0%	Between 1.0%-2.0%

Colorado	Arkansas	Kansas

Because State government figures are not subject to sampling variation, the State-local aggregates shown for individual States are more reliable than the local government estimates they include.

The data are also subject to the inaccuracies in classification, response, and processing that would occur if a complete census had been conducted under the same conditions as the sample survey. Every effort was made to keep such errors to a minimum through care in examining, editing, and tabulating the data submitted by government officials. Followup procedures were used extensively to clarify inadequate and inconsistent survey returns.

Readers should be generally cautious in comparing governments because differences in functional responsibilities from State to State and government to government can also affect the comparability of expenditure and employment data. For example, some State governments directly administer certain activities that elsewhere are undertaken by local governments, with or without fiscal aid; the same variation in the division of responsibilities exists for counties and cities.

The available source documents did not consistently provide full itemization of expenditure or employment for the sector subcategories presented in this report. As a result, sector breakdowns may be incomplete for particular governmental units.

The detail data in some tables may not add precisely to the totals shown because of rounding.

Note: Detail may not add to total because of rounding. Duplicative transactions between levels of governments are excluded from the total for all governments, the State and local total, and the local total. Such intergovernmental expenditure consists of payments from one government to another and eventually will show up as a direct expenditure of a recipient government.

¹ Local government data are estimates subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

The data in table 1 were developed to comply with the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Street Act of 1968, as amended which requires that the block grants made by the Bureau of Justice Assistance to each State be allocated between the State and local governments according to the ratio of State-to-local criminal justice expenditure. The legislative history of this Act indicates that these expenditures are to be from the government's own revenue sources.

The concept of "expenditure from own sources" means that the expenditure figures from which the State-to-local ratio were developed do not include amounts expended from revenue received from other governments. For example, State or local government expenditure from sales or property tax revenue are included but not amounts expended from intergovernmental revenue, such as Federal grant monies. It should be noted that this is the only table in this publication based on this concept. All other expenditure tables reflect expenditure from all sources.

See appendix 1, Definition of terms, for details on what expenditures are included and excluded from the variable pass-through data.

¹Local governments data are estimates subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²Federal Government data are for the fiscal period beginning Oct. 1, 1984 and ending Sept. 30, 1985.

³The total line for each sector, and for the total Justice System, excludes duplicative intergovernmental expenditure amounts. This was done to avoid the artificial inflation that would result if an intergovernmental expenditure amount for one government is tabulated and then counted again when the recipient government(s) ultimately expend(s) that amount. The intergovernmental expenditure lines are not totaled for the same reason.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²Estimated population of States as of July 1 is derived from Bureau of the Census, Current Population Reports, Series P-25, No. 998, March 1986.

³Includes outlays of States and all types of local governments including independent school districts and special districts, which are not displayed separately. The "Local, total" lines, which include these districts, will not equal the sum of the "Counties" and "Municipalities" lines.

⁴For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines (opposite each State's name) exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State governments and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²Estimated population of States as of July 1 is derived from Bureau of the Census, Current Population Reports, Series P-25, No. 998, March 1986.

³Includes outlays of States and all types of local governments including independent school districts and special districts, which are not displayed separately. The "Local, total" lines, which include these districts, will not equal the sum of the "Counties" and "Municipalities" lines.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines (opposite each State's name) exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

³Data for "Other" corrections are for State governments only.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

¹Data for municipalities, and the local government totals that include municipal data, are estimates subject to sampling variability; data for counties (boroughs, parishes) are based on a canvass of all county governments and therefore are not subject to sampling variability; see text for details.

²For each State and the United States summary, the expenditure figures shown on the "Local, total" lines and the combined State-local total lines opposite each State's name exclude duplicative intergovernmental transactions. Thus, the "Local, total" lines include intergovernmental payments only to the State government and the combined State-local total lines exclude all intergovernmental payments. See text for details.

Definitions of terms

The following is a glossary of terms and concepts used in this report and comments regarding their limitations.

The definitions are those applied in the field compilation of data for the 50 States, 72 largest counties, and 49 largest cities. These definitions were necessarily summarized for inclusion in the survey questionnaires (see appendix 2) sent to governments in the mail portion of the survey.

These terms are grouped into four categories:

- governmental units and types of governments
- governmental expenditure
- governmental employment
- governmental functions.

Governmental units and types of governments

A government is an organized entity whose governmental character is evidenced by popular election of the officials or their appointment by public officials, a high degree of public accountability, and the power to raise revenue to provide authorized services. In addition, a governmental unit must have sufficient discretion in the management of its own affairs to distinguish it from the administrative structure of any other governmental unit.

Federal Government. The term Federal, as used in this report, encompasses all activities of the United States Government other than employment of the Armed Forces. District of Columbia data are excluded from this category and included with data for municipalities.

State governments. This category refers to the governments of the 50 States that constitute the United States.

Local governments. The Bureau of the Census classifies local governments by five major types:

- county
- municipality
- township
- independent school district
- special district.

Counties. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation except in Connecticut, the District of Columbia, Rhode Island, and limited portions of a few other States. These governments are legally designated as "boroughs" in Alaska and "parishes" in Louisiana. Excluded from county government statistics and included with municipalities or townships are certain local governments that combine area and governmental characteristics of both counties and municipalities or townships. (See the introduction section, independent cities and consolidated city-county governments.)

Municipalities and townships. As used in this report, "municipalities" includes two of the Census Bureau's separate classes of local governments--"municipalities" and "townships." A municipality is a political subdivision within which a municipal corporation has been established to provide general local government services for a specific population concentration in a defined area. A municipality may be legally termed a city, village, borough (except in Alaska), or town (except in the New England States, Minnesota, New York, and Wisconsin). Included in this category are certain cities that are completely or substantially consolidated with their county governments, operate outside the geographic limits of any county, or for other reasons have no organized county government operations within their boundaries. (See the introduction section, independent cities and consolidated city-county governments.) Townships, as distinguished from municipalities, are created to serve inhabitants of areas defined without regard to population concentration. This classification is applied to local governments in 20 States, including government units officially designated as "towns" in the 6 New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; and some "locations" in New Hampshire. In Minnesota the terms "town" and "township" are used interchangeably. In this report, data for townships are included under the "municipalities" category.

Independent school districts. These governments are organized local entities providing public elementary, secondary, and/or higher education, which, under State law, have sufficient administration and fiscal autonomy to qualify as separate governments. Excluded are dependent public school systems of county, municipal, township, or State governments. Justice data are not collected for these districts because these governments generally perform no justice functions. However, data for these governments are included

In the denominator when justice expenditure is presented as a percentage of all government expenditure to allow comparisons across States and governments that make varying use of these districts. (See the survey methodology section.)

Special districts. These are organized local entities (other than counties, municipalities, townships, and school districts) authorized by State law to provide a limited number of designated functions and with sufficient autonomy to qualify as separate governments. They are known by a variety of names, including districts, authorities, boards, and commissions. Justice data are not collected for these districts because these governments generally perform few justice functions and then only as an adjunct to their primary purpose (for example, policing airports or parks). However, data for these governments are included in the denominator when justice expenditure is presented as a percentage of all government expenditure to allow comparisons across States and governments that make varying use of these districts. (See the survey methodology section.)

Expenditure is all amounts of money paid out (net of recoveries and any correcting transactions) other than for retirement of debt (including interest), investment in securities, extensions of loans, or agency transactions. It includes only external cash payments and excludes any intragovernmental transfers and noncash transactions, such as the provision of meals or housing of employees. It also includes any payments financed from borrowing, fund balances, intergovernmental revenue, and other current revenue (but see the Variable pass-through data section below on computation of variable pass-through data for table 1). In several instances, two or more governments share the expense of maintaining a court or a justice agency. In these cases, the allowable direct expenditure amount is reported for each government in the appropriate category.

When a government pays pensions directly to retired employees from appropriated funds, such payments are excluded from expenditure of the government concerned. Also, State and local government contributions to retirement systems they operate are not included in expenditure data because many governments make lump-sum contributions to plans covering all government employees and cannot report separately for justice employees. Neither in governments' basic accounting records (from which criminal justice expenditure figures are drawn) nor in the records of their general-coverage employee benefit systems is there usually any breakdown of amounts contributed in terms of the various agencies or functions involved. Nor has an adequate procedure for calculating the proportion of such contributions allocable to justice employees been developed because of the wide variation in the coverage of various plans, employee status requirements, benefit rates, and so forth.

For those governments whose records reflect contributions of justice employees separately, separate data were obtained. However, these data are subject to the same variation referred to above, and neither the amount nor the quality of the data reported would permit any attempt to estimate total contributions for all similar governments in a given State. Given the problems involved, no estimation procedure seems feasible. Such data as were reported separately were therefore excluded from total criminal justice expenditures to provide a consistent data base for administering the "variable pass-through" requirement, as described below.

Expenditure is divided into major categories by character and object as follows:

Direct expenditure is all expenditure except that classed as intergovernmental and is further divided into two categories:

- direct current, which includes salaries, wages, fees, commissions, and the purchase of supplies, materials, and contractual services
- capital outlay, which includes expenditure for the three object categories of construction, equipment, and purchase of land and existing structures.

Data for the three capital outlay object categories are presented separately in this report:

Construction: Production of fixed works and structures as well as additions, replacements, and major alterations thereto undertaken either on a contract basis by private contractors or through force account construction by the employees of the government. Included are the planning and designing of specific projects; grading, landscaping, and other site improvement; and providing equipment and facilities that are integral parts of the structure.

Equipment: Purchase and installation of apparatus, furnishings, office equipment, motor vehicles, and the like having an expected life of more than 5 years. This includes both additional equipment and replacements. Rentals for equipment, including rental payments that may be credited on the purchase price if purchase options are exercised, are classified as direct current expenditure. Equipment and facilities that are integral parts of constructed structures are classified under construction.

Purchase of land and existing structures: Purchase of these assets as such, purchase of rights-of-way, and title search and similar activities associated with purchase transactions.

Expenditure for interest on general debt, assistance and subsidies, and insurance benefits--are not applied to specific functions because they are not ordinarily available on a functional basis from government financial reports. In instances where bonded or mortgaged general indebtedness is identified for specific purposes, the interest payments are aggregated with other interest expenditures, which makes reliable and consistent breakouts of such data over a long period of time impossible.

Intergovernmental expenditure comprises payments from one government to another, including grants-in-aid, shared revenues, fiscal assistance, and amounts for services performed by one government for another on a reimbursable or cost-sharing basis (for example, payments by one government to another for boarding prisoners). It excludes amounts paid to other governments for purchase of commodities, property, or utility services; any tax imposed and paid as such; and employer contributions for social insurance.

Total expenditure is direct and intergovernmental expenditure of a government or type of government for justice activities. In the expenditure tables, certain totals have been adjusted to exclude duplicative intergovernmental expenditure amounts. For example, money paid by a State government to a county government within that State is reported by the State government as an intergovernmental expenditure and by the county government as a direct expenditure when the money is spent (for salaries, wages, equipment, and so forth). Therefore, to arrive at a combined State-local government total that does not duplicate these transactions, intergovernmental expenditure amounts are deducted from the State-local total because those amounts also are reflected in the direct expenditure of the recipient government. The same treatment is used for intergovernmental payments between counties and municipalities within the same State when computing local totals. Totals reported for "all governments" also are adjusted to exclude duplicative intergovernmental expenditure involving the Federal government.

The columns labeled "total expenditure" in tables 4, 11, and 16 and those labeled "total direct expenditure" in tables 5, 12, and 17 present data for all government functions, including justice and non-justice activities. The comparable tables for the 1971-79 reports limited these columns to "general expenditure," which excluded utility system expenditure, liquor store expenditure, and insurance trust expenditure. The change to the all-inclusive "total expenditure" category was made in 1982 to allow comparison of justice expenditure with all government spending. Comparable data for all years can be found in annual Census Bureau Governmental Finances reports, series GF, no. 5.

Variable pass-through data are presented in table 1. Those data were developed to comply with the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, as amended, which requires that the block grants made by the Bureau of Justice Assistance (and formerly by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration) to each State be allocated between the State and local governments according to the ratio of State-to-local criminal justice expenditure. The legislative history of this act indicates that these expenditures are to be from the government's own revenue sources.

The concept of "expenditure from own revenue sources" means that the expenditure figures from which the State-to-local ratio was developed do not include amounts expended from revenue from other governments. For example, State or local government expenditure from sales or property tax revenue is included but not amounts expended from intergovernmental revenue, such as Federal grant monies. This is the only table in this publication based on this concept. All other expenditure tables reflect expenditure from all sources.

Specifically for local government, any expenditure from revenue received from another local government, or received directly from the Federal Government or from the State government is excluded. Likewise for State governments, expenditure from revenue received from local governments or from the Federal Government is excluded.

In practice, expenditure from own sources for all local governments in a State is computed by deducting the following items from total criminal justice expenditure of local governments: revenue received directly from the Federal Government for criminal justice purposes, State payments to local governments for criminal justice purposes, and total payments from local governments to other local governments for criminal justice purposes. The same procedure was followed to arrive at State government expenditure from own revenue sources. Criminal justice revenue received directly from the Federal Government and local criminal justice payments to the State government were deducted from the total State expenditure for criminal justice. This procedure assumes that all intergovernmental payments received by a government will be expended during the same fiscal year they were received. While this may not be the case in a particular year, any discrepancy will cancel out over time.

Governmental employment

Employment and employees, as used in this report, refer to all persons gainfully employed by and performing services for a government. Employees include all persons paid for personal services performed, including persons paid from federally funded programs, paid elected officials, persons in a paid-leave status, and persons paid on a "per meeting," annual, semiannual, or quarterly basis. Unpaid officials, pensioners, persons whose work is performed on a fee basis, and contractors and their employees are excluded from the count of employees.

Under this definition are two classes:

Full-time employees include those persons whose hours of work represent full-time employment in their employer government during the pay period including October 12 of the year specified in the table. Generally, it includes full-time temporary or seasonal workers employed during that pay period.

Part-time employees are those persons who work less than the standard number of hours for full-time work in their employer government during the pay period including October 12 of the year specified in the table and persons paid by more than one government.

Derived from those two classes is full-time equivalent employment, which is a computed statistic representing the number of full-time employees that could have been employed at the same total payroll cost if all personnel were engaged on a full-time basis at the average monthly pay of full-time workers. It is calculated separately for each particular justice function of a government by dividing the total payroll amount (full time plus part time) by the full-time payroll amount and multiplying the resultant quotient by the number of full-time employees. Where only part-time employees and payrolls are reported, full-time equivalent employment is calculated by dividing the total part-time pay by the average full-time salary for the particular justice sector and type of government.

October payrolls shown in this report represent gross payrolls for the 1-month period of October and comprise the gross payroll before deductions. It includes all salaries, wages, fees, or commissions paid to employees during the pay period including October 12 of the year cited in the table. Payroll amounts reported for a period other than 1 month were converted to represent an amount for the month of October.

Average monthly salaries are for full-time employees only and are calculated by dividing full-time employee payrolls by the number of full-time employees for October of the year indicated in the table.

Governmental functions

Police protection is the function of enforcing the law, preserving order, and apprehending those who violate the law, whether these activities are performed by a police department, a sheriff's department, or a special police force maintained by an agency whose prime responsibility is outside the justice system but that has a police force to perform these activities in its specialized area (geographic or functional).

This category includes--

- police patrols and communications
- crime prevention activities
- temporary lockups and "holding tanks"
- buildings used exclusively for police purposes
- the maintenance of buildings used for police purposes
- medical examiners and coroners
- law enforcement activities of sheriffs' offices
- specialized police forces (including public and private contract forces) such as airport police, free and toll highway police, free and toll bridge and tunnel police, housing police, maritime police, park police, transit and other utility system police, college and university campus police, and alcoholic beverage control agents.

Excluded are vehicular inspection and licensing, traffic safety and engineering, fish and game wardens, fire marshals, and the like. Private security police are outside the scope of the survey.

The special police forces included in the data are only those that are part of a general purpose government. Security forces, building guards, school crossing guards, and meter maids without general arrest power were excluded. Those special police forces that are part of independent school districts or special districts are not included in the data, inasmuch as these districts are not general purpose governments.

In most States, sheriff's departments are multifunctional agencies providing police protection, judicial, and/or correctional services. In order to allocate expenditure and employment data to the proper activity, the data for sheriff's departments are prorated.

Short-term custody and detention are considered part of the police protection function. Data for lockups or "tanks" holding prisoners less than 48 hours are included in the police protection category. Data for institutions with authority to hold prisoners 48 hours or more are included in the corrections category.

Judicial services includes all civil and criminal activities associated with courts, including--

- civil and criminal functions of courts at all levels of legal jurisdiction--appellate (last resort and intermediate), general jurisdiction, and limited jurisdiction
- activities associated with courts, such as law libraries, grand juries, and petit juries
- court reporters, judicial councils, bailiffs, and "register of wills" and similar probate functions.

The court-related activities of sheriff offices are included here. Excluded are monetary judgments and claims or other payments of a government as a defendant in judicial or administrative proceedings. Probation, where separately identifiable, is excluded.

Because the names of courts with similar functions and legal jurisdiction vary from State to State and even within States, data have been categorized by types of courts rather than by court name.

Appellate courts include courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts. These are courts having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases.

Courts of general jurisdiction are trial courts having unlimited original jurisdiction in civil or criminal cases, the names of which vary considerably. In many States, statutes either require or permit local governments to supplement the salary of State-paid judges of general jurisdiction courts. These judges were counted as part-time employees at both the State and local levels when actually receiving a check from both governments.

Courts of limited jurisdiction are courts whose legal jurisdiction covers only a particular class of cases or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum or is subject to specific exceptions. Included under this category are probate courts, juvenile courts, and other courts of limited jurisdiction.

Miscellaneous judicial services includes data on judicial activities that could not be reported under any of the above categories, such as judicial councils and conferences, court administration offices (where identifiable), law libraries, jury commissions, and grand juries.

Legal services and prosecution includes the civil and criminal justice activities of--

- attorneys general, district attorneys, States' attorneys, and their variously named equivalents
- corporation counsels, solicitors, and legal departments with various names, including those providing legal advice to the chief executives and subordinate departmental officers, representation of the government in lawsuits, and the prosecution of accused violators of criminal law
- various investigative agencies having full arrest powers and attached to offices of attorneys general, district attorneys, or their variously named equivalents.

These activities are included whether performed by one office or several because in some jurisdictions a single officer provides all legal services, whereas in others a prosecutor's office handles only criminal matters and a separate attorney's office performs all civil legal services.

Definitions of terms

Public defense includes legal counsel and representation in either civil or criminal proceedings. Included are--

- court-paid fees to individually retained counsel
- fees paid by the court to court-appointed counsel
- government contributions to private legal-aid societies and bar association-sponsored programs
- the activities of an established public defender office or program.

Employment data are included only for public defender's offices because fee-paid counselors are not considered government employees, nor are counselors working for bar associations or legal aid societies.

Corrections is that function of government involving the confinement and rehabilitation of adults and juveniles convicted of offenses against the law and the confinement of persons suspected of a crime and awaiting adjudication. (Data for lockups or "tanks" holding prisoners less than 48 hours are included in the police protection category.)

Corrections expenditure is further divided into three subcategories:

- correctional institutions
- probation, parole, and pardon
- other corrections.

Correctional institutions are any facilities for the confinement and correction of convicted adults or juveniles adjudicated delinquent or in need of supervision and for the detention of those adults and juveniles accused of a crime and awaiting trial or hearing. Correctional institutions include--

- prisons and penitentiaries
- reformatories
- jails
- houses of correction
- other variously named correctional institutions, such as correctional farms, workhouses, industrial schools, and training schools
- institutions and facilities exclusively for the confinement of the criminally insane
- institutions and facilities for the examination, evaluation, classification, and assignment of inmates

- facilities for the confinement, treatment, and rehabilitation of drug addicts and alcoholics, if the institution is administered by a correctional agency.

The correctional institution category also includes--

- the cost of maintaining prisoners in institutions of other governments
- the supervision of prison industries and agricultural programs.

Institutions for men includes identifiable expenditure and employment data for institutions exclusively for adult male offenders.

Institutions for women includes identifiable expenditure and employment for institutions exclusively for adult female offenders. Where there is no separate women's prison, women offenders are either maintained in a prison complex that also houses other offenders or are boarded in private facilities or institutions in another State. No attempt was made to prorate data for institutions housing more than one type of inmate, but where females are boarded in private institutions or in another State, available expenditure data were tabulated. Employment data were not tabulated because the personnel were employees of another government.

Institutions for juveniles are those institutions identified by the 1985 Juvenile Detention and Correctional Facility Census as housing primarily juveniles and, in some States, "youthful offenders." These institutions include those under the control of a juvenile court, a probation department, or a youth authority or other similarly designated administrative body as well as independently administered institutions. Also included are government payments to private agencies for the detention or treatment of delinquent juveniles.

There is considerable variation from State to State in the legal definition of juvenile, particularly in regard to the age at which a person is no longer considered a juvenile. Institutions for juveniles have been classified individually in accordance with the laws and age designations of their respective States.

Other and combined institutions are those institutions holding a combination of inmates. Where expenditure or employment data for physically separate institutions for juveniles, adult females, and adult males were not separable by institutions or types of institutions, the entire amounts were included under this category.

Probation, parole, and pardon includes data on probation agencies, boards of parole, boards of pardon, and their variously named equivalents. Although probation agencies frequently function under the administration of the general jurisdiction court, the data are presented under corrections after having been deducted from the judicial data because of the correctional nature of the probation function. If the probation, parole, and pardon activities, or any of them individually, were part of the correctional administrative office, data were deducted where possible and shown separately here, and the balance was shown under the "other corrections" category. The overlapping character of probation, parole, and pardon activities prevented any further breakdown of these data.

Other corrections consists of--

- nonresidential resettlement or halfway houses for those not in need of institutionalization
- correctional administration not directly attributable to institutions
- miscellaneous items that cannot be classified under the other subcategories.

Other justice activities includes expenditure and employment data that are not elsewhere classified, that cut across more than one category, or that are not allocable to separate categories. Examples are crime commissions, neighborhood crime councils, and State criminal justice coordinating councils.

Survey forms

Form CJ-6: Survey of Expenditure and Employment for Civil and Criminal Justice Activities of Local Governments

This form was mailed to the chief financial officer of the counties and municipalities surveyed. Data for State governments and large local governments were compiled by specially trained Census Bureau field agents; see the data collection section of this report for details.

Form CJ-23: Survey of Expenditure and Employment for Campus Police Forces

This form was mailed to special police forces serving colleges and universities. Data for college and university forces were incorporated in the police protection data for the parent government.

FROM THE DIRECTOR
BUREAU OF THE CENSUS

On behalf of the Bureau of Justice Statistics of the Department of Justice, the Bureau of the Census is collecting public expenditure and employment data for six civil and criminal justice activities: police protection, judicial, legal services and prosecution, public defense, corrections, and other justice activities. These data are very similar to data we last collected for the Bureau of Justice Statistics in 1979; participation continues to be voluntary. The Department of Justice will use the data from this survey to implement and administer the formula grant program of the Justice Assistance Act of 1984, 42 USC 3747. The Bureau of Justice Statistics will publish the data in a report entitled Justice Expenditure and Employment in the United States.

Please extract the requested data from your financial and payroll records and enter them on the attached questionnaire. If answers to questions are not available from records, please provide reasonable estimates and show them with an asterisk (*). Return the addressed copy of the questionnaire in the enclosed envelope within 3 weeks. The duplicate copy is for your files.

The Justice System Improvement Act of 1979 as amended (42 USC 3732) authorizes this report. This is a voluntary survey; although you are not legally required to respond, your participation is needed to make the results comprehensive, accurate, and timely. If we can help you complete this questionnaire, call Mr. Richard Meyer on (301) 763-7825.

Thank you for your cooperation in this voluntary survey. The Census Bureau appreciates your help.

Sincerely,

JOHN G. KEANE

Bureau of the Census
Attn: Governments Division

Important

Please read the definitions on page 2 and the enclosed supplemental instructions before completing the questionnaire.

On behalf of the Bureau of Justice Statistics of the Department of Justice, the Bureau of the Census is collecting public expenditure and employment data for selected special police forces. These data are very similar to data we last collected for the Bureau of Justice Statistics in 1979; participation continues to be voluntary. The Department of Justice will use the data from this survey to implement and administer the formula grant program of the Justice Assistance Act of 1984, 42 USC 3747. The Bureau of Justice Statistics will publish the data in a report entitled Justice Expenditure and Employment in the United States.

Please extract the requested data from your financial and payroll records and enter them on the attached questionnaire. If answers to questions are not available from records, please provide reasonable estimates and show them with an asterisk (*). Return the addressed copy of the questionnaire in the enclosed envelope within 3 weeks. The duplicate copy is for your files.

The Justice System Improvement Act of 1979 as amended (42 USC 3732) authorizes this report. This is a voluntary survey; although you are not legally required to respond, your participation is needed to make the results comprehensive, accurate, and timely. If we can help you complete this questionnaire, call Ms. Pauline Fain on (301) 763-2896 or (301) 763-2842.

Thank you for your cooperation in this voluntary survey. The Census Bureau appreciates your help.

Sincerely,

John G. Keane

Part I — CAMPUS POLICE FORCE

Does your institution (as described in the address box on the front of the questionnaire) employ directly and/or by contract a campus police force? A campus police force is defined as a group of law enforcement officers with statutory powers of arrest, regardless of any geographic limits of those powers. Although a campus police force may cooperate with the regular local police force, it is administratively independent.

☐ Yes — Please read and complete the appropriate questions below.

☐ No — Please disregard the remainder of this questionnaire and return in preaddressed envelope

Important

- If you contract exclusively for police services and have no officers employed directly by your unit, fill out only parts III and IV below.
- If you employ sworn police officers directly, fill out parts II, III, and IV below.
- If you contract for police services from sworn police officers and also employ sworn police officers directly, fill out parts II, III, and IV. However, do not report payroll for employees under an outside contract; instead, report only the annual expenditure for contractual services under either current operations (if the contract is with a private agency) or under intergovernmental expenditure (if payment for police services is made to another government).
