U.S. COURTS OF APPEALS

FEDERAL CIRCUIT

Summary of Workload

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit reported substantial increases in workload during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985. The number of new filings more than doubled during the year, rising from 1,000 appeals in 1984 to 2,499 appeals in 1985. Most of this filing growth can be attributed to a large increase (1,469 cases) in appeals from decisions of the Merit Systems Protection Board. More than half of these appeals (59.0 percent) were filed during January through March 1985. Other categories showing increases in case filings were the U.S. Claims Court (up 35); the Board of Contract Appeals (up 11); the International Trade Commission (up 8); the Patent and Trademark Office (up 6); and the Court of International Trade (up 2). Among the various categories reporting declines in new filings during 1985, the most significant decrease was shown in appeals from the U.S. district courts, dropping 12.3 percent to 193 appeals.

During the past twelve months, a total of 1,254 appeals were terminated in the Federal Circuit. This represents a sizable 40.0 percent increase over the 896 appeals terminated in 1984. All of the termination growth for 1985 occurred in appeals from four sources: Merit Systems Protection Board (up 409 cases); Court of International Trade (up 8 cases); Board of Contract Appeals (up 4 cases); and U.S. district courts (up 2 cases). The largest reductions in dispositions were shown in appeals from the Patent and Trademark Office and the U.S. Claims Court, decreasing by 34 cases and 17 cases, respectively.

Seventy-five percent of the total terminations involved court decisions during the year, up from 71.0 percent in 1984. Of the 941 court decisions, 83.3 percent were affirmed, 10.8 percent were reversed, and 5.8 percent were modified. These percentages changed slightly during 1985 with both affirmances and reversals rising (up 4.2 and 0.9 percentage points) and modifications decreasing (down 5.2 percent points). The remaining 313 terminations involved either dismissals after consideration by the court or appeals withdrawn before decision.

With the extremely large number of new appeals filed, the pending caseload grew substantially in the past twelve months. As of March 31, 1985, a total of 1,764 appeals were pending on the Federal Circuit's docket, up significantly from the 519 appeals pending one year ago. All categories of pending appeals except two (Court of International Trade and Secretary of Commerce) increased during the year. Appeals from the Court of International Trade showed the largest reduction in pending caseload during the year, dropping from 18 cases in 1984 to 13 cases in 1985.

Table 1 is a summary of the workload of the Federal Circuit during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985.

TWELVE REGIONAL COURTS OF APPEALS

Summary of Workload

During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, filings in the U.S. courts of appeals rose to a record level. A total of 33,083 new appeals were docketed in the 12 courts of appeals, up 6.4 percent from the 31,091 appeals docketed in 1984. The overall number of terminations rose a slight 1.5 percent during the year, up from 30,892 appeals in 1984 to 31,358 appeals in 1985. Due to the extremely large number of new filings in the courts, the overall pending caseload grew to an all time high 24,467 appeals on March 31, 1985. This total represents a sizable 7.6 percent increase over the 22,742 appeals pending one year ago. Table 2 provides a comparison, by circuit, of the appellate workload during the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985. Appendix Tables B-1 and B-3 provide more detailed data on activity in the U.S. courts of appeals in 1985.

The following chart reflects the number of appeals filed and terminated during the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1980 through 1985.

U.S. COURTS OF APPEALS - 1980-1985 AS OF MARCH 31

Filings Up 6.4 Percent

In 1985, 8 of the 12 courts reported increases in filings. Among these courts, the highest rate of growth by far was shown in the District of Columbia Circuit, up 33.4 percent to 1,811 appeals. Almost all of the filing growth in this circuit occurred in administrative agency appeals (up 167 cases); non-prisoner private civil appeals (up 137 cases); and non-prisoner U.S. civil appeals (up 136 cases). Other courts showing substantial jumps in new filings were the Fourth Circuit (up 16.9 percent); the Eleventh Circuit (up 15.3 percent); and the Eighth Circuit (up 10.1 percent).

Four courts (Second, Third, Fifth, and Seventh) reported decreases in new filings during the year. However, the rate of decrease for each of these courts was less than 3.0 percent. Among these courts, the largest numerical drops occurred in the Second and Seventh Circuits, decreasing by 74 appeals and 61 appeals, respectively. In the Second Circuit, the reduction was caused largely by a sizable decline in new non-prisoner private civil appeals. The decrease in the Seventh Circuit can be attributed to substantial drops in both criminal appeals and private civil appeals (including prisoner petitions).

In 1985, all categories of appeals except original proceedings showed increases in case filings. The largest numerical growth occurred in non-prisoner civil appeals, with U.S. civil jumping by 536 cases and private civil jumping by 459 cases. Increases in appeals of civil rights cases accounted for a substantial portion of the filing growth in both the U.S. and private civil categories. On a percentage basis, the highest rates of growth in 1985 were shown in bankruptcy appeals (up 13.7 percent); U.S. prisoner petitions (up 13.6 percent); and administrative agency appeals (up 13.4 percent). Of these three categories, the biggest turnaround occurred with administrative agency appeals, where new filings increased by 386 cases in 1985 after dropping by 282 cases in 1984. Original proceedings, the only category to decline in 1985, decreased a sizable 22.0 percent to 684 appeals. These cases declined in 7 of the 12 courts during the year with the largest drop being reported in the Ninth Circuit (down 145 appeals).

Quarterly Comparison of Filings

Table 4 provides a comparison of appeals commenced, by quarter, during each of the twelve month periods ended June 30, 1978 through 1984 and the first three quarters of 1985. A total of 8,063 appeals were docketed in the 12 courts of appeals from January through March 1985. This amount represents a modest 1.4 percent increase over the 7,954 appeals docketed during the comparable period last year. While this January through March 1985 total is slightly higher than the preceding quarterly period, these 8,063 appeals are significantly lower than the all time high 8,554 appeals docketed from April through June 1984.

Terminations Up 1.5 Percent

During 1985, 8 of the 12 courts reported increases in case dispositions. The highest rates of growth were reported by the Eleventh and Third Circuits, up 14.6 percent and 12.1 percent, respectively. Much of the increase in the Eleventh Circuit occurred in prisoner petitions (up 215 dispositions) and other civil appeals (up 199 dispositions), whereas the increase in the Third Circuit occurred mainly in non-prisoner civil appeals (up 318 dispositions). For the remaining six courts with increases, the growth rates varied between 8.0 percent (Sixth Circuit) and 0.5 percent (Second Circuit).

Within the past year, four courts reported decreases in case dispositions. The largest reductions were shown in the District of Columbia (down 12.9 percent) and the Ninth Circuit (down 10.2 percent). In the District of Columbia Circuit, the decrease in terminations can be attributed mainly to substantial drops in administrative agency appeals (down 126 cases) and non-prisoner U.S. civil appeals (down 61 cases). Much of the decline in the Ninth Circuit was caused by sizable decreases in non-prisoner civil appeals (down 346 cases) and original proceedings (down 120 cases).

Pending Caseload Up 7.6 Percent

Due to the high volume of new filings during the year, the pending caseload grew to an all time high 24,467 appeals on March 31, 1985. Despite this record level, 4 of the 12 courts were able to reduce the number of appeals pending on their dockets. The largest decrease in pending caseload was reported by the Third Circuit, dropping 12.6 percent from 1,593 appeals pending on March 31, 1984 to 1,392 appeals this year. The decline in this court was the direct result of a slight decrease in new filings combined with a sizable increase in terminations of state prisoner petitions and other non-prisoner civil appeals. Other courts reporting smaller pending caseloads on March 31, 1985 were the Seventh Circuit (down 5.5 percent); the Second Circuit (down 3.2 percent); and the Eleventh Circuit (down 0.9 percent).

Higher pending caseloads were reported by eight courts. Of these courts, the most significant increase was shown in the District of Columbia Circuit, where pending appeals grew by 39.0 percent during the year. Much of this growth was caused by a dramatic 33.4 percent rise in filings during the year. Substantial increases in pending appeals were also reported by the Ninth Circuit (up 18.8 percent); the Fourth Circuit (up 15.9 percent); and the Tenth Circuit (up 12.8 percent).

Cases Disposed of After Hearing or Submission

During the past twelve months, the U.S. courts of appeals terminated a total of 15,982 appeals after oral hearing or submission. This represents a 13.1 percent increase over the 14,130 appeals reported in 1984. These dispositions accounted for 51.0 percent of the total terminations for 1985 compared to 45.7 percent in 1984.

CASES UNDER SUBMISSION

The overall number of cases under submission for more than 90 days on March 31, 1985 was 1.3 percent more than the 743 cases reported in March 1984. As provided in Table 5, the U.S. courts of appeals, including the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit and the Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals, reported 753 cases held under submission for the quarter ended March 31, 1985. A total of 502 cases (66.7 percent) were held more than three but less than six months; 146 cases (19.4 percent) were held more than six but less than nine months; 54 cases (7.2 percent) were held more than nine months but less than one year; and 51 cases (6.8 percent) were held more than one year. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals reported 171 cases, 22.7 percent of the total cases under submission. Cases awaiting the submission of additional memoranda or awaiting an opinion in another case are not included in the totals.

U.S. DISTRICT COURTS

CIVIL WORKLOAD

Summary of Workload

The number of civil cases filed and pending in the U.S. district courts rose marginally during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985. In contrast, the number of civil cases terminated during this same period increased substantially. Civil filings increased only 3.3 percent, from 259,797 cases in 1984 to 268,328 cases in 1985. The volume of civil cases pending rose slightly less than filings, up 1.6 percent from 248,717 cases to 252,703 cases. The increase in civil cases pending was small, partly because of the 12.5 percent rise in civil terminations. Civil cases terminated climbed from 235,026 to 264,342. Table 6 is a comparison, by district, of the number of civil cases filed, terminated, and pending during each of the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985. Appendix Table C-1 provides more detailed data on civil cases filed, terminated, and pending, by district.

The following chart illustrates the number of civil cases filed, terminated, and pending during the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985.

Civil Filings - Twelve Month Period

The 268,328 civil cases filed during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985 represent an increase of only 3.3 percent over the 259,797 cases filed last year. It is also the smallest rate of increase in over five years.

The overall increase of 8,531 civil filings was reflected in rises in 55 courts. The greatest jump in filings in any district occurred in California, Northern. There, the filings rose by 45.3 percent, from 7,000 cases to 10,169 cases in 1985. Much of the growth in this district was caused by the efforts of the Federal government to recover overpayments of veterans' benefits. Cases for recovery of veterans' benefits are discussed in further detail below. Substantial increases in civil filings were also reported in Georgia, Northern (up 1,418 cases); Utah (up 1,104 cases); and California, Central (up 1,087 cases). The increase in Georgia, Northern was caused by a rise in habeas corpus petitions filed against the Federal government by Cuban refugees detained until deportation proceedings were completed. The rises in Utah and California, Central were influenced by growth in bankruptcy appeals and recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits cases, respectively.

Significant reductions in the number of civil cases filed occurred in Texas, Southern (down 1,615 cases) and Ohio, Northern (down 1,014 cases). The most significant reasons for these declines were reductions in filings for recovery of overpayment of veterans' benefits cases in both districts, in addition to a drop in social security disability cases in Ohio, Northern. More detailed data on civil filings, by district and type of case, are provided in Appendix Table C-3.

Civil Filings By Quarter

A summary of civil cases commenced in the U.S. district courts during each quarter from July 1, 1978 through March 31, 1985 is provided in Table 7. The 73,600 cases filed during the three month period January through March 1985 is 12.9 percent higher than the 65,205 cases filed during the same period last year, and 17.4 percent greater than the 62,703 cases filed last quarter. Also, cases filed during the third quarter of 1985 reflects the greatest number of civil cases filed during any comparable three month period.

Civil Filings by Jurisdiction and Nature of Suit

The number of civil cases filed by the U.S. government rose from 62,896 in 1984 to 76,183 in 1985. Over 60 percent of all U.S. plaintiff cases are recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits suits. Cases involving the U.S. government as a defendant dropped 17.5 percent, from 48,028 to 39,624. This decline is primarily the result of a decrease in filings of Social Security Act cases. Cases filed under Federal question and diversity jurisdictions rose 1.8 percent and 3.6 percent, respectively. Cases filed in the U.S. territorial courts under local jurisdiction fell from 688 to 646.

Although there was a relatively minute increase in the number of civil cases filed this year, there were notable increases in several case categories. At the head of those categories with a significant increase was recovery of veterans' benefits. Cases in this category continued to increase from 39,511 to 46,238, a rise of 17.0 percent. Other categories which increased substantially include recovery of defaulted student loans (up 4,193 cases); prisoner habeas corpus petitions (up 1,486 cases); and real property foreclosure (up 1,474 cases).

Many of the increases in these categories were reported by relatively few districts. Recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits cases rose considerably in California, Northern; California, Central; Minnesota; and Arizona. The rise in recovery of defaulted student loan cases was highlighted in Florida, Middle; Maryland; Minnesota; Georgia, Northern; and Arizona. The largest increase in real property foreclosure cases and prisoner habeas corpus petitions occurred in South Carolina and Georgia, Northern, respectively. Additional data on civil cases filed, by jurisdiction and type case, are provided in Appendix Table C-2.

Civil Terminations

During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, civil terminations increased 12.5 percent, from 235,026 to 264,342. This overall increase can be attributed to the increased dispositions in 74 districts. The increase in cases terminated in California, Northern; Michigan, Eastern; California, Central; and Minnesota accounted for nearly one-quarter of the overall rise in terminations. The increased disposition of recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits cases is responsible for the rises in California, Northern; California, Central; and Minnesota. The rise in Michigan, Eastern was influenced by an increase in the number of Social Security disability cases terminated.

The greatest reductions of civil cases terminated occurred in Ohio, Northern (down 480 cases); Texas, Southern (down 359 cases); Louisiana, Middle (down 208 cases); and Oregon (down 207 cases). Appendix Table C-3B provides additional data on civil cases terminated, by district and nature of suit.

Civil Pending Caseload

As of March 31, 1985, the number of civil cases pending in the U.S. district courts reached 252,703, an increase of only 1.6 from the 248,717 cases pending last year. This comparatively small increase in the civil pending caseload is reflected in decreases in 41 of the 94 districts. The greatest declines were in New York, Eastern (down 1,115 cases); Louisiana, Eastern (down 1,110 cases); and Florida, Southern (down 787 cases). New York, Eastern reported a substantial decline in pending disability Social Security cases and diversity personal injury product liability cases. The decrease in Louisiana, Eastern was due, in part, to a reduction in pending recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits cases, Social Security disability cases, marine contract cases, and marine personal injury cases. A decline in pending land condemnation cases and forfeiture and penalty suits contributed to the overall decrease in the civil pending caseload in Florida, Southern. The largest increases in pending cases were in Georgia, Northern (up 1,454); California, Northern (up 1,141); Utah (up 999); and California, Central (up 750). The rises in Georgia, Northern and Utah resulted from increases in prisoner habeas corpus petitions and bankruptcy appeals, respectively. In California, Northern the pending caseload was inflated by recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefit cases. Pending Employee Retirement Income Security Act cases and diversity personal injury product liability cases increased significantly in California, Central.

Those categories of pending cases which increased greatly over the past year include recovery of defaulted student loans (up 3,870 cases); asbestos personal injury product liability (up 3,169 cases); and recovery of overpayments of veterans' benefits (up 2,255 cases). There were considerable declines in Social Security disability insurance cases (down 7,181); Social Security supplemental security income cases (down 1,167); and employment civil rights cases (down 817). Additional data on civil cases pending, by nature of suit and district, is provided in Appendix Table C-3A.

Civil Cases Pending Three Years or More

The number of civil cases pending three years or more rose 15.2 percent from June 30, 1984 to March 31, 1985. During this nine month period, such cases climbed from 15,646 to 18,027. There were substantial increases in pending three-year-old cases in Massachusetts (up 292); Texas, Southern (up 167); Texas, Eastern (up 155); and New York, Southern (up 151). Pending asbestos personal injury product liability cases were largely responsible for the increases in all of these districts except New York, Southern. In this district there were considerable increases in three-year-old antitrust cases, employment civil rights cases, prisoner civil rights cases, and securities, commodities and exchange cases.

Although there was an overall increase in the number of cases pending three years or more, 16 districts were able to reduce the number of these cases. Among those districts experiencing substantial declines were New York, Eastern (down 214 cases); Kentucky, Eastern (down 196 cases); and Louisiana, Eastern (down 150 cases). The reduction of pending cases in New York, Eastern was primarily a result of terminated diversity personal injury product liability cases, while a decline in pending Social Security Act cases was responsible for much of the decrease in Kentucky, Eastern. Categories of cases which were reduced most notably in Louisiana, Eastern include personal injury marine, personal injury product liability, personal property product liability, and antitrust. Table 8 provides a comparison of civil cases pending three years or more (excluding land condemnation), by district, as of June 30, 1984 and March 31, 1985.

CRIMINAL WORKLOAD

Summary of Workload

During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985 criminal cases filed (including transfers) in the U.S. district courts increased 8.3 percent to 39,254 cases. This is 2,997 cases more than the 36,257 cases filed the same period last year. Criminal case terminations also increased this year. There were 37,336 cases terminated this year, 8.9 percent over the 34,295 cases last year. Table 9 is a summary of case filings and terminations during the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1981 through 1985.

Terminations	28,970	30,305	32,886	34,295	37,336

Case filings exceeded terminations by 1,918 cases, which resulted in a 9.1 percent increase to 22,952 pending cases this year. This rate of increase is less than the 10.2 percent rate of increase for the 21,034 cases pending March 31, 1984. Appendix Tables D-1 provide, by district, the number of cases and defendants filed, terminated, and pending during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985.

Case filings for the nine month period ended March 31, 1985 totaled 28,704, a 9.0 percent increase over the 26,325 cases filed during the same nine month period last year. There were 25,719 cases terminated this year, a 7.7 percent increase over the 23,886 terminated last year.

Criminal Case Filings and Terminations by Quarter

Case filings for the quarter ended March 31, 1985 increased 6.2 percent from 9,780 to 10,384 cases. Case terminations were down this quarter but only by 1.2 percent or 109 cases. Table 10 provides, by quarter, the number of filings and terminations for cases and defendants during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985.

Criminal Case Filings by Offense

During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, case filings (excluding transfers) increased 8.4 percent to 38,253 over the 35,278 cases filed during the same period last year. Offenses with more than a 30 percent increase were "other" sex offenses (up 93.3 percent); agricultural acts (up 86.2 percent); first degree murder (up 46.4 percent); postal forgery (up 43.6 percent); rape (up 40.8 percent); bank larceny and theft (up 37.4 percent); postal fraud (up 36.7 percent); and narcotics, under the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act (DAPCA) up 35.1 percent.

Violations under DAPCA had an overall increase of 19.5 percent, a considerable rate of increase compared to the 9.8 percent increase last year. Filings for narcotics violations represented the largest increase in this category. Filings for marihuana violations increased 3.2 percent which is less than the 8.3 percent increase last year. Filings for controlled substances violations increased 12.3 percent, a significant change compared to the 16.7 percent decline last year.

Filings for several offenses decreased more than 30 percent during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985. Prosecutions for burglary involving interstate shipments decreased 75.0 percent but only by 3 cases. Filings for securities and exchange violations decreased by 54.3 percent compared to the 41.7 percent increase last year, and postal robbery which decreased 7.2 percent last year, decreased 30.8 percent this year. Other offenses with more than a 30 percent decrease in filings were gambling and lottery (down 33.3 percent) and kidnapping (down 31.3 percent).

Filings for violations of immigration laws continued to decrease this period. Filings for this offense were down 10.6 percent from 2,086 to 1,866 this year. Districts with the largest decrease in filings for violations of immigration laws were California, Southern (down 83 cases); Texas, Southern (down 45 cases); and Puerto Rico (down 43 cases). However, an increase of 10 or more immigration cases was reflected in filings for Florida, Southern (up 12 cases); Texas, Western (up 21 cases); and California, Eastern (up 12 cases).

Criminal Case Filings by District

During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, case filings increased in 57 districts, decreased in 36, and remained the same in 1 district. Four districts had an increase in filings of more than 70 percent. Those districts were Nevada (up 139.2 percent or 291 cases); California, Northern (up 74.9 percent or 487 cases); Colorado (up 72.2 percent or 195 cases); and Florida, Northern (up 71.9 percent or 87 cases). Table 11 provides, by district, the number of cases filed, terminated, and pending during the twelve month periods ended March 1984 and 1985 and the percent change in each.

In Nevada, 248 of the 291 case increase was for fraud violations. This large increase is primarily the result of an continuous target prosecutions for wire fraud offenses in Las Vegas. The majority of the increase in California, Northern was for traffic offenses (up 159 cases as a result of an enhanced effort to enforce traffic laws on military installations); larceny (up 139 cases); embezzlement (up 82 cases) and DAPCA violations (up 52 cases). Larceny and embezzlement filings were related to offenses against banking institutions that were not prosecuted by the local district attorney. In Colorado, filings increased for larceny, fraud, and narcotics violations and in Florida, Northern filings for robbery, narcotics, marihuana, weapons and firearms violations, and escape contributed to the increase in that district.

Appendix Tables D-3 provide the number of cases and defendants filed, by district and selected offenses, during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985.

Criminal Cases Pending

The number of cases (excluding transfers) pending March 31, 1985, increased 9.0 percent from 21,066 to 22,952 this year. The pending caseload increased in 63 districts, decreased in 30 districts, and remained the same in 1 district. Five districts with an increase of 50 percent or more in the pending caseload were Colorado (up 74.6 percent); Oklahoma, Northern (up 73.7 percent); Wyoming (up 70.2 percent); Puerto Rico (up 67.0 percent); and Tennessee, Western (up 54.1 percent). Five districts with a decrease of 30 percent or more were Alabama, Middle (down 43.5 percent); North Carolina, Western (down 38.9 percent); Iowa, Southern (down 34.8 percent); Oklahoma, Eastern (down 34.3); and Mississippi, Southern (down 33.3 percent).

CASES AND MOTIONS UNDER ADVISEMENT IN U.S. DISTRICT COURTS

For the first quarter of calendar year 1985, U.S. district judges reported 1,887 matters held under advisement over 60 days, a 30.1 percent increase over the 1,450 matters reported last year. There were 596 district judges, including 146 senior judges, who reported on the status of matters before the court, compared to 527 district judges for the same quarter last year (see Table 12). While 343 judges (57.6 percent) reported no matters held under advisement over 60 days, 253 judges (42.4 percent) reported matters held under advisement on March 31, 1985.

The 253 judges having matters held under advisement reported a total of 1,887 cases and motions. Of these, 1,132 cases and motions (60.0 percent) were held under advisement over 60 days but not more than six months; 474 cases and motions (25.1 percent) were held under advisement over six months but not more than one year; and 281 cases and motions (14.9 percent) were held over one year. The district judges of the Sixth Circuit reported the largest number of matters held under advisement with a total of 301 matters or 16.0 percent; in comparison with the district judges in the District of Columbia Circuit who reported 36 cases or 1.9 percent of all matters reported.

BANKRUPTCY WORKLOAD

Summary of Workload

During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, 350,463 bankruptcy petitions were filed under the Bankruptcy Code, an increase of 1.0 percent over the 346,847 filed in the previous year. A total of 321,947 petitions were terminated during this period compared to 303,713 a year ago. The number of pending petitions continued to increase, up from 568,679 to 597,195 as of March 31, 1985, a rise of 5.0 percent.

Table 14 provides a comparison of activity during the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985. Additional data for the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985 are provided in Appendix tables F-1, F-2, and F-8.

Bankruptcy Filings Up 1.0 Percent

Filings increased 1.0 percent to 350,463 petitions during twelve month period. This represents 3,616 more filings in 1985 than the 346,847 reported last year. Over the past year the number of petitions filed nationally has remained relatively constant. However, 54 districts experienced moderate increases in filings. In contrast, four districts reported sharp declines in the number of filings. Those districts with the largest declines were California, Central (down 1,502); Michigan, Eastern (down 1,059); California, Northern (down 1,015); and Ohio, Northern (down 726).

Table 15 provides a comparison of Bankruptcy Code petitions filed, by district, during during twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985.

Terminations Up 6.0 Percent

Terminations rose to 321,947 this year compared to 303,713 last year. This is an increase of 18,234, or 6.0 percent, from 1984. The growth in terminations is the result of significant increases reported in the following districts: California, Southern (up 5,746); Texas, Western (up 3,370); North Carolina, Eastern (up 2,293); and Oklahoma, Western (up 2,198). During this same period, a total of 9,952 Bankruptcy Act petitions were terminated.

Pending Petitions Rise 5.0 Percent

Although significantly more petitions were terminated during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, the number of pending petitions continued to rise, resulting in an overall increase of 28,516 petitions over the past year. There were 597,195 pending petitions on March 31, 1985, up 5.0 percent from the 568,679 pending a year ago. Overall, 67 districts reported increases in the pending workload while 27 districts reduced their pending workloads. The most notable declines in pending petitions were California, Southern (down 3,046) and Texas, Western (down 1,567). Also during this period, the pending Act workload decreased from 28,278 to 18,583.

Business and Non-Business Filings

As the number of bankruptcy filings has risen, so has the number of filings reported under each chapter. During the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985, Chapter 11 reorganizations rose to 20,617 or 3.2 percent above the 19,972 filed during the same period last year. The 3.2 percent increase is largely attributed to a significant increase in Texas, Northern from 485 filings to 929 during 1985. Chapter 7 liquidations were up 462 petitions or 0.2 percent. The largest increase was reported in Chapter 13 debt adjustments which rose by 2,502 petitions or 2.7 percent during this period. Meanwhile, increases were reported in business filings in all three classifications ranging from 4.8 to 7.2 percent compared to last year.

Table 16 summarizes petitions filed, by chapter of the Bankruptcy Code, during the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985.

Bankruptcy Filings by Quarter

During the three month period January through March 1985, a total of 90,297 petitions were commenced, an increase of 1,953 (2.2 percent) over the 88,344 filed during the same three month period a year ago. Compared to the previous quarter (October-December 1984) filings for this quarter were up 6.2 percent. The 90,297 petitions filed during the period January through March 1985 is the highest for any three month period, since the fourth quarter of June 1983.

Table 17 is a summary, by quarter, of bankruptcy petitions filed from July 1, 1980 through March 31, 1985.

Adversary Proceedings

A total of 60,517 adversary proceedings were filed during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985. During the period, the courts disposed of 71,614 adversary proceedings. The number of adversary proceedings pending as of March 31, 1985, totaled 112,408. Appendix Table F-8 provides a summary of the adversary proceedings workload, by district, during the twelve month period ended March 31, 1985.

A change in the Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure, effective August 1, 1983, altered the procedure by which requests for relief from automatic stay and Section 522(f) requests by debtors to avoid liens are brought before the court. These actions are now brought by motion instead of complaint. Because of this change, these matters are no longer classified as adversary proceedings for statistical purposes.

Table 18 is a comparison of the adversary proceeding workload for each of the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1982 through 1985. For the twelve month periods ended March 31, 1984 and 1985 data is also included to show the level of workload if motions for relief from automatic stay and to avoid liens had continued to be classified as adversary proceedings.

FEDERAL PROBATION SYSTEM

Persons Under Supervision Rises 4.0 Percent

The number of persons under the supervision of the Federal Probation System on March 31, 1985 rose to 65,337. This was an increase of 2,496 (4.0 percent) over the 62,841 under supervision on the same date last year. Appendix Table E-2 provides the number of persons under supervision, by district and type of supervision, on March 31, 1985.

Table 19 provides the number of persons under each type of supervision on March 31, 1984 and 1985. The number of persons supervised by the courts climbed 4.4 percent to 49,001 from 46,922 last year. Persons supervised after release from institutions increased 2.6 percent to 16,336 from 15,919.

Military Parole	401	361	-10.0

Probationers serving terms imposed by district judges increased by 1,716 (4.9 percent) which accounted for most of the gain in the total under supervision at the end of this year. The number of persons serving special parole terms rose by 243 (8.3 percent). The number serving under conditions of pretrial diversion was up 174 (7.9 percent). There were moderate increases in the other types of supervision except for the number of military parolees, which declined by 40 since last year.

Caseloads Up in 60 Districts

Table 20 provides data on the number of persons under supervision in each district on March 31, 1984 and 1985. Of the 93 districts in the Probation System, 60 (64.5 percent) reported increases since last year.

Florida, Southern reported an increase of 345 (18.6 percent) in the number of persons under supervision at the close of this reporting period. Other significant increases occurred in California Northern (up 290, 17.4 percent); Nevada (up 230, 51.1 percent); Pennsylvania, Eastern (up 179, 11.9 percent); Florida, Middle (up 173, 13.9 percent); California, Central (up 172, 5.0 percent); California, Southern (up 168, 13.3 percent); Georgia, Northern (up 102, 9.5 percent); and Mississippi, Southern (up 100, 29.3 percent).

All of the districts reporting increases of more than 100 since last year reported large increases in the number of probationers under supervision. The one exception was the District of Nevada, which reported an increase of 235 in persons serving under conditions of pretrial diversion. The increase resulted from arrests for wire (telephone) fraud violations.

Of the 31 districts reporting decreases since last year, Texas, Southern was the most prominent, dropping by 253. Most of this was caused by a large decline in the number under probation supervision. The caseload in Maryland fell by 94 as a result of fewer probationers serving terms imposed by U.S. magistrates. The District of Columbia reported 86 fewer persons under supervision when the year ended which was attributed to a decline in the number of parolees.
