Intensive Probation Program

Intensive Probation, as defined in Pennsylvania, was developed to enable Juvenile Probation Departments to provide more efficient supervision of high risk adjudicated youth while remaining in the community. In lieu of placement, the Intensive Probation Officer contacts the youth a minimum of three times per week to ensure that probation rules are being followed and to work with the youth in dealing with his/her problems. The Intensive Probation Officer also contacts the family, the school, employer and significant others to monitor the youth's progress. By providing Intensive Probation Services, the Juvenile Probation Department is often able to prevent committing the youth to a treatment facility which would remove the youth from his/her home and the community.

The following page, Standards Governing Intensive Probation Services, further outlines the concept and requirement of the Intensive Probation Program. Placement of the high risk adjudicated youth in the program is determined solely by the policy of the administering county.

Data collected on counties which have initiated Intensive Probation Programs indicates that the majority of counties experience at least a 10% reduction in the number of placements made during the first year of operation. This in addition to keeping the youth in the community, reduces placement costs for the county.

STANDARDS GOVERNING

INTENSIVE PROBATION SERVICES

- I. The Intensive Probation Officer should have a caseload size of no more than fifteen (15) high risk adjudicated delinquent youth who would otherwise receive placement services.
- II. There must be a minimum of three (3) contacts per week with the youth. (A contact is defined as a face-to-face meeting.)
- III. There must be a minimum of one (1) contact per week with the parent(s) and/or guardian(s). (A contact is defined as a face-to-face meeting, a telephone contact, a written report, or a collateral contact.)
- IV. There must be a minimum of one (1) contact every two (2) weeks with the youth's school, with the youth's employer, and with significant others involved with the youth, if applicable. (A contact is defined as a face-to-face meeting, a telephone contact, a written report, or a collateral contact.)
- V. A minimum of 30% of the work hours of the Intensive Probation Officer must be scheduled outside normal office hours.
- VI. An Intensive Probation plan should be developed by the Intensive Probation Officer and approved by the Chief Juvenile Probation Officer or his/her designee within ten (10) days after the dispositional decision is made to utilize Intensive Probation.
- VII. The Intensive Probation plan shall be reviewed once a month by the Intensive Probation Officer and the Chief Juvenile Probation Officer or his/her designee. The review will be utilized to modify the plan if and when appropriate.
- VIII. The chronological record of all direct and indirect contacts shall include at a minimum: the name of the contacted person; the title/relationship of the contacted person; the date of the contact; the time of the contact; the location of the contact (school, home, etc.); the type of contact (face-to-face, telephone, etc.); and the nature of the contact.
- IX. Intensive Probation Services should normally be provided for a minimum of six (6) months to a maximum of twelve (12) months.
