HOMICIDES IN CHICAGO, 1965-1981 (ICPSR 8941)

SUMMARY: This dataset contains information on every homicide in Chicago Police Department murder analysis files for the years 1965-1981. Data are provided on place of homicide, sex, race, and age of victim, time of occurrence, type of weapon used, age, race, and sex of offender, and relationship of victim to the offender. CLASS IV UNIVERSE: All homicides in Chicago Police Department murder analysis files from 1965 through 1981.

NOTE: Because the data were collected in many stages by many people over a long period of time, the codes used have undergone repeated revisions. In most cases, these revisions have been added to the coding categories without changing the existing codes. Some variables were added to the study in later years. This is especially true of variables attempting to capture sentence information, which was very seldom present in the Chicago Police Department analysis reports. Geographical location was collected differently in different years. From 1971 through 1976, a north-south and east-west grid code was used. After 1976, an actual address was written on the codesheet. This address was later converted to a "pin map" location using the Census DIME Files, producing a new geographical data file.

Introduction

This codebook was the basis for the collection of data on every homicide in Chicago Police Department (CPD) murder analysis report files from 1965 through 1981, a total of 12,875 incidents. The codebook will be helpful for those who want to use this data set for their own analysis, and for those interpreting the details of analysis conducted by others. In addition, the codebook will be useful to anyone designing a similar study of homicide.

Data Collection

Data collection for 1965-1970 began in 1968. Additional data collection continued periodically through 1982. It has been possible only with the close cooperation, over the years, of the Chicago Police Department, in particular, former Superintendent James Rochford, former Deputy Superintendent Michael Spiotto, former Homicide Division Commander Joseph DiLeonardi, Homicide/Sex Division Commander Rudolph E. Nimocks (now Commander of Area 4 Detective Division), former Superintendent Richard Brzeczek, Deputy Superintendent Thomas J. Lyons, Chief William Hanhardt, Lieutenant Michael Caccitola, Sergeant Timothy Tidmarsh and former Detective Patrick Conway.

Homicide data from 1965 through 1976 were collected under the supervision of Franklin E. Zimring of the Center for Studies in Criminal Justice of the University of Chicago Law School, and Richard L. Block of Loyola University of Chicago. Data collection was supported, in part, by PHS Grant No. 1R01M27575, NIMH, to the Center for Studies of Crime and Delinquency.

Homicide data from 1977 and 1978 were collected under the supervision of Richard Block; collection of 1979 through 1981 data was supervised by Richard Block and Carolyn Rebecca Block, and was supported by Bureau of Justice Statistics Grant No. 3960D to the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, now the Illinois Criminal Justice Information Authority. Those who participated in data collection and coding over the years included Ruth O'Brien-Perrin, John Piegore, Ronald Gilbert, Nancy Haverfield, Ted Nagengast, Barbara Gilloley and Keith Coopridier.

Consistency of Codes Over Time

Because the data were collected in many stages by many people over a long period of time, the codes used have undergone repeated revision. In most cases, these revisions added to the coding categories. They did not change the existing codes. For example, the coders of 1965 homicides began with a list of categories of weapon. When a coder came across a weapon not on the list, after consultation with the coding supervisors, that weapon would be added to the list. In this way, the number of categories for weapon, relationship and place expanded until each has close to 100. Some of these categories, as it turned out, occurred only once or twice. In actual analysis, it is easy to combine all of the codes into broader categories.

Some variables were added to the study in later years. This is especially true of variables attempting to capture sentence information, which was very seldom present in the CPD analysis report. The best outcome information is "Outcome of Grand Jury or Preliminary Hearing" (column 69), which began to be collected in 1971, and had additional categories added in 1977. The "Codes" and the "Notes" sections of this codebook include details of available information by year.

Geographical location was collected differently in different years. From 1971 through 1976, a north-south and east-west grid code was used. After 1976, actual address was written on the codesheet. This address was later converted to a "pin map" location using the Census DIME file, producing a new geographical data file. This codebook does not apply to the new geographical file. For information about the geographic data, see Richard Block.

For most years, data reflect information available in mid-1982, even though the data were originally collected earlier. For the years 1971 through 1978, Authority staff updated the coding by searching police department files for cases that had not been cleared at the time of the original coding, but were cleared by 1982. (Because of the ID used, this would have been very difficult to do for the years 1965 to 1970.) For these cases, additional available information was collected. Information about case outcome, in particular, was updated.

Organization of this Codebook

The major section of this report is the codebook itself, consisting of detailed coding instructions and categories for each piece of information gathered over the years. Since the coding was done by many people over a long period of time, categories were added to some variables and new variables were also added. Therefore, the codebook details specific categories or variables that apply to only some of the 1965 to 1981 years. These and other problems with data interpretation are detailed in the "Notes" section.

Following the "Codes" and the "Notes" sections, the report includes a listing of the program that created the SPSS^X system file at the Authority. This is followed by frequency tables for all variables, including recoded, corrected, and constructed variables. In addition, the report includes a bibliography of publications that have used the Chicago homicide data.

Additional Information to be Recorded

Record the following in ink on back of the codesheet:

Column	Title	Description
1)	Exact Address Where Body Found	Example: 721 North Clark Street (include all underlined information). In 1971-1976, geographical location was coded in columns 60 to 65.
2)	Indictment Number (if any)	Include the letter, if the indictment number has one.
3)	Final Disposition	Record the case disposition here, if there is one.
4)	Multiple Victims	If more than one victim was killed in this incident (MULTHOMI > 1), or if the narrative indicates that this incident was one of a series of murders by the same offender (serial murder), record the ID number of each additional victim on the back of the codesheet.

Note: The above information is not contained in the Authority homicide system file.

Notes: Corrected, Recoded and Constructed Variables

Column	Title	Comments
1-3	ID	For 1965 through 1970, the ID number in the CPD analysis report was not recorded here. Instead, an arbitrary number was assigned sequentially to each case.
4	Book Year	1965-1973...Last digit of the year 1974.....A 1975-1981...Last digit of the year The year in which the homicide became known to the police, which was not necessarily the year in which the homicide occurred. As the homicide study expanded from 6 to 17 years, the original one-column code for this variable was altered as above. For year of occurrence, do not use this variable . Use YEAROCC (columns 79-80) instead.
9	Sex of Victim	In the SPSSX system file, the variable SEXRACE combines gender and race/ethnicity information.
10	Race/Ethnicity of Victim	In the SPSSX system file, the variable RACEV is a recode of this variable; RACEV codes are consistently defined for all years.
14	Year Incident Occurred	This was not used at all in 1974. In other years, the final digit of the year was entered. Do not use this variable . Use "Year of Occurrence" instead (columns 79-80).
21-22	Place or Location Where Body was Found	In the SPSSX system file, the variable PLACE3 recodes place types into three categories: (1) inside a nonresidence, (2) inside a residence, and (3) out-of-doors or in a vehicle.
23-24	Type of Weapon	In the SPSSX system file, the variable WEAPON7 recodes weapon types into seven categories: (1) handgun, (2) long gun, (3) unknown type gun, (4) knife or cutting instrument, (5) hands, feet, club, blunt instrument, (6) other type weapon, (7) weapon type unknown.

Column	Title	Comments
25-40	Offender's Gender, Race and Age	In 1965-1970, these columns were left blank for "No Information." The SPSS ^x system file contains the following constructed variables for the analysis of Offender's Gender, Race and Age:
	OFFCOUNT	Number of offenders in each homicide for whom the gender is known.
	SEX1	Gender of all offender(s) in each homicide.
	RACEOF1 RACEOF2 RACFOF3 RACEOF4	The race/ethnicity of each offender, using codes that are consistently defined for all years.
	RACE	Race/ethnicity of all offender(s) in each homicide.
	OFAGE1 OFAGE2 OFAGE3 OFAGE4	Offender's age, in eleven categories.
	AGE1	Homicides with at least one offender age 9
	AGE2	Homicides with at least one offender age 10-14
	AGE3	Homicides with at least one offender age 15-19
	AGE4	Homicides with at least one offender age 20-24
	AGE5	Homicides with at least one offender age 25-29
	AGE6	Homicides with at least one offender age 30-34
	AGE7	Homicides with at least one offender age 35-39
	AGE8	Homicides with at least one offender age 40-44
	AGE9	Homicides with at least one offender age 45-49
	AGE10	Homicides with at least one offender age 50-59
	AGE11	Homicides with at least one offender age 60+
	AGEUNK	Homicides in which no offender's age is known.
41	Intoxicant Involved?	In 1975, the CPD criterion for victim intoxication changed. Before 1975, the criterion was the investigating officer's opinion. Beginning in 1975, the criterion was blood tests conducted by the Cook County Medical Examiner's Office. Code 3 is listed in all codebooks since 1965 as "Can't tell," but was used only in 1971, 1975, and 1977. In the SPSS ^x system file, Code 3 has been included in Code 0 (No Information).

Column	Title	Comments
42-43	Relationship	In 1965-1970, Relationship was coded Victim/Offender, not Offender/Victim. This has been corrected in the SPSSX system file. See RELATE10 and RELATE4 for exact recodes.
44	Altercation Motive	The use of codes 9 and 0 differed from the definitions given here in 1965, 1966, 1967, 1971, 1972, 1973 and 1974. It is impossible to reconstruct this variable for these years. Also, sometimes in the early years, "Altercation over money" was coded for robbery murders, and "Altercation over sex" was coded for rape murders. For further information, see Authority files.
	Teen/Youth Gang (Code 4)	The CPD designates as a teen or youth gang-related homicide any homicide in which the motive for the killing was related to gang activity. Although it is frequently stated in the press and elsewhere that CPD uses gang membership as the criterion for classifying a crime as gang-related, this is a misconception. CPD has used motive, not gang membership as the criterion since at least the mid-1970s and probably before. For example, if witnesses say the offender asked the victim for his or her gang affiliation and then shot the victim, the murder would be counted as a gang murder, even if the victim was not a gang member. An innocent victim killed in the cross-fire of a gang shootout or the purposeful killing of the innocent sister of a gang member to punish the gang member would both be classified as teen/youth gang-related. On the other hand, if two gang members enter into an altercation over some subject not related to the gangs and one kills the other, the murder would not be counted as a gang murder. Therefore, gang membership is not a criterion for classifying a homicide as gang-related. In a questionable case, the decision to classify a homicide as teen/youth gang-related is conservative. If no clear evidence of a gang-related motive exists, the case is not classified as gang-related. The ages of the offender and victim are not criteria in the teen/youth gang decision. For more detail, see "Lethal Violence in Chicago."

45-47	Motive: Robbery Motive: Burglary Motive: Sex	The SPSS ^x system file contains the following constructed variables for the analysis of the circumstances or precipitating event of the homicide:
	FELONY	Coded 1 if the homicide was a robbery (armed or strongarm), burglary, sexual assault of a male, or sexual assault of a female.
	FIGHT	Coded 1 if the homicide was not a felony (see above) and the victim/offender relationship was not a mystery.
	PRECIP	This variable combines all available information about the events that precipitated the homicide. A rape homicide (male or female sexual assault) that was also a robbery and/or a burglary is coded here as a rape homicide (code 2). A robbery homicide that was also a burglary is coded here as a robbery (code 3).
47	Motive: Sex	Police designation of "Sex Perversion" in the analysis report (code 1) is not reliable before 1971. It is impossible to distinguish between homosexual rape and murder of homosexual friends. Also, before 1978, code 1 was used for murders of females as well as for murders for males. "Rape" (Code 2) was used in some cases of a male victim. In the SPSS ^x system file, the variable "Rape" differentiates between sexual assault of males (code 1) and females (code 2) between 1971-1981.
49	Number of Offenders	This information requires some cleaning because "Number of Offenders" was coded 1 in about 10 percent of the cases in which the age, gender and race of a second offender were known. The variable NUMOFNEW in the SPSS ^x system file corrects for this. If gender is known for 2 offenders, NUMOFNEW>2; if gender is known for 3 offenders, NUMOFNEW>3; if gender is known for 4 offenders, NUMOFNEW>4.

- 66 Investigation In 1977-1978, "Investigation" was coded 9 (no information) when an arrest had been made, but there was no information regarding the type of investigation. To analyze 1977-1978, cross-tabulate "Investigation" with "Clearance" (column 55).
- 70-76 Indictment These codes apply to 1971-1981. In 1965-1970, these columns were not used. In 1971-1976, they were used to code Drugs several sentence variables. However, it Involved? was later decided that sentencing information was unreliable. The Authority Victim homicide system file does not contain Committing a these earlier variables. Crime?
- 79-80 Year of Year in which the incident, not the Occurrence death, occurred.

"Year of Occurrence" was constructed and verified by a case-by-case analysis of the data, especially ID (columns 1-3), Book Year (column 4), and Year Incident Occurred (column 14). In questionable cases, we returned to the original police files.
