The Office of Law Enforcement Assistance Grant (September 1, 1967) to the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee did not get started until 1968 due to unforeseen administrative problems. Following the appointment of an Ad Hoc Committee by Chancellor J. M. Klotsche in the Fall of 1968, a baccalaureate program in Criminal Justice was developed. The faculty of the School of Social Welfare approved the Criminal Justice Degree Program, March 14, 1969; the University faculty of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, April 17, 1969; the Board of Regents, May 10, 1969; and the State of Wisconsin Coordinating Council on Higher Education, Summer 1969.

Since its inception the program is continuing in full operation and has a faculty of two full time and two part time members (see attached vitae of Dr. B. Cook, Appendix 1, Mr. G. Kelling, Appendix 2, Mr. J. Howard, Appendix 3, and Mr. R. Jefferson, Appendix 4).

A full time coordinator was employed November, 1968, who remained with the School until January, 1970, (Mr. Carl W. Hamm). Currently the Dean of the School, P. F. DelliQuadri, is exerting every effort to secure a full time director with status and reputation in the Criminal Justice field.

ENROLLMENT

The enrollment for the Fall semester 1969/70 was 92 students who had declared a major. The projected enrollment for the Spring semester 1969/70 is 115. The School of Social Welfare hopes that the Criminal Justice major focusing on the law enforcement section will be able to develop the correctional part of the program as soon as a full time director is appointed.

THE CRIMINAL JUSTICE MAJOR

It is a broad program centering on the behavioral sciences with special emphasis on specific program development for the law enforcement officer and of interest also to other categories of criminal justice personnel. The wide range of electives allows for various combinations of the above careers. In addition, the major provides a viable course for the undergraduate who intends to pursue graduate work in law, social welfare, urban affairs, public administration, urban planning, public safety, or private security.

The current techniques of service in law enforcement, corrections, and court services as well as various forms of institutional care, custody, and rehabilitation tend to represent experiences inherent within the domains of job-holders and supervisory personnel. These skills are generally transmitted through internally controlled in-service programs by tenured or ranking members of the various

Analysis of methods used in social welfare research and of problems in project design and programming. Distinctive characteristics of investigations directed to planning, administrative and scientific objectives. Two lectures, one laboratory-discussion per week. Prerequisites: Junior standing, social welfare major, or graduate standing. (3 credits) A Criminal Justice major with Junior standing may take this course for three (3) credits. If a paper is required for this course, it must relate to the field of Criminal Justice rather than the broader range of social welfare assignments.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT

The program has received wide support from almost all police departments. Since 1967 the Mayor of the City of Milwaukee and the Common Council of the City of Milwaukee appointed a Police Education Study Committee to study the feasibility with respect to higher education for police officers. Following the recommendations of the Challenge in a Free Society specific recommendations were made (see Appendix 5).

It is hoped that the program in Criminal Justice of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee will be enriched and expanded to make it purposeful to meet the need of the police forces and correctional workers. Every effort is made to encourage police officers to continue their education and improve their methods with special focus on problems of social control.

FINAL REPORT OF THE POLICE EDUCATION STUDY COMMITTEE

To the Honorable Henry W. Maier,
 Mayor of Milwaukee,
 Room 201, City Hall,
 Milwaukee, Wisconsin

To the Honorable, the Common Council
 of the City of Milwaukee,
 City Hall,
 Milwaukee, Wisconsin

October 16, 1967, the Mayor and the Common Council appointed a Police Education Study Committee to study the feasibility of the fact finder's report dated June 2, 1967, with respect to higher education for police officers. The Committee made its initial report on that subject to yourselves June 28, 1968.

You have charged this committee with certain specific recommendations on education which have been made by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice.

Our recommendations on the following questions are as follows:

REQUEST: The ultimate aim that all police officers with general law enforcement powers have college degrees.

RESPONSE: It is the sense of this committee that over the years more police officers should have college degrees.

REQUEST: That college degrees should be established immediately as a requirement for promotion to supervisory positions.

Hon. Henry W. Maier
Common Council

December 29, 1969.

RESPONSE: College degrees as a requirement for promotional examinations cannot be made an immediate requirement, but it is the sense of this committee that the Fire and Police Commission proclaim the following education requirements for promotion of police personnel hired after January 1, 1970:

- A. An associate degree or its equivalent shall be required after January 1, 1975.
- B. Three years of college shall be required after January 1, 1978.
- C. A baccalaureate degree shall be required after January 1, 1981.

REQUEST: That lateral entry into specialist and supervisory positions be encouraged, eliminating the requirement of line promotion.

RESPONSE: Lateral entry opportunities should exist in the area of specialist positions. However, lateral entry should not negate the opportunity for qualified line personnel to compete for such opportunities.

REQUEST: The establishment of three levels of entry into police work: those of community service officer, police officer, and special agent.

RESPONSE: Establishment of three levels of entry into police work:

- A. The position of community service officer is in the same age range as Milwaukee Police Cadets. In both cases, they are really apprentice policemen. The Fire and Police Commission and the Police Department might well engage in some limited experimentation in the use of a few police cadets in this kind of work.

Hon. Henry W. Maier
Common Council

December 29, 1969.

- B. The police officer envisioned in the Commission Report is really a description of the present police patrolman. We see no reason for changing the character of this basic police position except to endorse the Milwaukee Police Education bonus plan for encouraging college study by policemen.
- C. The police agent envisions a third and higher entrance level of police work. We are not convinced that the Milwaukee Police Department needs this type of entrance level position at this time.

REQUEST: That a minimum of 400 hours of classroom work over a four to six month period should be required of recruits.

RESPONSE: Police Recruits in Milwaukee already receive substantially more hours of classroom instruction than the minimum number of hours recommended by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice. Your committee, therefore, has no further recommendation on this subject.

REQUEST: Improvement of police training methods, and a broadening of non-technical background subjects.

RESPONSE: Reports from the Milwaukee Police Academy indicate the use of a wide variety of teaching methods and tools. Your committee, therefore, does not feel that it should make recommendations in this area. The suggestion that police instruction should be broadened in the area of non-technical background subjects is being followed in the police education salary bonus plan.

Hon. Henry W. Maier
Common Council

December 29, 1969

REQUEST: Encouragement of continued education and a minimum requirement of one week intensive in-service training a year.

RESPONSE: The Milwaukee Police Department calls in all policemen nine times a year for special in-service instruction that already meets the suggestion of the President's Commission for in-service training.

At this time, the Committee would like to acknowledge the appearances of probably the most outstanding men in our locale who have presented their views. This Committee and the people of Milwaukee owe a debt of gratitude to the following men:

Professor Herman Goldstein, Professor of Law,
UW, Madison, Wisconsin.

Professor Frank Remington, Professor of Law,
UW, Madison, Wisconsin.

Mr. Clark E. Lovrien, Administrator, Department of Justice, Crime Laboratory Division,
Madison, Wisconsin.

Mr. Dean Elson, Special Agent in Charge,
F.B.I., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Mr. George Ayers, Special Agent, F.B.I.,
Police Training Coordinator, Milwaukee,
Wisconsin.

Professor Victor G. Strecher, Director of Graduate Studies, Police Administration and Criminal Justice, Michigan State University,
East Lansing, Michigan.

Hon. Henry W. Maier
Common Council

December 29, 1969

These men appeared before this Committee at their own expense of time and money to extend to us their knowledge on the subjects we have presented to you in this report.

This concludes the final report of the Police Education Study Committee.

Dated at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this 29th day of December, 1969.
