DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY
DIVISION OF STATE POLICE

The publication "Crime in Connecticut - 1989" is the twelfth annual report on crime in Connecticut.  This information is based on statistics collected by the Connecticut Uniform Crime Report Program.  Every police department in the state has participated in the program for the year 1989.

This document illustrates the nature, volume and extent of crime reported in Connecticut.  Its purpose is to provide law enforcement administrators with data for effective decision-making and make the public aware that crime within our state is a serious problem requiring attention from every segment of society.

I would like to thank all Connecticut Law Enforcement Agencies for their participation and support of the Uniform Crime Report Program.

Bernard R. Sullivan
Commissioner
Department of Public Safety

CONNECTICUT UNIFORM CRIME REPORTING SYSTEM - 1989

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program

Purpose

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program periodically measures crime in the United States by counting those offenses brought to the attention of law enforcement agencies. The program's objective is to produce reliable criminal statistics for Law Enforcement administration, operation, and management. Criminal Justice professionals, legislators, scholars, and others concerned with crime problems make frequent use of UCR-generated statistics.

National Program

Uniform Crime Reporting was initiated in 1929 when the International Association of Chiefs of Police (I.A.C.P.) standardized procedures for crime data collection. On June 11, 1930, Congress enacted legislation authorizing the Federal Bureau of Investigation to collect nationwide crime counts and to serve as the clearinghouse for such data. The Committee on Uniform Crime Records of the I.A.C.P. continues to advise the F.B.I. in the operation of the UCR Program and offers them a valuable link to local police departments.

State Program

In July, 1977, Connecticut began its own Uniform Crime Reporting Program. By August of the same year, data collection began with the recruitment and training of 70 agencies. Today, Connecticut has 100 full-time police departments participating in its UCR Program.

The State Program ensures quality control and uniformity of the crime and arrest reports submitted. The centralized state collection agency streamlines the time-consuming process of resolving questions between contributors and verifiers. Upon completion of the quality control process, the returns are forwarded to the F.B.I.

Types of Data Collected

Every month law enforcement agencies throughout the state submit UCR data. They indicate the number of offenses brought to their attention through such sources as victim, police, or witness reports. The UCR Program defines Crime Index offenses as the following: Murder and Non-negligent Manslaughter, Forcible Rape, Robbery, Aggravated Assault, Burglary, Larceny-Theft, Motor Vehicle Theft, and Arson.

After counting Crime Index offenses reported, minus any unfounded complaints, contributors provide the number of "actual offenses" and the number of crimes cleared. For a criminal offense to be "cleared", either of two situations must prevail: (1) at least one person is arrested, charged, and turned over to the court for prosecution; or (2) some element beyond police control precludes the physical arrest of the offender, resulting in the offense being cleared by "exceptional means". Contributing agencies also include data on the value of property stolen and recovered in connection with the aforementioned offenses, plus specific information regarding homicides and arson.

UCR arrest data is collected for all crimes except traffic violations. The age, sex, and race of arrestees are reported for all crime categories.

Reporting Procedure

Contributing agencies are responsible for submitting their own crime reports to the State UCR Program. A full-time field representative offers training in Uniform Crime Reporting procedures to ensure quality and uniformity in the data submitted to the State Program. Contributors also receive the Uniform Crime Reporting Handbook which provides a detailed outline of offense classifying and scoring procedures.

Verification Procedure

UCR reports are set up with numerous internal cross-checks to achieve reporting accuracy of the data. It is standard operating procedure to examine each incoming report for arithmetical accuracy. Reports are then subjected to logical tests of reasonableness, which are of key importance to confirming validity. Logical errors resulting from misinterpretations of what is to be measured can then be corrected. UCR personnel correct minor errors without contacting contributors, but necessary arithmetical adjustments or unusual variations are brought to the attention of the submitting agency.

UCR Limitations

There are inherent limitations in current crime reporting practices. Of primary importance is the question of how much crime is being reported. The degree to which crimes are being reported varies from area to area. A considerable volume of crime is not reported to law enforcement agencies because the victims consider the offenses against them to be of very little consequence or that the likelihood of apprehending the suspect is small. They may also fear retaliation from offenders, or are reluctant to reveal their own involvement in the offense or in other crimes. Consequently, information concerning some offenses is never entered into the reporting system.

Even with these given limitations, the UCR Program provides the best network of State and National crime figures currently available.

Crime Factors

Because not all factors that have an impact on crime problems are measured or considered by the UCR Program, superficial conclusions are sometimes drawn from its crime and arrest data, particularly when attempts are made to compare jurisdictions. Local ordinances and criminal justice administrative policies, record-keeping practices, and the degree of adherence to Uniform Crime Reporting standards all affect the number of crimes and arrests reported. Additionally, socio-economic conditions and the characteristics and attitudes of the local population influence the extent and nature of criminal behavior in a community. The following factors must be taken into consideration before an informed assessment of crime data can be made:

* Density and size of the community population and its surrounding area.

2

* Variations in the composition of the population, particularly its age, sex, and race composition.

* Stability of population with respect to such factors as commuters, seasonal residents, and other transient types.

* Economic conditions, including unemployment.

* Cultural conditions, such as educational, recreational, and religious characteristics.

* Climate.

* The trafficking and abuse of drugs in the community.

* Effective strength of law enforcement agencies.

* Administrative and investigative efficiency of the local law enforcement agency.

* Policies of other components of the criminal justice system, such as prosecutorial, judicial, correctional, and probational.

* Attitudes of citizens toward crime.

* Crime reporting practice of citizens.

Future of the UCR Program

The State Uniform Crime Reporting Program and the Connecticut Chiefs of Police UCR Redesign Committee are working together to produce an Incident-Based Reporting System. The National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS) will be used as a model for design and implementation.

In the future, police departments will send crime data by floppy disk, magnetic tape or by on-line transmission. The advantages to this type of system are: less paperwork for police departments, better uniformity and validity of crime data, a uniform method of collecting data and a superior criminal data base for analysis.

For the first time in Connecticut, police will have a collection of data that can be used to address pressing law enforcement issues. Information collected under NIBRS will address most of the major criminal justice issues in Connecticut. Some of the issues include: weapons offenses, drug/traffic offenses, spousal abuse, elderly abuse, domestic violence, pornography, alcohol related offenses, white collar crime, and missing children.

Together, the Connecticut Chiefs of Police and the State Police, with the financial assistance of the Bureau of Justice Statistics, can make this system work.

INDEX CRIME

The tabulations presented in the graphs and charts in this publication illustrate the volume, fluctuation, and distribution of index crime in Connecticut. The Index is composed of those crimes considered to represent the most serious by nature or by the volume in which they occur.

Crime classifications used in the Crime Index are: Murder and Non- Negligent Manslaughter, Forcible Rape, Robbery, Aggravated Assault, Burglary, Larceny, and Motor Vehicle Theft.

MURDER

Murder is defined in the Uniform Crime Reporting Program as the willful (non-negligent) killing of one human being by another. Any death due to a fight, argument, quarrel, assault, or commission of a crime is included. Attempts to kill and assaults to kill are counted under aggravated assault. Suicides, accidental deaths, and justifiable homicides are not counted in this category.

Traffic deaths caused by the negligence of someone other than the victim are counted under arrests for Manslaughter by Negligence according to age, sex, and race.

ARSON

Arson is defined by the Uniform Crime Reporting Program to include any willful or malicious burning, or attempt to burn with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc. Only fires determined through investigation to have been willingly or maliciously set are classified as arsons. Fires of suspicious or unknown origin are excluded.

Since Arson offenses frequently occur in conjunction with other Index Crimes; e.g., Burglary, the Hierarchy Rule has been modified specifically for Arson. Arson, regardless of its occurrence in conjunction with another crime against person or property has to be reported.

CRIME INDEX OFFENSES BY COUNTY

INDEX OFFENSES BY COUNTY

In 1983, Connecticut began compiling County data. Caution must be taken in attempting to make direct comparisons between counties. Many demographic factors including density and size may affect criminal behavior incidents and the reporting thereof.

According to population figures supplied by the F.B.I., Connecticut's eight counties in descending order of population are: Hartford (844,863), Fairfield (818,817), New Haven (795,874), New London (248,060), Litchfield (166,609), Middlesex (139,960), Tolland (125,633), and Windham (99,184).

VALUE OF PROPERTY STOLEN AND RECOVERED

PROPERTY STOLEN AND RECOVERED

For further analysis of crime, the Uniform Crime Reporting Program collects supplementary reports relating to properties stolen and recovered by type and value.

Although Connecticut law enforcement agencies recovered approximately 41% of the property stolen, the net loss was over $116 million dollars.

The reader should take note that these values relate only to Index Crime. Property lost or damaged as a result of crimes such as fraud, vandalism, etc., are not included in these totals.

CONNECTICUT
ARREST DATA

ARREST DATA

The Connecticut Uniform Crime Reporting Program requires the submission of monthly reports concerning persons arrested in the state. A record of total arrest activity for criminal acts in both Part 1 and Part 2 crime classes is received from UCR participants according to the Age, Sex and Race of persons arrested. Traffic arrests, except driving under the influence, are not reported.

The Age, Sex, and Race of Persons Arrested Forms are designed to collect data on the number of persons arrested and not the number of charges lodged. For example, a person may be arrested on several charges at one time; only one arrest would be scored. For UCR purposes, a juvenile is counted as "arrested" when circumstances are such that if he or she were an adult, an arrest would result.
