INTRODUCTION

History of Wisconsin's Juvenile Court Statistical Reporting System

In 1981 the juvenile court statistical reporting system was developed by the Director of State Courts (the Director). This batch system was revised in 1984 to assist non-automated counties handle juvenile caseflow. Part of the form is utilized by the courts for their own records while another section is sent to the state for data entry. The Supreme Court gives the Director the responsibility and authority over collection, compilation and utilization of judicial statistics. The data are used locally for docketing and indexing purposes. Output reports containing statistics on age sex, primary disposition and post-disposition placements are used both locally and at the state level.

Data Collection Methods

The juvenile section of the circuit courts in Wisconsin's 72 counties have exclusive jurisdiction over matters involving delinquency, violations of civil laws and ordinances, and child in need of protection and services (CHIPS). CHIPS cases are those involving abuse, neglect, dependency and truancy. The juvenile courts also have exclusive jurisdiction over termination of parental rights, guardianship, adoption, mental health and special proceedings. The juvenile court exercises jurisdiction in some traffic cases and has concurrent jurisdiction with the municipal courts in cases of underaged drinking.

The juvenile clerk within the clerk of courts' offices are responsible for the data collection. All counties participate in the data collection effort except Milwaukee County which has its own automated information system. Information is reported for petitioned delinquency, CHIPS, termination of parental rights, juvenile mental commitments, forfeitures, and adoption cases. Data are collected at the time of filing, case activities and disposition on batch reporting forms (see Appendix I). Information includes demographics, offense, hearings, disposition, and post-disposition placements and revisions. Forms completed through disposition are sent to the Director on a weekly basis. The information on the forms is entered into the computer twice as a check against errors. Other edits include checking the age of the youth with the case type. If the age is inappropriate for the case type, the record is ignored. The same is true if the disposition is inappropriate for the case type.

Archived Data Files

The data files received by the Archive contain three records for each delinquency, CHIPS, termination of parental rights, juvenile mental commitment, and adoption case. The three files consist of the filing (F records), case activities (A records) and disposition (D records) information. The Archive creates a single record for each case by sorting the F, A and D records by COUNTY and CASE NUMBER. The A and D records are then attached to the F record for each unique identifier.

The Archive has created two offense variables (RECODED MOST SERIOUS OFFENSE REFERRED and RECODED MOST SERIOUS OFFENSE DISPOSED). The files received by the Archive contain up to four statute citations for the offense(s) referred and also for the offense(s) disposed. These 13-digit statute numbers are recoded into a 3-digit code which is then ranked according to seriousness. (The seriousness hierarchy was developed by Archive staff and is presented in Appendix II.)

The data in the files are stored as numeric characters (which are whole numbers) unless otherwise noted. The records for each case are 260 characters in length and contain 84 variables. The data are stored in single year files. The number of case records in each calendar year data file is as follows:

Year	Records
1984	12,478
1985	13,433
1986	14,021
1987	13,326

Terms of Availability

Each request to use these data should be directed to the Archive. The Archive will contact Wisconsin's Director of State Courts regarding their release. Upon the Director's authorization to release and disseminate the data, the data files will be supplied to the requestor by the Archive with any necessary cautions or restrictions.

The Archive provides the data on magnetic tapes AS IS and shall not be held responsible for any liability incurred as a result of any error or omission in the data as it appears on the magnetic tapes. However, should any inconsistencies be found, the Archive asks to be notified so that corrections can be made to the data.

Summary tabulations on selected variables (manner of handling and sex breakdowns for delinquency/status offense cases and dependency/neglect cases for each county in Wisconsin) are publicly available beginning with 1984 data through the Inter-university Consortium for Political and Social Research at the University of Michigan, P.O. Box 1248, Ann Arbor, Michigan. 48106.

USING THE CODEBOOK

The information that follows is based on a study of available documentation from the data supplier (e.g., instructions for Juvenile Court Statistical Reporting), interviews with the data supplier and court personnel, and diagnostic analyses performed by the Archive staff. The example below is a reproduction of information appearing in the codebook for a typical variable. The numbers in brackets do not appear in the codebook, but are references to the descriptions which follow this example.

- [1] The starting location and width of the variable in the machine-readable data file. This is the format information needed to read the data into other systems.
- [2] The variable number. The variable number is used as a variable name when the file is processed by systems which use alphabetic variable names (e.g. SPSS).
- [3] The variable label used by statistical systems to identify the variable or program output.
- [4] A description of the variable contents.
- [5] The code values occurring in the data for the variable.

- [6] The textual definitions of the codes. The first 20 characters form a short value label which some systems use to document the output of analysis programs. A longer description follows the short label when necessary.
- [7] The designation of missing data. The Archive staff has replaced any out-of-bounds codes with missing data codes. Many analysis packages require that certain types of data which are usually excluded from analysis be designated as "missing data". Fields with no entry were left blank and "() No entry" is listed as a code value. Some variables also have response options representing "unknown" which are also listed as code values.
- [8] An explanatory/cautionary note.
