Foreword

The Bureau of Justice Statistics began the Law Enforcement Management and Administrative Statistics (LEMAS) program in 1987 with a survey of the Nation's State and local law enforcement agencies. An expanded version of the survey was completed in 1990. This volume, the first of its kind, presents 1990 data provided by over 600 State and local law enforcement agencies employing 100 or more officers. Data on personnel, expenditures, salaries, operations, equipment, special programs, and drug enforcement activities are presented for each agency.

The full representation of the Nation's larger State and local law enforcement agencies and the completeness of the data presented indicate the tremendous cooperation BJS has received from the law enforcement community in connection with the LEMAS survey. In turn, we hope this volume is a useful resource for these agencies, as well as others with interests related to law enforcement.

Introduction

The LEMAS survey

The 1990 Law Enforcement Management and Administrative Statistics (LEMAS) survey questionnaire was mailed to all 780 State and local law enforcement agencies that reported employing 100 or more sworn officers in the 1986 Directory Survey of Law Enforcement Agencies. In addition, a sample of 2,338 agencies with fewer than 100 officers received a slightly abbreviated version of the questionnaire.

The initial mailing of the survey questionnaire was conducted in July 1990. The reference date for personnel-related questions was the pay period including June 15, 1990. For other questions it was June 30, 1990. The data were collected by the Bureau of the Census for the Bureau of Justice Statistics. Of the 3,118 agencies that received the LEMAS questionnaire, 2,945 (94.5%) responded, including 94.6% of those with 100 or more officers. The 1990 survey was the second in the triennial LEMAS series. This report includes only data for agencies with 100 or more officers. For national summary data on agencies of all sizes, the reader is referred to the BJS reports State and Local Police Departments, 1990 (NCJ-133284); Sheriffs' Departments, 1990 (NCJ-133283); and Drug Enforcement by Police and Sheriffs' Departments, 1990 (NCJ-134505).

Overview of this volume

Agencies included

This volume presents individual agency data provided by State and local law enforcement agencies in response to the 1990 LEMAS survey. To be included, an agency had to meet the following criteria:

1. Employment of 100 or more full-time sworn officers as of March 1986 (reference month for the 1986 Directory Survey).

2. Employment of 100 or more full-time sworn officers as of June 1990 (reference month for the 1990 LEMAS survey).

3. Employment of 50 or more full-time sworn officers working in positions related to field operations as of June 1990 (to ensure agency has significant law enforcement responsibilities).

Secondary State law enforcement agencies such as those responsible for the enforcement of alcohol or conservation laws were not included, even if they met the above criteria. As a result, the 49 State agencies included represent the primary State law enforcement agency operating in each State except Hawaii, which has no State law enforcement agency. A total of 584 local law enforcement agencies are included—34 county police departments, 380 municipal police departments, 153 sheriffs' departments, and 17 special police departments.

(The latter category is comprised of airport police, transit police, school police, and other agencies with specially-defined jurisdictions.)

Local law enforcement agencies are included from all States except North Dakota, Vermont, and Wyoming. These States had no local law enforcement agencies that met the above criteria. A summary of the number and type of agencies from each State is presented in Table A.

Organization of data tables

The State and local law enforcement agencies with 1,000 or more full-time sworn personnel working in field operations are listed in Table B. These are the agencies that have the largest number of sworn personnel performing duties directly related to law enforcement. Summary data, by type of agency, for most of the variables that are presented in the individual agency data tables appear in table C. The headings in table C correspond to the eight section headings used for the individual agency data tables: personnel, expenditures and pay, operations, vehicles, weapons and armor, computerization, programs and policies, and drug enforcement. The reader should refer to the notes in the appropriate individual data agency tables when using data from table C.

Following the 3 summary data tables are 21 tables containing individual data for all State and local law enforcement agencies with 100 or more officers. Each of these tables is divided into "A" and "B" sections. In the "A" section, data are presented for the 584 local-level agencies. The "B" section contains data for the 49 State-level agencies. The tables are in alphabetical order by State and county within each State. The order of agencies within each county is not necessarily alphabetical, because it was determined by a numerical code on the data tape. At the end of the "A" and "B" section in each table are explanatory footnotes. This information should be considered before using data from each table.

For data items requiring a "yes" or "no" response, an "X" is used in the tables to represent a positive response, and a single dash ("‐"), a negative one. When additional categories of responses are possible (tables 8, 12, and 21), code letters are used. Refer to the explanatory notes at the end of these tables for explanation of the codes. For data items that required a numerical response, a single dash is used in instances where an item was not applicable to that agency, and a response was not possible. A single dash is also used for special police agencies on all population-related items, since the actual resident population served by these agencies is not readily defined. In all tables, a double dash ("‐‐") is used in instances where an agency was unable to provide information.

Traffic enforcement category includes traffic direction and traffic control. Participation in a 911 emergency telephone system is defined as the capability of the agency to dispatch a unit directly as a result of a call to 911.

Codes for type of 911 system are as follows:

E Enhanced/expanded 911 system

R Regular 911 system

- Agency does not participate in a 911 system.

Lack of participation in a 911 system by an agency does not necessarily mean that citizens under its jurisdiction had no 911 service because another agency may have provided it. Lockup facility category includes any temporary holding or lockup facility operated separately from a jail. Agencies with a zero under total capacity operated no such facilities.

-- The total capacity of its lockup facilities was not provided by an agency.
