JOHN ASHCROFT
GOVERNOR

Mr. Gary J. Stangler, Director
Department of Social Services
Broadway State Office Building
Jefferson City, MO 65102

Dear Mr. Stangler:

The Division of Youth Services is pleased to submit to you our Annual Statistical Report. Statistical information found in this report reviews fiscal year 1991 from July 1, 1990 through June 30, 1991. This report provides pertinent statistics regarding the number and characteristics of the youth we serve.

During fiscal year 1991, the division has continued implementing a variety of community-based services which included proctor care, day treatment, and intensive supervision. Through the development of these programs, the division has provided cost effective services while attempting to meet the many needs of the children committed to our care.

We extend our appreciation to the Governor, the Missouri Legislature, the Department of Social Services, our Advisory Board, and the many volunteers and friends of the division. Through their support, we have been able to work toward enhancing and extending the division's treatment services while also making improvements to our facilities throughout the state.

Very truly yours,

Mark D. Steward
Director

Fiscal Year 1991 Snapshot Data

State-wide Commitments

- Nearly nine out of ten youth committed were boys
- Over one-half of youth committed were white
- 44 percent of those committed had a history of drug use
- Approximately one out of four youth were committed for crimes against a person
- The average youth committed was at nearly the ninth grade level
- Approximately one out of ten youth were recommitted or revoked
- The average age of committed youth was 15.2 years
- Two out of three youth committed were from a metropolitan area
- One-half of prior adjudications were for property offenses
- 37 percent were referred to a juvenile court before their 13th birthday

Commitments and Recommitments

A total of 917 Missouri youth (777 males and 140 females) were committed to the Division of Youth Services during fiscal year 1991. Of the 917, 92 percent were first time commitments and eight percent were returned to DYS after a discharge.

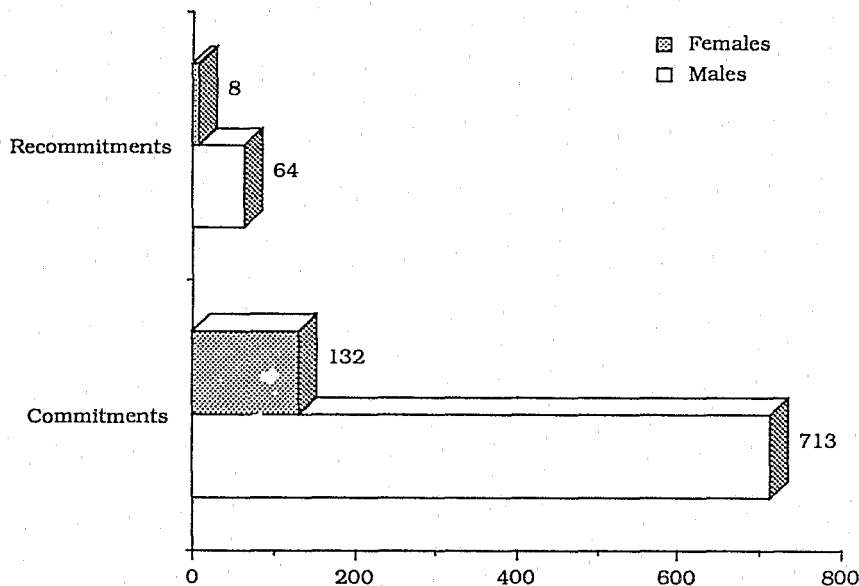

While the number of recommitments has remained relatively constant over the past five years, the number of first time commitments has varied considerably. First time commitments gradually decreased between 1986 and 1988, increased by nearly 30 percent in fiscal year 1989, and leveled off in 1990. The number of commitments for fiscal year 1991 is nearly unchanged from the 1990 level. (See Figure 1).

While males account for 84 percent of first time commitments, they account for nearly 90 percent of recommitments. (See Figure 2).

Commitments by Region

Nearly half (44%) of the total commitments for fiscal 1991 came from the St. Louis region. Commitments from the St. Louis region are more than the combined commitments from the three rural regions (Northeast, Southeast and Southwest).

Fiscal year 1991 commitments from the St. Louis region increased by nearly 14 percent over 1990. All other regions showed a decrease in commitments, with a 17 percent drop in the Southeast region, 12 percent in the Southwest and eight percent in the Northwest. Commitments in the Northeast region dropped by one percent. Figures 3 and 4 show commitments by region and sex. A detailed summary of commitments by circuit and county is shown in Appendix B.

Region	Total Commitments	Male Commitments	Female Commitments
St. Louis	43.70%	44.20%	40.70%
Northwest	18.30%	17.90%	20.70%
Southwest	14.90%	14.30%	18.60%
Southeast	12.50%	12.70%	11.40%
Northeast	10.50%	10.80%	8.60%
Total	100.00%	100.00%	100.00%

More than two-thirds (68%) of the students committed to DYS came from a metropolitan area. Metropolitan areas include Boone, Clay, Jackson, Jefferson, St. Charles and St. Louis counties and St. Louis City.

Commitments by Age and Grade

Relatively few youth (6%) committed to DYS were younger than age fourteen. The fifteen to sixteen year age cohort represented three-fourths of the youth committed. (See Figure 6).

Boys who had completed their eighth, ninth or tenth school grade accounted for nearly two-thirds (65%) of all commitments. Figure 7 depicts the grade by sex break down.

Commitments by Race

According to U. S. Census Bureau 1990 figures, the juvenile population of Missouri is approximately 14 percent black and 85 percent white. A disproportionately high number of blacks were committed to DYS during fiscal year 1990. Approximately 44 percent of the youth committed were black, 55 percent were white. Only eight youth of other minorities were committed.

Commitments by Type of Offense

Youth are committed to DYS for a variety of reasons, with the majority committed for law violations. Youth are also committed for status offenses, such as being truant or running away from home. Males are the majority of commitments in every category, outnumbering females by a ratio of eight to one in the property offense category, and by seven to one in crimes against people. However, in the status offense category males outnumber females by only two to one. Figure 9 shows males and females broken out by category of offense. For a detailed summary of specific committing offenses, see Appendix A.

DYS Risk Assessment

During fiscal year 1990, the Division of Youth Services implemented a risk-based classification system. As youth are received from the courts, risk of re-offending is assessed using an instrument which scores the youth on such parameters as seriousness of offense, prior offenses and history of assaultive behavior. These risk scores are used to broadly classify youth for DYS placement. Low risk youth are steered toward community based placements and low structure residential placements. High risk youth are steered toward a more structured residential placement.

Figure 10 compares risk levels by sex. One in five males and fewer than one in five females were considered high risk. Approximately one-half of the females and one-third of the males were considered low risk.

The graphs on page 9 show regional commitments grouped by risk level. Figure 11 shows actual numbers of youth in each risk group. The St. Louis region committed more high risk youth than the three rural regions combined. Figure 12 shows the percentage of regional commitments in each risk group. Each region, on average, had one third of their commitments in the low risk group, and about one in five considered high risk.

Juvenile Discharges

In fiscal year 1991, 87 percent of the total discharges were satisfactory, marginally lower than the previous year's rate of 89 percent. Figure 10 depicts fiscal year 1991 discharges from DYS custody.

Youth who successfully complete the aftercare program receive a satisfactory discharge. Federal service discharges are those who are discharged in order to enter military service or the Job Corps. Marginal satisfactory discharges are given to youth who exhibited no major problems with DYS programs, yet less than adequately completed the aftercare program. Discharges from institutions are youth discharged directly from a program without entering aftercare. 'Discharge Other' includes interstate placement discharges who were involved only with the division's aftercare program. 'Over Eighteen' discharges are youth who have reached the mandatory discharge age of eighteen.

Youth involved in a law violation resulting in criminal court action receive either an unsatisfactory discharge or an unsatisfactory direct discharge. These two categories made up eight percent of all discharges for fiscal year 1991. Recommitments are those youth who are involved in law violations which result in a new commitment by the juvenile court to the Division of Youth Services. 'Aftercare Runaway' and 'Dropped from Rolls' are those youth who have absconded from aftercare or run away from a facility and have not been apprehended within a specified time period.
