STATE OF TENNESSEE
DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTION
FOURTH FLOOR, RACHEL JACKSON BUILDING • NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE 37243-0465

CHRISTINE J. BRADLEY
COMMISSIONER

February 26, 1993

The Honorable Ned McWherter
Governor of Tennessee and
The General Assembly
State of Tennessee

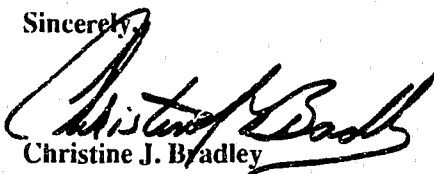

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Fiscal year 1991-92 was a year of continued growth and improvement for the Tennessee Department of Correction. Three new institutions opened. The management of South Central Correctional Center (SCCC) was awarded to Corrections Corporation of America, making SCCC the largest privately managed facility in the country. Tennessee State Penitentiary and DeBerry Correctional Institute closed. Expansions to three institutions were approved.

The department received very favorable reports to the federal court relating to its Court Order of 1985. The reports praised the concentration of effort and improvements by the State, General Assembly, and the Department of Correction in meeting the requirements of the Order. The department is awaiting a final Order in the case.

The progress made in the Department of Correction over the last several years reflects the quality and dedication of its staff and the support of correctional programs and services by the Governor and General Assembly. Special recognition goes to Jeff Reynolds, who stepped down as commissioner in November 1992.

Sincerely,

Christine J. Bradley

May 5, 1946 - June 9, 1992

On June 9, 1992, we all had to part,
With a dear friend who touched our hearts.
His job meant a lot to him, he worked extremely hard,
And was always there when needed, he was never too tired.
He cared about people and had a heart of gold,
When a person did something good, they were always told.
He was well-known and respected throughout the State,
Kind and fair to all he met, having no hate.
We can always look to him as one of our brightest stars,
And strive to be like him, so we too will go far.

Department Overview

- o The 998-bed South Central Correctional Center in Wayne County opened in March 1992. The department contracted with Corrections Corporation of America to manage this facility.
- o The 612-bed Lois M. DeBerry Special Needs Facility (DNSF) in Davidson County opened in June 1992. DSNF is the department's central health care and mental health treatment facility.
- o The 998-bed Northwest Correctional Center in Lake County opened in May 1992.
- o Tennessee State Penitentiary and DeBerry Correctional Institute closed in June 1992.
- o 338-bed expansions were approved for Northeast Correctional Center, South Central Correctional Center, and Northwest Correctional Center.
- o Legislation passed creating the Parole Eligibility Review Board to review the sentences of all offenders sentenced as an habitual offender. The purpose of the review is to determine those habitual offenders who should be granted a release eligibility date comparable to the date provided for similar offenses under the Sentencing Reform Act of 1989. If the release eligibility date under the 1989 Act is earlier than the habitual's current date, the board is authorized to amend the date. The board is also authorized to review other categories of inmates convicted prior to the Sentencing Reform Act of 1989. The board is appointed by the Commissioner and staffed by the department.

- o The department implemented a new, greatly expanded management information system (TOMIS).
- o The department filed a motion to terminate the federal court order in the Grubbs case. A report submitted by the Special Master found the department in substantial compliance with the requirements of the Grubbs order. A hearing was held in May 1992 to discuss the remaining concerns in the case. The department is awaiting the final order from the federal judge.

Grubbs Litigation

Grubbs was filed as a class action suit in 1980, asserting that living conditions of inmates in Tennessee's then twelve state penal institutions violated Eighth and Fourteenth Amendment guarantees. Chief Judge L. Clure Morton of the Middle District of Tennessee conducted a bench trial in November and December 1981. Judge Morton found seven specific conditions in various institutions that violated constitutional standards. He determined at that time, to appoint a special master and required the department to submit plans for remedying the unconstitutional conditions on a strict timetable. Following Judge Morton's retirement, Grubbs was assigned to District Judge Thomas A. Higgins, on whose docket it remains.

In September 1991, the department filed a motion along with a supporting brief requesting that the remedial orders in this case be vacated and the jurisdiction of the Court be terminated on or before June 30, 1992, asserting that the unconstitutional conditions of confinement found by the Court in 1982 had been remedied. In October the plaintiffs in the case filed a brief in response to the state's motion to vacate, asserting that the defendants' motion was "without merit and should be denied."

In December 1991, after consultation among the court, Special Master and the parties, the court found that a scheduling order was appropriate in light of the defendant's motion for termination. The order was filed on December 17, 1991, and outlined the following requirements:

- Both parties were directed to submit briefs by February 1, 1992, on the question of law regarding (1) whether the Grubbs remedial orders should extend to all adult penal institutions under the TDOC, and (2) the extent to which the plaintiffs are entitled to permanent injunctive relief on the conditions of confinement at issue in this case. A hearing was to be held on February 28, 1992.
- The Special Master was directed to file any report and recommendations regarding the Grubbs matrix resolution, the remedial orders of the court, and the defendant's motion for termination of the case on or before April 15, 1992.

- A final hearing was scheduled for May 15, 1992, regarding (1) the respective objections of the parties to the April 15, 1992, report and recommendations of the Special Master and (2) any other matter as directed by the court.

In its brief filed in February 1992, the department stated, "As a result of the continuous efforts of the defendants to comply with the remedial measures of the Court, this litigation has achieved its broad remedial purpose. Therefore, the remedial orders of the Court do not extend to all present and future TDOC adult penal facilities because the Court's orders are institution specific. In addition, the plaintiffs are not entitled to continuing injunctive relief beyond June 30, 1992, in this case."

The plaintiff's brief stated, "Despite the progress so painfully made over the past decade, the plaintiffs still face serious threats to their constitutional rights, as a result of the same factors the Court identified in 1982:

... TDOC's dilemma appears intractable. In the face of constantly rising numbers of prisoners and costs of incarceration, problems over which the department has no effective control, increased appropriations are needed just to maintain the status quo. Yet the political climate is such that the legislature is reluctant to authorize substantial increases in funding for TDOC at a time when other programs are being cut. TDOC's task is at best a formidable one.

552 F.Supp. at 1060.

The continuing intractability of this dilemma makes permanent injunctive relief essential."

Prior to the special master submitting his report regarding the department's compliance with the Court's orders, he filed an interim report, stating that significant changes had been made in both the “design” and “operational characteristics” of the four regional prisons: Middle Tennessee Reception Center (MTRC), Morgan County Regional Correctional Facility (MCRCF), Lake County Regional Correctional Facility (LCRCF), and Southeastern Tennessee State Regional Correctional Facility (STSRCF). The special master was referring to the construction of connectors between the guilds at these institutions, the intent of which was to allow for a reduction in the number of officers needed to supervise the guilds.

During the prior fiscal year, the special master and four court evaluators visited these institutions, as well as Turney Center Industrial Prison and Farm (TC). The purpose of these visits was to recommend final population capacities at the regional facilities and to respond to the state’s motion to partially double cell the new housing units at TC. The special master recommended that the Court defer any final action establishing capacities at these five institutions, pending review of the impact of the modifications at the regional facilities. Thus far, the Court has deferred any final actions in this matter, as recommended by the special master.

On April 30, 1992, the special master submitted his report to the Court. In the report, the special master stated:

“There is no question that Tennessee has made extraordinary progress in resolving the issues which compelled the Court’s intervention nearly a decade ago. Some relatively minor tasks remain to be accomplished, but such will likely always be the case in litigation which involves vast, institutional reform. Moreover, once defendants have demonstrated both the ability and the will to manage their own affairs within the bounds of the Constitution and their own solemn pledges to the Court, the role of the Court can and should diminish.

Tennessee has reached such a point, and the question now before the Court is how best to manage that disengagement. With the exception of population growth and the specter of a return to prison overcrowding, the Special Master is persuaded that the state can be expected to manage its correctional system responsibly and without the day to day scrutiny of the Court or its officer.”

However, the special master expressed concerns relating to the guild connectors and to the delivery of adequate medical and mental health services. He recommended that the department not be entirely released from Court oversight until certain provisions are met in these areas.

On May 15, 1992, a hearing was held during which department officials testified on the anticipated impact of the guild connectors, the Special Needs Facility, medical services, and overall conditions of confinement within the system. The results of this hearing are pending.

Compliance

The Compliance Section provides support and assistance to all divisions by ensuring that departmental practices adhere to constitutional and professional standards, court recommendations, statutory laws, and TDOC policies. Historically, the Compliance Section has been responsible for three major areas:

1. Reporting on the department’s level of compliance with the approximately 1,500 court evaluator recommendations under the Grubbs lawsuit.
2. The coordination of the department’s accreditation activities in all work locations involved in the process.
3. The coordination and oversight of the department’s annual inspections of all institutions and field service operations.

Beginning in fiscal year 1992-93, the Compliance Section will also be responsible for monitoring contract compliance of South Central Correctional Center (SCCC). This institution is being managed by Corrections Corporation of America under terms of a contract finalized in March 1992. SCCC is being compared to Northeast Correctional Center (NECC) and Northwest Correctional Center (NWCC) for effectiveness and efficiency of operations.

Court Compliance/Program Evaluation. During the six month period ending December 31, 1991, visits were made to seven institutions to monitor compliance with evaluator recommendations under the Grubbs lawsuit. In addition, one audit of inmate employment was conducted, along with six follow-ups on previous audits of inmate employment.

In April 1992, in consultation with the special master, the Compliance Report to the Special Master was completed, in anticipation of the June 30, 1992, deadline for completion of the Grubbs mandates. This report analyzed the overall status of the major operational areas of the department. The areas included were: Classification, Education, Inmate Employment, CET, Security, and Institutional Environment. The area of Health Services was not addressed due to the ongoing review of the system by the special master and the anticipated impact the Special Needs Facility will have on the system. This report was used by the special master in developing his April 30 report to the Court.

Accreditation. During Fiscal Year 1991-92, five TDOC institutions passed their initial accreditation audits by the American Correctional Association (ACA), and four others passed reaccreditation audits. By the end of the fiscal year, all department institutions had completed the accreditation process through the ACA, with the exception of the newest institutions.

Those institutions completing their initial accreditation audits include Brushy Mountain State Penitentiary (October), Fort Pillow Prison and Farm (June), Riverbend Maximum Security Institution (February), Turney Center Industrial Prison and Farm (March), and West Tennessee High Security Facility (November). All of the above-mentioned institutions, with the exception of Fort Pillow Prison and Farm, were also formally accredited during fiscal year 1991-92. Fort Pillow was officially accredited in August 1992 after completing the accreditation audit in June 1992.

The institutions that passed reaccreditation audits during fiscal year 1991-92, included Carter County Work Camp (January), Chattanooga Community Service Center (November), Mark H. Luttrell Reception Center (September), and Tennessee Prison for Women (September). Carter County Work Camp was officially reaccredited in April, while the other three institutions were all formally reaccredited in January 1992.

By the end of the fiscal year, the Department of Correction had 15 nationally accredited institutions, with the 16th, Fort Pillow Prison and Farm, accredited in August 1992.

One additional department institution formally entered the accreditation process during fiscal year 1991-92, bringing the total number of institutions involved in the accreditation process to 17. Northeast Correctional Center in Mountain City formally entered the accreditation process in April, with a formal accreditation audit expected during fiscal year 1992-93.

Annual Inspections. Annual inspections are detailed observations and reports of the appearance, physical condition, and overall operation of each institution and field service program. These inspections are conducted by teams consisting of central office, institution, and field personnel. Reinspections, if necessary, are scheduled and conducted within 90 days following the completion of the original inspection. During the past year, 17 institutions and nine regional probation offices were inspected.

Internal Audit

Internal Audit is responsible for conducting all fiscal audits within the Department of Correction as assigned by the commissioner. During fiscal year 1991-92, Internal Audit completed commissary audits at all nine institutions being accredited or re-accredited by ACA. Commissary audits are one of the mandatory standards for accreditation by ACA. Investigative audits assigned by the commissioner were also completed during this period of time. Major internal control deficiencies were discovered and recommendations were made that will effect savings of much time and money for the department. In the latter part of the fiscal year, Internal Audit began a general audit of Northeast Correctional Center.

Fiscal Year 1991-92 Annual Report

Internal Affairs Section

The Internal Affairs Section conducts investigations specially authorized by the commissioner and are limited to matters relating to the operations of the department. Three investigative inquiries were completed by Central Office Internal Affairs during the fiscal year and 61 investigative inquiries were completed by regional internal affairs personnel. The principal types of investigative matters were drugs, staff misconduct, escapes and deaths in the adult institutions. The section continued to work closely with various federal, state, and municipal and county investigative agencies. This resulted in the mutual sharing of intelligence information, sharing of technical services, and informant development. A number of investigative matters were referred to attorney generals throughout the state for possible prosecution.

Employee Grievance Section

The Employee Grievance Section is a resource for department employees with respect to correct procedures for resolving grievances and assists in establishing consistent actions. Classes for senior managers and pre-supervisors are conducted at the Tennessee Correction Academy. These classes focus on civil service concepts and procedures for disciplinary and grievance actions. Monthly and quarterly reports are distributed to assist in the establishment of consistency by allowing personnel to better monitor cases and provide feedback to the field.

During the fiscal year, a total of 103 grievances was submitted. Of this number, 68 decisions were upheld, 9 decisions were overturned, and 14 were deemed nongrievable. A total of 12 were resolved without a hearing. Over 98 percent of the grievances were submitted by adult institutions' staff.

Office of the General Counsel

The Office of General Counsel to the Commissioner represents the commissioner in legal and administrative proceedings where the department is involved. The office assists the Office of the Attorney General, Civil Rights and Claims Section, in defending against the approximately 300 lawsuits filed annually by inmates in federal and state courts across the state. This process was complicated over the past eighteen months by a temporary declination of representation of some employees by the Office of the Attorney General. The department coordinated defense counsel across the state and developed procedures in writing for all levels of employees to follow. Further, the Office assists the Office of the Attorney General, Civil Litigations Section, in handling the appeals of employee grievances from the Civil Service Commission.

The Office of the General Counsel oversees the development of departmental policy, assists institutions in local policy issues which may be unique to the facility, and implements the review of all policies on a regular basis.

The Office of the General Counsel continued the practice of teaching at the training academy and going to the facilities to maintain communication with employees. A significant amount of time daily is devoted to fielding questions by telephone when employees are concerned about the legal implications of a situation. Each member of the Office led sessions at workshops involving records and confidentiality, disciplinary and grievance hearings. The TOMIS project called on the Office of General Counsel to assist in reconciling approximately 1,200 immediate problems arising from sentences which were either illegal or incomplete as submitted. Increasingly, the Office acted as a facilitator on behalf of the department with Federal and State judiciary, claims commissioners, prosecutors offices as well as defense counsel. The Office continued to administer detainees and to maintain files on inmates transferred under the Interstate Compact.

Planning and Research

The Planning and Research Section provides information, analysis, and research to assist in improving the department's management and operation. The section responded to numerous information requests from the General Assembly, federal court monitors, and other outside agencies. The section maintained reporting systems for institutional incident reports, monthly felon populations and movements, jail populations, and the drug treatment program. Special studies in FY 1991-92 included a revision of the probation initial risk assessment scale, a study of the department's use of minimum-restricted custody classification, and a study of the diversionary effectiveness of community alternative programs in cooperation with East Tennessee State University. The section also assisted in developing new data collections systems and in improving the reliability and accuracy of existing data systems. The section produced this annual report. A listing of other available reports and Research Briefs produced by Planning and Research is included at the end of this report.

Budget

The budget section is responsible for coordinating the proper development, submission, and use of the department's operating budget. Technical assistance is provided to the field units in the development and management of the operating budget. The budget section also monitors, revises, and authorizes expenditure of the department's operating funds and revenue collections, prepares financial information and special projects for the legislative branch including fiscal impact of proposed legislation from the General Assembly, monitors the closing capabilities of the department, and serves as liaison between the wardens and directors of the department and Finance and Administration's budget section.

During FY 1991-92, the budget section, in conjunction with field and central office staff, operated under restricted hiring and purchasing procedures as directed by the Departments of Finance and Administration and Personnel. Strict expenditure controls were imposed statewide due to undercollection of tax revenues. These controls restricted commodity acquisition and required the department to maintain evaluated position vacancy levels. The department reverted approximately $2,500,000 as a result of FY 1991-92 operations which represented only .85% of the department's allotment.

During FY 1991-92, the budget section continued the process of phasing-down funding at Tennessee State Penitentiary and DeBerry Correctional Institute in concurrence with the department's goal to close both facilities by June 30, 1992. Additional funds were appropriated to begin operations at South Central Correctional Center, Northwest Correctional Center, and the Lois M. DeBerry Special Needs Facility during the last two quarters of FY 1991-92.

Correctional Enterprises

Correctional Enterprises of Tennessee (CET), in conjunction with institutional wardens, manages the overall operations of manufacturing and farm operations within TDOC. CET emphasizes education by requiring an inmate to obtain a GED Certificate in order to be hired for a skilled position to support these operations. Training is provided in specific manufacturing and farming processes to all inmates and teaches realistic work habits that are necessary for any job.

CET's 17 factories and 4 farms produce high quality goods and services. Products produced through CET's programs are consistently monitored to maintain quality, serviceability and competitive prices. CET strives to meet and exceed market demands and expectations while providing products and services to tax-supported agencies and non-profit organizations.

The farm operation includes a central garage operation. Two dairies have complete processing plants with half-pint cartoning, as well as bulk packaging. Last year's goal was reached to provide two-percent milk along with whole milk. Plans are to expand into juices and chocolate milk.

CET farms are also a source of training for senior veterinary students with the University of Tennessee. The university brings students to the farm to do health work. There is little other opportunity for students to treat large animals before graduating as veterinarians. Correctional farms has provided livestock, staff and resources to do numerous research projects both with the University of Tennessee Veterinary Teaching Hospital and the Agriculture Extension staff.

CET broke from traditional industry programs in FY 1991-92 when TDOC received federal approval to participate in the Private Sector/Prison Industry Enhancement Certification Program (known as the PIE program). The PIE program allows CET to contract with private companies to produce goods for sale to markets outside state, city and local governments. Presently, CET employs approximately 50 inmates under a PIE contract. The inmates receive minimum wage from which deductions for cost of incarceration, taxes, victim restitution and mandatory savings are taken. It is CET's goal to continue to expand this alternative to traditional work programs seeking intensive work programs that are presently being sent out of the country by private companies.

Engineering

The Engineering Section forms an administrative bridge between institutional managers and the architects, engineers, and contractors providing services to them. This section prepares maintenance budgets, new construction programs, cost proposals, and maintenance policy. Engineers review construction plans, specifications, and completed work as well as investigate new building sites.

Construction projects, planned and funded in the 1985 Special Legislative Session are complete. Two additional medium security prisons and a special needs prison were completed in FY 1991-92. Construction began in September 1992 on housing additions at Northeast, Northwest, and South Central Correctional Centers. These three additions will be complete in late 1993 and will add 1,014 beds to our system.

Fiscal Services

The Fiscal Services Section is responsible for continuing to improve the department's financial accountability through the state's Financial Integrity Act. The section also assures prompt and accurate payment of the department's financial obligations. Technical assistance is provided to the field operating units in developing and maintaining integrity in the financial management system. The section is the liaison between TDOC and the Departments of Finance and Administration and General Services, Comptroller of the Treasury, and several other state departments.

During the fiscal year, the most significant activity was the implementation of the Tennessee Offender Management Information System (TOMIS) trust fund accounting program. This program includes the processing of commissary sales as a direct update for the inmate's trust fund. All facilities with inmate trust funds were converted from the OBSCIS program to the TOMIS program on June 1, 1992.

The section continued its emphasis on the follow-up implementation of actions included in the department's response to the latest audit report issued by the Division of State Audit of the Office of the Comptroller of the Treasury. Also continued was the expenditures reporting program that was implemented to strengthen the department's oversight of fiscal activity.

Management Information Services

Management Information Services provides sentence management information, computerized information reporting, technical assistance in the design and development of computerized systems, and forms and publications service. The section calculates all felon sentences, maintains all inmate records of offenders who have been in the system, and monitors the release dates for the Board of Paroles in order to produce the parole dockets.

System Development Services. For more than three years the Department of Correction has been working on a massive project to computerize the entire operation of the department's institutions and field offices. As a result of this effort, on February 3, 1992, the department brought on-line what we believe to be the most comprehensive computer system ever developed in the field of state corrections, the Tennessee Offender Management Information System (TOMIS).

The department manages more than 40,000 offenders in correctional institutions, parole and probation offices, and community corrections grant programs. TOMIS automates all information about these offenders from the time of their conviction until they are released from all supervisory authority.

The equipment and network requirements for TOMIS resulted in the installation of more than 1,400 computer terminals and printers throughout the state. In institutions, terminals now reside on the desks of administrative personnel, in housing units, countrooms, visitation areas, property rooms, clinics and commissaries. Probation and parole officers also have them in their offices to manage their caseload supervision.

TOMIS maintains data in all major activities occurring in the correctional management process beginning with the Pre-Sentence Investigation Report and continuing through conviction and sentencing, incarceration, offender treatment, and parole and probation management.

The easy retrieval of TOMIS data enables the entire corrections system to function more efficiently. The need for written records with numerous copies for all concerned has been greatly reduced.

Sentence Management Services. Sentence Management Services continued to provide training on sentence computation and modification. Several SMS supervisors were assigned full time to the TOMIS project where they provided technical advice on the design and testing of the TOMIS sentencing menu. Another revision of the SMS portion of the MIS Operational Procedures Handbook was undertaken to reflect the conversion to TOMIS. Technical assistance was provided to sheriff's departments, particularly in the area of reporting sentence reduction credits.

Operational Support Services. Beginning in January 1992 and continuing through the TOMIS conversion, Operational Support Services loaded over 600 user group profiles. The user group profile manages the security access to every conversation (transaction) in TOMIS. Including correctional institutions, Board of Parole, Probation, Community Corrections, TEMA, and the Tennessee Sentencing Commission, there are in excess of 5,700 users with access to various conversations in the TOMIS system.

In addition to the TOMIS activities, Operational Support Services processed more than 10,000 inquiries on offenders, more than 23,000 offender file folders were filmed, and over 192,000 pieces of mail were processed.

Personnel

The Personnel Section monitors and provides training for the personnel functions of the department for compliance with civil service rules, state law, and policies and procedures. The section also monitors training, performance evaluations, and employee assistance programs to enhance employee effectiveness. The section developed and monitored the department's affirmative action plan. The unit continues to coordinate systems to deal with the modified hiring freeze.

The unit's major effort for FY 1991-92 was the placement of employees from the Tennessee State Penitentiary and the DeBerry Correctional Institute as they closed. Over 600 employees were placed into other positions, with most having to come off civil service registers.

The DeBerry Special Needs Facility was opened with a range of position classifications not previously used by the department. The establishment of the Correctional Treatment Technician and the Correctional Treatment Technician Supervisor presented promotional opportunities for 185 employees.

The Northwest Correctional Center opened during the fiscal year and presented challenges to back fill and train large numbers of new employees as well as providing extensive promotional opportunities for employees in the West Tennessee area.

The department began incremental steps toward staffing standards adopted during the fiscal year.

Tennessee Correction Academy

The Tennessee Correction Academy's mission is to establish, maintain, and promote professional standards through the provision of quality training programs. Throughout the year, the Academy continued its focus on employee skills enrichment programs and professional growth activities.

In order to achieve its mission for the department, the Academy utilized a wide variety of means through which substantive training could be provided for 6,249 personnel. Academy instructors, for example, developed nearly half the core curriculum courses which were delivered on-site at institutions statewide. Also, 679 personnel were trained by Academy instructors at 14 different work-sites during the year.

Academy-based training, in addition to its ongoing pre-service programs for new personnel, provided 40 specialized and job-specific training programs. Such diverse offerings include Train the Trainer programming for Tennessee Offender Management Information System (TOMIS) users, Tactical Team Training, Crisis Simulation Programming, Emergency Medical Technician Certification Training, and Hostage Negotiator Training. The Academy also became the first state correctional training center in the nation to be sanctioned as an independent Firearms Instructor Certification provider by the National Rifle Association.

The Training Advisory Committee, which served as the Commissioner's chief mechanism for program oversight and approval, provide creative leadership and support essential to the Academy's efforts to offer innovative training options at reduced costs while still meeting accreditation standards.

Classification Programs

The Classification Section is responsible for the implementation and maintenance of the system of managing the progression of inmates from intake into TDOC custody through the period of incarceration.

The classification process evaluates information concerning assessed needs of inmates to aid in making appropriate recommendations concerning programs and levels of supervision. A major objective is to involve inmates in programs in the least restrictive setting consistent with the safety and protection of the public, TDOC staff and other inmates. Emphasis is given to custody, i.e., necessary levels of supervision as determined from the recency, severity and frequency of an individual's institutional conduct and offense conviction history. The process of evaluation occurs continually throughout an inmate's period of incarceration, and is managed at the institutional level by correctional classification coordinators.

Information from the inmate needs assessment process is collected and maintained for use in the inmate program and departmental planning process.

This section is also responsible for ensuring that institutional inmate population levels do not exceed limits established by federal court mandate. This is accomplished by authorizing admissions of inmates to the department from county jails on a daily basis contingent upon the in-house population count. Further, the section monitors and approves, on the basis of population levels, inter-institutional transfers of inmates.

Education

The Education Section provides staff support to the department's institutional educational programs. These services include grant and entitlement program development and monitoring; curriculum frameworks and guides; technical assistance; liaison between the department and other agencies; and Career Ladder evaluation and payment coordination.

Significant events during the fiscal year include: implementation of a new academic curriculum; expansion of the G.E.D. testing program; and reorganization of G.E.D. records.

The total number of inmates receiving some type of educational service increased from 7,735 in FY 1990-91 to 7,919 during this fiscal year. The number of inmates that passed the G.E.D. increased from 382 in FY 1990-91 to 462 in FY 1991-92.

Food Services

The Food Services Section coordinates the food service operations in all the institutions. Advice and assistance are provided on operational matters such as sanitation, controlling food costs, and food preparation. Compliance with TDOC policies and ACA standards is monitored by institutional visits and annual inspections.

During fiscal year 1991-92, over 10,946,000 meals were served in the department. The food expenditure included: $9,750,000 state funds and $515,774 in U.S. Department of Agriculture commodities, for an average cost per day of $2.68.

Since mealtime is of considerable importance for inmates the annual food preference survey was conducted to help determine their preferences. The master menu was revised to reflect those preferences. The master menu is approved by a registered dietitian and meets the nutritional requirements for adults according to the recommended dietary allowances.

Health Services

The Health Services Section develops policies, provides guidance and assistance to institutional health activities and monitors health services contracts at affected institutions. The section also consolidates department-wide health services statistical data, monitors admissions to private hospitals and coordinates the transfer of patients from contract facilities to DeBerry Special Needs Facility.

DeBerry Special Needs Facility opened in August 1992, coinciding with the closings at DCI and the Tennessee State Penitentiary Health Center.

In response to OSHA requirements for protecting employees from blood borne pathogens, an exposure control plan was developed and designates trainers from each institution were instructed on how to implement the plan.

Health care personnel from each institution have been selected to participate in the annual inspection process. These inspections are recognized as an integral part of the quality assurance process.

Health services inspectors developed a reviewers handbook for inspectors to insure more consistent scoring on inspections.

Mental Health Services

Mental health services are made available to all adult offenders incarcerated within the TDOC system. The director of mental health programs is responsible for monitoring and coordinating the overall delivery of mental health services statewide. A series of mental health policies and ACA standards govern the implementation of all mental health services. Institutional visits and annual inspections promote continued compliance with established standards.

The newly opened Lois DeBerry Special Needs Facility (DSNF) will serve as the nucleus for the department's mental health care; 288 beds have been designated exclusively for the provision of mental health intervention. Additionally, 96 beds have been allotted for the intensive treatment of adult sex offenders. All TDOC institutions will have access to various treatment components at DSNF.

Substance Abuse Programs

The purpose of the Substance Abuse Program is to provide drug involved offenders with an opportunity to change past drug abusing behaviors by providing access to treatment interventions designed for varying levels of need and motivation.

The department received $984,000 in federal funding from the Bureau of Justice Assistance in fiscal year 1991-92 for substance abuse treatment. During 1991-92, a total of 1,600 offenders were accepted and received direct treatment services: 1,138 offenders in TDOC institutions and 562 offenders on probation. Federal funds were also used to develop other in-house institutional programs.

Because of the need to provide treatment services to a heterogeneous population, a range of treatment services have been incorporated into the substance abuse programs. Treatment services include: psychoeducational modules, drug education, outpatient and inpatient community services, therapeutic community, and structured self-help groups. A specialized community supervision program was developed for Division X Criminal Court in Shelby County. About 235 received probation services through this court.

Federally-funded institutional programs and their average monthly census included:

- 8-week educational program - 187
- 12-week Recovery Dynamics program - 35
- Therapeutic Community - 32

A transitional release program is available for offenders released to community supervision in metropolitan counties that are in need of continued substance abuse treatment. Self-help programs, Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous, as well as educational materials are also available to inmates.

Federally-funded probation programs and their average monthly census included:

- 28-day inpatient treatment - 33
- Aftercare services - 17
- 16-week outpatient treatment programs - 103
- Halfway house placements - 4
- Educational programs - 20

Federal funds were used for regional substance abuse coordinators in the four largest metropolitan areas to direct offenders with substance abuse problems to various department and community programs, including self-help programs.

Brushy Mountain State Penitentiary (BMSP) is the reception, classification and diagnostic center for East Tennessee. It was originally built as a time building facility. The facility has a maximum security designation.

Programs available at BMSP include G.E.D., and Adult Basic Education for permanently assigned inmates, an industrial cleaning vocational program for minimum security inmates, and a pre-release program. Inmates are involved in support jobs at the facility and community service projects.

Carter County Work Camp (CCWC) is based on the concept of working inmates in the community. This facility houses minimum security inmates who are within ten years of their release eligibility date (RED).

Programs at the facility include G.E.D., Adult Basic Education and a literacy program. Additionally, substance abuse programs are provided.

Inmate work crews assist federal, state and local government agencies as well as private and non-profit organizations in community service programs. Community service projects, including renovation and painting for schools and other facilities, helps inmates develop skills in carpentry, masonry, landscaping and other related trades. Major construction projects have been completed during this report period.

Average Daily Population - Male - 97, Female - 19

Security Designation - Minimum

Accredited - Yes

Chattanooga Community Service Center (CCSC) houses minimum security male and female offenders within seven years of release with an emphasis on community service.

Programs available at the facility include G.E.D., Adult Basic Education, mental health programs, pre-release and individual counseling. The facility provides numerous state and local government agencies and community service agencies with skilled and unskilled labor, and inmates are also involved in support jobs at the facility.

Knoxville Community Service Center - Knoxville

Warden - Joe Fowler

Opened - 1971

Designated Capacity - 150

Average Daily Population - 134

Security Designation - Minimum

Accredited - Yes

Knoxville Community Service Center (KCSC) houses minimum security inmates who are within seven years of release with an emphasis on pre-release and community service. This facility does not accept sex offenders or offenders with detainers, and only accepts offenders with violent offenses who have been recommended for parole.

Programs available at KCSC include remedial reading, G.E.D., and Adult Basic Education on a voluntary basis, counseling and pre-release services, substance abuse education programs, alcoholics and narcotics anonymous groups, work and education release for eligible inmates, various religious activities, volunteer-sponsored activities such as birthday parties and seasonal celebrations, community service projects, organized recreational programming both on and off compound and basic mental health and self-help services.

Inmates are initially assigned to supervised support jobs and self-help programs through the individual program plan. Subsequently, inmates may progress to community service assignments, passes/furloughs and finally, to pre-release status and parole.

Morgan County Regional Correctional Facility - Wartburg

Warden - David G. Mills

Opened - 1980

Designated Capacity - 791

Average Daily Population - 794

Security Designation - Medium/Minimum Restricted

Accredited - Yes

Morgan County Regional Correctional Facility (MCRCF) is a time building institution with a current security designation of minimum restricted, which also housed medium custody inmates for approximately half the year.

Educational programs include G.E.D., Adult Basic Education, special education and college courses by Lee College and Roane State Community College.

Vocational classes include commercial cleaning, commercial food service, building trades, upholstery, vocational office education (VOE), and heating, air conditioning, and refrigeration.

Industries include textiles and furniture refurbishing/manufacturing. Uniform belts and gun sheaths for all TDOC institutions are handcrafted at the MCRCF leather shop. Highly skilled leather crafters also produce leather goods for sale to the public through the MCRCF craft shop.

Inmates from MCRCF have been responsible for major construction projects in Morgan and surrounding counties. These included building Mossy Grove Church, constructing bleachers at Central High School in Wartburg, remodelling the fellowship hall at Childs Memorial Church in Harriman, completing construction on Mill Creek Church, building an addition on Mt. Carmel Church in Coalfield, constructing boat docks and painting sheds at Roane County Park, building an addition to the athletic building at Rockwood High School, and building campsites at Frozen Head State Park, Wartburg.

Inmates also provided valuable services to local communities, such as highway and county right-of-way clearing, trash pickup, cemetery mowing and cleanup, grave digging, church maintenance, school yard work, and have helped civic groups with landscaping projects and various other maintenance projects with have saved taxpayer dollars. The art shop makes signs and other items for community organizations. The building trades class recently made a special desk for a handicapped child in Nashville enabling her to attend school. The Straight Talk Program is presented to various community organizations upon request to supplement local programs for delinquent adolescents.

Field Services

The purpose of the field services section is to effectively supervise and investigate the conduct of persons placed on probation and referred to the department by the courts. Pre-sentence investigations and evaluations are provided to criminal and circuit courts. Other investigative reports include post-sentence, classification and interstate compact reports. The section also has the responsibility of collection of criminal injuries compensation, supervision and diversion fees from all eligible offenders. A Work Projects Program and an Intensive Supervision Program are administered by the section. In addition, the division operates specialized probation services for the Shelby County Criminal Court, Division X (Drug Court). An emphasis on identification and treatment for offenders for substance abuse related problems is the primary goal of this specialized unit.

The section is also responsible for screening eligible participants for the department's boot camp program from the local jails and facilities. Upon completion of the boot camp program, the probation staff is responsible for supervising the successfully released offender. During FY 1991-92, a total 350 offenders were successfully released to probation supervision.

The Field Services section supervised an average of 18,808 probationers in fiscal year 1991-92. Probation services are provided to all judicial districts in the state. A total of $1,576,496 was collected during the fiscal year for the Criminal Injuries Compensation Fund; $370,475 was collected in Pre-Trial Diversion fees. Over 219,000 hours of community service work were performed by 2,323 probationers in the Work Projects Program.

The Intensive Supervision program supervised an average of 1,111 cases per month during the fiscal year and utilized both electronic monitoring and intermittent drug testing to provide intensified services. The cost of supervision for an offender in FY 1991-92 was $3.96.

Community Corrections

The Community Corrections Section is responsible for overseeing the grant program for the delivery of community corrections services. Community Corrections programs are intended as an alternative to incarceration for offenders. The FY 1991-92 appropriation was $5.1 million. Grants went to 16 continuation programs and two new programs. A 26 percent increase in program admissions (1,239 to 1,557) occurred. The programs serve 93 counties including all four metropolitan areas. At the end of the fiscal year, 2,061 felony offenders were under Community Correction supervision. Many of the grantees use electronic monitoring devices to aid in enforcing house arrest components, and three grantees operate residential centers for offenders. Cost per offender per day declined by $1.03 from the previous year.
