FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 2 (New Jersey and New York).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

¹The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.¹ This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships² have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of ¹The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

²By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major reorganizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone call-back procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct fee basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- a. hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- b. are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- c. are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

USERS GUIDE

This publication consists of name and address listings of criminal justice agencies arranged by State, type of agency, and level of government. Each agency name and address is followed by a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier that uniquely identifies the agency; most agencies also have the name of the county in which the agency is located.

The agencies for each State are listed together in the following sequence:

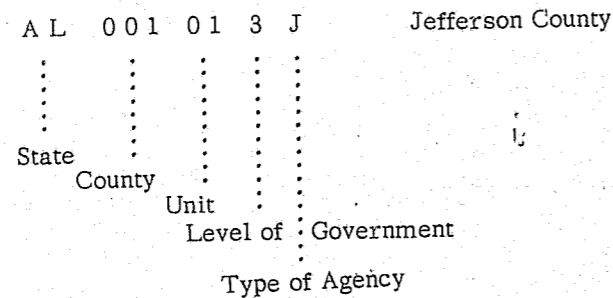

1. Enforcement agencies
 - a. State level
 - b. County level (in alphabetical order by name of county)
 - c. Municipal level (in alphabetical order by name of city)
 - d. Town or township level (in alphabetical order by name of town or township)
 - e. Special district level
 - f. Independent school district level
2. Courts (Level of government sequence is the same as above within each sector)
 - a. State level, county level, etc.
3. Prosecution and legal services
 - a. State level, county level, etc.
4. Defender agencies
 - a. State level, etc.
5. Adult correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.
6. Juvenile correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.
7. Other correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.
8. Probation and parole agencies
 - a. State level, etc.
9. Other criminal justice agencies

INTRODUCTION

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

Digits	Explanation	Example
Digits 1-2	Two-letter state abbreviation (same as Post Office abbreviation)	AL
Digits 3-5	County number as designated by the NCIC Manual	001
Digits 6-7	Unit number of agency by type within each level of government and county	01
Digit 8	Level of Government 0...Special District, School District 1...City, town, or township 3...County 5...State	3
Digit 9	Type of Agency A - Prosecution, legal services C - Correctional institution D - Defender E - State planning agency G - Probation or parole J - Court M - Coroner or medical examiner Y - All other agencies Z - Police agency not in NCIC Manual	J

Example: Jefferson County Probate Court
Birmingham, Alabama

NEW JERSEY

New Jersey ranks eighth among the States in population and has the following eight Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Atlantic City, Jersey City, Long Branch-Ashbury Park, Newark, New Brunswick-Perth Amboy, Paterson-Clifton-Passaic, Trenton, Vineland-Millville-Bridgeton. There are 21 county governments, 335 municipal governments (known as cities, towns, boroughs or villages), and 232 township governments. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

Enforcement agencies

The New Jersey State Police is a division of the Department of Law and Public Safety. The State Police provide total law enforcement service to rural municipalities and patrol all areas of the State. The major emphasis is on inter-jurisdictional crime control and state-wide technical and scientific services. Special police agencies include campus police, marine police, bridge police and the Delaware River Port Authority police.

County sheriffs
Municipal police
Special police

There is an elected county sheriff in each county who administers the county jail and may become involved in criminal investigations. Bergen and Hudson counties operate county police departments which patrol county roads and are authorized to make criminal arrests in any part of the county.

Juvenile and domestic relations courts

Municipal courts

The major law enforcement agencies in New Jersey municipalities are the "organized" police departments, defined by the State as departments with one or more police officers on a full-time permanent basis. Municipal police officers in organized departments must complete a prescribed police training course.

Prosecution - Department of Law and Public Safety - Attorney General
County Prosecutors
Municipal prosecutors

Courts

The court system consists of the State Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); superior courts and county courts in each county (courts of general jurisdiction); county district courts, juvenile and domestic relations courts; and surrogates' courts in each county; and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction). The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is the administrative head of all courts in the State, and appoints an administrative director of the courts.

Public Defenders - Department of Institutions and Agencies

Prosecution and legal services agencies

Corrections - Department of Institutions and Agencies
County jails
County juvenile facilities
Municipal jails

The Attorney General is head of the Department of Law and Public Safety and serves as New Jersey's chief legal officer. In that capacity, he advises the county prosecutors. County prosecutors are appointed by the Governor and are responsible for criminal investigation, trial preparation and court presentation of indictments; they are full-time in the nine most populous counties. Municipal prosecutors handle minor offenses in the municipal courts.

Probation and Parole - Administrative Office of the Courts - Probation
County probation departments
Department of Institutions and Agencies
Bureau of Parole

Public defender agencies

In 1967 New Jersey established the Office of the Public Defender to provide indigent defense statewide to adults and juveniles formally charged with an indictable offense. The Office is within the Department of Institutions and Agencies and is entirely funded by the State. There is a headquarters office in Trenton, an appellate section, and 17 field offices. The Federal Office of Economic Opportunity's Legal Services Projects provide legal representation to indigents charged with nonindictable offenses, indictable offenses up to the preliminary hearing stage, and on civil matters.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Institutions and Agencies, headed by a commissioner appointed by the Governor, includes the Division of Correction and Parole. This division administers several correctional institutions, residential group centers, a readjustment unit, community-based programs, the Bureau of Parole and the Bureau of Community Services. The Bureau of Community Services was established to promote community alternatives to institutionalization for juveniles and adults.

The Department also includes the Division of Youth and Family Services, which provides parole supervision and administers treatment-oriented residential facilities for juveniles up to age 16. Several counties operate juvenile detention centers, some of which serve neighboring counties. Juveniles under 16 may not be incarcerated in any prison, jail, lockup or police station; youths between the ages of 16 and 18 may be incarcerated only when physically separated from adult inmates.

Each county is responsible for operating a jail; two counties (Mercer and Middlesex) also operate penitentiaries and several other counties operate workhouses. The police departments of several municipalities also operate jails.

Probation and parole agencies

Probation is administered statewide by an assistant director for probation in the State Administrative Office of the Courts. A single probation department is established in each county to provide probation services to all courts in that jurisdiction for both adults and juveniles. Adult parole is administered by the Bureau of Parole in the Department of Institutions and Agencies. Juvenile parole is administered by the Division of Youth and Family Services within the same department.

NEW YORK

New York ranks second among the States in population and includes nine Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Albany-Schenectady-Troy, Binghamton, Buffalo, Elmira, New York City, Poughkeepsie, Rochester, Syracuse, and Utica-Rome. There are 57 county governments, 618 municipal governments (known as cities and villages) and 931 township governments (designated as "towns"). The five county areas comprising New York City (Bronx, Kings, New York, Queens and Richmond) are substantially consolidated with the city for governmental purposes and are not considered as operating counties. The major components of New York's criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Division of State Police
County sheriffs
Municipal and town police
police departments
Special police

Courts - State Court of Appeals
Appellate divisions of supreme courts
Supreme courts
County courts
Courts of claims
Family courts
Surrogates' courts
City courts
District courts
Civil Court of the City of New York
Criminal Court of the City of New York
Police courts
Justice courts
Recorders' courts

Prosecution - Department of Law - Attorney General
District attorneys
County attorneys

Public Defender - County public defenders
Family courts (law guardians for juveniles)

Corrections - Department of Correctional Services
Division for Youth
County jails
County juvenile facilities
Municipal jails

Probation and Parole - Division of Probation
County probation departments
Department of Correctional Services
Division for Youth

Enforcement agencies

The Division of State Police is the principal police agency at the State level. The Division is responsible for the prevention and detection of crime, apprehension of criminals, vehicle and traffic law enforcement, and assisting local police with investigations and technical services. It has primary responsibility for police functions in those areas where no other police department has jurisdiction. Special police include State university police and port authority police.

Enforcement agencies at the county level include sheriffs, whose primary function is the operation of county jails, and county police departments (Nassau and Suffolk counties). Cities, towns, and villages may also have their own general-purpose police departments as well as special police for housing, transit, parks, etc.

Courts

The court system in New York includes the following: The Court of Appeals and the appellate divisions of the supreme courts (courts of appellate jurisdiction); supreme courts and county courts (courts of general jurisdiction); courts of claims, family courts, surrogates' courts, Criminal Court of the City of New York, Civil Court of the City of New York, district courts, city courts, city justice courts, city police courts, recorders' courts, town and village justice courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

There is an Administrative Board of which the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals is chairman. The Board is responsible for the administrative supervision of the court system and establishes standards and policies. The appellate divisions supervise the administration and operation of the courts in their respective departments. Staff support for these administrative functions consists of a State court administrator and a departmental administrator in each of the four judicial departments into which the State is divided.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Department of Law, headed by the Attorney General, is the principal legal office of the State and has several district offices. The Department represents the State in all actions and proceedings for and against the State and enforces certain laws which directly affect the citizens, e.g., civil rights, environmental protection, and consumer fraud.

The elected district attorney in each county bears the responsibility for the prosecution of crimes occurring in that county. District attorneys in counties having 100,000 or more people must be full-time. County attorneys are appointed by the boards of supervisors and serve as legal advisers to the county government.

Public defender agencies

Responsibility for the defense of indigents rests with the county governments. Some counties administer their own public defender system while others make arrangements with legal aid societies or bar association panels. Defense of juveniles is provided in the family courts by a system of law guardians, who are designated and paid by the appellate division of each supreme court.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The responsibility for corrections rests with the Department of Correctional Services. This department administers correctional institutions and provides counseling and rehabilitation services to ex-offenders. The Commission of Correction headed by the Commissioner of Correctional Services has regulatory authority over locally administered jails, penitentiaries, and lockups.

The Division for Youth administers youth development and delinquency prevention programs and operates residential treatment facilities and after-care services throughout the State. The Division also administers community youth programs funded with State aid. Local detention facilities are operated by a variety of agencies such as county departments of social services or county probation departments.

Probation and parole agencies

In 1971 the Division of Probation was removed from the Department of Correction and established as a separate agency in the Executive Department. Probation service is a function of local government under the general supervision of the Division. If requested, the Division will deliver direct probation services to counties with five or fewer probation officers. The Division administers training programs and operates an extensive consultation service.

Adult parole is administered by the Department of Correctional Services. Juvenile parole is administered by the Division for Youth.
