FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 4 (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

¹The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.¹ This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships² have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of ¹The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

²By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major reorganizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone callback procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the New England States, New York, and Wisconsin, some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct fee basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- a. hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- b. are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- c. are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

USERS GUIDE

This publication consists of name and address listings of criminal justice agencies arranged by State, type of agency, and level of government. Each agency name and address is followed by a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier that uniquely identifies the agency; most agencies also have the name of the county in which the agency is located.

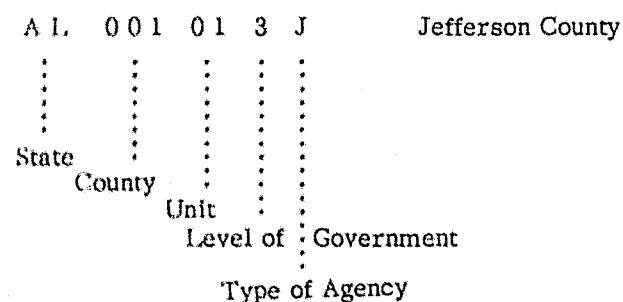

The agencies for each State are listed together in the following sequence:

1. Enforcement agencies
 - a. State level
 - b. County level (in alphabetical order by name of county)
 - c. Municipal level (in alphabetical order by name of city)
 - d. Town or township level (in alphabetical order by name of town or township)
 - e. Special district level
 - f. Independent school district level
2. Courts (Level of government sequence is the same as above within each sector)
 - a. State level, county level, etc.....
3. Prosecution and legal services
 - a. State level, county level, etc....
4. Defender agencies
 - a. State level, etc.....
5. Adult correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.....
6. Juvenile correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.....
7. Other correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.....
8. Probation and parole agencies
 - a. State level, etc.....
9. Other criminal justice agencies
 - a. State level, etc.....

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

Digits	Explanation	Example
Digits 1-2	Two-letter state abbreviation (same as Post Office abbreviation)	AL
Digits 3-5	County number as designated by the NCIC Manual	001
Digits 6-7	Unit number of agency by type within each level of government and county	01
Digit 8	Level of Government 0...Special District, School District 1...City, town, or township 3...County 5...State	3
Digit 9	Type of Agency A - Prosecution, legal services C - Correctional institution D - Defender E - State planning agency G - Probation or parole J - Court M - Coroner or medical examiner Y - All other agencies Z - Police agency not in NCIC Manual	J

Example: Jefferson County Probate Court
Birmingham, Alabama

ALABAMA

Alabama ranks 21st among the States in population and has the following seven Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Birmingham, Florence, Gadsden, Huntsville, Mobile, Montgomery, and Tuscaloosa. There are 67 county governments and 396 municipal governments known as cities and towns. The major components of Alabama's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety - Highway Patrol
Special police
County sheriffs
Municipal police

- Courts - Supreme Court
Court of Criminal Appeals
Court of Civil Appeals
Circuit courts
Probate courts
County courts
Juvenile courts
Family Court of Jefferson County
Morgan County Justice Court
Recorders' courts

- Prosecution - State Attorney General
District attorneys
City attorneys

- Public Defenders - County public defenders

- Corrections - Board of Corrections
County jails
City jails
Department of Youth Services
County juvenile facilities

- Probation and Parole - Board of Pardons and Paroles
State Court Administrator - Probation
County departments of pensions and security

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Public Safety includes the Highway Patrol, which has primary responsibility for the enforcement of traffic laws, although they also have the authority to make arrests for violation of drug abuse and criminal laws. There are also special police at the State level including docks police, marine police, game and fish law enforcement, and State university campus police.

The county sheriff is an elected official who serves as the principal law enforcement officer for the county. The sheriff has the authority to enforce all Federal, State, and local laws within the county. Municipal police enforce these laws within the boundaries of the city.

Courts

The Alabama court system consists of the Supreme Court, Court of Criminal Appeals, and Court of Civil Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction); probate courts, county courts, juvenile courts, Family Court of Jefferson County, Morgan County Justice Court, and recorders' courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is the chief administrative official of the Alabama court system. There is a Department of Court Management, which operates under the Chief Justice and has a court administrator and staff, which provide assistance.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General, who is elected, is responsible for representing the State in legal matters, rendering advisory opinions to governmental agencies at the State and local level, and generally administering the prosecution of criminal cases. In practice the Attorney General has not often utilized the powers of supervision broadly, although it is not unusual for the attorney general's office to handle an important trial.

District attorneys are elected in each of the judicial circuits. The primary function of district attorneys are grand jury presentations, the conduct of preliminary hearings, and the prosecution of criminal cases in the intermediate and circuit courts. Prosecution in the municipal level courts is handled by city attorneys.

Public defender agencies

There are several counties and cities with public defender offices, but the majority of governments still use the assigned counsel system, drawing upon members of the local bar or upon a group of lawyers who have indicated a desire to defend indigents.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The State Board of Corrections supervises all adult correctional institutions, including a medical and diagnostic center, State prisons, correctional centers, the Youth Center, and the Prerelease Center.

At the local level, county jails are operated by the county sheriff, and municipal jails are operated by the local police departments. Smaller facilities primarily hold offenders awaiting trial, while the larger jails also hold sentenced prisoners.

The Department of Youth Services administers State training schools for adjudicated juveniles. The Department is working to establish regional community-based prevention and treatment services for juveniles.

On the county level various facilities are provided for juveniles, including group homes, halfway houses, and regional youth centers, which provide detention services for several counties. The remaining counties utilize jails to detain juveniles awaiting court disposition.

Probation and parole agencies

Adult probation and parole are administered by a three-member Board of Pardons and Paroles. The Board has exclusive jurisdiction of all matters relating to parole and pardon and makes investigations for the courts on adult probation matters. The Field Services Division maintains offices throughout the State and makes investigations and supervises all parolees and probationers.

Juvenile probation is administered by the State Court Administrator, and services are provided by the county juvenile courts or the county departments of pensions and security. Parole services for juveniles are also provided by the county department of pensions and security.

FLORIDA

Florida ranks ninth among the States in population and has the following 14 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Daytona Beach, Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood, Fort Myers, Gainesville, Jacksonville, Lakeland-Winter Haven, Melbourne-Titusville-Cocoa, Miami, Orlando, Pensacola, Sarasota, Tallahassee, Tampa-St. Petersburg, and West Palm Beach. There are 66 county governments and 390 municipal governments known as cities, towns, and villages. There is one consolidated city-county government -- Jacksonville and Duval County -- designated the city of Jacksonville, which is classified as a municipal government for Census reporting purposes. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles -
 - Highway Patrol
 - Special police
 - County sheriffs
 - County police
 - Municipal police
- Courts -
 - Supreme Court
 - District courts of appeal
 - Circuit courts
 - County courts
 - Municipal courts
- Prosecution - Department of Legal Affairs -
 - Attorney General
 - State's attorneys
 - City prosecutors
- Public Defenders -
 - District public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services -
 - Division of Corrections -
 - Division of Youth Services
 - County jails
 - Municipal jails
 - County juvenile facilities
 - Municipal juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole -
 - Probation and Parole Commission
 - Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services -
 - Division of Youth Services

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles includes the Florida Highway Patrol, which has general law enforcement authority throughout the State. Several State agencies have their own special police forces with general arrest authority. These agencies include the Division of Marine Resources, the Department of Natural Resources, and the State university campus police.

On the county level, the sheriffs have broad authority extending throughout the county, but generally they direct their resources toward unincorporated areas or incorporated areas without police agencies. All sheriffs are elected except in Dade County, which has a home rule charter government with an appointed Director of Public Safety. There are also some county police departments. Municipal police are the primary law enforcement authorities in their respective municipalities with a police chief appointed by the city council or manager.

Courts

Effective January 1, 1973, Florida implemented a reorganized court system. Several courts, including the courts of record, county judges' courts, small claims courts, juvenile courts, and justices of the peace, were abolished. Municipal courts are scheduled to be phased out gradually between 1972 and 1977. The new judicial system consists of the Supreme Court and the district courts of appeal (courts of appellate jurisdiction), circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction), and county courts and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is the chief administrative officer of the State's judicial system. The Chief Justice is assisted by the Office of the State Courts Administrator. The Chief Judge of the circuit court for each judicial circuit has been designated the chief administrative judge for all courts within that district.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Department of Legal Affairs is headed by the elected Attorney General, who is the State's chief legal officer. In each of the State's judicial circuits there is an elected State's attorney, who prosecutes all State matters in circuit or county courts. City prosecutors are authorized to appear in county courts but only to prosecute violations of municipal ordinances.

Public defender agencies

Florida has had a statewide public defender system since 1963. In each judicial district there is an elected public defender, who may represent any indigent charged with a felony, misdemeanor, or violation of a municipal or county ordinance in the county court. In addition, trial court judges may appoint private defense counsel for indigents and require local governments to pay reasonable fees. The public defenders may also represent indigent juveniles.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services includes the Division of Corrections and the Division of Youth Services. The Division of Corrections administers State adult institutions, road prisons, and community correctional centers. Local adult correctional institutions include the county and municipal jails, operated by the county sheriffs and municipal police departments respectively.

The Division of Youth Services administers State juvenile correctional facilities as well as a statewide program of regional juvenile detention services. Counties and municipalities also maintain juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The State Probation and Parole Commission administers adult probation and parole and provides services throughout the State.

Juvenile probation and parole administration is the responsibility of the Division of Youth Services within the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. Probation and parole services are provided statewide by the Bureau of Field Services within the Division of Youth Services.

Department of Human Resources - Youth Service
Section

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Public Safety includes the Georgia State Patrol, which patrols the rural roads and highways throughout the State, investigates criminal acts, and makes arrests. Special police at the State level include the Law Enforcement Section of the Game and Fish Commission and the State university campus police.

The elected county sheriff operates the jail, enforces the law throughout the county, and assists municipal police departments when requested. Several counties also maintain a county police department in addition to the sheriff's department. Many cities have municipal police departments, which are responsible for law enforcement within the municipality.

Courts

The Georgia court system consists of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); superior courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and courts of ordinary, juvenile courts, State courts, small claims courts, other county courts, municipal courts, magistrates' courts, and recorders' and other municipal level courts.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is head of the Department of Law and is responsible for all legal matters relating to all State agencies, including representing the State in capital cases in the Supreme Court and in any litigation involving State agencies and officials. The Attorney General also provides legal advice to both State officials and local prosecutors.

District attorneys are elected officers of the superior courts and as such prosecute all cases in the superior courts and prosecute and defend all actions in which the State is interested. Certain other courts have special solicitors whose primary responsibility is prosecution of criminal cases for that court. County attorneys and city attorneys provide legal services for their respective governments.

Public defender agencies

There is no statewide public defender system; however, county public defenders have been established in three counties: DeKalb, Fulton, and Muscogee. In other counties court-appointed counsel provide defender services.

Correctional agencies and institutions

Adult correctional institutions at the State level are administered by the Department of Offender Rehabilitation, created in 1972, and the State Board of Corrections. Local adult facilities include county jails, run by sheriffs, in which the primary activity is the maintenance of State and county roads. Local jails serve primarily as holding facilities. Some cities maintain municipal jails.

Juvenile corrections is administered at the State level by the Department of Human Resources, Youth Service Section. The Department operates youth development centers (YDC's) and regional youth development centers. The regional youth development centers are primarily holding facilities. Some counties also operate detention facilities, youth service bureaus, and community-based treatment facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Community-Based Services of the Department of Offender Rehabilitation administers and provides services for adult probation and parole. A few county governments administer their own probation and parole departments. Parole decisions are made by the Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Juvenile probation and parole are the responsibility of the Youth Service Section of the Division of Community Services within the Department of Human Resources. Some counties provide probation services for juveniles, but all aftercare services are provided by the Department of Human Resources.

KENTUCKY

Kentucky ranks 23rd among the States in population and has three Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Lexington, Louisville, and Owensboro. There are 120 county governments and 378 municipal governments known as cities and towns. The major components of Kentucky's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Justice -
Bureau of State Police
County sheriffs
County police
Municipal police
- Courts - Court of Appeals
Circuit courts
County courts
Quarterly courts
Police or municipal courts
Justice or magistrate courts
- Prosecution - Department of Law - State
Attorney General
Commonwealth's attorneys
County attorneys
City attorneys
- Public
Defenders - County public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Justice -

probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The Bureau of State Police within the Department of Justice assists local police agencies throughout the State. They provide specialized law enforcement services, including computerized criminal information, crime laboratory analysis, and contract police service.

Every county has an elected sheriff, whose duties include law enforcement and civil duties associated with the courts. Several counties maintain county police patrols in addition to their sheriff departments. Municipal police departments provide law enforcement services in many municipalities, and where there is no local agency the county or State police provide service when needed.

Courts

Kentucky's court system consists of the Court of Appeals (court of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction); county courts, quarterly courts, police or municipal courts, and justice or magistrate courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction). The Court of Appeals has general administrative control over the State's courts. The Court appoints an administrative director of the courts who is responsible for budgetary and other administrative functions as authorized by the Court of Appeals.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General's Office provides legal advice to State agencies and officials and represents the State in litigation. The office provides assistance and training to local prosecutors and has developed a manual of uniform practices.

In each judicial district there is an elected commonwealth's attorney, who is responsible for prosecution of criminal offenses in the circuit courts. Each county elects a county attorney to provide legal services to the county and prosecute all criminal cases in the courts of limited jurisdiction. City attorneys are either elected or appointed to serve as legal counsel and prosecute criminal cases for the State or municipality in the police or municipal courts.

Public defender agencies

Kentucky has a statewide system of county public defenders for indigent defendants in criminal cases. Counsel may be provided by full-time public defenders, fee-paid assigned counsel, or by a private nonprofit corporation. There are also legal aid programs operated by the State university law schools.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Bureau of Corrections within the Department of Justice has jurisdiction over adult correctional facilities, including the State Penitentiary, the Reformatory, correctional facilities, and forestry camps.

Local adult facilities are operated by the counties and some municipalities. Misdemeanants are sentenced to local jails or detention facilities for periods not exceeding one year. The Bureau of Corrections has initiated a jail consultant program to upgrade local facilities. The consultants visit local jails to provide training and assist in planning. Minimum security and sanitation standards have been established by the Bureau.

The Bureau of Social Services within the Department of Human Resources is responsible for residential and community treatment of dependent, delinquent, and/or emotionally disturbed juveniles. Facilities include reception centers, treatment centers, camps, and a children's home. County juvenile correctional facilities include treatment and detention centers and group homes.

Probation and parole agencies

The Division of Community Services within the Bureau of Corrections is responsible for supervising adult probationers and parolees throughout the State. There are some county and municipal probation departments which supplement the State services. Paroles are granted by the Parole Board.

The Bureau of Social Services within the Department of Human Resources has the authority to place juveniles on parole and is responsible for the supervision of juvenile probationers and parolees. County courts may also appoint probation officers for juveniles.

MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi ranks 29th among the States in population and has two Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's)--Biloxi-Gulfport and Jackson. There are 82 county governments and 270 municipal governments known as cities, towns, and villages. The major components of Mississippi's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety -
Highway Safety Patrol
County sheriffs
Municipal police
- Courts - Supreme Court
Circuit courts
Chancery courts
County courts
Harrison County Family
Court
Municipal courts
- Prosecution - State Attorney General
District attorneys
County attorneys
City prosecutors
- Public
Defenders - No governmental agencies
- Corrections - Mississippi State Penitentiary
County jails
Municipal jails
Department of Youth Services
County and municipal juvenile facilities
- Probation
and Parole - Probation and Parole Board
Municipal probation departments
Department of Youth Services - Community Services
Division
Youth court probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The Highway Safety Patrol within the Department of Public Safety has primary responsibility for the enforcement of traffic laws on the highway and exercises general police authority statewide.

Each county elects a sheriff with primary responsibility for law enforcement and the operation of the county jail. Sheriffs have county-wide jurisdiction but generally do not assist with municipal law enforcement. Municipal police are supervised by a marshal or chief of police who is the chief law enforcement officer for the municipality.

Courts

The Mississippi court system consists of the Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts and chancery courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and county courts, Harrison County Family Court, and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction). Justices of the peace were excluded from coverage because they are compensated on a fee basis.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General, who is elected, represents the State in all criminal appeals and may assist in the prosecution of criminal cases at the trial level.

District attorneys are elected in each circuit court district to prosecute criminal cases in the circuit courts. Counties have the option of establishing the office of county attorney for the prosecution of criminal cases in county courts and before the justices of the peace. A city prosecutor is authorized in every municipality with a population of 10,000 or more to prosecute cases in municipal court.

Public defender agencies

There is no statewide public defender system. Counsel is appointed by the courts for indigent defendants.

Correctional agencies and institutions

Mississippi has no centralized adult correctional administrative authority. The only State-level institution for adults is the Mississippi State Penitentiary, which is under the authority of a governing board appointed by the Governor. On the local level, each county operates a jail for the custody of offenders. Municipalities may establish a municipal prison or jail or may contract with the county for use of the county jail.

In 1973 legislation was passed which changed the name of the Mississippi Training Schools to the Department of Youth Services. Eventually all juvenile services, both institutional and community-based, will be coordinated through the department. At present the department administers State level juvenile facilities. Juvenile detention facilities are maintained by several county and municipal governments.

Probation and parole agencies

The Probation and Parole Board reviews parole applications and provides adult probation and parole services throughout the State. At least one officer is assigned to each of the State's circuit court districts to perform a variety of functions, including investigations. A few municipalities maintain their own probation departments.

The Department of Youth Services, Division of Community Services, administers statewide probation and aftercare services, which are maintained primarily by the local youth court jurisdictions.

NORTH CAROLINA

North Carolina ranks 12th in population among the States and has the following eight Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Asheville, Charlotte, Durham, Fayetteville, Gastonia, Greensboro-Winston-Salem-High Point, Raleigh, and Wilmington. There are 100 county governments and 454 municipal governments known as cities, towns, and villages. The major components of North Carolina's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Transportation and Highway Safety - Highway Patrol
County sheriffs
County police
Municipal police
- Courts - Supreme Court
Court of Appeals
Superior courts
District courts
- Prosecution - State Attorney General
Superior court solicitors
County attorneys
City attorneys
- Public Defenders - District public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Correction
County jails
Municipal jails
County juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - Department of Correction-Adult Probation and Parole Division
Parole Commission
Administrative Office of the Courts - Juvenile probation offices

Enforcement agencies

The State Highway Patrol, part of the Department of Transportation and Highway Safety, patrols the highways and has general arrest authority throughout the State. They may serve as peace officers at the request of local law enforcement agencies.

Responsibility for police protection is primarily assigned to municipal and county police and sheriffs' departments. Each county elects a sheriff, who has the power of a peace officer statewide, although the exercise of this power is usually confined to the county. Sheriffs and rural police departments assist municipal police agencies within the county upon request. Generally municipal police confine their activities to within the city limits, while county police and sheriffs' activities are generally confined to the areas beyond the city limits.

Courts

The State court system, or General Court of Justice as it is designated, consists of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); the superior courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and the district courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Administrative Office provides assistance to the State courts in all areas of administration. The director of the office is appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General defends all actions in the appellate court in which the State is either interested or a party and consults with and advises the solicitors throughout the State whenever requested.

Superior court solicitors prosecute all crimes in the superior and district courts. County and city attorneys are employed to provide legal services for their respective county and municipal governments.

Public defender agencies

In two judicial districts the defense of indigents is handled by full-time public defenders and their staffs. In the remaining districts, attorneys are appointed by the courts to provide counsel for indigent defendants.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Correction is charged with receiving and keeping all persons committed to the State prison system and for developing effective correctional and rehabilitative programs. The department receives adults and youthful offenders from 16 to 20 years of age. Facilities include prisons, correctional centers, youth centers, and pre-release centers.

Local adult facilities include county jails, administered by the sheriff, and a few municipally operated jails. The Jail and Detention Services of the Department of Social Services inspects the local jails and provides technical assistance to the local government.

The Division of Youth Development within the Department of Correction is responsible for the custody of delinquent children under the age of 18 who are committed by the courts. The office administers several juvenile correctional institutions, a reception unit, and a special school for delinquents. Several counties maintain juvenile detention facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Department of Correction includes the Adult Probation and Parole Division, which is responsible for the administration of adult probation and parole services. Probation officers provide investigative and supervisory services to courts with criminal jurisdiction throughout the State. The independent Parole Commission, appointed by the Governor, is responsible for granting paroles.

Juvenile probation and parole services are administered by the Administrative Office of the Courts. Juvenile probation and parole services may be provided by the county social service department, the district court counselor service, or a private group designated by the chief district judge.

SOUTH CAROLINA

South Carolina ranks 26th among the States in population and has the following four Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Charleston, Columbia, Greenville, and Spartanburg. There are 46 county governments and 262 municipal governments known as cities and towns. The major components of South Carolina's criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Highway Department - Highway Patrol
Special police
County sheriffs
County police
Municipal police

Courts - Supreme Court
Circuit courts
County courts
Civil and criminal courts
Family courts
Probate courts
Magistrate courts
Municipal courts

Prosecution - Attorney General
Circuit solicitors
County solicitors
City attorneys

Public Defenders - No governmental agencies

Corrections - Department of Corrections
County jails and prisons
Municipal jails
Department of Youth Services
County juvenile detention home

Probation and Parole - Probation, Parole, and Pardon Board
Family courts probation office
Department of Juvenile Placement and Aftercare

Enforcement agencies

The South Carolina Highway Patrol has highway safety and the enforcement of traffic laws as its primary responsibility. The Highway Patrol also assists county and municipal law enforcement agencies upon request. There are also a number of special State level police agencies, such as the Wildlife Department conservation officers and the State university campus police, which engage in limited law enforcement activities.

Each county has a sheriff's department, and two counties, Charleston and Horry, also maintain a county police force. Municipal police departments have primary responsibility for law enforcement within their jurisdiction.

Courts

The South Carolina court system consists of the Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and county courts, civil and criminal courts, family courts, probate courts, magistrate courts, and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is the chief legal officer of the State and as such advises and assists the circuit solicitors in criminal matters. The attorney general's office may prosecute criminal cases in the circuit and lower courts.

In each judicial circuit a prosecuting attorney called the circuit solicitor is elected. Some counties have elected county solicitors who provide legal services for the county and prosecute in the local courts. In the larger cities the city attorney provides legal services and acts as the prosecuting attorney in the municipal courts.

Public defender agencies

Two systems of providing counsel for indigent defendants exist in the State: nonprofit defender corporations and appointed counsel. A nonprofit corporation which employs a public defender may be set up by a majority of the lawyers in a single county or several counties. If a county has no defender corporation the court assigns counsel.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections administers the State prison system. Facilities include adult correctional institutions, youth correctional institutions and centers, a reception and evaluation center, and community pre-release centers. All offenders who are sentenced to over 6 months may be placed under the Department's jurisdiction.

County jails, operated by the sheriffs, and city jails, operated by the police departments, serve as facilities for the detention of defendants awaiting trial and those serving sentences of less than 30 days. County prisons hold offenders serving longer sentences.

The Department of Youth Services, which administers State-level juvenile corrections, has a Youth Bureau Division and a Juvenile Corrections Division. The Youth Bureau Division operates a group home and youth service bureaus, while the Juvenile Corrections Division is responsible for the institutionally-based treatment programs. One of the Department's goals is to integrate its juvenile services with local programs such as group homes. There is one locally operated detention home located in Charleston County.

Probation and parole agencies

The Probation, Parole, and Pardon Board has the responsibility for supervising adult probation and parole and granting pardons and paroles.

Family courts and other courts with juvenile jurisdiction have probation counselors who provide juvenile probation services. The Department of Juvenile Placement and Aftercare is responsible for supervising juveniles after their release.

TENNESSEE

Tennessee ranks 17th among the States in population and has the following four Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Chattanooga, Knoxville, Memphis, and Nashville. There are 94 county governments and 316 municipal governments known as cities and towns. In addition to the county governments in Tennessee, there is one metropolitan government--the Metropolitan Government of Nashville and Davidson County--which is counted as a municipality rather than a county for Census reporting. The major components of Tennessee's criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Department of Safety - Bureau of Criminal Identification - Highway Patrol
County sheriffs
Special police
Municipal police

Courts - Supreme Court
Court of Appeal
Court of Criminal Appeals
Circuit courts
Law and equity courts
Chancery courts
General sessions courts
Justices of the peace
Probate courts
Juvenile courts
City courts

Prosecution - State Attorney General
District attorneys general
County attorneys
City attorneys

Public Defenders - County public defenders

Corrections - Department of Corrections
County jails, workhouses, and penal farms
Municipal jails
County and municipal juvenile facilities

Probation and Parole - Department of Corrections - Board of Pardons and Parole - Division of Adult Probation and Parole - Division of Juvenile Probation
Juvenile court probation offices

Enforcement agencies

The primary State investigative law enforcement agency is the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, under the Department of Safety. Also providing law enforcement functions under the Department of Safety is the Highway Patrol, whose primary responsibility is traffic law enforcement. Other State law enforcement agencies include the State university campus police.

With the exception of Davidson County, each county has an elected sheriff, who has complete police jurisdiction within the county. The city of Nashville and Davidson County consolidated their governments in 1963 forming Metropolitan Nashville-Davidson County. Law enforcement responsibilities were given to the Metropolitan Police Department, while the sheriff supervises the jails and serves as an officer of the court.

The various municipalities generally have police forces, which enforce the law within their boundaries. Small municipalities may contract for law enforcement services with the county sheriff's department.

Courts

The Tennessee court system consists of the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, and the Court of Criminal Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts, law and equity courts, and chancery courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and county courts, general sessions courts, justices of the peace, probate courts, juvenile courts, and city courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The administration of the State court system is the responsibility of the Supreme Court. There is an executive secretary appointed by the Supreme Court, who assists the Chief Justice in the administration of the judicial branch.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The duties of the Attorney General include representing the State in the various courts of the State and giving legal advice and opinions to State agencies and officials. Criminal prosecution is the responsibility of the district attorneys general, who are elected from districts coinciding with the judicial circuits. County and city attorneys provide legal services for their respective governments.

Public defender agencies

Counsel for indigent defendants is provided in some counties by public defenders, who are elected or appointed. In other counties the courts continue to appoint counsel from a roster of local attorneys.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections administers State adult and juvenile institutions, foster and group home services, and forestry camps. Adult institutions at the local level include county jails operated by the sheriff, county workhouses and penal farms, and municipal jails. There are several county and municipal juvenile detention facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Department of Corrections administers adult and juvenile probation and parole and includes the Board of Pardons and Parole, the Division of Adult Probation and Parole, and the Division of Juvenile Probation. The Board of Pardons and Parole conducts parole hearings and investigations and makes recommendations to the Governor with respect to pardon and parole cases. The Division of Adult Probation and Parole provides probation and parole services statewide.

The Division of Juvenile Probation provides aftercare services to the State vocational training school for delinquent children and probation services to the courts having juvenile jurisdiction. Some juvenile courts administer their own probation services for juveniles.
