FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 5 (Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, and Wisconsin).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

<sup>1</sup>The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.<sup>1</sup> This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships<sup>2</sup> have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of <sup>1</sup>The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

<sup>2</sup>By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major reorganizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone call-back procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct fee basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

INTRODUCTION

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

| Digits     | Explanation                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Example |

ILLINOIS

Illinois ranks fifth among the States in population and has the following seven Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Bloomington-Normal, Champaign-Urbana, Chicago, Decatur, Peoria, Rockford, and Springfield. There are 102 county governments; 1,267 municipal governments known as cities, villages, and towns; and 1,432 township governments. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Law Enforcement-State Police
County sheriffs
Municipal police
Special police
- Courts - Supreme Court
Intermediate appellate courts
Circuit courts
- Prosecution - Department of Law Enforcement-Attorney General
State's attorneys
City attorneys
- Public Defender - County public defenders
State Appellate Defender
- Corrections - Department of Corrections
Department of Children and Family Services
County jails
Municipal jails
Local juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - County probation departments
Department of Corrections-Adult Parole Services Division-Division of Youth Authority

Enforcement agencies

Police services are primarily the responsibility of local government in Illinois. State-level police services are primarily supportive in nature. The Department of Law Enforcement includes the State Police, which has primary responsibility for highway traffic control and limited responsibility in general law enforcement, the latter usually in unincorporated areas.

Each county has an elected county sheriff responsible for, among other things, the enforcement of State laws in unincorporated areas. Also on the local level are municipal police departments and special police, such as campus police and the Chicago Transit Authority police.

Courts

Under the 1964 court reorganization, judicial power in Illinois is vested in the Supreme Court and the intermediate appellate courts (courts of appellate jurisdiction) and circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction). The Supreme Court has general administrative authority over all courts in the State and appoints an administrative director and staff to assist the Chief Justice in administrative duties.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General at the State level heads the Department of Law and is chief legal officer of the State. Each county elects a State's attorney to prosecute cases in the circuit courts. City attorneys provide legal services to municipal governments.

Public defender agencies

Illinois uses a dual system for the defense of indigents. Some counties have designated public defenders, a few of which are full-time, and provide varying amounts of service. The remaining counties use a system of assigned counsel on a fee basis. The State Appellate Defender, whose office was created in 1973, is appointed by the Supreme Court to defend cases on appeal in the State courts.

Correctional agencies and institutions

Correctional administration is primarily a function of State government. The Department of Corrections administers State-level adult and juvenile institutions and sets and supervises minimum standards of operation for local correctional facilities. The operation of the county and municipal jails is the responsibility of the sheriff and municipal police departments respectively.

The Department of Children and Family Services has jurisdiction over dependent or neglected children, delinquent children under 13, and minors under 18 adjudged to be in need of supervision. At the local level, some counties and cities operate juvenile detention facilities or youth homes.

Probation and parole agencies

County governments are responsible for providing adult and juvenile probation services under the direction of the circuit courts. Adult parole is administered by the Adult Parole Services Division within the Department of Corrections; juvenile parole is administered by the Division of Youth Authority within the same Department.

INDIANA

Indiana ranks 11th among the States and has the following nine Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Anderson, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Gary-Hammond-East Chicago, Indianapolis, Lafayette-West Lafayette, Muncie, South Bend, and Terre Haute. There are 91 county governments, 546 municipal governments and 1,008 township governments. Effective January 1, 1970, Indianapolis and Marion County were consolidated to operate as one government, designated the City of Indianapolis, which is classified for Census reporting as a municipal government. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

Enforcement agencies

The Indiana State Police Department is primarily a rural enforcement agency, although it has criminal and traffic enforcement jurisdiction in all areas of the State.

Each county elects a sheriff who is responsible for the county jail and is a conservator of the peace. Municipal police departments vary considerably in size, organization, and scope of operations. Their major function is providing police protection. Small towns normally request services from the State Police or county sheriff rather than provide these services. A town marshal may be appointed by the board of town trustees and is responsible for enforcing the laws and ordinances of the town.

Courts

The Indiana court system consists of The Supreme Court and Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts, superior courts, and criminal courts (courts of general jurisdiction); Municipal Court of Marion County, probate courts, juvenile courts, Hancock County Court, city and town courts, and justice of the peace courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is an elected official who is charged with handling criminal appeals and providing legal opinions to State agencies and officials as well as counties and municipalities. Except where authorized or required by statute in specific cases, the Attorney General does not exercise supervisory power over prosecuting attorneys.

A prosecuting attorney is elected in each judicial circuit to prosecute violators of State statutes in various courts having criminal jurisdiction. County and city attorneys provide legal services to their respective governments.

Public defender agencies

The State Public Defender, who is appointed by the Supreme Court, handles post-conviction proceedings for any inmate of an Indiana penal institution who claims unlawful imprisonment and is without sufficient funds.

Public defenders represent indigents in the counties over 100,000 population. In all other counties there is no statutory authority for the appointment of a public defender. In these counties counsel must be appointed on a case-by-case basis.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Correction provides custody, treatment, and training for adult and juvenile offenders in the correctional and detention institutions of the State. Facilities include the State Prison, Women's Prison, a reformatory, a farm, youth rehabilitation camps, a diagnostic center, training centers, and schools.

County jails are operated by the county sheriffs. The physical condition of the jails and the rules and regulations for their operation are under the supervision of the county, the grand jury, and the State Department of Correction. Municipal police departments maintain jail facilities for the temporary custody of persons convicted of or charged with offenses.

The State has made provision for detention of children in county detention homes under the jurisdiction of the court. Counties without these facilities detain juveniles in local jails, most of which segregate juveniles and adults.

Probation and parole agencies

The Division of Probation, located in the Department of Correction, administers programs carried out by the county probation departments throughout the State. Juvenile probation services are provided by the specialized probation officers of the county juvenile courts, or by the county probation department.

The Indiana Parole Board has exclusive power to parole prisoners sentenced under the criminal laws of the State. It also reviews parole applications for those eligible at the Indiana Youth Center. The Parole Division of the Adult Authority in the Department of Correction has parole officers throughout the State. Juvenile parole services are administered by the Youth Authority in the Department of Corrections.

Enforcement agencies

At the State level, the Michigan State Police is the primary law enforcement body. The State Police have assumed the primary responsibility for law enforcement on highways and in certain rural areas of the State. They do not police cities where a law enforcement agency exists unless requested to do so. The State Police also provide various services in support of local police agencies, such as the crime lab services, an automated information network, and records and identification services. Several other agencies at the State level have special police forces with limited law enforcement functions, such as the Department of Natural Resources and State university campus police.

County sheriffs' departments are responsible for operation of the county jail and county law enforcement. In the most populous counties police services are provided primarily by municipal agencies, and consequently the sheriffs provide minimal county-wide police protection services.

Municipal police agencies vary in size from one- and two-member township police departments to the large Detroit Police Department.

Courts

Michigan's court system consists of the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts and the Detroit Recorder's Court (courts of general jurisdiction); district courts, municipal courts, probate courts, the Common Pleas Court of Detroit, and the Court of Claims (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is the chief legal officer of the State, with supervisory authority over prosecuting attorneys, and may prosecute cases at the request of a county prosecuting attorney.

County prosecutors are elected, and they appoint their assistants. Their duties include enforcement of county ordinances and representing the county in civil cases. Municipalities and townships may employ attorneys who provide legal counsel and prosecute local ordinances.

Public defender agencies

Attorneys for indigent defendants are appointed by the trial judges in Michigan. There is a legal aid clinic at the University of Michigan Law School.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections operates State adult correctional institutions ranging from minimum to maximum security. These include State prisons, a reformatory, a training unit, a reception and diagnostic center, and several community correction centers.

Jails are a county responsibility and are administered by the county sheriff. They house defendants awaiting trial or sentencing and misdemeanants who have been sentenced for any period of time up to one year. Some municipal police departments also maintain jails. The Department of Corrections has legal authority for the enforcement of jail rules and minimum standards of operation.

The Department of Social Services, Office of Children and Youth Services, administers the State juvenile facilities. A number of counties also operate juvenile homes, shelters, and detention facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Department of Corrections, Bureau of Field Services, administers adult probation and parole and provides services in the circuit courts. Those services may be supplemented by county probation officers in the district and municipal courts. The Parole Board is a relatively autonomous five-member board which makes the parole decision and is administratively a part of the Department of Corrections.

The Bureau of Field Services in the Department of Corrections as well as the Children's Division of the Department of Social Services are responsible for juvenile probation and parole services. Some counties operate separate juvenile probation offices administered by the courts.

MINNESOTA

Minnesota ranks 19th among the States in population and has the following three Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Duluth-Superior, Minneapolis-St. Paul, and Rochester. There are 87 county governments, 854 municipal governments known as cities and villages, and 1,798 township governments. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety - Highway Patrol
County sheriffs
Municipal police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
District courts
County courts
Municipal courts
- Prosecutors - State Attorney General
County attorneys
City attorneys
- Public Defender - State Public Defender
District public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Corrections
County jails and workhouses
Municipal jails
County juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - Department of Corrections - Adult Corrections Commission
Youth Conservation Commission
Community Services Division
County probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Public Safety includes the Highway Patrol Division, which patrols the highways, has the power to make arrests for offenses committed in an officer's presence anywhere in the State, and may assist local police and sheriffs when requested. The primary function of the Division of Criminal Apprehension, also within the Department of Public Safety, is to coordinate and assist the efforts of law enforcement agencies throughout the State by providing laboratory facilities, information centers, and specialized law enforcement training.

There is a county sheriff's office in each county which is responsible for maintaining the county jail and for county law enforcement. Municipal police departments are established in the more populous cities and villages.

Courts

The court system consists of the State Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); district courts (courts of general jurisdiction); county courts and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court supervises the district courts, and the justices of the Supreme Court appoint a State court administrator, who handles a wide range of administrative duties.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The State Attorney General is elected to provide legal counsel to State agencies and officers and to represent the State in litigation. Except for the larger counties, criminal appellate work is handled by the Attorney General's office. Each county elects a county attorney to prosecute felonies and gross misdemeanors. Many municipalities employ a city attorney to prosecute violations of State misdemeanors and local ordinances within the city.

Public defender agencies

The State Public Defender, who is appointed by the Judicial Council, is not involved in the trial process directly except when assisting a district public defender, but does provide counsel for appeals. A public defender system may be established in any judicial district by a decision of the majority of the judges. All but two judicial districts have adopted the public defender system; the two remaining districts have retained the appointed counsel system. District public defenders are appointed by the Judicial Council.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections, headed by a commissioner, administers both adult and juvenile corrections, including a prison, a reformatory, campo, training schools, group homes, and other community-based programs. Most counties maintain a jail, which is operated by the sheriff. There are also municipal jail facilities for short-term incarceration. Minneapolis and Ramsey and St. Louis Counties have workhouses, which are maximum security institutions for adults. Some counties operate their own juvenile detention centers, which provide temporary care pending court disposition.

Probation and parole agencies

The Department of Corrections administers probation and parole for adults through the Adult Corrections Commission and for juveniles through the Youth Conservation Commission. Probation and parole services are provided by the Community Services Division and supplemented by county probation departments where they exist.

Ohio ranks sixth among the States in population and has the following 14 Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Akron, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Hamilton, Lima, Lorain-Elyria, Mansfield, Springfield, Steubenville-Weirton, Toledo, Youngstown-Warren. There are 88 county governments, 936 municipal governments known as cities and villages, and 1,320 township governments. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Highway Safety-Highway Patrol
Special police
County sheriffs
Municipal and township police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
Courts of appeals
Common pleas courts
Municipal courts
County courts
Ottawa Hills Police Court
Mayors' courts
- Prosecution - State Attorney General
County prosecuting attorneys
City prosecutors or solicitors
- Public Defender - No governmental agencies
- Corrections - Department of Rehabilitation and Correction
County jails
Municipal jails
Ohio Youth Commission
County juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - Department of Rehabilitation and Correction-Adult Parole Authority

Ohio Youth Commission-Bureau of Juvenile Placement

Enforcement agencies

The State Highway Patrol within the Department of Highway Safety is responsible for enforcing the laws related to using vehicles on the highways and investigating motor vehicle accidents. Special police at the State level include State university campus police and park rangers.

Each county has an elected sheriff, who is the chief law enforcement officer in the county and has police powers both in and outside municipalities. Some townships maintain police departments, which have increased their level of activity since the justice of the peace courts were abolished and the number of township constables in rural areas decreased.

Courts

The Ohio court system consists of The Supreme Court and courts of appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); common pleas courts (courts of general jurisdiction); municipal courts, county courts, Ottawa Hills Police Court, and mayors' courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court exercises general superintendence over all the courts. The justices of the Supreme Court appoint an administrative director to assist the Chief Justice in his administrative duties.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The activities of the State Attorney General are largely civil in nature and rarely involve criminal prosecutions. The Attorney General's Office, through the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, does provide State and local law enforcement agencies with investigative services.

Each county elects a prosecuting attorney who is charged with the prosecution of felonies and the presentation of evidence before the grand jury. In addition, every municipality in the State has a prosecutor, a city solicitor, or a law director who may be elected or appointed. The city prosecutor is responsible for prosecuting misdemeanors and ordinance violations.

Public defender agencies

Ohio uses a court-appointed counsel system for indigent defendants including juveniles. Under this system a member of the local bar is chosen from a list of available attorneys. Some counties make use of legal aid societies or public defender offices as well as private attorneys in assigning counsel.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Rehabilitation and Correction administers all State correctional institutions, programs, and services. In addition to the traditional institutions, the department operates several community-based correctional programs through the Adult Parole Authority. These programs include halfway houses, a work furlough program, and community reintegration centers for parole violators.

Corrections responsibility at the local level rests primarily with the county and to a lesser degree with municipal governments, especially in the larger metropolitan areas. Each county maintains a jail, which is operated by an elected sheriff. The majority of municipal jails are primarily detention facilities for accused offenders.

All of the State's facilities for delinquent youths are administered by the Ohio Youth Commission, which operates several institutions or camps for juveniles committed to its care.

The Commission operates a central diagnostic center and provides foster care services and group homes for paroled youth.

Responsibility for the administration of local juvenile detention homes rests with the juvenile courts within the courts of common pleas. Not all jurisdictions, however, maintain homes.

Probation and parole agencies

The Adult Parole Authority is administered by the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction and includes the Parole Board, a parole supervision section, and a probation development section. There are district offices located in the major cities.

For many years probation was strictly a county responsibility. Since 1965 the Adult Parole Authority has made probation as well as parole services available to the counties by providing trained State probation officers. Some counties and largest cities maintain their respective probation departments.

Juvenile probation services are provided by county juvenile probation departments. When youths are released from custody they are placed under the supervision of the Bureau of Juvenile Placement, the parole agency of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Enforcement agencies

Enforcement of traffic and transportation laws at the State level is the responsibility of the Bureau of Enforcement within the Department of Transportation, which employs State Patrol officers. These officers have authority to make arrests for any law violation that takes place on the highway in their presence. Special police at the State level include the State Protective Service, State university police, and the State Park Police.

Each county has a sheriff, who is elected and, in addition to maintaining the peace within the county, also maintains the county jail. In some counties there are also county traffic police, which operate directly under the county board. The traffic patrol officers may arrest without warrant any person who, in their presence, violates any law relating to highways or the maintenance of order upon or near highways. Recently some counties have placed separate county traffic departments under the supervision and administration of the county sheriff's department.

Municipal police generally have jurisdiction only inside municipal boundaries. Municipalities of over 5,000 population are required by statute to maintain a police department. The majority of police departments perform general patrol and traffic enforcement functions but rely upon sheriffs' departments or nearby municipal police departments for specialized and auxiliary services. Town boards have the authority to appoint police officers and a superintendent of police.

Courts

The Wisconsin court system consists of The Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts and county courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Supreme Court is charged with supervising and improving the State judicial system. There is a State court administrator to assist the Chief Justice in his administrative duties.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Department of Justice, headed by the State Attorney General, prosecutes and defends all proceedings in the Supreme Court in which the State is a party or has interest. The State Attorney General can initiate certain civil actions designed to complement criminal prosecutions and has a responsibility to advise and assist local district attorneys.

The primary responsibility for the prosecution of criminal cases in the county and circuit courts rests with the elected district attorneys. They may also be requested to prosecute violations of county ordinances and, at the request of the Attorney General, to brief and argue criminal appeals. Each county employs a corporation counsel, whose duties are limited to civil matters, which include juvenile proceedings.

Incorporated cities are required by statute to have a city attorney. The city attorney's responsibilities include the enforcement of city ordinances, which often involve criminal matters.

Public defender agencies

The Supreme Court appoints a State Public Defender to represent indigent defendants in post-conviction proceedings. The existence of this office does not prevent the Supreme Court from appointing other counsel or continuing the appointment of the attorney who represented the indigent in the trial court.

In most counties, counsel for indigent defendants is appointed by the judge from the local bar; in others, defense services are provided through a nonprofit legal services corporation or on a contractual basis with private attorneys.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Division of Corrections within the Department of Health and Social Services maintains all State-operated correctional institutions for adults and juveniles. These include a State prison, reformatory, a medium-security facility, correctional camps, and a community correctional center. The Department also administers a work-study release program.

County jail facilities generally are used for the confinement or detention of adults and sometimes juveniles. The majority of these facilities operate work-release programs. The Milwaukee County House of Corrections receives and maintains custody of prisoners for up to two years and provides programs of rehabilitation, work, and training. Some counties also maintain juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Bureau of Probation and Parole within the Department of Health and Social Services provides casework services to juvenile and adult probationers and parolees. The Parole Board is part of the staff of the Secretary of the Department and is the paroling authority. It also acts as juvenile review board. Some counties also maintain juvenile probation departments.
