FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 6 (Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

<sup>1</sup>The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.<sup>1</sup> This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships<sup>2</sup> have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of <sup>1</sup>The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

<sup>2</sup>By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major reorganizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone call-back procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct fee basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- a. hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- b. are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- c. are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

USERS GUIDE

This publication consists of name and address listings of criminal justice agencies arranged by State, type of agency, and level of government. Each agency name and address is followed by a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier that uniquely identifies the agency; most agencies also have the name of the county in which the agency is located.

The agencies for each State are listed together in the following sequence:

1. Enforcement agencies
  - a. State level
  - b. County level (in alphabetical order by name of county)
  - c. Municipal level (in alphabetical order by name of city)
  - d. Town or township level (in alphabetical order by name of town or township)
  - e. Special district level
  - f. Independent school district level

INTRODUCTION

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

Digits	Explanation	Example
Digits 1-2	Two-letter state abbreviation (same as Post Office abbreviation)	AL
Digits 3-5	County number as designated by the NCIC Manual	001
Digits 6-7	Unit number of agency by type within each level of government and county	01

Example: Jefferson County Probate Court

ARKANSAS

Arkansas ranks 32nd among the States in population and has three Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Fort Smith, Little Rock-North Little Rock, and Pine Bluff. There are 75 county governments and 454 municipal governments, known as cities and incorporated towns. The major components of the criminal justice system are as follows:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety - State Police Division
County sheriffs
Municipal police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
Circuit courts
Chancery courts
County courts
Courts of common pleas
Municipal courts
Justice of the peace courts
City courts
- Prosecution - State Attorney General
Circuit prosecuting attorneys
City attorneys
- Public Defender - Pilot Public Defender
Projects
- Corrections - Department of Correction
Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services
County jails
Municipal jails
County juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - Department of Correction - Division of Probation and Parole Services
Board of Pardons and Paroles
Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services - Juvenile Services Division
County juvenile probation offices

Enforcement agencies

The Arkansas State Police patrol the State highways and enforce criminal laws throughout the State, having concurrent jurisdiction with all peace officers. In many communities the locally assigned State trooper represents the only police service in the area. The Criminal Investigation Section provides services to the sheriffs and local governments at their request.

Each county has an elected sheriff, who is responsible for law enforcement within the county. Municipal police and marshals enforce the laws within the municipalities, although the small departments in most cases do not have adequately trained manpower or adequate facilities to perform the complete range of activities.

Courts

The Arkansas court system consists of: State Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts and chancery courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and county courts, courts of common pleas, municipal courts, justice of the peace courts, and city courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is the administrative director of the Judicial Department and is responsible for the efficient operation of the judicial system. An executive secretary is appointed by the Chief Justice to administer the nonjudicial business of the Judicial Department.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The office of the Attorney General, besides rendering opinions and acting in an advisory capacity to the prosecutors and other State officials, tries all the criminal cases appealed to the Supreme Court.

In each circuit court district, the State is represented by an elected prosecuting attorney. In addition to prosecuting in circuit court, the prosecutor also tries misdemeanors in the courts of limited jurisdiction and represents the State in the preliminary hearings for felonies. Municipalities may employ a city attorney.

Public defender agencies

Arkansas uses the appointed-counsel system for the representation of indigent defendants. The State also has five pilot public defender projects in selected judicial districts. These projects will be evaluated as the first step towards the development of a statewide system.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Correction is primarily responsible for the confinement and rehabilitation of adult felons. The Department operates three correctional institutions and provides educational courses, training programs and a work-release program.

Local correctional institutions include the county jails, which are operated by the sheriff, and municipal jails run by the police departments.

The Juvenile Services Division of the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services is responsible for institutional and community services for delinquent youth. The Division operates three residential care facilities, a treatment center, a reception and classification center, and rehabilitation centers. At the local level some counties have separate facilities for juveniles, including youth shelters, crisis intervention homes, and secure juvenile detention facilities, while other counties detain juveniles in separate sections of the county jail.

Probation and parole agencies

Probation and parole services for adults are administered statewide by the Division of Probation and Parole Services in the Department of Correction. Some municipal courts provide probation services.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles is responsible for making the parole decision. The Juvenile Services Division in the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services has primary responsibility for the administration of probation and parole services for juveniles. The county juvenile probation departments provide juvenile probation services.

LOUISIANA

Louisiana ranks 20th among the States in population and has the following seven Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Alexandria, Baton Rouge, Lafayette, Lake Charles, Monroe, New Orleans, and Shreveport. There are 62 county governments, which in Louisiana are legally termed "parishes." The parishes of Orleans and East Baton Rouge are substantially consolidated with the cities of New Orleans and Baton Rouge for governmental purposes and are treated as municipalities in Census statistics on governments. They are excluded from the count of separate parish governments. There are 287 municipal governments. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety -
Division of State Police
Special police
Parish sheriffs
Municipal police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
Courts of Appeal
District courts
City courts
Juvenile courts
Parish courts
Justice of the peace courts
Family Court of East Baton Rouge
Traffic Court of New Orleans
Municipal Court of New Orleans
Municipal or mayors' courts
- Prosecution - State Department of Justice -
Attorney General
District attorneys
City attorneys and prosecutors
- Defenders - Indigent defense boards
- Corrections - Department of Corrections
Regional correctional facilities
Parish prisons
Municipal jails
Parish juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - Department of Corrections -
Division of Probation and Parole
Board of Parole
Health and Social Services Administration - Probation and Parole Services
Parish juvenile probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The State Police is a division of the Department of Public Safety. Their primary function is traffic control and enforcement of laws relating to highway safety. Special police at the State level include the Harbor Police, the Bridge Authority Police, and campus and hospital security police. With the exception of Orleans Parish, there is one elected sheriff's department in each parish, whose duties include law enforcement, operation of the parish prison, and serving judicial process. In Orleans Parish there are separate sheriffs for criminal and civil functions. Municipal police departments have primary law enforcement responsibilities in the cities.

Courts

The Louisiana court system consists of the following courts: State Supreme Court and courts of appeal (court of appellate jurisdiction); district courts (courts of general jurisdiction); city courts, juvenile courts, parish courts, justice of the peace courts, the Family Court of East Baton Rouge, the Traffic Court of New Orleans, the Municipal Court of New Orleans, and municipal or mayors' courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Louisiana Supreme Court exercises general supervision over all lower courts and is assisted by the Office of Judicial Administrator.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The State Attorney General heads the Louisiana Department of Justice and supervises all the district attorneys in the State. Each of the State's 33 judicial districts elects a district attorney to prosecute criminal cases. There are also city prosecutors, who prosecute municipal ordinances in the local courts, and city attorneys, who provide legal services to their respective municipalities.

Public defender agencies

Each judicial district appoints an indigent defender board whose members (not to exceed five lawyers and not to serve more than three terms) are appointed by the district court. The board in each district maintains a list of volunteer attorneys. There is no statewide public defender program.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections administers the State's adult correctional institutions and services and includes the Board of Corrections, which evaluates institutions, personnel, and programs. There are two multiparish prisons and one regional community correctional center providing diagnostic and treatment services. Other local correctional facilities include parish prisons, which are operated by the parish sheriffs, and municipal jails, which are operated by the various local police departments.

The Department of Corrections also administers the State juvenile correctional facilities. Local detention facilities are operated by several parishes, while others rely on the parish prison for juvenile detention.

Probation and parole agencies

The Division of Probation and Parole within the Department of Corrections supervises all adults on probation, parole, or work-release status. Some municipalities have supplemental probation programs. The Board of Parole makes the parole decision.

The Division of Family Services within the Health and Social Rehabilitation Services Administration administers the probation and parole services for juveniles. Several parish juvenile courts also operate individual parish juvenile probation departments.

NEW MEXICO

New Mexico ranks 37th among the States in population and has one Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA)--Albuquerque. There are 32 county governments and 89 municipal governments known as cities, towns, and villages. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - State Police
Special police
County sheriffs
Municipal police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
Court of Appeals
District courts
Magistrate courts
Municipal courts
County probate courts
Small Claims Court
- Prosecution - State Attorney General
District attorneys
City attorneys
- Defense - State Public Defender
Department
- Corrections - Department of Corrections
County jails
Municipal jails
County juvenile facilities
- Probation and Parole - Department of Corrections
District court probation offices

Enforcement agencies

The State Police are responsible for enforcing laws relating to the operation of motor vehicles, criminal law enforcement with the cooperation of the local authorities, scientific crime detection, and maintenance of a statewide police communications system. Providing law enforcement in rural areas of the State is a primary responsibility. Special police at the State level include State university police and the Racing Commission enforcement section.

Sheriffs have law enforcement responsibility at the county level, including the maintenance of detention facilities. Municipal police departments also provide police protection services and maintain local jails.

Courts

The State Court System consists of the State Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); the district courts (courts of general jurisdiction); magistrate courts, municipal courts, probate courts, and the Small Claims Court (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Supreme Court has supervisory control over all inferior courts and appoints a director for the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General, an elected official who heads the Department of Justice, is the chief law enforcement officer and prosecutor for the State. The Attorney General represents the State in all criminal appeals to the Supreme Court. The office also conducts investigations in cooperation with the State Police when requested by local authorities to assist in prosecution of a case.

A district attorney is elected in each judicial district to prosecute criminal cases in all courts of record in the district. City attorneys are responsible for prosecuting criminal violations of city ordinances.

Public defender agencies

The Public Defender Department provides representation for indigent defendants before the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court. The Chief Public Defender heads the Department and is responsible to the Public Defender Board, which consists of three members appointed by the Governor.

The Chief appoints a district public defender in each judicial district who provides representation for indigent defendants in any court within the district. The Department began operations in 1973, and district offices are being established gradually. Until district offices are established to serve each county, the Department has arranged for the defense of indigents on a contractual basis or by court-appointed attorneys.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections is responsible for all adult and juvenile correctional institutions and programs. Facilities include the State Penitentiary, a correctional center, and the New Mexico Girls' School and Boys' School, which operate camps and farms. Educational, recreational, and vocational rehabilitation programs are offered. The correctional center at Los Lunas serves as a prerelease center.

County and municipal jails, operated by sheriffs and police departments respectively, are used primarily as holding facilities. Two counties, Bernalillo and Santa Fe, operate juvenile detention facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Department of Corrections administers adult probation and parole and juvenile parole. The Field Services Division of the Department of Corrections provides investigatory services to the courts and supervises probationers and parolees. Juvenile probation is administered by the district court in each county.

OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma ranks 27th among the States in population with the following three Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Lawton, Oklahoma City, and Tulsa. There are 77 county governments and 547 municipal governments known as cities and towns. The major components of the criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Public Safety - Highway Patrol
Special police
County sheriffs
Municipal police

- Courts - State Supreme Court
Court of Criminal Appeals
Court of Appeals
District courts
Municipal courts

- Prosecution - State Attorney General
District attorneys
Municipal counselors

- Public Defender - County public defenders

- Corrections - Department of Corrections
Department of Institutions
County jails
Municipal jails
Local juvenile facilities

- Probation and Parole - Department of Corrections - Division of Probation and Parole
District court juvenile bureaus
Department of Institutions - Social and Rehabilitative Services

Enforcement agencies

Law enforcement in Oklahoma is primarily the responsibility of local governments, both municipal and county. There is no State police agency, as such, but several State agencies do assist local law enforcement agencies. These agencies include the State Bureau of Investigation, the Highway Patrol in the Department of Public Safety, and State university campus police.

Sheriffs are responsible for law enforcement at the county level of government. They serve as peace officers and are specifically given the responsibility of maintaining the county jail. Municipal police departments vary in size with the majority located in small towns. In these small towns the county sheriff provides assistance when requested.

Courts

The Oklahoma court system consists of the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and Court of Criminal Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); district courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Supreme Court has general administrative control over all courts and appoints an administrative director of the courts to assist the Chief Justice in the administrative duties.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The State Attorney General is elected to advise the agencies and officers of the State in legal matters and to represent the State in litigation. A major part of the workload in the Attorney General's office consists of handling criminal appeals that arise from convictions obtained in district courts. The Attorney General's Office also maintains a close working relationship with the district attorneys.

The district attorneys are elected in each judicial district to prosecute all criminal cases arising out of violations of State statutes. Assistant district attorneys for each county are appointed by the district attorney. Municipal counselors (or prosecutors) are appointed by municipal officials to prosecute all criminal cases arising out of violations of city ordinances.

Public defender agencies

Four counties (Canadian, Kay, Oklahoma, and Tulsa) are served by public defenders. In the other counties, private attorneys are appointed on a case-by-case basis to represent indigent defendants.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Division of Institutions within the Department of Corrections supervises the State's adult correctional institutions. These include the State Penitentiary, the State Reformatory, training camps, and community centers, which provide work-release, study-release, and drug treatment programs. Social and Rehabilitative Services within the Department of Institutions is responsible for the operation of State homes and training schools, maintains foster homes for juveniles in its custody, and operates juvenile aftercare programs.

Local correctional facilities include the county and municipal jails, which, outside the metropolitan areas, have limited facilities and services. The juvenile bureaus of the district courts operate local juvenile detention facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

The Division of Probation and Parole within the Department of Corrections is responsible for the supervision of adults on probation and parole as well as for presentence investigations for the courts.

The juvenile bureaus of the district courts have juvenile probation staffs. Juvenile aftercare programs are administered by the Social and Rehabilitative Services of the Department of Institutions in most counties. In other counties supervision is provided by case workers in the various county welfare offices.

Enforcement agencies

The Texas Department of Public Safety, including the Highway Patrol and Texas Rangers, is responsible for enforcing laws relating to motor-vehicle operation and enforcing criminal laws in cooperation with local authorities. The Department is required by statute to perform cooperative and supportive functions for other law enforcement agencies. These services include scientific crime detection and maintenance of a statewide police communications system. All the Department's officers are commissioned peace officers. There are also special police forces in the State Alcoholic Beverage Commission and on State university campuses.

Primary responsibility for enforcement of criminal laws is with local police agencies. The county sheriff is the primary law enforcement officer in each county and also operates the county jail.

The constable, an elected precinct official, serves as an officer of the justice of the peace court. Although their duties are primarily civil, they are granted broad police powers and in some locations serve as active law enforcement officers.

Municipal police agencies may be made up of city marshals or regular police officers headed by a police chief. Their primary duties include law enforcement, traffic regulation, and crime prevention. Cities and counties are authorized to make their law enforcement officers available for assistance to any other city or county in case of civil disorder or natural disaster. They also may make contracts to consolidate police service or to permit officers of one jurisdiction to exercise police authority in other jurisdictions upon mutual agreement.

Courts

The court system in Texas consists of the Supreme Court, the courts of civil appeals, and the Court of Criminal Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); district courts (courts of general jurisdiction); domestic relations and juvenile courts, county courts, justice courts, and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is the chief legal officer of the State and as such furnishes legal advice to the officers and agencies of the State and represents the State in civil litigation. The State Prosecuting Attorney is appointed by the Court of Criminal Appeals to represent the State in all proceedings before the Court of Criminal Appeals, the highest State court with criminal jurisdiction. The State Prosecuting Attorney also consults with district and county attorneys on legal and prosecutorial problems.

Most counties are represented by a district attorney and a county attorney. The district attorney is responsible for felony prosecutions in the district court. The county attorney's primary duty is to represent the State in misdemeanor cases tried in the county court and justice courts. Both offices may be replaced if the State legislature establishes the office of criminal district attorney in a county.

Cities may establish the office of city attorney or retain private attorneys on contract to represent and advise municipal officials. City attorneys prosecute only in the municipal court.

Public defender agencies

Court-appointed counsel is provided for indigent defendants, both adult and juvenile. Tarrant County, by special legislation, provides a public defender for each criminal district judge. Counsel may also be appointed in individual cases at the discretion of the judge.

Correctional agencies and institutions

State adult correctional institutions are under the administration of the Department of Corrections. County and municipal jails hold persons awaiting trial, awaiting sentencing or extradition, or serving sentences for misdemeanor offenses.

The Texas Youth Council, a three-member policy-making board appointed by the Governor, is charged with administering the State's correctional facilities for delinquent youths. Facilities include a reception and diagnostic center, halfway houses, and State training schools. Some counties also operate juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

County governments are responsible for adult probation. There is no provision for State aid, coordination, or supervision. District judges with criminal jurisdiction are authorized to appoint adult probation officers, who establish and supervise rehabilitation programs.

Juvenile probation is also the responsibility of the county. Each county sets its own standards and functions for probation functions for probation officers, and size of the departments varies. In small counties adult probation officers may also supervise juveniles on probation.

Adult parole is a statewide function administered by a State agency, the three-member Board of Pardons and Paroles. The Board is a policy-making body with authority to grant parole and supervise parolees. Parole supervision is handled by a staff through area and field offices. The State's juvenile parole system, administered by the Texas Youth Council, maintains field offices throughout the State.
