FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 7 (Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

¹The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.¹ This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships² have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of ¹The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

²By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major reorganizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone call-back procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct fee basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- a. hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- b. are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- c. are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

USERS GUIDE

This publication consists of name and address listings of criminal justice agencies arranged by State, type of agency, and level of government. Each agency name and address is followed by a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier that uniquely identifies the agency; most agencies also have the name of the county in which the agency is located.

The agencies for each State are listed together in the following sequence:

1. Enforcement agencies
 - a. State level
 - b. County level (in alphabetical order by name of county)
 - c. Municipal level (in alphabetical order by name of city)
 - d. Town or township level (in alphabetical order by name of town or township)
 - e. Special district level
 - f. Independent school district level
2. Courts (Level of government sequence is the same as above within each sector)
 - a. State level, county level, etc.....
3. Prosecution and legal services
 - a. State level, county level, etc....
4. Defender agencies
 - a. State level, etc.....
5. Adult correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.....
6. Juvenile correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.....
7. Other correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.....
8. Probation and parole agencies
 - a. State level, etc.....
9. Other criminal justice agencies
 - a. State level, etc.....

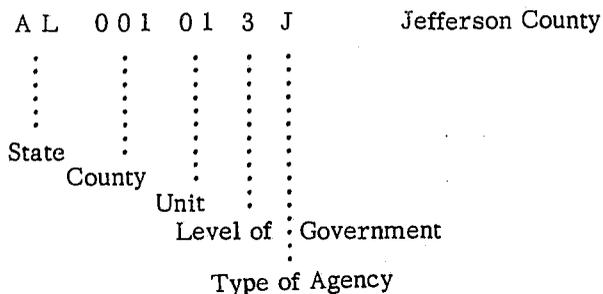

INTRODUCTION

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

Digits	Explanation	Example
Digits 1-2	Two-letter state abbreviation (same as Post Office abbreviation)	AL
Digits 3-5	County number as designated by the NCIC Manual	001
Digits 6-7	Unit number of agency by type within each level of government and county	01
Digit 8	Level of Government 0...Special District, School District 1...City, town, or township 3...County 5...State	3
Digit 9	Type of Agency A - Prosecution, legal services C - Correctional institution D - Defender E - State planning agency G - Probation or parole J - Court M - Coroner or medical examiner Y - All other agencies Z - Police agency not in NCIC Manual	J

Example: Jefferson County Probate Court
Birmingham, Alabama

IOWA

Iowa ranks 25th among the States in population and includes the following six Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Cedar Rapids, Davenport-Rock Island-Moline, Des Moines, Dubuque, Sioux City, and Waterloo. There are 99 county governments and 951 municipal governments. The major components of the criminal justice system consist of:

Enforcement - Department of Public Safety
County sheriffs
Municipal police

Courts - State Supreme Court
District courts

Prosecutors - Department of Justice
County attorneys
City attorneys

Public
Defenders - No governmental agencies

Corrections - Department of Social Services
County jails
County juvenile facilities
Municipal jails

Probation and Parole - Department of Social Services
District courts

Enforcement agencies

The State Department of Public Safety, headed by a commissioner, includes the Highway Patrol. The Patrol assists local law enforcement agencies upon request or whenever the need is apparent. The county sheriff, who is elected, is the principal peace officer in each county. The municipal police departments range in size from one part-time officer to over 300 in Des Moines. Cooperative arrangements exist primarily at the local level, with some cooperative arrangements existing between the State and local agencies. The use of regional training facilities and programs for officers fosters cooperation among counties and municipalities.

Courts

The court system in Iowa consists of two levels of courts: The Iowa Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction) and the district courts (courts of general jurisdiction) in each county. In 1973 the Iowa State Legislature created a unified trial court, known as the Iowa District Court, having general jurisdiction in all actions including juvenile. In the legislation the following courts were abolished: Justices of the peace, mayors', police, superior, and municipal courts.

The Supreme Court exercises supervisory and administrative control over the district courts through the court administrator.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

An elected attorney general heads the State Department of Justice and supervises the county attorneys. Each county has a county attorney who is elected to serve as prosecutor. County attorneys also serve as legal counsel to the county boards of supervisors. Each city may retain its own attorney to prosecute violations of municipal ordinances.

Public defender agencies

The office of public defender is provided by statute in Iowa to be established at the discretion of the individual counties. As of the present time none has been established, and representation for indigents is provided through court-appointed counsel, whose fees and expenses are paid out of county funds.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The State's role in corrections is carried out primarily by two agencies: the Bureau of Adult Corrections and the Bureau of Family and Adult Services--both under the State Department of Social Services. The Bureau of Adult Corrections provides rehabilitative services to adult felons, operates institutions, supportive institutions, and "outside-the-walls" projects, and administers probation and parole.

The Bureau of Family and Adult Services deals solely with adjudicated youths, pre-adjudicated youths and the youths who are paroled from the juvenile institutions. The newly created Youth Services Department administers the State juvenile institutions and works with community services.

At the local level correctional agencies include municipal and county jails and juvenile detention facilities. A few counties have or are considering the establishment of joint county-city facilities, primarily for short term holding.

Probation and parole agencies

Adult probation and parole is administered by the Bureau of Adult Corrections in the Department of Social Services. Juvenile probation is handled by the district court in each county. The Youth Services Department within the Bureau of Family and Adult Services administers the juvenile parole program.

KANSAS

Kansas ranks 28th among the States in population and includes two Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Topeka and Wichita. There are 105 county governments, 626 municipal governments and 1,517 township governments. The major components of the State criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Kansas Highway Patrol
 - County sheriffs
 - Municipal police
 - Town marshals
 - Special police
- Courts -
 - State Supreme Court
 - District courts
 - Probate courts
 - County courts
 - Juvenile courts
 - Special courts provided by law
 - Municipal courts
- Prosecutors -
 - Office of the Attorney General
 - County attorneys
 - District attorneys
 - City attorneys
- Public Defender - Pilot Public Defender System
- Corrections -
 - Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services
 - Department of Corrections
 - County jails
 - Juvenile detention centers
 - Municipal jails
- Probation and Parole -
 - Department of Corrections
 - Department of Social Welfare
 - Juvenile courts

Enforcement agencies

The Kansas Highway Patrol is under the direct supervision of the Governor's office, exercising responsibility for highway safety and assisting county and municipal police agencies when requested. Other State enforcement agencies include the State university campus police, the Alcoholic Beverage Control and the Kansas Bureau of Investigation. The county sheriff is responsible for maintaining order in the county, operating the county jail, and serving as an officer of the court.

The municipal police departments have power of arrest within the city limits, but most are deputized by the local sheriff and thus have full police powers within their respective counties. In smaller cities and towns law enforcement is carried out by a city or town marshal.

Courts

The judicial system in Kansas consists of the following courts: The Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); district courts in each county (courts of general jurisdiction); probate courts and juvenile courts in each county, county courts, municipal courts, and courts established by special legislation (courts of limited jurisdiction). There is a judicial administrator who is appointed by the Supreme Court and assists the Court in supervising and managing the State judicial system.

The district court, just below the Supreme Court, is the only court with Statewide general jurisdiction. Probate court judges have, by statute, been assigned as juvenile court judges in most counties, or the judge may appoint a person to act as judge pro tem. In many cases the Probate Court Judge also acts as judge of the county court as well.

Special courts provided by law include city courts and courts of common pleas. Justice of the Peace courts have been divested of all judicial authority and purpose by legislation.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is the chief law enforcement officer of the State. Elected county attorneys handle all civil and criminal cases in which the State or county is a party. The 1972 Legislature created a district attorney system in the four major metropolitan areas, which are all single county judicial districts. The duties of the district attorney are the same as those of the county attorney. City attorneys within the municipalities prosecute violations of municipal ordinances.

Public defender agencies

In 1971 appointed counsel system for indigent defendants was supplemented by pilot public defender projects in three judicial districts.

Correctional agencies and institutions

Effective July 1, 1974 the Kansas Department of Corrections was established, with divisions for facility and jail standards, probation and parole, and industries and training.

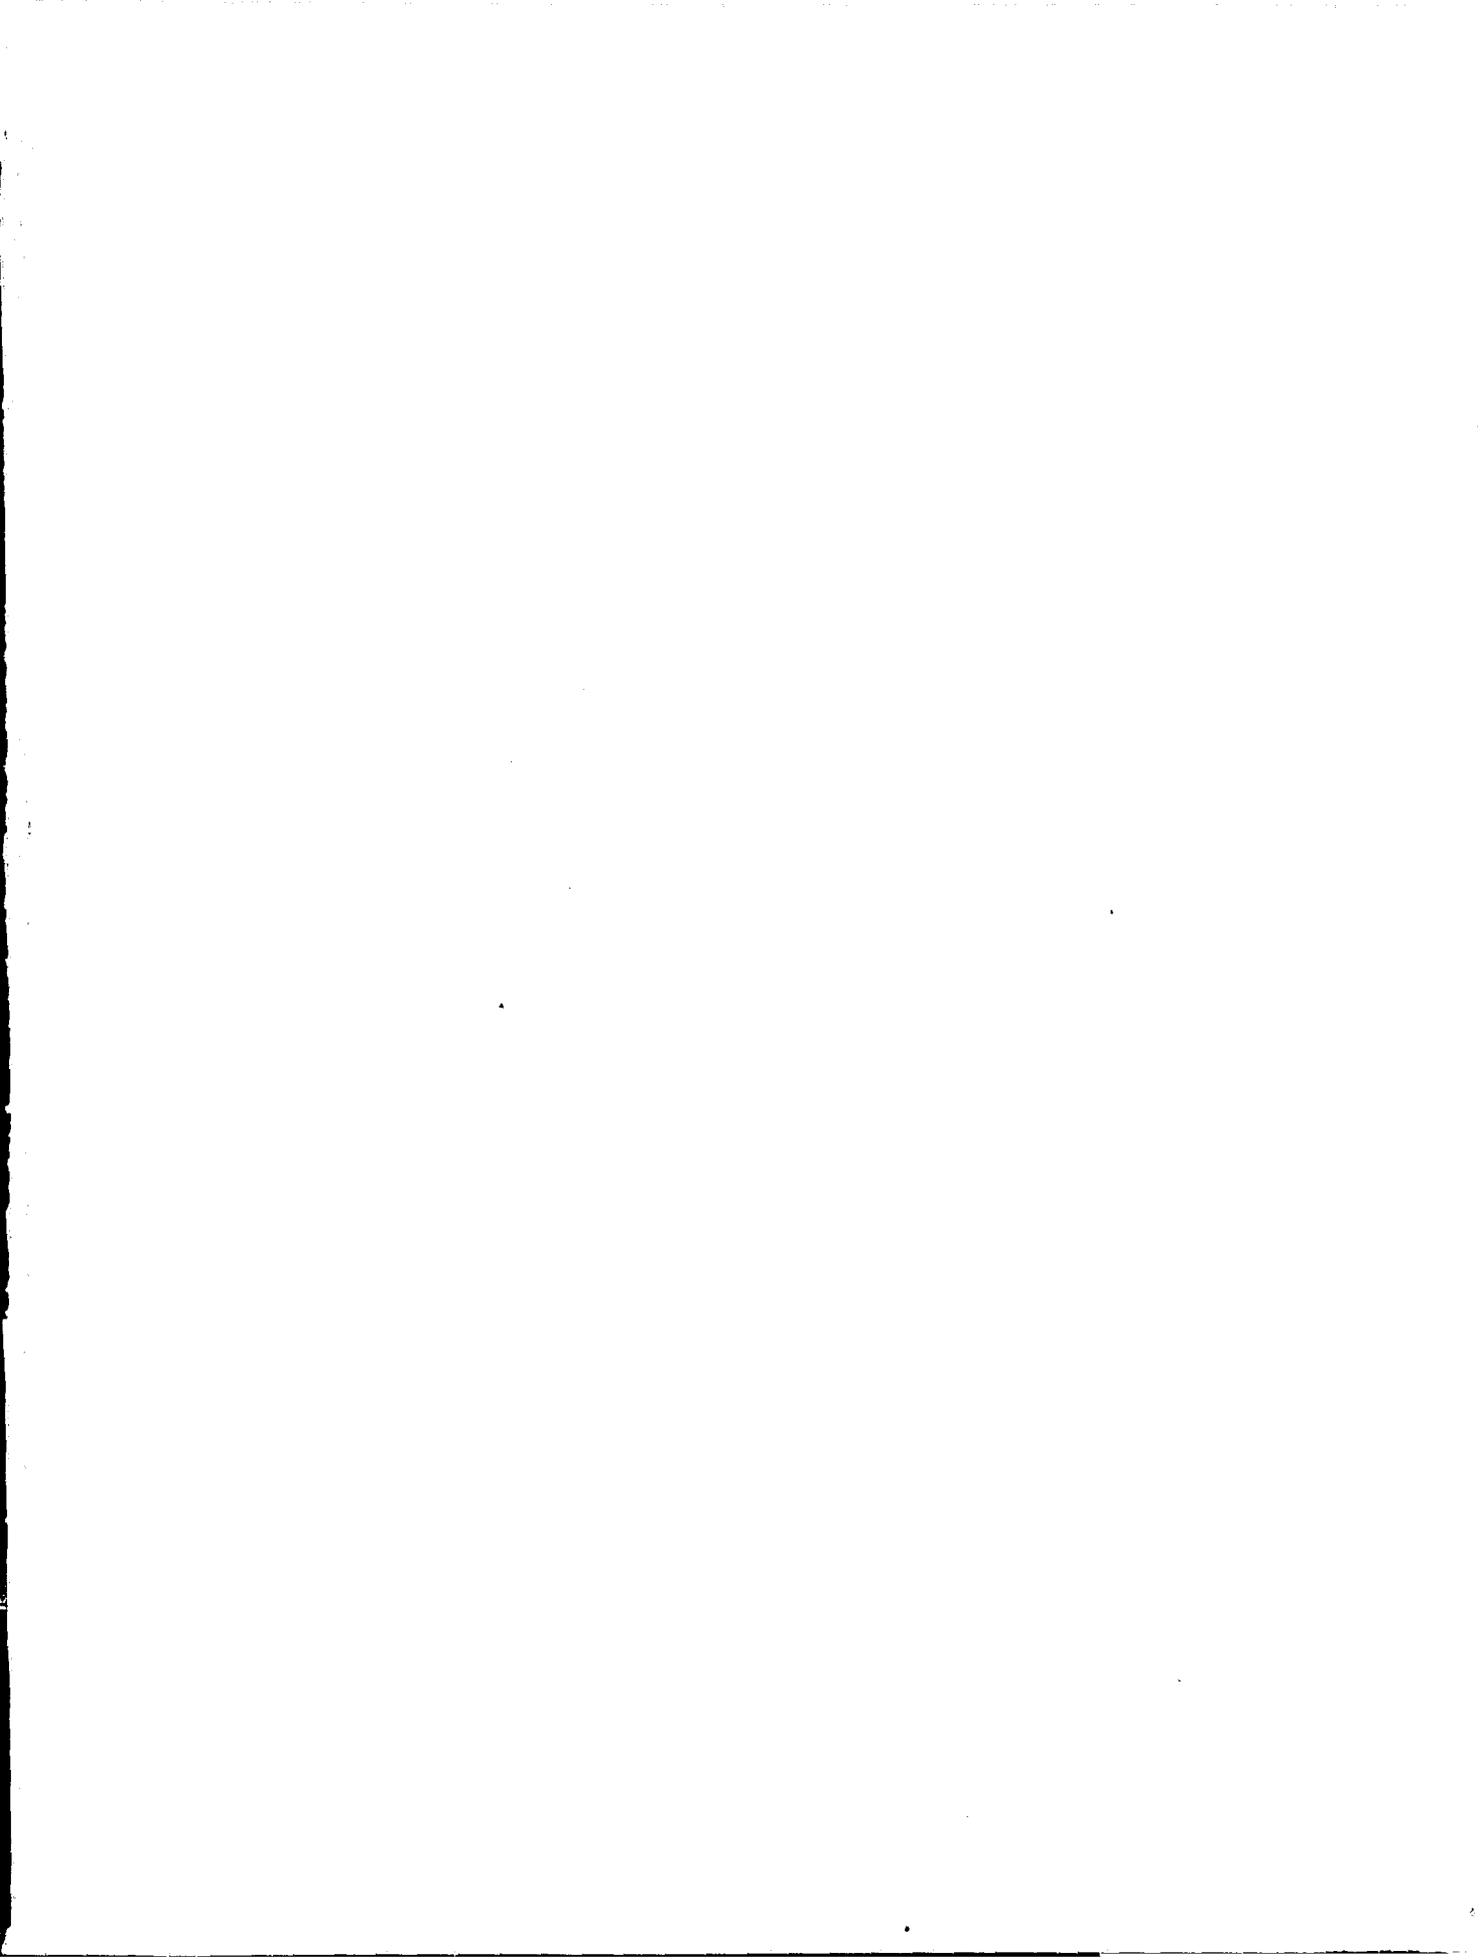

Jail operations are the responsibility of municipal and county governments, under the direction of the chief of police and the sheriff respectively. In some areas cities and counties have cooperative agreements concerning jail operations. There are no regional jail facilities.

The State Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services maintains juvenile rehabilitation centers. All counties have access to these facilities.

Several counties operate detention centers for juveniles. The less populated counties not maintaining detention centers either contract with the other counties for services or designate a portion of the county jail for juveniles.

Probation and parole agencies

Adult probation and parole is administered by the Division of Probation and Parole within the State Department of Corrections. Juvenile probation is administered by the juvenile courts and juvenile parole is the responsibility of the State Department of Social Welfare working through the county welfare departments.

MISSOURI

Missouri ranks 13th among the States in population and includes the following five Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Columbia, Kansas City, St. Joseph, St. Louis, and Springfield. There are 114 county governments, 894 municipal governments (cities, towns, and villages), and 343 township governments. The major components of Missouri's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - State Highway Patrol
County sheriffs
Municipal police and marshals
- Courts - State Supreme Court
Missouri Court of Appeals
Circuit courts
Courts of common pleas
Court of Criminal Correction
Magistrates' courts
Municipal courts
- Prosecution - Attorney General
County prosecutors
City prosecutors
- Public Defender - Circuit public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Corrections
State Board of Training
Schools
County jails
City jails
Specialized detention facilities
- Probation and Parole - Board of Probation and Parole
State Board of Training
Schools
Circuit courts
- Enforcement agencies

The State Highway Patrol is responsible for enforcing State statutes, conducting criminal investigations, and assisting county sheriffs and municipal police departments when requested.

County sheriffs, who are elected, have various responsibilities which depend on the population of the county which they serve. For example, sheriffs of the more populous counties patrol and police all county-constructed and maintained highways in addition to their general duties. Sheriffs are responsible for the operation of county jails.

The powers of municipal police officers and marshals also vary with the size of the municipality which they serve. For example, in municipalities with population larger than 30,000 the chief police officer is under the direction of the mayor; in municipalities of less than 30,000 population the marshal is the chief of police and under the direction and control of the mayor and/or the city council. In general, municipal police officers and marshals may arrest persons in violation of municipal laws or ordinances and State laws.

Courts

The court system in Missouri consists of the following: State Supreme Court and Missouri Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts in each county and the Hannibal Court of Common Pleas (courts of general jurisdiction); and St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction, The Cape Girardeau Court of Common Pleas, magistrate courts in each county, and municipal courts (courts of limited jurisdiction). The circuit courts have jurisdiction of juvenile proceedings and probation services.

Court administration on a statewide basis is carried out by the Office of the State Court Administrator. There are also three circuit court administrators serving individual circuits.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The responsibility of handling appeals from any felony conviction to either the Missouri Supreme Court or Missouri Court of Appeals is vested in the Attorney General. In 1972 the Criminal Division of the Attorney General's office was formed to provide full-time attorneys and facilitate the handling of criminal appeals.

The county prosecuting attorneys prosecute all criminal actions in the county and represent the State in any misdemeanor case heard by the Court of Appeals.

Municipal governments also employ prosecutors. St. Louis City has both a circuit attorney who prosecutes felonies in the circuit court and a prosecuting attorney who prosecutes misdemeanors in the St. Louis Court of Criminal Correction. Townships may employ counsel to prosecute or defend any suit to which the township is a party.

Public defender agencies

As a result of a 1972 law the defense of an indigent accused in a felony case is performed by a circuit public defender or by court-appointed counsel.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Missouri Department of Corrections administers correctional institutions, training centers, and various services involving prerelease and community support programs.

County jails serve primarily as facilities for individuals awaiting arraignment or trial, or serving short sentences. Some municipalities also operate jails.

Detention care for juveniles is generally provided on a county basis: the type of care varies from county to county. In the more populous areas juveniles are detained in specialized detention facilities, foster homes or other similar facilities, and occasionally in jails. In rural counties, a larger number of juveniles are placed in jails, not necessarily in separate quarters from adult inmates. The only State administered agency providing treatment resources for juveniles is the State Board of Training Schools which operates residential facilities and regional aftercare services.

Probation and parole agencies

The Missouri Board of Probation and Parole which consists of 3 members, administers all adult probation and parole services, and in addition the Board provides and supervises an extensive nominal bond program (Recognizance Release) in the St. Louis and Kansas City areas. The Board also provides halfway house programs. Juvenile probation is administered by the circuit courts and juvenile parole is administered by the State Board of Training Schools.

NEBRASKA

Nebraska ranks 35th among the States in population and includes two Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Lincoln and Omaha. There are 93 county governments, 537 municipal governments, and 476 organized township governments. The major components of Nebraska's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - State Patrol
 - County sheriffs
 - Municipal police
 - Town constables and marshals
- Courts -
 - State Supreme Court
 - District courts
 - County courts
 - Juvenile courts
 - Municipal courts
- Prosecution - Attorney General
 - County attorneys
 - City attorneys
- Public Defender - County public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Correctional Services
 - County jails
 - County juvenile facilities
 - Municipal jails
- Probation and Parole - State Probation Administration
 - County probation departments
 - Department of Correctional Services

Enforcement agencies

The responsibility for law enforcement at the State level is divided among several agencies but, with the exception of the State Patrol, they are relatively small and limited to special areas of investigation and enforcement. State Patrol handles traffic enforcement, accident investigations, criminal investigations, and in addition offers services to local agencies when assistance is requested.

Although the county sheriffs are responsible for all law enforcement within their jurisdiction, much of this responsibility is shared with the municipal police forces, town constables, and marshals.

The size and range of activity of municipal police departments generally increases with the population of the city. Police departments in the most populous cities are generally self-sufficient whereas most villages rely on the sheriff for police services.

Courts

The Nebraska court system consists of: State Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); district courts in each county (courts of general jurisdiction); county courts in each county and juvenile courts and municipal courts in Lancaster and Douglas counties (courts of limited jurisdiction).

In 1973 justices of the peace and police magistrate courts were abolished and their functions merged into a reorganized county court system.

Administrative authority over all State courts is vested in the Supreme Court. The State Court Administrator's Office was established in 1972 with an administrative director appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

Below the State Attorney General's office, primary responsibility for prosecution lies with county and municipal agencies. Each county has an elected county attorney who prosecutes felonies and misdemeanors and handles civil matters. The county attorney may appoint deputies with the approval and consent of the county board.

Most cities employ a city attorney to prosecute violations of municipal ordinances and, as in the case of Omaha, all misdemeanor offenses. City attorneys also act as legal counsel for local police departments.

Public defender agencies

Counties with population over 200,000, and other counties with approval of the county board, may establish an elective office of Public Defender. In counties not having a public defender, the district judge appoints counsel.

Correctional agencies and institutions

In 1973 a State Department of Correctional Services was established with responsibility for juvenile and adult correctional facilities and juvenile and adult parole. Facilities include a penitentiary, reformatories, and youth development centers. Each county is required by law to operate a county jail. Most of these jails are essentially holding facilities and do not have rehabilitation or related treatment programs.

Probation and parole agencies

In 1971 the State Legislature created the Office of the Probation Administrator and the Field Probation Service which provide probation services in district, county, and juvenile courts. Some counties maintain their own probation departments.

Adult and juvenile parole is administered by the Office of Parole Administration within the Department of Correctional Services.
