CHILDREN'S CASES DISPOSED OF
BY THE JUVENILE COURTS
FISCAL YEAR ENDED JUNE 30, 1975

This report represents the total of the "Monthly Reports Of Cases Disposed Of By Juvenile Courts" which were submitted by Virginia City and County Courts with juvenile jurisdiction for 1974-75. There were 83,026 youth cases disposed of by Juvenile Courts in fiscal year 1975. This represents a 4,360 case or 5.5 percent increase in court workload over fiscal year 1974 and a 54.4 percent increase over fiscal year 1971 when only 53,774 cases were disposed of. Of the 83,026 cases completed, 40,237 cases or 48.5 percent involved delinquency, 24,639 cases or 29.7 percent involved traffic violations, 5,171 cases or 6.2 percent involved dependent and neglected violations, and 12,979 cases or 15.6 percent involved "all other" violations. There were 95 county and 33 city courts submitting monthly reports. These courts should have submitted a total of 1,536 individual reports but 193 reports were delinquent giving a 12.6 percent deficiency in reporting.

DELINQUENCY: Juvenile delinquency activity can be very broadly defined to cover a gamut of anti-social behavior. For the purpose of this report juvenile delinquency will be defined as follows: 1. all juvenile activity in violation of criminal statutes for other than motor vehicle operation; 2. behavior beyond parental control, such as habitual disobedience or runaway; and 3. school truancy and related problems. Juvenile delinquency increased from 35,845 cases in fiscal 1973-74 to 40,237 cases in fiscal 1974-75 - a 4,392 case or 12.3 percent increase. Over the past two fiscal years juvenile delinquency has sharply increased from the 31,805 cases in fiscal year 1973 to the present 40,237 cases in fiscal year 1975 - a 26.5 percent increase. Since fiscal year 1971 when there were 28,784 cases, delinquency violations have increased 39.8 percent. Substantial increases in case workloads were noted in the following city and county courts in fiscal year 1975: Danville - 166.7 percent (463 to 1,235), Suffolk - 60.2 percent (510 to 817), Virginia Beach - 57.1 percent (3,031 to 4,761), Arlington - 74.5 percent (834 to 1,455), Culpeper - 128.3 percent (60 to 137), Dinwiddie - 97.1 percent (68 to 134), Henry - 90.5 percent (263 to 501), Nottoway - 88.6 percent (70 to 132), Page - 69.7 percent (185 to 314), Prince George 58.7 percent (167 to 265), and Prince William - 141.5 percent (1,122 to 2,710). Substantial decreases in case workload were recorded in the following county courts: Essex - 84.0 percent (125 to 20), and Washington - 70.1 percent (304 to 91). In comparing race and sex, white males accounted for 22,738 delinquency cases or 56.5 percent, white females accounted for 7,096 or 17.6 percent, non-white males accounted for 7,972 or 19.8 percent, and non-white females accounted for 2,431 or 6.0 percent. Cities accounted for 19,429 cases or 48.3 percent of delinquent cases while the counties accounted for 20,808 cases or 51.7 percent of the caseload.

TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS: Traffic violations decreased from 25,100 cases in fiscal year 1974 to 24,639 cases in fiscal year 1975 - a 461 case or 1.8 percent decrease. In comparison with fiscal 1970-71 however, traffic violations have increased significantly from 14,510 to the present 24,639 in fiscal 1974-75 - a 10,129 case or 69.8 percent increase. Of the 24,639 traffic violations, 18,686 or 75.8 percent were committed by white males, 3,678 or 14.9 percent were white females, 1,856 or 7.5 percent were non-white males, and 419 or 1.7 percent were non-white females. In comparing the cities and counties, the cities were responsible for 9,703 cases or 39.4 percent of the caseload while the counties accounted for the remaining 14,936 cases or 60.6 percent. Significant increases in city and county court workloads were noted as follows: Chesapeake - 666.7 percent (72 to 552), Danville - 58.3 percent (254 to 402), Suffolk - 72.5 percent (193 to 333), Waynesboro - 51.2 percent (84 to 127), Albemarle - 31.8 percent (214 to 282), Dickenson - 500.0 percent (19 to 114), Fairfax - 30.7 percent (2,048 to 2,677), Prince George - 39.7 percent (131 to 183), Prince William - 59.5 percent (1,077 to 1,718), and York - 38.9 percent (149 to 207). A significant decrease in workload was noted in Washington County - 62.3 percent (305 to 115).

DEPENDENT AND NEGLECTED: Cases involving dependency and neglect decreased from 5,370 cases in fiscal year 1974 to 5,171 cases in fiscal year 1975 - a 199 case or 3.7 percent decrease. In comparison with fiscal 1970-71 the caseload has decreased from 5,225 to the present 5,171 - a 54 case or 1.0 percent decrease. The cities accounted for 2,383 cases or 46.1 percent of the caseload while the counties accounted for 2,788 or 53.9 percent. Substantial increases in city and county court workloads were noted in the following courts: Chesapeake - 25.5 percent (145 to 182), Hampton - 53.0 percent (232 to 355), Richmond City 1539.4 percent (33 to 541), Suffolk - 36.1 percent (122 to 166), Arlington - 117.2 percent (64 to 139) and Prince William - 462.5 percent (40 to 225). Substantial decreases in workload were also noted in the following city and county courts: Petersburg - 48.0 percent (148 to 77), Halifax - 54.5 percent (145 to 66), and Roanoke County - 44.4 percent (72 to 40).

ALL OTHER: The number of "all other" cases increased from 12,351 in fiscal year 1974 to 12,979 in fiscal year 1975 - a 628 case or 5.1 percent increase. The category of "all other" includes children referred to the courts for (1) commitment as mentally defective, (2) determination of custody or guardianship, and (3) consent to marry or enlist in the Armed Forces for wards of the state or local governments. In comparison with fiscal 1970-71 the caseload has more than doubled from 5,255 cases to the present 12,979 cases - a 7,724 case or 147.0 percent increase. Cities accounted for 4,643 cases or 35.8 percent of the caseload while counties accounted for 8,336 or 64.2 percent of the caseload. Significant increases in fiscal 1974-75 occurred in the following city and county courts: Buena Vista - 173.6 percent (53 to 145), Chesapeake - 66.4 percent (137 to 228), Newport News - 54.9 percent (153 to 237), Prince William - 2304.9 percent (41 to 986), and Grayson - 86.2 percent (58 to 108). Significant decreases were noted in the following city and county courts: Petersburg - 44.5 percent (346 to 192), Richmond City - 37.5 percent (1,868 to 1,167), Suffolk - 48.1 percent (322 to 167), and Washington - 44.8 percent (232 to 128).

OFFICIAL AND UNOFFICIAL CASES: Official cases increased from 73,304 in fiscal year 1974 to 75,724 in fiscal year 1975 - a 3.3 percent increase. Even though the number of official cases increased in fiscal year 1975 the percentage of the total workload dropped to 91.2 percent from the 93.2 percent in fiscal year 1974. Unofficial cases increased from 5,362 in fiscal 1973-74 to 7,302 in fiscal 1974-75 - a 1,940 or 36.2 percent increase. As a result of the substantial increase in unofficial cases its percentage of the total workload increased from 6.8 percent in fiscal 1973-74 to 8.8 percent in fiscal 1974-75. It must be noted that the practice of many city and county courts to report only official cases indicated that the prevalence of habitual juvenile misbehavior and delinquent conduct is greater than the base statistics appear to show.

RACE AND SEX: Of all 83,026 cases disposed of in fiscal 1974-75 49,396 cases or 59.5 percent were white males, 16,362 cases or 19.7 percent were white females, 12,404 cases or 14.9 percent were non-white males, and 4,864 cases or 5.9 percent were non-white females. In comparing the official caseload, white males accounted for 45,338 or 59.9 percent of the 75,724 official cases, white females accounted for 14,564 cases or 19.2 percent, non-white males accounted for 11,530 cases or 15.2 percent, and non-white females accounted for 4,292 cases or 5.7 percent. In comparing the unofficial caseload, white males accounted for 4,058 or 55.6 percent of the 7,302 unofficial cases, white females accounted for 1,798 cases or 24.6 percent, non-white males accounted for 874 cases or 12.0 percent, and non-white females accounted for 572 or 7.8 percent.

CITY AND COUNTY: The cities accounted for 36,158 or 43.6 percent of the 83,026 cases in fiscal year 1975 and the counties accounted for 46,868 cases or 56.4 percent. The distribution of cases between counties and cities from fiscal year 1974 to fiscal year 1975 varied by 4.4 percent. The cities experienced the caseload increase while the counties decreased.

TABLES: The information in the following tables is compiled from monthly reports submitted by the judges of the individual courts in cooperation with the Department of Corrections. Although the data herein are not complete in several respects, it is believed that they are representative of the volume of children's cases handled by juvenile courts in Virginia.

APPENDIX III
INSTRUCTIONS FOR J. C. 30 FORM
CHILDREN'S CASES DISPOSED OF BY JUVENILE COURTS

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPILING FORM JC-30 MONTHLY REPORT OF CHILDREN'S CASES DISPOSED OF BY THE JUVENILE COURT

GENERAL - The report requests information on the number of children's cases disposed of officially (formally) and unofficially (informally) during each month.

The unit of count upon which the report is based is the "case". Each case represents a child dealt with by the Juvenile Court on a new referral in delinquency, dependency or neglect, or special proceedings. The case is counted at the time the referral is disposed of and not at the time it is received.

Each child in a group dealt with by the court should be counted as a separate case. A case should be counted separately each time that the child involved is referred for a new offense or in a new situation. However, if a child has committed two or more offenses that may be considered part of the same delinquency situation, reported to the court at about the same time and disposed of at the same time, these offenses should be considered as a single case of delinquency.

Adult cases in which the complaint is made against an adult such as contributing to delinquency, dependency or neglect cases, etc., should be excluded from the report.
