ACQUISITIONS

INTRODUCTION

The City of Minneapolis was incorporated in 1858 and its police activity at that early date focused on a single constable, or as he was called, "town marshall." The annual salary for this responsibility was $150. The City grew and so did its police department and by 1868, men so assigned as police officers were able to "live well" on $65.00 per month. All were "plain clothes" men in that period, as their only evidence of authority was the star itself.

Today, the Minneapolis Police Department is comprised of approximately 800 sworn officers and over 100 non-sworn support personnel. It serves a community that is the economic hub for the entire region with much diverse industry and business. The City is stimulating growth in several areas with new incentives for housing and commercial interests.

The Minneapolis Police Department is proud to work and serve in this community and is appreciative and pleased with the spirit of cooperation it receives from its leaders and constituency.

To the Citizens of Minneapolis:

The 1976 Annual Report of the Minneapolis Police Department is presented as a means of providing information to the citizens of Minneapolis on the law enforcement and crime prevention functions and related activities, of our City's Police Department.

This Administration is strongly committed to effective, fair enforcement of the law for all citizens of Minneapolis. The annual report reflects the positive efforts of the Minneapolis Police Department to fulfill those objectives.

I wish to thank the personnel of the Minneapolis Police Department for a job well done, and the citizens of Minneapolis for their support of our law enforcement officers.

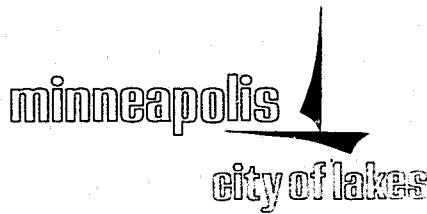

Sincerely,

Charles Stenvig

CARL E. JOHNSON
Chief of Police

MINNEAPOLIS POLICE DEPARTMENT
ROOM 119, CITY HALL 348 2853
MINNEAPOLIS, MINNESOTA 55415

The Honorable Charles Stenvig
Mayor, City of Minneapolis
Minneapolis, Minnesota

Dear Mayor Stenvig:

I am pleased to present for your review the 1976 Annual Report for the City of Minneapolis Police Department. This has been prepared for your information and consideration.

The statistics included in the report were compiled in accordance with the prescribed criteria of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the Uniform Crime Reporting methods, as recommended by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

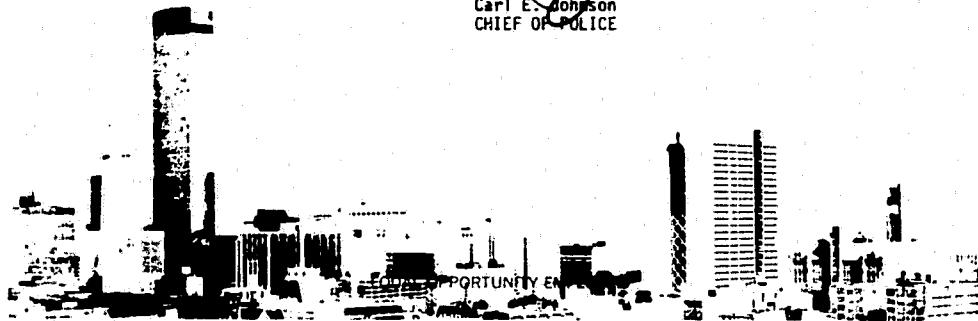

Concerted efforts of both the citizens of Minneapolis and the Minneapolis Police Department reduced Part I Crimes in Minneapolis by 3%.

During 1976, the first floor of the Court House was remodeled, providing space for the Minneapolis Police Juvenile Division, as well as the rest of the Investigative Bureau. The police department is continuing to move forward to remodel the ground floor and to provide more adequate working space for its personnel.

I wish to thank your office, the Administration, the Minneapolis City Council, and all other governmental agencies for their contributions and cooperation. In addition, a special thanks to the business and civic groups for their assistance.

Respectfully submitted

~~Carl E. Johnson
CHIEF OF POLICE~~

PATROL BUREAU

The Patrol Bureau, the backbone of any police department, is that activity with which the public is most familiar and with whom they have the greatest number of personal contacts. Our Patrol Bureau is not unique in this respect, yet we feel that they are distinctive in their performance.

In several precincts certain crimes were reduced substantially in 1976, both in those crimes directed against persons as well as property. Our officers, supervisors, and precinct commanders continue to be involved in many neighborhood programs and The Precinct Advisory Councils continue their activities with positive citizen input.

Several precinct officers attended training courses for the Minnesota Crime Watch Program. This, of course, is the prevention-type program that has - and continues - to work well in our various neighborhoods.

One precinct, Bryant, underwent some major remodeling last year and this has given that facility a more useful purpose as well as improving that station's working conditions.

Precinct boundaries were adjusted for three precincts in 1976 to provide better service delivery to our citizens; this affected the First, Third, and Sixth precincts. Continued specialized training was an emphasis for the Special Operations Division this past year and they continued to perform admirably in the activities under their purview.

Captain Jerry Shoemaker, Fourth precinct, sums up the sentiment of many personnel who are justifiably quite proud: "We are the greatest!"

INVESTIGATIVE BUREAU

The Investigative Bureau was preparing to move late this past year into remodeled and considerably larger facilities. For years, space has been a problem for this group and at last they were eagerly anticipating new quarters. Decentralizing some Bureau activity was also begun in 1976 in an effort to better address neighborhood crime; consequently several investigative personnel were assigned directly to local precincts. This provides not only easier access by the community, but also affords more positive lines of communication among department officers.

A special investigation was begun in 1976 to examine past and current liquor license practices. This group was comprised of several key personnel who were organized into a semi-strike force unit. The Identification Division underwent some physical change and was preparing for yet another move, temporarily, to the ground floor. This was necessitated by the remodeling program for the new jail.

Juvenile finally moved to more spacious surroundings on the First Floor and acquired some much needed interview rooms as well as additional office space.

Internal Affairs revised its procedures for investigation in 1976 and these are now much more consistent with that of other major police departments.

SERVICES BUREAU

The Services Bureau, responsible for most support activity, also directed some change in 1976. To provide a more comprehensive observation of budget expenditures, a portion of the Personnel Division was merged with the Administrative Services Unit. Administrative Services was also planning for new quarters which would accommodate not only their office activity, but also "warehouse" their supplies.

Training, in its annual in-service endeavor, conducted thirteen one-week training seminars for department personnel. Communications was utilizing some new technology as well as continuing to plan for a new site location. Additionally, they were involved with planning for a consolidated public safety communication system complete with the national emergency access number, 911.

Community Relations was moved to temporary quarters until the ground floor remodeling is completed and their contacts with the community through Operation Identification and the School Patrol, continued to increase.

Records was in the process of obtaining and installing a new word processing system which would afford them a greater capability. The Property and Evidence Unit, for the first time, held public auctions to dispose of accumulated unclaimed merchandise and property.

Planning and Research continued to plan for the remodeling of the Police section of the Courthouse and evaluated equipment purchases and similar department expenditures.

A Systems Development Unit, established in 1975, focused its efforts on the development of automated patrol and investigative support programs. A special area of interest was in a Crime Analysis Program as well as the development of a Computer-Aided Dispatch System to support police communications.

A Task Force was organized to rewrite a new Department Manual of Rules and Procedures. The last major revision of this document was 12 years previous.

JUVENILE DIVISION

For the second consecutive year there has been a significant decrease in the number of arrests of juveniles in most categories of offenses. The total of 5891 arrests is an 18% decrease from 1975 and a 24% decrease from the high year of 1974. Referrals from the division to Juvenile Court, DYC and Welfare dropped 22%.

A most disturbing statistic is the increase in arrests for prostitution from the preceding year. This might, in part, be the result of somewhat greater activity on the part of officers of the vice squad since their total arrests for the year are higher than 1975. Even so, the magnitude of the problem is much greater than the numbers would indicate since a considerable number of other girls were taken into custody for reasons of health and welfare or status offenses when found in circumstances which made it seem very likely that they were involved in prostitution. There was, however, insufficient evidence to warrant petitions to the court.

It is particularly encouraging to note that there were decreases in numbers of arrests for all categories of serious crimes, particularly the 26% decrease in arrests for robbery, and a somewhat smaller decrease in the number of arrests for burglary. A similar decline in offenses is noted in the overall 4.5% decrease in reported crime over the previous year. Perhaps a positive trend is developing.

NARCOTICS DIVISION

During 1976, there were 300 less persons processed for narcotic violations than in 1975. One of the reasons for this is the petty misdemeanor tags issued for possession of small amounts of marijuana. The Narcotic Division also had less manpower in 1976 than in 1975. The comparisons with 1975 show that narcotic officer arrests were only down 39 persons or 14% less. Uniform arrests for 1976 were down 37.5%.

Narcotic officers concentrated mainly on hard narcotics. There were 105 heroin cases made in 1976 compared to 55 in 1975, an increase of more than 4%. Undercover officers from Minneapolis, Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) and Hennepin County Narcotics were responsible in working together for this increase. Eight hundred pounds of marijuana was seized in one case. Two pounds of cocaine were seized in another. One informant was "loaned" to the DEA and a two-kilo heroin case was made in Thailand. This heroin was destined for our area. Most heavy violators were processed in Federal Court. One violator received a sixty-seven year prison sentence.

LICENSE INSPECTION DIVISION

The License Inspection Division is commanded by the License Inspector who has two lieutenants, four patrolmen, and two stenos for staff.

The License Division investigates some 50 various licenses issued by the city. We also investigate complaints and take police action on violations.

This division also collects NSF checks issued the city treasurer by license applicants.

Some of the monies collected as a result of NSF checks, delinquent payments, persons operating without a license, are reflected on the attached sheet.

Not noted in the attached are the citations we have issued for various violations. Many of these fines are collected in court, therefore, the efforts exhausted to reveal these amounts are too time consuming to pursue.
