INTRODUCTION

by

William W. Treat, Chairman

It is a truism that the judicial process is uniquely resistant to change. Most of the matters that are brought before the Council for consideration involve proposed changes in our laws, either substantive or procedural. The Council does not look upon change as an inevitable blessing even when it is cloaked in such appealing terms as "judicial reform", "uniformity", etc. The work of the Judicial Council is not merely a syncretic exercise but involves a critical evaluation of many factors. Working within this attitude of constructive skepticism toward new proposals, many changes have occurred over the years -- for better or for worse.

A case in point is the changes in judicial salaries. The adequacy of judicial salaries was a matter of concern to the Council in its initial report in 1946. The salary of the Judge of the Manchester Municipal Court was $2,400. Salaries of the Superior and Supreme Court Justices were established at $7,000 in 1929, and in 1945 were "temporarily" increased to $7,350. The Council concluded that the salaries established in 1929 were "no longer adequate" in 1946. As of June 31, 1974, these salaries were approximately $34,000 and on January 27, 1977, the Judicial Council recommended an increase of 15%.

While compensation levels are illustrative of the dramatic changes that have occurred since the beginning of the Council 32 years ago, they also indicate the persistence of some of the matters that come to the attention of the Council. In 1946 one-third of the Judicial Council report was devoted to an analysis and recommendations concerning the "Municipal and Justice Courts" in New Hampshire. During the intervening years and including the current year, the Courts of first instance have received much of the attention of the Council.

Robert W. Upton, Esq., progenitor of the Judicial Council in New Hampshire, said in 1946 that he was confident that the Judicial Council would "contribute materially to the improvement of the administration of justice". An objective appraisal of the Council's work has to be assessed by others who are not members of the Council, but through the years the Council has studied hundreds of proposed acts and its recommendations have generally been well received by the General Court. If there was one duty mandated by the Legislature which has not been adequately fulfilled by the Council, it is the duty to make recommendations upon the Council's own motion for changes "in the law or in the rules, organization, operation or methods of conducting business of the Courts, or with respect to any other matter pertaining to the administration of justice". While the Council has generally confined its activity to responding to those matters submitted to it by the Legislature, it has not been ignorant of its duty to initiate change. To this end, a "Committee on Innovation" has been formed to initiate and pursue a more creative course.

The Sixteenth Biennial Report of the Judicial Council is a compilation of the work of the Council for the two years ending December 31, 1976, and is submitted herewith under RSA 494.4. The Report includes the recommendations of the Council on various matters that have come before it during the last two years. It does not attempt to summarize many other important activities of the Council, e.g., the Council's continuing effort to involve members of the public in questions relating to the administration of justice, the appearances of Council members before committees of the General Courts, certain cooperative activities with the Bar Association, Administrative Committee of the District and Municipal Courts, and other activities in the field of judicial administration.

Vital to the successful fulfillment of the Council's mission is public participation. The Council encourages a broader participation by the public in matters within its purview and urges wider attendance by the public at Council meetings. It is important to the survival of the judicial system that the public is not only heard, but is provided a forum where it may be an active participant in the formulation of policy. The Council is that forum in New Hampshire. It must search out new ways to involve the public and reach out to our citizens.

The Judicial Council is mindful of its limitations and its obligation to be alert and responsive to the prayerful mandamus expressed by Mr. Upton in 1946, and welcomes suggestions and recommendations from members of the public, other departments of Government and the General Court.

LEGISLATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED BY THE 1975 GENERAL COURT

The Fifteenth Biennial Report of the Council listed twelve legislative recommendations to the 1975 General Court. The adopted recommendations appear in Laws of 1975 as follows:

Chapter 258: To provide an allowance for support and maintenance of infant children of deceased persons; effective August 5, 1975

Chapter 395: Relative to appeals from Probate Courts, effective January 1, 1976 (Adding RSA 567-A, repealing RSA 567, and making other changes in Revised Statutes Annotated made necessary by the new statute.

Chapter 267: To provide for a sentence review in criminal cases in Superior Court.

The Judicial Council made recommendations in support of the following, which failed to pass:

1975 Senate Bill 122, An Act to create a state district court system with full time judges, clerks and other personnel as state supported courts.

The Senate referred this bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee, along with a proposed amendment for phasing in full time district courts in certain counties, for interim study.

1975 House Bill 551, An Act relating to deprived and delinquent children and persons in need of supervision.

The House referred this bill to the House Judiciary Committee for interim study.

1975 Senate Bill 296: Relative to computing the number of Superior Court Justices.

The Senate referred this bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee for interim study.

The following bill was approved by the Judicial Council, passed the House and Senate, but was vetoed by the Governor.

1975 House Bill 754: Establishing a judicial selection commission to recommend at least three candidates for all judicial appointments. The Judicial Council in its Fifteenth Biennial Report had recommended establishing a commission to recommend three candidates for all judicial appointments, and such a bill was introduced into the Senate as Senate Bill 241. House Bill 754 was studied by the Judicial Council, resulting in a withdrawal of support for Senate Bill 241 and the full support of House Bill 754.

The Council recommended that no action be taken in respect to the following matters referred to it by the 1973 General Court:

1973 House Bill 971, Relative to the elements of the crimes of capital murder, non-capital murder and manslaughter to the penalties for the crime of murder. The Council noted that the 1974 Special Sessions (Laws 1974, c.34) had redrafted the homicide sections of the Criminal Code. The Council decided that no further action on its part was proper or necessary. The Council adopted no position on the issue of capital punishment.

1973 Senate Bill 8, Relative to limiting grand jury proceedings except in unusual circumstances. The Council decided that any action relating to the Grand Jury system was not needed, and concluded that the bill tended to weaken, rather than strengthen, the administration of criminal justice in this state.

1973 Senate Bill 59, Providing that no criminal penalty shall be imposed for failing to yield the right of way at an intersection. The Council recommended against enactment of this bill, believing that if the concept of the bill has merit, it should not be applied on a piecemeal basis. Thorough study of the Rules of the Road should be made to determine if and how much of the concept of the bill should be applied to other parts of the Traffic Code.

1973 Senate Bill 80, Providing for district court prosecutors for all criminal trials and probable cause hearings. The Council concluded that the proposed legislation represented an unnecessary and costly duplication of services and recommended against its passage.

1975 RECOMMENDATIONS KILLED IN THE HOUSE

1975 House Bill 657, Providing for appointment of retired probate judges as judicial referees (1973 S.B. 52). The Judicial Council was of the opinion that a probate court judicial referee system would materially enhance the administration of justice in the probate courts, and recommended passage of the bill, with revisions noted in the Fifteenth Biennial Report. The House killed the bill.

LEGISLATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS ADOPTED BY THE 1976 SPECIAL SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE

The Judicial Council had recommended in 1974 that if the full time district court bill did not pass, the district court clerks be authorized a salary minimum of 60% of the justice's salary, with discretion for the justice to raise the salary to 75%. Such a bill was not introduced in the 1975 session of the Legislature. The Special Session did consider this recommendation and by Laws 1976, Chapter 12, authorized a district court justice to establish a court clerk's salary, effective January 1, 1977 (Enacted in accordance with Article 44, Pt. II of N.H. Constitution, without signature of Governor.)

JUDICIAL COUNCIL ACTIVITIES 1975-1976

During 1975 the Council held meetings on January 20, April 21, September 12, October 24, and November 21. The 1975 Legislature referred various matters to the Judicial Council, and the Council studied some matters on its own motion. ## MEMBERSHIP AND MEETINGS

Frederic K. Upton, Esquire, was elected Chairman on September 12, 1975, to replace James L. Sullivan, Esquire, who had retired at the age of 70 on July 22, 1975. Chairman Upton appointed committees to study the various matters referred to the Judicial Council by the Legislature.

A public hearing was held on November 21, 1975, on all of the matters referred to the Judicial Council by the 1975 Legislature. The public and sponsors of the bill were invited to comment, and the response was good.

The vacancy in the office of Chairman caused by the end of the term of Frederic K. Upton, Esquire, was filled by the election of Joseph Kerrigan, Esquire, as Chairman, on January 16, 1976. William W. Treat, Esquire, was elected Vice-Chairman. At the end of Mr. Kerrigan's term as President of the Bar Association on June 19, 1976, he retired from the Council by the requirement of RSA 494:2. Vice Chairman William W. Treat, Esquire, became Chairman on Mr. Kerrigan's retirement. At the meeting of September 17, 1976, George Walker, Esquire, was elected Vice Chairman.

During 1976, the Council held meetings on January 16, March 19, April 23, June 18, August 18th, September 17th, and October 22nd. The Committees working on the bills referred to it by the Legislature, and on other matters, made their various reports at the meetings on March 19, April 23, June 18, August 18, September 17, and October 22, 1976.

New members since January 1, 1975, are: Attorney General David Souter, Bradley Kidder, Esq., Paul Urion, Esq., Mr. George E. Connell, John M.A. Rolli, Esq., John B. Pendleton, Esq., as Chairman of the New Hampshire Bar Association, Robert L. Chiesa, Esq., as a non-voting member by virtue of being President-Elect of the New Hampshire Bar Association, Hon. William J. O'Neil, as President of the New Hampshire District and Municipal Court Judges Association in 1975-76, Hon. Colin Lizotte as the President of the Judges Association in 1976-77.

LAW ENFORCEMENT ASSISTANCE ADMINISTRATION ACTIVITIES

The Governor's Commission on Crime and Delinquency made grants to the judicial system during 1975/1976 as follows:

A grant for the continuing judicial education of district and municipal court justices provided for two educational seminars a year on judicial subjects. Conferences were held in June and November of 1975 and in June and December of 1976. This grant also enabled new judges to attend residence courses in judicial subjects given by judicial education institutions throughout the country.

An in-depth study of the legal representation of indigent defendants in the state was completed by the National Center for State Courts under a Crime Commission grant. This report will be the subject of study and implementation by a Bar Association committee and by others interested in this field.

A training program for the clerks of the district and municipal courts was started under a technical assistance project authorized under LEAA funding through the American University of Washington, D.C. The clerks went through this program to develop their own program of needs for training. A report suggesting a training program for the clerks was issued, printed, and distributed to the clerks and to the Administrative Committee of District and Municipal Courts. The Administrative Committee has resolved to implement the recommendations of this report and will support the programs suggested by this report to the fullest extent of the committee's authority.

Interns. The Judicial Council and the Administrative Committee of District and Municipal Courts received the support of two interns during the summer of 1975 and 1976, and one intern during the period of November, 1975, to June, 1976. The work of these interns added tremendously to the value of the work of the staff of the Judicial Council and the Administrative Committee of District and Municipal Courts.

The Supreme Court Court Systems Survey, Standards and Goals Development

On March 25, 1975, the Supreme Court was awarded a discretionary grant from the National Office of LEAA for the development of standards and goals for the judiciary of the state. On September 3, 1975, the Governor and Council approved a contract between the Supreme Court and the National Center for State Courts for the development of standards and goals in this state. An advisory committee was jointly selected by the Governor and the Chief Justice to advise the National Center in its work on this project.

The state was divided into six geographical regions, and members were selected to represent the citizens and the various groups in the criminal justice system for the development of these proposed standards and goals. A state-wide group was appointed to give its recommendations to the Supreme Court on the standards and goals to be selected for implementation.

After two rounds of regional meetings, 19 areas were selected for work by task forces in specialized areas of interest. Task force membership was from the members of the regional groups. The task forces gave their recommendations on the various standards and goals of interest to that task force.

The National Center for State Courts issued its report of recommendations in December of 1976. The Supreme Court is scheduled to receive and act upon the report of the National Center in February, 1977. Implementation of the recommendations will be made by Supreme Court rule, where possible; legislation respecting the other recommendations will be introduced in the 1977 session of the Legislature if legislation is necessary.

REPORTING PERIOD FOR COURT STATISTICS

The reporting periods for statistics for the courts were made uniform by requiring that all courts submit their statistics for the period August 1 to July 31st of the following year. The statistics reported in the tables and charts of this report reflect both the transition period and the new periods of reporting.

GRAPHS AND TEN YEAR CHARTS OF STATISTICS

Graphs and charts showing the ten year summary of case loads in the courts have been included as a feature of these reports to add depth of information not available in a two-year report.

The reporting periods for the various courts are for the same period in all courts as voted by the Judicial Council in 1974. The reporting dates are now uniform throughout the court system, and make correlation of court loads in the courts easier.

CAUTION:

The figures used in the tables, graphs, and charts printed in this report are compiled from statistics gathered from 88 different sources in each year. In some cases the figures do not reconcile with other figures of the same year or with previous year's reports. The differences are not significantly large nor are they cumulative. The figures seem to be reliable enough to show significant trends in caseload volume.

EDITORIAL COMMENT:

Cold figures seem inadequate to represent the total work done by a court. In recognition of the unsung worthiness of those people in all the courts who work the typewriters, file the papers, prepare the calendars, and complete the dockets, the editor of this report states for the record that he believes that the unflagging response of these persons to the demands of justice in its work clothes is what keeps the judicial system from falling apart.

1976 SPECIAL SESSION OF THE GENERAL COURT

The General Court met in special session from December 30, 1975, to June 10, 1976. The Special Session acted upon and passed laws affecting the administration of justice, and which were approved by the Governor as follows:

Laws 1976, Ch. 12, allowing a district court justice to establish the court clerk's salary. (Noted above as supported by the Judicial Council.)

Laws 1976, Ch. 22, giving the superior court injunction power over certain motor carrier activities (The Council took no position on this bill)

Laws, 1976, Ch. 25, to give one additional alternative for the superior court sentence review division. (The Council took no position on this bill.)

REPORTS OF COUNCIL

The following reports are the work of the committees assigned to study and report on the matters referred to the Council or studied on its own motion. The Council approved all of the reports as they are printed.

RELATIVE TO SERVICE OF PROCESS

Recommended

As any private litigant or practicing attorney knows, Sniadach v. Family Finance Corp. and its progeny, in addition to complicating the procedure of the law, has greatly added to the expense of subjecting a defendant and his assets to the process of the courts. (See Sniadach v. Family Finance Corp., 395 US 337 (1969) and Fuentes v. Sheven, 407US67, 32LEd2d 556, 570 (1972))

Typically, in place of the earlier combined single form writ of attachment and summons, it is common under the recently enacted RSA 511-A for three or more separate forms to be served on a defendant: a notice of request for attachment, a writ of summons and, if granted by the court, a writ of attachment. Since in the usual case attachments are permitted only after a preliminary hearing by the court, and RSA 510:2-a requires that "all writs and other processes shall at the time that they are served upon the defendant indicate on such writ or process the time, place, and mode of service made upon the defendant, and shall further indicate any attachments made upon the property of the defendant....", it is usual that repetitious services have to be made at different dates and times upon the same defendant.

Note should be taken of the inefficient use of manpower involved in a deputy sheriff handcarrying a piece of paper to a defendant, or leaving a copy of a writ or other process in the door of a residence as an "abode service" when the defendant cannot be physically located. In addition to the inefficiency, "the fees become disproportionately burdensome to private litigants. RSA 104:31 presently sets the fees of a sheriff at $3.00 for writs, except writs of attachment with a petition or a writ of summons with a petition are $10.00, other process or petitions are $6.00, service on a register of deeds $6.00, copies of writ $1.00, and mileage for "actual travel to serve any writ, notice or process 25¢ a mile from the place of service to the residence of the officer. ("Waiting time" may also be billed at $7.50 an hour in addition to other fees specified. RSA 104:31 X)

Consequently, the cost of summoning a defendant before the court and making a simple real estate attachment can easily exceed a minimum of $30.00 in fees. If there is more than one defendant or multiple trustee attachments, the cost can easily triple or quadruple. In one case reported to the Council, fees for service of process with supplementary attachments in a divorce action amounted to $300.00

The time has long since come when alternative methods of service of process should be more fully permitted and utilized. The normal business world every day transfers millions of dollars worth of securities, drafts, and valuable documents by mail. Once the defendant is before the court, our procedure permits answers, counterclaims, motions to dismiss or for summary judgment, the non-receipt of which or the failure to respond could work Draconian forfeitures, to simply be mailed to the opposing party. (Cf. Timberlane v. Crompton, 114 NH 315, decided October 31, 1975, denying an appeal for failure to timely pay transfer costs although the Supreme Court stated it believed the failure of plaintiff's attorney to file, who claimed not to have received notice mailed from the Clerk's office, was due to accident or misfortune.)

Subpoenas may be served by any justice of the peace, RSA 516:3.
Notices to vacate may be served by "any person", RSA 540:5.

It has long been the law in New Hampshire that service of process in particular situations may be made by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. A partial listing would include the following statutes:

RSA 264:2	Non-resident motor vehicle operator
RSA 281:38	Notice of hearing: workmen's compensation
RSA 282:12 (K)	Service of process under unemployment compensation
RSA 300:12 (d)	Foreign corporations: "Mail postage prepaid"
RSA 418:18	Service of process under Fraternal Benefit Societies
RSA 422-A:18(b)	Service of process, Aeronautics
RSA 422-C:7	Notice of sale, Aeronautics
RSA 510:4 II	Service of process, non-resident defendant
RSA 510:8 & RSA 514:3	Other notice

Recently the Legislature provided for service in replevin actions to be "by personal service or certified mail, return receipt requested, or in such other manner as the court shall determine." RSA 536-A:3, eff. Aug. 29, 1973

More recently still, the Legislature has sought to deal with this problem by providing in RSA 511-A:5 that an attachment order of the court "may be filed with the register of deeds, town or city clerk, secretary of state or wherever notice is required to perfect attachments, by the plaintiff or his attorney without further notice to the defendant." (1975 Session Laws, Ch. 428:1)

Therefore, to bring the general service of process procedures into line with present day reality, it is recommended that the following amendment be enacted to RSA 510:2 by adding thereto the following sentence:

"Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained heretofore or in other statutes, all writs and other process (but excluding restraining orders or specific process by which property is taken into actual physical custody or levied upon pursuant to execution by a sheriff) may be served upon any party, trustee or recording officer, in lieu of other forms prescribed by law, by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested. The affidavit of a party or counsel filed in court with the return of said process, and signed return receipt affixed thereto, is sufficient evidence of compliance with the requirements of service. In cases of default, if it appears no actual service was made on the defendant under this section, the court may order any additional notice it believes appropriate under RSA 514:3."

RELATIVE TO ESTABLISHING A DISTRICT
CRIMINAL APPEALS COURT

HOUSE BILL 711

Bill Not Recommended for Passage

This bill would establish a District Criminal Appeals Court for each County in the State, with exclusive jurisdiction to hear and try all appeals of persons sentenced by a District or Municipal Court for a misdemeanor or for any offense for which a person may be imprisoned, and would afford trials by six member juries.

This bill appears intended to alleviate congestion in the Superior Court, to assure a prompt disposition of criminal appeals, and to lessen the need for plea bargaining by County Attorneys in order to dispose of appeals.

Examination of recent statistics show that these are worthwhile objectives. For the year ending July 31, 1975, there were 2185 criminal appeals entered in the Superior Court, as compared to 538 for the year ending July 31, 1966. During this ten-year period, the Court disposed of more appeals each succeeding year, except one. Nevertheless, the backlog of criminal appeal cases pending at the end of the year increased from 218 in 1966 to 1921 in 1975. This increase, many of which are complaints for Driving While Intoxicated, has resulted in delays, absence or unavailability of witnesses, and foggy memories. Accordingly, the criminal justice system in these cases has functioned in less than a satisfactory manner.

Although reform is needed to expedite the disposition of criminal appeals, the Council believes that passage of House Bill 711 is not the answer to these problems. The Council believes that worse problems would be created than presently exist, and a great many unnecessary expenses would be incurred. Although well-intended, this bill fails to give due consideration to all the consequences of creating a new court level.

Under the proposed bill, for example, it would be necessary to coordinate the scheduling of cases with the availability of prosecutors, defense lawyers, judges, and courtrooms. This would result in a complicated scheduling problem, since the District Court judges who would be sitting, and the courtrooms which would be used, would only be available to a limited extent, and not necessarily at the same times. It would frequently be necessary to transport jurors from their meeting place to the courtroom where the particular case is being tried, to keep records of their time and mileage, and certify their accounts for payment by the county.

If, for instance, four appeals from four different District Courts are scheduled for trial on a certain day at a certain courtroom, there would be four District Court clerks present, and their activities would have to be coordinated. These are matters which probably could be solved, but it would require, at the very least, a full-time administrator, or appeals court clerks with secretarial help and proper facilities.

If District Appeals Courts are established, it would be necessary in counties such as Hillsborough and Rockingham, to provide the County Attorneys with additional assistants, since, with their present limited complement of help, they already have a full schedule with felony cases alone. Also, it would be necessary to hire more court stenographers, and furnish them with offices, typewriters, and equipment. The bill makes no provision for these or other similar expenses.

The bill provides that fines shall be paid to the Clerk of the District Court from which the appeal was taken, and by him disposed of as provided by RSA 502-A:8. Thus District Court A, with few appeals, might be required to furnish its courtroom for the trial of a substantial number of appeals, without receiving compensation, other than a few fines, whereas District Court B, with many appeals, might not be required to furnish its courtroom for any appreciable number of appeals, because of limitations on availability, yet it would probably receive a substantial number of fines. Further, the counties, although required to furnish, and pay for, jurors, bailiffs, stenographers, prosecutors, and, in some instances, courtrooms, would not share in the fines. There is also a provision under which a full-time clerk or judge for a District Court would be paid $50.00 or $150, respectively, for each day or part of a day, that he appears at the trial of an appeal, in addition to his regular salary.

A survey has been made in Hillsborough and Rockingham Counties, in connection with the study of this bill, to determine the probable availability of District Court judges and courtrooms, for the trial of appeals, with juries, if the bill were to be enacted. Although the survey showed that there would probably be sufficient District Court judges available in Hillsborough County, it also showed that in Rockingham County there would only be sufficient judges available to have trials in appeal cases 10-11 days a month, as compared to 31 days a month in Hillsborough County. Although the survey showed that there would probably be sufficient courtrooms available in each of these two counties, most of those available would be in the outlying towns, which would involve considerable transportation of jurors. All information acquired from the survey will be furnished to the General Court, on request.

Hillsborough and Rockingham Counties were surveyed, since they process greater numbers of criminal cases than the other counties. It is questionable if a District Criminal Appeals Court would serve any useful purpose in such counties as Coos, which has 12 criminal appeals pending in Superior Court on July 31, 1975, or Carroll, which had only

For all these reasons, the problems created by the appeal of criminal cases to the Superior Court could be more efficiently and economically solved by methods other than House Bill 711. For example, the General Court has also referred to the Judicial Council Senate Bill 296, which would lower from 60,000 to 55,000 the population figure required for the appointment of a Superior Court judge; the Council is recommending passage of this bill, and, if passed, it would under the available figures of the present population provide an additional judge to the Superior Court, and would help appreciably to alleviate congestion in Superior Courts caused by criminal appeals from District Courts. A second alternative to a District Criminal Appeals Court would be to have appeals for Driving While Intoxicated (first offense) tried by a Superior Court judge, rather than a jury. Since these cases make up the largest category of appeals, it is felt that having judges, instead of juries, hear such appeals, would substantially lower the number of such appeals, eliminate the expense of juries, bring about faster dispositions, and lend itself to more uniform findings than exist presently in jury verdicts from one county to another. In order to effectuate this second alternative and eliminate the need for a jury trial in such cases, it would be necessary to lower the maximum imprisonment penalty for Driving While Intoxicated, first offense, from one year to six months, which was the maximum prior to an amendment in 1973. Further, it would be desirable to obtain from the Supreme Court of New Hampshire an opinion of the constitutionality of any such proposed bill; it is to be noted that the general practice in District Courts is to impose a fine and revocation of license, but no actual imprisonment, for the crime of Driving While Intoxicated (first offense).

In summary, although the Council considers the objectives of House Bill 711 to be meritorious, it recommends against passage, and it further recommends that the objectives of this bill be pursued by one of the alternative methods suggested.

PERMITTING A PUBLIC SERVICE AS AN ALTERNATIVE SENTENCE FOR A MISDEMEANOR OR A VIOLATION

HOUSE BILL 651 (1975)

Recommended with Amendment

The bill would amend RSA 651:2, VI to provide that in violation and misdemeanor cases the Court may discharge a person subject to the condition that "he perform public service for the city or town in which the offense occurred under the supervision of an elected or appointed official of such city or town." The notion that some sort of affirmative action is appropriate as a sentence to make the punishment fit the crime has already been embodied in RSA 163-B:4 (supp) providing that in sentencing violators of the prohibition of unauthorized littering, the Court in its "sound discretion" may direct the defendant to clear certain specified premises of "any and all litter deposited thereon by anyone prior to the date of execution of sentence." The Judicial Council believes such sentences may be appropriate and desirable in other instances, though it believes HB 651 is overly broad in its present form in the following respects, and may not be necessary to achieve the desirable results.

First, the present bill would apply to all violations and misdemeanors. It appears to the Council that some violations, at least, would not normally merit the burdens which required public service would place on a violator. It does not appear that a simple stop sign violation, for example, would normally justify imposition of such a condition.

Second, with respect to violations or misdemeanors serious enough to justify such a service condition, there ought to be some relationship between the service ordered and the nature of the infraction if unfairness in sentencing and infractions of Article 18th of Part 1 of the New Hampshire Constitution are to be avoided.

These considerations suggest to the Council that it would be wise to specify the particular infractions that could appropriately carry public service penalties. The need for this bill will depend on the offenses so selected. If, for example, only offenses involving damage to public property were selected to carry potential service penalties, the objective could be realized under the present provision of RSA 651:2, VI which expressly recognizes that conditions may involve "reparation" to the victim. If a broader class of offenses were selected, then any bill should articulate standards confining sentencing courts to ordering service with some reasonable relationship to the nature of the offending conduct and confining the extent of the service to be proportional to the offending conduct. The Council, for example, is of the opinion that a new paragraph

RSA 651:2, VI-a would be an appropriate enactment:

" A person convicted of a violation of RSA 634:2 or of RSA 644:3 may be required as a condition of discharge under subsection VI to perform not more than fifty hours of public service under the supervision of an elected or appointed official of the city or town in which the offense occurred, such service being of a sort that in the opinion of the court will foster respect for those interests violated by the defendant's conduct."

RECODIFICATION OF PROBATE LAWS

HOUSE BILL 900

The Judicial Council recommends adoption of House Bill 900 with suggested amendments. A copy of the proposed legislation is attached to this report on which the suggested amendments have been noted and the reasons are set forth below.

We have no quarrel with the stated purposes of simplifying and clarifying Probate Law in New Hampshire and of speeding up the judicial procedure with which we agree. We are, however, fortunate that both the law and procedure in our state are not beset by complications, expense and delays which are prevalent in some other states. This is not to say that we should be satisfied or that there is no need for improvement. We believe that House Bill 900 incorporates several provisions of the Uniform Probate Code which are well worth considering. Some of the provisions are declaratory of present law or procedure, but this should not be a reason for opposing the inclusion of such provisions.

The Uniform Probate Code has certain provisions which are quite controversial and while they may have merit, it would be better not to jeopardize the enactment of House Bill 900 by their inclusion at this time. If there is sufficient support at a later date, they could then be proposed. We have particular reference to the concept of the surviving spouse's share of the "augmented estate", information administration of estates, and the placing of inter vivos trusts under the supervision of the Probate Court, to name three.

HB 900, however, with the few changes we have suggested would effect several improvements in our law and procedure such as allowing two witnesses to a Will instead of three; providing a way to probate a self-proving Will without the inconvenience or expense sometimes required to produce a witness, permitting incorporation by reference of memoranda with respect to the dispositive of tangible personal property; establishing guidelines for effective renunciation; simplifying procedure for settlement of small estates; clarifying procedures for transfer of property of estates of non residents; recodifying the law with respect to guardians of minors and others; defining the rights of parties to multi-party accounts; and providing for continuing powers of attorney.

The general provisions of Chapter 551-A require little comment except the Council recommends that jurisdiction of the Probate Court not be enlarged at this time to include supervision of inter vivos trusts which are often established to avoid probate and to eliminate publicity. It does not appear to be necessary at present. This requires amendment of 551-A:7 XLI and XLII .

Chapter 551-A:9 enlarges the jurisdiction of the Probate Court and decreases jurisdiction of the Superior Court in cases involving construction of Wills and determination of heirship. It would seem best not to do this until such time as the Probate Court can become a full time court. 551-A:13 should be eliminated as there are no juries available in Probate Court at present. The references here and below are to be renumbered paragraphs in the revised draft.

551-A:17 IV. The Probate Court should have a right to appoint a guardian ad litem to represent non residents.

552-A:6 The granting of a decree of distribution should be mandatory only if requested.

552-A:17 It would seem to be advisable to allow distribution of devises or distributive shares of minors not under guardianship up to two thousand dollars.

552-A:20 to 26 inc. It is recommended that provisions in regard to "Elective Share of Surviving Spouse" be deleted. This has to do with the so-called "augmented estate" which would not limit the statutory share of the surviving spouse to the probate estate, but would include such inter vivos trusts, gifts, joint accounts, etc. The provisions would result in complications. There seems to be little support for this concept, and it might be better to consider this at a later time on the merits as a separate matter.

552-A:21 There is no reason why three witnesses are required to execute a Will. Many states permit two and it would seem advisable to accept two as sufficient.

552-A:22 is added. This would include the Uniform Probate Code provisions permitting allowance of a self-proving Will. Many times witnesses are out of state, deceased, or difficult to find which results in delay and expense. To prove a Will in common form, this provision would be helpful. The right to request re-examination of the probate and proof in solemn form is not interfered with.

552-A:37. "Disinterested" seems more appropriate to describe a witness than "Indifferent".

552-A:42. This provision is declaratory of our present law. It should be clear that it does not change it.

552-A:44. Many testators have tried to accomplish the distribution of tangible personal property by using stickers, tags, letters and memos. For these limited purposes, they should have a right to do so with proper safeguards.

552-A:47. It would seem to be advisable to make the law clear as to the exercise of powers of appointment. The last clause may open the door to conflicting claims as to whether the testator intended to exercise the power.

553-A:1. As proposed, there does not appear to be any provision for "exempt property" or "family allowance". Therefore, the reference should be deleted.

553-A:5. Care should be taken to retain present jurisdiction of the Superior Court until such time as the Probate Court is reconstituted.

553-A:14 Self-proving Wills should be recognized (see 552-A:22)

553-A:15. There should be no appeal until after proof in solemn form.

553-A:19. The suggested change eliminates what appears to be duplication. If there is a guardian ad litem, it is not necessary to appoint an agent.

553-A:23 The suggested change is to bring this Section in conformance with Section 53.

553-A35 I. It should be sufficient if the inventory is "True".

III. Fifteen months seems more realistic. State Inheritance Taxes are payable in fifteen months. Income Tax Returns have to be filed. There should be little harm in giving the personal representative ninety days additional.

553-A:54. As written, there is no exception for clothes or property of no value. It hardly seems necessary to include such items.

553-A:60 XXIV. This appears to be a duplication of Section 51.

553-A:96. It is difficult to understand the rationale behind this provision except perhaps in cases where there is a sufficient bond. It could leave a judgment creditor without any effective remedy if left as proposed.

553-A:118. It is very important that provision be made for prompt and effective settlement of small estates. Our present law is inadequate. Most estates under $5,000 (which is equal to the present cost of many automobiles) where real estate is not involved and there are no disputed claims, should be settled without the necessity of employing an attorney. This provision is one of the most desirable and would replace the proposed provisions which are more restrictive.

553-A:121. Eliminate "exempt property" and "family allowance" see above.

555-A:16. This section is added in recognition of the fact that a ward may not be wholly incompetent at all times. With drugs and out-patient facilities, there are many people who may be suffering from mental illness of one kind or another who nevertheless can carry on many activities on their own and actually do so. The guardian should not have to authorize every act or commitment of the ward. It may be beneficial to the ward to be able to do some things for himself. Our present laws do not recognize this limited ability to carry on a business or to carry out day-to-day transactions of a routine nature. The suggested provisions would be a protection to the guardian and to the ward.

555-A:37. As written, it is not clear that the person might request the appointment of a particular person.

557-A. At present, there appears to be no need to bring all inter vivos trusts under the jurisdiction of the Probate Court. Charitable trusts are regulated under the Tax Reform Act of 1969 and are subject to review of the Director of Charitable Trusts. Therefore, this Chapter should be eliminated.

RELATIVE TO CRIMES OCCURRING IN THE COURSE OF LABOR DIFFICULTIES

HOUSE BILL 889 (1975)

NOT RECOMMENDED

House Bill 889 establishes the crime of willful destruction of property and provides that this crime will be a Class A felony. The gist of the proposed criminal offense would be the willful damage to property to the extent of $2,000 or more of an employer or an owner upon whose property construction or other work is being performed. This bill further provides that the new proposed crime and the crime of theft by extortion may occur notwithstanding the fact that the acts constituted in these crimes occurred in the course of legitimate labor disputes or in pursuit of legitimate labor ends or objectives.

The public hearing regarding this bill seemed to focus on the allegation of the proponents that in most states the police are reluctant or fail to enforce the law when labor disputes are in progress. There is no evidence or testimony that passage of this law would in any way resolve that problem. Currently, RSA634:2, Criminal Mischief, provides that any person who purposely or recklessly damages property of another is guilty of a Class B felony if the loss is in excess of $1,000 or if the actor causes or attempts to cause a substantial interruption or impairment of public communication, transportation, supply of water, gas, or power or other public service. Certainly the current law has a lower threshold of damage, to wit, $1,000. Further, the difference between a Class A felony and a Class B felony is that the former permits the court to fix a sentence of imprisonment for a maximum of fifteen years, while the latter permits a sentence of imprisonment for a maximum of seven years.

There being no real evidence or testimony showing a real need for this type of statute in New Hampshire, it is the recommendation of the subcommittee that the current statutes are sufficient to punish crimes occurring during the course of labor difficulties and that this proposed enactment is not necessary.

RELATING TO PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATIONS

BETWEEN A CLERGYMAN AND HIS

PARISHIONER

HB 644 (1975)

NOT RECOMMENDED

HOUSE BILL 644, AN ACT relative to privileged communications between a clergyman and his parishioner was referred to the Judicial Council for consideration and report. The Council held a public hearing on the matter on November 21, 1975, at which several witnesses were heard. The bill is broad in scope. A "clergyman" is defined as being "a minister, priest, rabbi, or other similar functionary of a religious organization", and also as "an individual reasonably believed so to be by the person consulting him". The bill provides that a person has a privilege to refuse to disclose and to prevent anyone else from disclosing a confidential communication by the person to a clergyman in his professional character as spiritual advisor. The bill also provides that "the privilege may be claimed by the person, by his guardian or conservator, or by his personal representative if he is deceased"; additionally, "the clergyman may claim the privilege on behalf of the person".

Traditionally in New Hampshire privileges not to testify have been granted cautiously and reluctantly. Thus the communications between a physician and his patient were not privileged until as late as 1969. RSA 329:26 (Supp. 1975); Laws 1967, 368:1. See State v. Davis, 108 N.H.45, 226 A 873 (1967); Mr. Loughlin, Trial Practice 105-06 (1975). As Wigmore has pointed out a privilege to clergymen did not exist at common law and has been recognized generally by virtue of statutory enactments or rules of courts. (J. Wigmore, Evidence 2394, 2395 (McNaughton rev. 1961); Reese, Confidential Communications to the Clergy, 24 Ohio State L.J. 55(1963). (1963)

It may be noted that the Maine Rules of Evidence promulgated by the Supreme Judicial Court effective February 2, 1976, has a religious privilege similar to the one contained in House Bill 644, Maine Rules of Evidence 505. McCormick makes the following observation: "This desire for reenforcement of traditional privilege is illustrated by the privilege for communication between the penitent and the priest. All but four of the fifty States now have the privilege by statute, over twenty of them having enacted statutes within the past fifteen years". C. McCormick, Evidence 158 (2d ed. 1972).

We conclude that the bill has merit and is entitled to consideration by the legislature. However, we feel a duty to point out that the legislature passed a comprehensive statute in 1975 for licensed pastoral counselors. RSA ch 330-B (Supp. 1975) (Laws 1975, 272:1 effective August 5, 1975). Section 15 of that chapter reads as follows:

"Privileged Communications. The confidential relations and communications between a pastoral counselor licensed under this chapter and his client are placed on the same basis as those provided by law between attorney and client, and nothing in this chapter shall be construed to require any such privileged communications to be disclosed."

Inasmuch as this statute and the board created thereunder have only been in existence for a few months, the legislature may wish to consider its effectiveness after a longer trial period than has elapsed to date. It may not be desirable to enact House Bill 644 until consideration has been given to the success of RSA ch. 330-B (Supp. 1975).

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

TO SEARCH WARRANT STATUTE

The present search warrant statute, RSA 595-A:6, indicates a legislative intent to restore to lawful owners stolen property as soon after trial as may be, but it fails to provide a method for the reasonably prompt return of private property in case of protracted trials or appeals which may take several years to resolve. Moreover, no provision exists for introducing alternative evidence in lieu of bulky articles themselves, such as stolen vehicles, boats, or furniture, or in lieu of items of high value, such as jewelry or substantial amounts of money. This proposed amendment is intended to cure this failure. In most cases, admitting evidence of the recording of serial numbers or other distinctive marks of indicia, and photographs of the items involved would eliminate the cost and inconvenience of safekeeping and storage by governmental authorities. By permitting secondary evidence such as photographs to be admissible at trial, the serious imposition to victims of crime of continued deprivation of property would be avoided.

Illustrative of the present problem is Gralyn Furniture, Inc. vs. Frederic Cox, Carroll County Superior Court, decided by Douglas, J. March 22, 1976, and reported in New Hampshire Law Weekly, Vo. 2, No. 44, p. 289, permitting a civil suit against a county attorney by the owner to recover a stolen camper trailer held as evidence against an indicted defendant who, prior to trial, had fled the jurisdiction. The trailer owner contended the refusal of the county attorney to return the trailer constituted an unlawful taking of property without his consent and without compensation, in violation of the New Hampshire Constitution, Part First, Article 12 and the Federal Constitution. In permitting the county attorney to retain the trailer for an additional period to afford an opportunity to apprehend the defendant so he could be tried, the Court pointed out the present unsatisfactory status of the law in resolving conflicting rights of a private owner and the rights of the prosecutor as representative of the public.

Apart from the present limited relief of the search warrant statute, there appears to be no other statutory or common law mechanism by which property of evidential value, which comes into the hands of the authorities whether through a search warrant or otherwise, is restored to lawful owners. There are many cases by which stolen property is recovered without a search warrant, for example: search incident to arrest; search by consent, property abandoned in flight, or stolen property recovered from a person who obtained it from a thief.

The present search warrant statute should be broadened to provide an alternative to the command to "seize and safely keep (such articles) as long as necessary to permit them to be produced or used as evidence at any trial." At the same time, provision should be made for similar property which comes into the hands of the authorities other than by a search warrant.

The reluctance of prosecutors to part with custody of stolen property rests in part upon the prospect of a defendant invoking at a subsequent trial the "best evidence" exclusionary rule: that is, before introducing a copy or photograph, the nonproduction of the original must be satisfactorily explained. In close cases of identification or where value is relevant, as in the degrees of larceny, RSA 637:11, it may be contended that the constitutional right to confront, and adequately cross-examine, accusing witnesses requires production by the state of the original items of property on which they are to be confronted. However, these would appear to be but a minor portion of the total cases involved and could be easily resolved, where the defendant is ascertained and has an attorney, by a preliminary hearing limited to the issue of identification and value. Where the defendant is unknown or cannot be apprehended and brought before the court, the constitutional problem is not so readily solved. However, should the innocent victim of crime be indefinitely deprived of his property on the chance that the authorities may ultimately discover the perpetrators of the crime and apprehend them so that they may be prosecuted? A balancing of interests would be served by permitting the court to appoint a guardian ad litem, in the case of an unknown or unapprehended criminal defendant, for the limited purpose of identifying and determining the value of property where relevant, and thereafter permitting the introduction of photographs or other secondary evidence at a possible future trial.

Passage of the proposed Bill is recommended.

RELATIVE TO SUPERVISION OF BAIL
BONDSMEN BY THE INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

SENATE BILL 46 (1975)

RECOMMENDED WITH AMENDMENT

This bill transfers the supervision over professional bondsmen from the Superior Court to the Insurance Commissioner. Except for the transfer of supervision, the proposed Bill is basically the same as the existing law. (RSA 598-A)

As the law is presently administered, each professional bondsman desiring to write bonds in any county must register with the Superior Court of that county and pay an annual fee of $100.00 to the county. If a bondsman wishes to do business in all 10 counties, he must register with the Superior Court of each county and pay a fee of $100.00 to each county for a total of $1,000.00. Each year he must file a "Petition for Approval as Professional Bondsman" and a "Statement of Net Worth" in each county. He must also file with each county a "Monthly Report of Bondsman" setting forth a list of outstanding bonds in the state. This report includes the county, name of person bonded, date bond issued, and the amount of the bond.

Although fidelity, guaranty, and surety companies are excluded from the provisions of RSA 598-A, most of the ten to fifteen professional bondsmen are connected, in some way, with a surety company and do in fact register with the Superior Courts.

The registration and supervision of professional bondsmen should be under the direction of a single agency instead of the Superior Court in each of ten counties.

Senate Bill 46 has the strong endorsement of the Justices of the Superior Court, the Clerks of the Superior Court and the present Acting Insurance Commissioner.

Senate Bill 46 is recommended for approval with the following suggested amendments:

(1) There should be a penalty provision for those found in violation of the professional bondsman statute or any rule established by the Insurance Commissioner. Such crime should be classified as a misdemeanor, whether a natural person or any other person (such as a corporation).

(2) Each professional bondsman, whether connected with a surety company or not, should be required to pay an annual registration fee of $300.00 to the Insurance Commissioner for the right to do business in the State of New Hampshire.

(3) Pertinent portions of Rule 92 of the Superior Court should either be included in the statute or be issued as a rule of the Commissioner. Such portions include the maximum fee of 10% plus travel that a bondsman may charge, a statement of the life span of each bond, and the requirement of filing of various reports.

It is suggested that the effective date be September 1 since bondsmen are presently required to register on that date. This would allow an orderly transition of control from the courts to the Insurance Commissioner.

(4) A provision should be made requiring all courts to notify the Insurance Commissioner of any alleged misconduct on the part of any professional bondsman.

(5) RSA 598-A:2 should be amended by inserting after the word "satisfy" in the second sentence the words "a default." and by deleting the remaining portion of 598-A:2 so that the section as amended reads as follows:

598-A:2 Revocation: A person who has been accepted as bail or surety in violation of provisions of this chapter, shall nevertheless be liable on his bail or surety obligation. The approval and registration required under RSA 598-A:1 may be revoked at any time by the insurance commissioner for cause, and it shall be revoked if a bondsman fails for thirty days after demand to satisfy a default judgment under RSA 597-33.

Under the present system if a bondsman defaults he is immediately notified by the Clerk that he should satisfy the default, otherwise it will be recommended that his registration be revoked. We know of no recorded cases, at least in the last few years, where a default judgment under RSA 597:33 has been rendered. Under RSA 597-31 the County Attorney takes action to obtain a judgment against the bondsman. The suggested amendment makes clear that RSA 597:33 need not be invoked to compel a revocation, but it does not pre-empt the use of RSA 597:33.

RELATIVE TO ESTABLISHING A FULL TIME DISTRICT COURT SYSTEM IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

SENATE BILL 122 (1975)
PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CREATE A
STATE DISTRICT COURT SYSTEM FOR CHESHIRE AND MERRIMACK COUNTIES

RECOMMENDED WITH AMENDMENT

Senate Bill 122 creates a statewide single district court for the State of New Hampshire, staffed by full time judges and court personnel. This bill incorporates the provisions of the draft proposed by the Governor's Commission on Court System Improvement, printed in the September, 1974, edition of the New Hampshire Bar Journal (16 N.H.B.J.22), which draft was studied and recommended by the Judicial Council in 1974 (The Fifteenth Biennial Report of the Judicial Council of the State of New Hampshire, pages 9 - 13). In 1975 a proposed amendment to S.B. 122 was filed and the matter was referred back to the Senate Judiciary Committee. This proposed amendment, published in the Legislative Calendar at pages 43 - 49, is entitled: "An Act to create a state district court system for Cheshire and Merrimack Counties, with full time judges, clerks and other personnel as state supported courts."

The intent of the proposed amendment is stated in Section 2 thereof as follows:

"Declaration of Legislative Intent. It is the intent of this bill to provide a gradual method of instituting full time district court judges in all district courts of the state ... by a series of steps. The timing of the steps would be such that would allow full scrutiny of the full time courts created .... (hereby)..."

The plan is to create full time courts initially in Cheshire and Merrimack Counties, and thereafter, at annual intervals, in Carroll, Coos and Grafton Counties, in Belknap, Strafford and Sullivan Counties, and finally in Hillsborough and Rockingham Counties.

The proposed amendment creates three such full time courts in Cheshire and Merrimack Counties. Five judges, two at large and three who are residents of the particular judicial district or division thereof, are to be appointed. Present full time judges in these counties are retained, and a chief judge is to be appointed from among them by the chief justice of the supreme court. Judges are to receive a salary of $30,000.00 per year.

They are required to be lawyers. There is a provision that there be a ratio of one judge per 50,000 persons. The chief judge shall appoint a combined administrator and fiscal officer, with the advice of the chief justice of the supreme court. All fines and forfeitures paid into court are paid into the State Treasury, and the state treasurer shall place the money so received into the general fund. The provisions of S.B. 122 for a non-lapsing district court fund and a reserve fund are eliminated. In general, the provisions of Section 1 of S.B. 122 relating to the appointment of judges, the times and places of court sessions within Cheshire and Merrimack Counties, jurisdiction, search warrants, clerks, court records, etc., are retained.

The proposed amendment strikes all following section 1 of S.B. 122. A new section 2 contains the legislative intent cited above, while a new section 3 provides for the appropriation to be paid from the treasury of the state of the sums required for the operation of the state system in Cheshire and Merrimack Counties for the first fiscal year. As in S.B. 122, towns and cities are to be reimbursed $20.00 per day for each police officer attending court on official business.

The Judicial Council continues to support the concept of a full time, state supported district court system in New Hampshire. Upon consideration, it seems wise to make a gradual transition from the present system to a full time system in a manner proposed by this amendment, which affords the opportunity for that transition to be made in light of experience gained from the actual operation of such full time state courts in a limited area, and which avoids the abolition of all present district and municipal courts on the same date throughout the State.

In this regard, the committee feels that counties other than Cheshire and Merrimack should be given the opportunity to convert to the full time system in advance of the dates specified in the bill, and the bill should be amended accordingly. Further, the committee feels that there should be a thorough and realistic study of the sums in Section 3 to be appropriated for the operation of the state court system in Cheshire and Merrimack Counties. Finally, it is felt that provision should be made in the event this proposed amendment fails of passage, to (1) establish the salaries of the present full time district court judges at $30,000.00 per year; and (2) provide for the appointment of a chief judge of the district and municipal courts as presently constituted, such judge to be selected from among those district judges who are presently serving full time.

The proposed amendment to Senate Bill 122 with amendments as suggested above is recommended for passage.

The full text of 1975 SB 122 and its proposed amendment are omitted because of their length. A bill embodying the recommendations of the Judicial Council will be submitted to the Senate Judiciary Committee, which now has the bill for study.

COMPUTING THE NUMBER OF SUPERIOR COURT JUSTICES

SB 296 (1975)

The number of superior court justices in the state is set at a ratio of one justice for every sixty thousand persons in the state as determined by the most recently published U.S. Statistical Abstract. (RSA 491:1)

This bill would lower the ratio of justices to population to one justice for every fifty-five thousand persons, as determined by the most recent population estimate to be included in the next U.S. Statistical Abstract.

The Judicial Council, since 1968, has recommended that the number of superior court justices increase in proportion to population increases. The current unpublished statistics of backlogs in superior court indicates that the present day complexity of society produces increased litigation, and that the present ratio of justices to population does not produce enough justices to handle the case load.

The use of the phrase "Population estimate prepared for inclusion in the Statistical Abstract: rather than the "most recently published Statistical Abstract" is to overcome a time lag between the preparation of the estimate and its publication in the Abstract.

Favorable action on the proposed legislation is recommended.

ALLOWING A PERSON TO APPLY FOR ANNULMENT OF A RECORD
OF CONVICTION AND SENTENCE TO IMPRISONMENT REGARDLESS OF HIS AGE
WHEN THE CRIMINAL ACT WAS COMMITTED.

HB 408 (1975)

NOT RECOMMENDED

RSA 651:5, part of the Criminal Code which became effective in 1973, provides that sentencing courts may annul the records of conviction and sentence of three classes of convicted criminals:

- those sentenced to probation or conditional discharge who have complied with the conditions of the sentence;
- those sentenced to unconditional discharge who for two years after sentencing have been convicted of no crimes other than traffic offenses; and
- those sentenced to imprisonment for crimes committed when they were under twenty-one, who for three years after release have been convicted of no offenses other than traffic offenses.

H.B. 408 would remove the limitation that anyone actually sentenced to imprisonment may be eligible to apply for annulment of record only if he committed the criminal act in question before reaching the age of twenty-one; the bill would extend the possibility of annulment to anyone imprisoned, whatever his age when he committed the crime. The Judicial Council recommends against passage of the bill.

There are two assumptions of policy justifying the present annulment provisions. First, annulment ought to be available to those whose conduct is not so seriously blameworthy as to justify incarceration. Second, annulment ought to be available to the comparatively young offender who commits no further crime for a time following his release. Conversely, the scope of the present annulment provisions presupposes that it is not unreasonable for the public to have access to the record of comparatively serious proven criminal acts of those twenty-one or older, and it presupposes the judgment that the burden of such a record is not an unreasonable one to impose upon the criminal. No majority of the members of the Judicial Council can be mustered to challenge these two presuppositions, and some of the members believe strongly that they represent wise judgments about what the consequences of criminal acts should include.

In expressing its disfavor of H.B. 408, the members of the Council have been mindful of the eligibility of anyone convicted of a crime to seek a pardon from the Governor and Council when the applicant can present an unusually meritorious claim to lighten the usual consequences of criminal conviction. With the pardon process available in the unusual case, the Council would wish for a longer period of actual experience under the present law before giving thought to broadening eligibility to seek annulment.

MANDATING THAT CERTAIN COURT ORDERS REQUIRE EXECUTION AND RECORDING OF DEEDS.

SENATE BILL 188 (1975)

RECOMMENDED WITH CHANGES

Senate Bill 188 would amend RSA 491, Superior Court powers, and RSA 547, Probate Courts, by directing that any court order which requires the transfer of or change in ownership in real estate, require also that a deed be executed and recorded at the registry of deeds for the county in which the property is recorded. The purpose of the proposed statutory change, according to its sponsor, is to assist towns in the taxation of property. Personal property subject to taxation under RSA 72:15, such as boats and certain vehicles, would also be required to be transferred by a bill of sale executed and recorded at the registry of deeds.

Probably the most frequent type of cases involving court orders which affect title or ownership of real estate are divorces where a residence or other real estate is awarded to one spouse or the other. Other representative cases are boundary line disputes, bills to quiet title, suits for specific performance of real estate contracts, petitions for partition among common owners and disputes over wills devising real estate or the rights of surviving spouses.

In a similar vein, Chapter 428 of the 1975 Session Laws added a new section to RSA 477 as follows:

477:3-a Recording. Every deed or other conveyance of real estate and every court order or other instrument which affects title to any interest in real estate, except probate records and tax liens which are by law exempt from recording, shall be recorded at length in the registry of deeds for the county or counties in which the real estate lies and such deed, conveyance, court order or instrument shall not be effective as against bona fide purchasers for value until so recorded.

While the 1975 law, if followed would make available the information necessary for the taxing authorities to keep abreast of changes in ownership, the proposed amendment offers a more certain means of accomplishing the same purpose. A bill of sale affecting personal property would be more appropriately recorded at the town clerk's office.

In most instances divorce pleadings lack sufficient detail to allow the Court to fashion a decree clearly documenting the transfer even if the decree were recorded at the registry of deeds. It seems inefficient to require the recording "at length" of a divorce decree or other court order that may only incidentally touch upon the transfer of title or make a change in ownership.

For that matter, requiring the recording "at length" of any such instrument which affects title to real estate is often an over-kill approach and contrary to the general legislative intent reflected in the recent enactment of RSA 477:7-a, permitting recording of a short form notice of lease. With many types of documents the recording of a certified extract of a voluminous trust instrument or other similar document -- those portions specifically relating to title -- would seem to be all that is actually required. The understandable reluctance of parties to display to public view the business details and conditions of a commercial document, such as a lease, exists also with private type documents, such as family or inter vivos trusts and divorce decrees. Also the sheer volume of paperwork being recorded at registries, together with the problem of storage and retrieval, supports the concept of permitting recordation of abbreviated information.

For this reason, and to avoid potential litigation which might be caused by the present wording of RSA 477:3-a, where certain purchasers could avoid the effect of a court decree until said decree was "recorded" at the registry, changes are suggested to coordinate the wording of RSA 477:3-a with what we presume to have been the intent of the General Court.

Lastly, provision should be made for dealing with those situations where a party is absent from the state and cannot be compelled to execute a deed, such as a deserting spouse.

Passage of the Bill is recommended with the amendments as shown below:

REVISION OF SENATE BILL 188

1. Superior Court Order Transferring Property. Amend RSA 491 by inserting after section 23 the following new section:

491:24 Property Transfers; Order, Recording.

I. Any court order which requires the transfer of title to real estate, quiets title, settles a boundary line dispute, or otherwise substantially changes ownership to real estate shall require, wherever practicable, that a deed be executed to reflect such change and that the deed, or if no deed, a certified extract of that portion of the court order affecting title, be recorded with the registry of deeds in the county in which said real estate is located. In the absence or incompetence of a party, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem or commissioner to execute a deed in his stead.

II. Any court order which requires a change in the ownership of personal property subject to taxation under RSA 72:15 shall require that a bill of sale be executed to effect such transfer and that the bill of sale be recorded with the town clerk in the town in which the transferee resides.

2. Probate Court Order Transferring Property. Amend RSA 547 by inserting after section 3 the following new section:

547:3-a Property Transfers; Order, Recording.

1. Any court order which requires the transfer of title to real estate, quiet title, settles a boundary line dispute, or otherwise substantially changes ownership to real estate shall require, wherever practicable, that a deed be executed to reflect such change and that the deed, or if no deed, a certified extract of that portion of the court order affecting title, be recorded with the registry of deeds in the county in which said real estate is located. In the absence or incompetence of a party, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem or commissioner to execute a deed in his stead.

II. Any court order which requires a change in the ownership of personal property subject to taxation under RSA 72:15 shall require that a bill of sale be executed to effect such transfer and that the bill of sale be recorded with the town clerk in the town in which the transferee resides; if the transferee is a nonresident, said bill of sale shall be recorded with the town clerk in the town where the personal property is located.

III. Amend RSA 477:3-a (supp) by striking out said section and inserting in place thereof the following:

477:3-a Recording. Every deed, other instrument and court order which affects title to any interest in real estate, except probate records and tax liens which are by law exempt from recordation, shall be recorded at sufficient length to identify the property, its location, the parties involved, and the interest transferred or affected, in the registry of deeds for the county or counties in which the real estate lies and such deed, conveyance, court order or instrument shall not be effective as against bona fide purchasers for value, without notice, until so recorded.

3. Effective Date. This act shall take effect sixty days after its passage.

RULES OF THE DISTRICT AND MUNICIPAL COURTS ADOPTED

The Administrative Committee of District and Municipal Courts recommended to the Supreme Court that the Supreme Court adopt a series of rules for the district and municipal courts. These rules were in the area of General, Criminal, Civil, Landlord and Tenant, and Small Claims. The rules were adopted by the Supreme Court on May 27, 1975, and on February 3, 1976, for a one year period or until the rules were permanently adopted. The rules were permanently adopted November 19, 1976, effective January 15, 1977.

The Administrative Committee of District and Municipal Courts has a standing committee for the study and revision of these rules.

ATTORNEY FEES FOR REPRESENTING INDIGENT DEFENDANTS

By footnote to the budget, Laws 1975, Chapter 505, 1.01, 04, 04, 90, the Legislature passed a law which limits the attorney's fees for representing indigent defendants to the following schedule.

Preparation of case	$10.00 an hour
For time in court	$15.00 an hour
Minimum in any one case	$25.00 an hour

The 1975 general fund line item of $242,000 for the payment of attorneys in indigent defendant cases was depleted on December 8, 1975.

The 1976 Special Session of the Legislature by Laws 1976, 19:5, appropriated an additional $250,000 for the payment of attorneys representing indigent defendants for the balance of Fiscal Year 1976. $277,000 is budgeted for Fiscal Year 1977.

Number of days in session	131	101	148	54	120	798	187	650	245	60	2,494

* These figures only show the actual number of days a Justice was present in a Court House and presiding. They are not intended to indicate the amount of time spent by the Justices in fulfilling such requirements as the study of evidence and law prior to a decision, perfecting appeals to the Supreme Court, administrative work incidental to Court and County. The Judicial Council estimates that Justice in the Superior Court is required to spend approximately the same amount of time in the performance of such duties as he does in presiding.
