PREFACE

On May 8, 1972 the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) of the Department of Justice, established a Comprehensive Data System (CDS) Program. Jerris Leonard, Administrator of LEAA, stated:

"One of the problems facing the criminal justice system is a lack of sound, reliable data for planning, implementation, and evaluation of improvement programs in many areas."

"To improve criminal justice planning and action programs, we need better information in such vital areas as the incidence of crime, the effect of correction on recidivism, and the nature and scope of criminal justice operations and expenditures."

The objectives of the CDS Program are:

"To assist the states in establishing an integrated criminal justice information and statistics system and to encourage uniformity in the reporting of information state-to-state and on the national level."

"To collect systematically and report criminal justice information and statistics so as to provide uniform and reliable data on a year-to-year, state-to-state, agency-to-agency, and national basis. Criminal justice information collected and analyzed in this manner will provide a wider range of significant information of higher reliability to agency directors and managers, to operational personnel, to the public, to governmental decision makers, and to those charged with the responsibility of research and planning for a more effective and efficient criminal justice system."

"To eliminate unnecessary duplication of data collections. This is an important benefit from a single national system, while reserving significant latitude to the states in going beyond the minimum criteria."

Under CDS guidelines the Statistical Analysis Center (SAC) is the first component to be established. The ultimate purpose of the SAC Unit is to analyze statistical data concerning the administration of criminal justice agencies at all levels of government within the state. Results of this analysis are disseminated to the appropriate criminal justice agencies, planning units, legislative and judicial branches of the state.

The SAC Unit in Kansas is associated with the State Planning Agency (SPA), the Governor's Committee on Criminal Administration (GCCA). By placing the SAC Unit in the SPA the intent has been to remove SAC organizationally from an operational criminal justice agency, hence assuring objectivity in the analysis and presentation of data.

As GCCA has a cross-agency and cross-branch composition so does the SAC have an advisory committee representing all segments of the criminal justice process. This committee meets on a periodic basis to hear reports on the activities of the SAC as well as to serve as a sounding board for SAC projects and as a forum for cross agency problems and cooperation.

The purpose of the SAC operation is to provide the State of Kansas with the following:

- *Objective interpretive analysis of criminal justice data, including that collected by the various line operating agencies.
- *Generate statistical reports on crime and on the processing of criminal offenders in support of planning and operational criminal justice agencies.
- *Technical assistance in the development of the CDS program in the state.
- *Collect, analyze, and disseminate management and administrative statistics on the criminal justice resources expended in the state.
- *Promote the orderly development of criminal justice information and statistical systems in the state.
- *Uniform data on criminal justice processes for the preparation of national statistical reports.

In order to perform the analytic and interpretive functions that are its charge, a primary focus of the SAC Unit is to foster cooperation and facilitate coordination of the various data collection processes in the state. Toward this end the following publication has been developed.

INTRODUCTION

The decentralized nature of the Kansas criminal justice system, and the local character of the incidence of crime itself evoke a seemingly fragmentary approach to dealing with crime and criminal justice in the state of Kansas. This environment lends a certain amorphousness to the concept of the Kansas criminal justice system, and, as a result, mitigates against comprehensive system analyses.

Individual agencies and organizations within the criminal justice system are readily identifiable, and agencies of similar goals and responsibilities are engaged in cooperative endeavors. Yet as the goals of the many agencies necessarily become more specialized the responsibilities and resources that specialization itself creates causes a narrowing of awareness to the overall mission of the Kansas criminal justice system. Hence, a sense of the overall participation and the resources available among the many agencies becomes nebulous to individual users.

In an effort to clarify the extent of participation in the criminal justice system, the Statistical Analysis Center of the Governor's Committee on Criminal Administration has prepared the Directory of Kansas Criminal Justice Agencies, Organizations and Resources. Intended as a compendium of state, local, public and private organizations that impact on the criminal justice system, this reference has been compiled in an effort to advance cross-agency information sharing, to reduce duplication by heightening awareness of existing facilities and programs, and to promote integrated criminal justice planning.

Viewed as an initial compilation to be expanded as further information is gathered, the Directory itself is arranged alphabetically in subject-related areas listing the agency, address, and telephone number as currently available. Names of individuals were excluded to avoid the confusion caused by personnel changes. The Directory will be updated as changes warrant.
