ADMINISTRATIVE DIRECTOR

“Only by the adoption of sound administrative practices will the courts be able to meet the increased and increasing burdens placed on them. The time has passed when the court system will carry its load ‘if each judge does his job.’ There must also be organization and system so as to leave the judge to his job of judging.”

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger

INTRODUCTION

Judicial statistics are unique. Caution should be exercised in their interpretation. The actual amount of judicial activity or output is extremely hard to quantify. Judges spend much of their time counseling, researching, traveling, and performing administrative tasks. These cannot be readily shown quantitatively. Moreover, no two cases are exactly alike although statistically they are considered equal. One case may be quite simple and disposed of rapidly, whereas another, an extremely complicated one, may require much more judicial time and energy.

With due regard to the uniqueness of judicial statistics and to the constraints faced, the 1977 Annual Report on the Judiciary attempts to describe the basic workload and activities of the Oklahoma judicial service. There are many statistical analyses which would be neither practical nor possible to include in one document. This report contains "raw" data from which many analyses other than those presented could be made.

The Report on the Judiciary is divided into six major sections (see the "Summary of Contents"). Each major section is further subdivided into sets of related data (see the "Table of Contents"). Each section and subsection is prefaced by an explanatory narrative which sheds more light on the information contained in the various charts and, hopefully, will aid in their interpretation.

The 1977 Report on the Judiciary was compiled and published by the Office of the Administrative Director of Courts under the direction of Marvin C. Emerson, Administrative Director of the Courts. The report is funded by a grant from the Oklahoma Crime Commission of funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The information compiled for the data in the 1977 Report on the Judiciary is reported by the calendar year with the exception of the financial data which is compiled on a fiscal year basis beginning July 1, and ending June 30, of the reporting year. The financial data for this edition is based on fiscal year 1977 accounting activity.

COURT STRUCTURE

OKLAHOMA JUDICIAL SYSTEM

In 1967 the Oklahoma electorate adopted a constitutional amendment (Article VII) revamping the entire judicial system. On January 13, 1969, Oklahoma's judicial branch was transformed into a streamlined statewide system both in terms of adjudicative and managerial organizational hierarchy.

Adjudicative Organization

Judicial power now stands vested in: the Senate, sitting as a court of impeachment; Supreme Court; Court of Criminal Appeals; Court of Appeals; Court on the Judiciary; State Industrial Court; Court of Bank Review; Court of Tax Review; district courts; and municipal courts. At the appellate level, the Supreme Court handles civil and the Court of Criminal Appeals, criminal appeals. The legislature established the Court of Appeals in 1971 to handle civil appeals assigned to it by the Supreme Court.

On the trial level, the state is presently divided into twenty-four judicial districts, each consisting of an entire county or several contiguous counties. The district court, our single-level trial bench of unlimited jurisdiction is staffed by judges of three ranks known as 1) district, 2) associate, and 3) special. Municipal courts (city-operated) survived, but are limited to city ordinance (including traffic) prosecutions and are subject to further alteration or abolition by the legislature.

The first two charts of this section illustrate "adjudicative organization" of Oklahoma's court system.

Managerial Organization

In order to institutionalize the judiciary as a service of government, new Article VII endowed the Supreme Court with managerial authority over all other courts. The Chief Justice exercises this authority with the assistance of an administrative director and staff.

The next ranking managerial authority in the hierarchy is the presiding judge. In each of the nine judicial administrative districts, the district and associate district judges elect one of their district judges as presiding judge. This election procedure is defined in the Rules on Administration of the Courts, adopted by the Supreme Court on January 9, 1969. Furthermore, these rules authorize the presiding judge to hold managerial meetings and to individually assign judges and support staff throughout his own judicial administrative district.

Subordinate to the presiding judge stands the chief judge, who marshals activities within his county. The chief judge must be a resident district judge. This assures the only resident district judge of being chief judge, the presiding judge designates who shall serve as chief judge or prescribes a rotation system. Rules on Administration of the Courts.

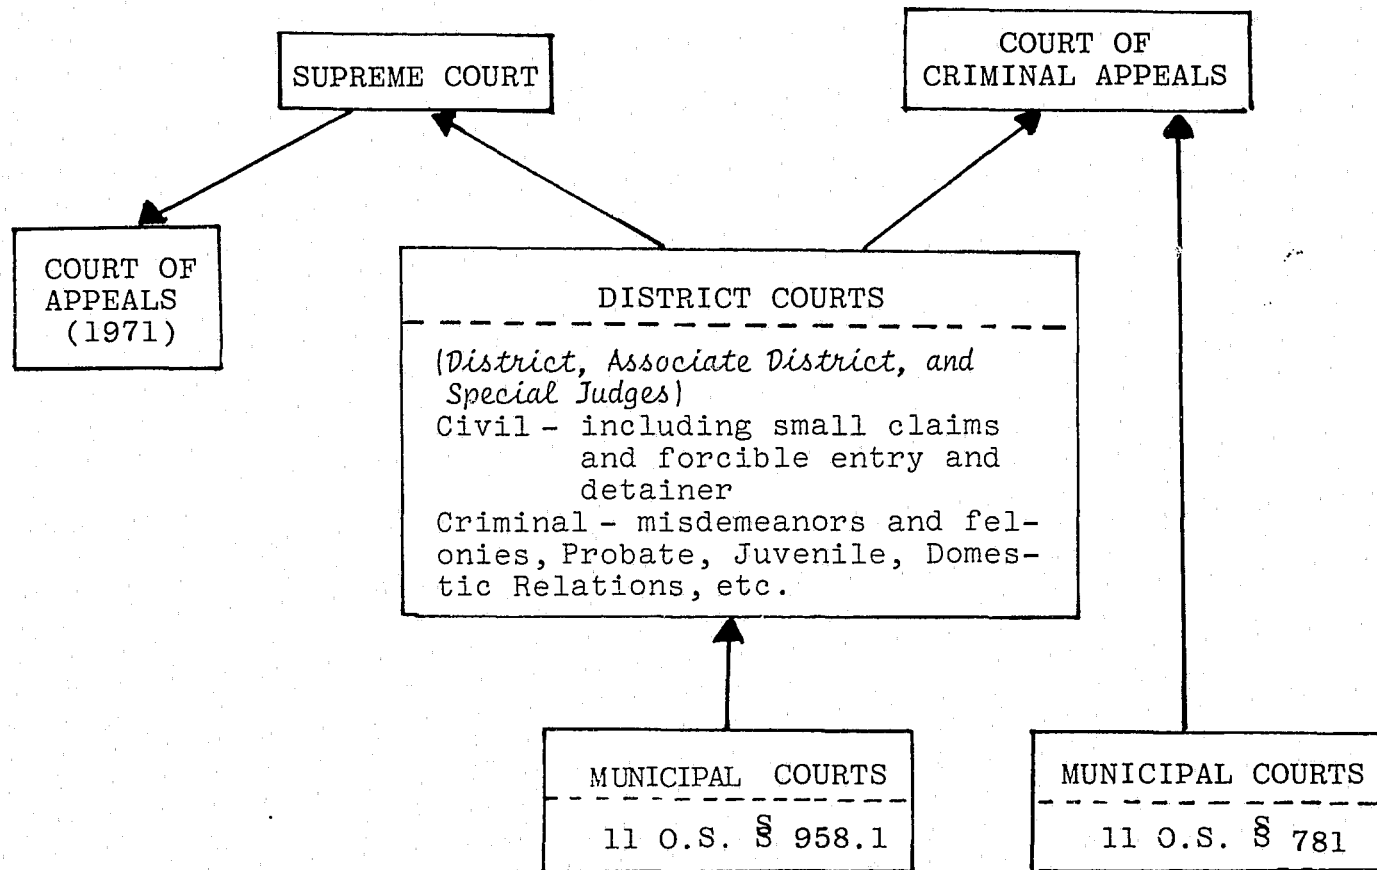

This tri-level management system permits local divergence at any of the three levels so long as no rule at a subordinate level counters a practice or order prescribed by the superior level. The third and fourth charts of this section illustrate this managerial framework.

JUDICIAL RETIREMENT SYSTEM

JUDICIAL RETIREMENT SYSTEM

The judicial retirement system, enacted during the 1968 session of the Oklahoma legislature, applies to judges of the Supreme Court, Court of Criminal Appeals, Court of Appeals, State Industrial Court and the District Court. The 1974 session of the Oklahoma legislature included the Administrative Director of the Courts as an eligible participant. 20 O.S. Supp. 1974 § 1109. Contribution to the retirement system is 5% of current monthly salary. If a judge leaves office before serving eight years, contributions are refunded. 20 O.S. Supp. 1976 § 1103.

The minimum retirement age is 55 after 15 years of service; 60 after 10; or 70 after 8. Credit is given for prior judicial service on any court of record. 20 O.S. Supp. 1974 § 1102A.

Retirement allowance is equal to 4½% of the retiring judge's salary based on pre-1971 compensation levels, times years of service to a maximum of ¾ of his salary. Benefits are suspended should a retired judge be elected or appointed to any political or judicial office and reinstated upon his leaving such office. If the judge dies before he collects retirement benefits contributions are paid to his beneficiary or estate.

Also in the 1974 session, survivor benefits were added for those spouses of deceased judges who had at least 10 years of service. 20 O.S. Supp. 1974 § 1102A. Contribution by judges electing survivor benefits is 8% of current monthly salary. 20 O.S. Supp. 1976 § 1103.

Judges may retire on grounds of physical or mental disability by decree of the Court on the Judiciary with their amount of retirement compensation set by that Court.

THE APPELLATE COURTS

EXPLANATORY NARRATIVE

This section provides statistical information on the appellate courts. There is two divisions: Supreme Court and Court of Appeals and Court of Criminal Appeals.

Supreme Court and Court of Appeals

A narrative on the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals precedes maps denoting electoral district boundaries for the justices and judges. The first statistical chart illustrates 1969 — 1977 caseload activity of the two courts. It includes the number and type of appeals filed and terminated in the Supreme Court, the number of cases assigned to and terminated in the Court of Appeals, and the cases pending in the Supreme Court as of December 31st of each year. The following bar graph shows the number of Supreme Court cases filed and terminated over the past eight years. The final chart spans seventy years of Supreme Court appeals. During 1977 the Supreme Court had 1,320 filed which was the most cases ever filed in any year since statehood.

Court of Criminal Appeals

This sub-division consists of a narrative on the Court of Criminal Appeals, a map of the electoral districts for its judges by counties and population as well as several statistical charts. The first statistical chart analyzes appeals terminated by the court and the method of their disposition. In 1977, 52.6% of the dispositions were by order and 47.4% by opinion. Of total cases filed in 1977, regular appeals accounted for 56.4%; post conviction appeals, 16.5%; and original proceedings, 27.1%. The remaining charts in this section illustrate: dispositions by type of offense, annual increase or decrease in backlog, and county of origin for cases filed and terminated in 1977.

SUPREME COURT AND COURT OF APPEALS

SUPREME COURT*

The Supreme Court consists of nine justices each of whom serves a six-year term. Retention is effected by a non-partisan, non-competitive statewide election. Vacancies are filled by gubernatorial appointment from the vacant Supreme Court Judicial District.

The Supreme Court's appellate jurisdiction includes all civil cases. The court may issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari, prohibition and other remedial writs. It is also vested with general superintendent and administrative control over all other courts in the state.

COURT OF APPEALS

The Court of Appeals consists of six judges, three in the Oklahoma City division, and three in the Tulsa division. One judge is elected from each of the six congressional districts by non-partisan ballot for a six-year term.

The Court of Appeals has power to dispose of all cases assigned to it by the Supreme Court. Decisions, when final, are neither appealable to the Supreme Court nor subject to re-examination by the other division of the Court of Appeals, but may be reviewed by the Supreme Court on certiorari. The court may issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, quo warranto, certiorari, prohibition or any other necessary process.

Supreme Court rules prescribe the court's procedure and practices, although the Court of Appeals may promulgate its own rules, not inconsistent with those of the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court clerk functions similarly for the Court of Appeals.

COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION

COURTS OF SPECIAL JURISDICTION

The Courts of Special Jurisdiction are the Court on the Judiciary, the State Industrial Court, the Court of Bank Review, and the Court of Tax Review. Narratives and lists of the 1977 judges precede information on 1977 activities. That activity is characterized by filings, terminations and pending actions, as well as dollar amounts of awards by the State Industrial Court.

COURT ON THE JUDICIARY*

The Court on the Judiciary consists of a trial and an appellate division, with nine judges per division. Each division selects one of its members as presiding judge.

The trial division may, for cause, (a) remove from office any judge, state or municipal, (b) compulsorily retire a judge, or (c) suspend a judge without pay for any time period. Either the defendant—judge or the specially appointed prosecutor may, within ten days of judgment, appeal the trial division's judgment to the appellate division.

THE DISTRICT COURTS

EXPLANATORY NARRATIVE

This section relates to the District Courts. The five parts of this section include: organizational framework and jurisdiction, statewide statistics, judicial district statistics, and "per judge" statistics. Caseload activity in each statistical analysis reflects four levels: 1) total litigation, 2) combined civil* and combined criminal litigation, 3) domestic, juvenile, probate, small claims, other civil, felony and misdemeanor litigation, and 4) different filing classifications under each litigation category.

Each group of charts in this section is prefaced by an explanation and an analysis. Statewide totals are reflected in the judicial district and county tables.

* Combined civil consists of domestic, probate, small claims, other civil, and juvenile litigation.

 Combined criminal consists of felony and misdemeanor litigation.

DISTRICT COURT

STATEWIDE DISTRICT COURT STATISTICS

CASES FILED, TERMINATED AND PENDING STATEWIDE IN 1977 BY LITIGATION CATEGORIES

The following charts illustrate the totals for cases filed, terminated and pending in 1977. As shown, misdemeanors account for over one-half of the total cases filed and terminated. This is primarily due to the traffic-related prosecutions which terminated very rapidly as compared to the length of time that is required for most civil, domestic and felony cases. The civil, domestic, and felony categories combined contribute almost one-fourth of the total cases filed and terminated.

STATEWIDE COMPARISON OF THE FIVE YEAR CASELOAD ACTIVITY

The following charts indicate the change in activity by litigation category of the cases filed, terminated, and pending as of the end of each year.

In 1977, all categories realized an increase in the number of cases filed as compared to 1976 activity. The increases varied from 14.9% in small claims to 0.2% in probate. In the comparison of the caseload activity from 1977 to 1973, all but one category realized an increase. The probate litigation decreased 12.2% in the five year comparison.

Analyzing the cases terminated from 1977 to 1976, reveals that only one category realized an increase in caseload termination. The domestic litigation category had an increase of 7.3%. However, in the five year comparison, only one category did not realize an increase. Probate litigation decreased 9.8%, which is also reflected by the decrease in cases filed for that year.

When comparing the 1977 pending totals to 1976, all categories reflected an increase. The increases ranged from 23.7% in small claims litigation to 10.1% in probate litigation. The five year comparison revealed similar increases, however, the range was from 142.6% in civil litigation to 34.3% in misdemeanor litigation.

STATEWIDE SUMMARY

The following charts were compiled from the 1977 Summary of District Court Activity Report filed by the Court Clerks from each of the 77 counties. The charts illustrate the statewide District Court activity in each of the seven litigation categories. Within each category is a relative aging of the pending cases at the end of the reporting year. Elements relating to population (according to the 1970 Census); the number of District Judges, Associate District Judges, and Special Judges; total number of lawyer for the state; license applications; jury data, miscellaneous filings, and other elements of judicial activity are also found in the charts. The data that appears in these charts shall be statistically manipulated in subsequent pages so that the impact of each of the elements to the total statewide District Court activity can be seen.

JUDICIAL DISTRICT SUMMARY

The following charts were compiled from the 1977 Summary of District Court Activity Report filed by the Court Clerks from each of the counties of the judicial district. The charts illustrate the District Court activity of the judicial district in each of the seven litigation categories. Within each category is a relative aging of the pending cases at the end of the reporting year. Elements relating to population (according to the 1970 Census); the number of District Judges, Associate District Judges, and Special Judges; total number of lawyers for the judicial districts; license applications; jury data, miscellaneous filings, and other elements of judicial activity are also found in the charts. The data that appears in these charts shall be statistically manipulated in subsequent pages so that the impact of each of the elements to the total District Court activity of the judicial district can be seen.

COUNTY SUMMARY

The following charts were compiled from the 1977 Summary of District Court Activity Report filed by the Court Clerks from each county. The charts illustrate the District Court activity for the county in each of the seven litigation categories. Within each category is a relative aging of the pending cases at the end of the reporting year. Elements relating to population (according to the 1970 Census); the number of District Judges, Associate District Judges, and Special Judges; total number of lawyer for the county; license applications; jury data, miscellaneous filings, and other elements of judicial activity are also found in the charts. The data that appears in these charts shall be statistically manipulated in subsequent pages so that the impact of each of the elements to the total District Court activity of the county can be seen.

PROJECTED FILINGS

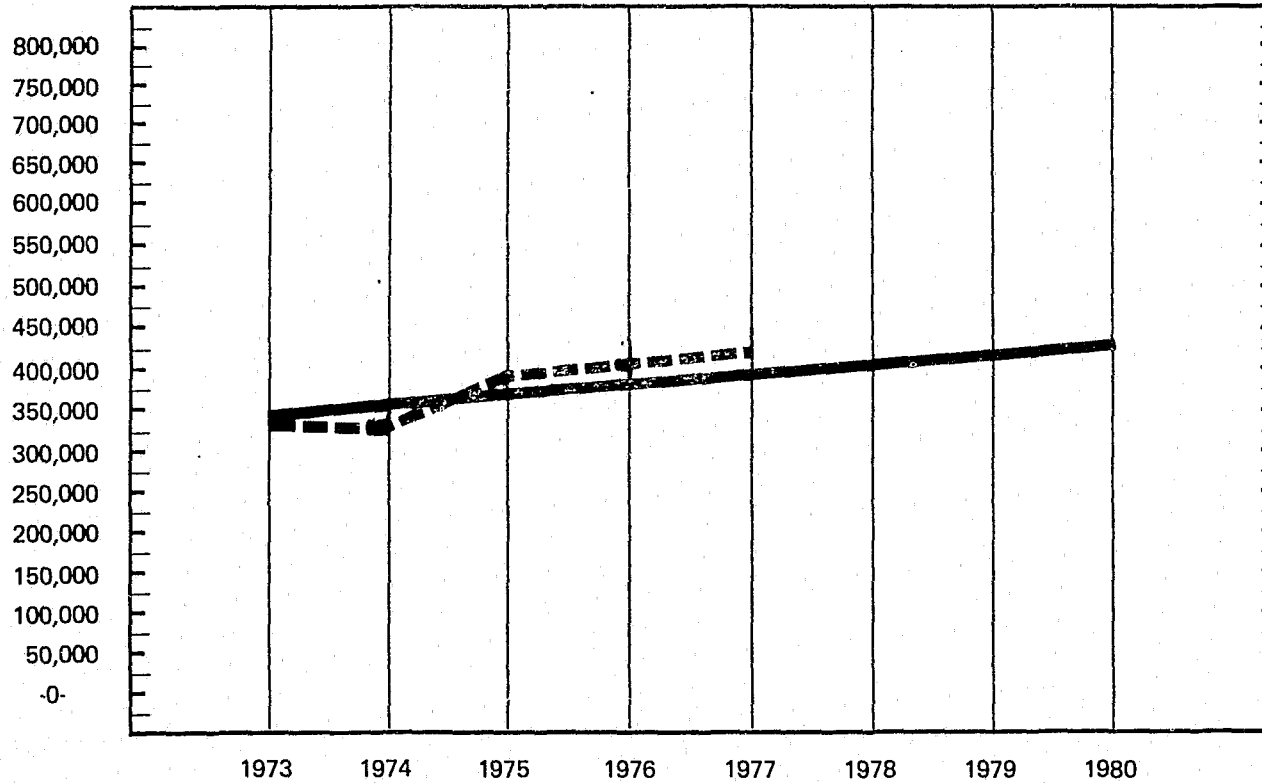

The following graphs project volume of filings for total statewide litigation, combined civil litigation, and combined criminal litigation. The projections result from a simple "straight line" regression equation which was developed from eight years of base data (1970 — 1977).

Projections, of course, are only valid so long as factors influencing the "base data" continue to affect it in exactly the same manner during all projected years.
