INTRODUCTION

This report is the 1978 edition of Court Management Statistics. It presents key workload and performance statistics for each United States court of appeals and each district court for the statistical years ending June 30, 1973 through 1978. The data are presented in a "statistical profile" format and all information pertaining to a particular court is contained on a single page.

Workload figures for the district courts are in "per judgeship" terms obtained simply by dividing the court's total caseload figures by its authorized judgeships. The courts of appeals figures are shown in "per panel" terms obtained by dividing the total caseload figures by the number of authorized three-judge panels. These computations allow individual judges to match their experience against judge performance averages in their own and other courts. Also, given this common denominator, caseloads in different size courts can be compared, with court size becoming almost irrelevant in the comparison.

On the last page are judiciary-wide caseload and performance averages for district courts. A similar national profile for courts of appeals is located on the last page of the circuit court section. The figures on these two pages can be regarded generally as helpful "norms" of federal judicial work at this time. However, in fairness, these averages should not be used to evaluate courts in which there are abnormal local circumstances such as long-term judgeship vacancies, an unusual number of long or difficult cases in process, or a relatively high number of senior judges augmenting regular judgeship strength.

The two following pages provide detailed explanations of the "statistical profiles." Pages 13 and 129 of this report present additional discussions of the changes which have been made this year, and a more complete explanation of specific workload statistics. Please refer to these pages before using the statistics in this report.

WHAT THE DISTRICT'S NUMERICAL STANDINGS MEAN

These show where a court's workload condition stands both in relation to other districts in the circuit and to all other districts in the country. All ninety-five districts have been mathematically arranged in a ranked order with respect to each of the indices of workload or performance found on the profile. For example, a given district — on a per judgeship basis — may have the nation's tenth highest number of filings but the 20th highest number of terminations and the 5th highest number of pending cases. If there is a tie at a particular standing, then each of the tied courts receives the same standing designation. All "workload" statistics are ranked in descending order (highest value receives rank of 1) and all other statistics are ranked in ascending order (lowest value is ranked first). In some cases fewer than 95 courts were ranked because some of the "profile" indices are not available for all courts.

UNITED STATES COURTS OF APPEALS - NATIONAL STATISTICAL PROFILE

ACTIONS PER PANEL

The workload statistics for the courts of appeals are presented as "actions per panel" as compared to the "actions per judgeship" profile used for the district courts. This type of profile provides a more accurate indication of the workload of an individual judge since appeals cases are generally handled by a panel of three judges rather than one.

TERMINATIONS AFTER HEARING OR SUBMISSION

In order to provide a greater measure of uniformity in the presentation of judicial workload, the selection criteria was revised in 1974 in respect to those cases considered terminated after oral hearing or submission. These criteria were the following:

1. filing of the complete record,
2. filing of briefs pursuant to Rule 28, Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure,
3. a reported date of either an oral hearing or submission, and
4. reported date of termination.

If a case reported terminated included the above data, it would be included in the "after hearing or submission" category. Any record deficient in any of the above would be included in the "without hearing or submission" group.

CASE PARTICIPATIONS

The data shown in this report under the "Case Participations" caption for 1975-1978 include participations in both orally argued appeals and appeals submitted on briefs. Prior to 1975 the data reflect only participations in orally argued cases.

For the purposes of the statistics in this report, a case participation by an individual judge is defined as an appeal in which the judge hears oral argument or where the appeal is submitted on briefs. Thus, where a single appeal is heard before a panel of three judges, the number of participations would be three.

CRIMINAL WORKLOAD STATISTICS

For the last three years, the district courts have included in the reporting of criminal cases the number of minor offense cases filed in the federal courts in addition the number of felony and misdemeanors above the minor offense level. This additional reporting results from the Speedy Trial Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-619) which requires the courts to maintain records on all offenses above the petty offense level. Since the majority of minor offense cases are handled by magistrates in the federal court and because this report is primarily a statistical statement reflecting the workload per authorized judgeship, the minor offense cases have been excluded from the 1976 through 1978 data. The exclusion of these cases from the workload statistics has been done in an effort to make the 1976 through 1978 data more comparable to previous years' data, which did not include most minor offense cases.

WEIGHTED FILINGS

The statistics shown under the "Weighted Filings" caption should be used with caution. There have been numerous changes in the statistical systems which will have an effect on the weighted filings index. In addition, the weights which are used to compute the index are becoming increasingly out-of-date. The weights were developed on the basis of a 1969 time study and many changes have occurred in the court system since that time. The Federal Judicial Center is now preparing revised weights for probable application to the 1979 statistics.

TRIAL DEFENDANTS IN PENDING CRIMINAL CASES

In 1976 the Administrative Office began maintaining data on the status of every criminal defendant whose case was pending at the end of the year. The data since 1976 shows the number of defendants considered triable; i.e., available for final plea or trial by judge or jury as of June 30 and the percentage of the total pending caseload accounted for by these defendants. The figures exclude defendants awaiting sentence, those committed for observation and study, and fugitive defendants. Also excluded are defendants who cannot be tried under applicable provisions of 18 U.S.C. 3161(h) of the Speedy Trial Act of 1974. These provisions result in a non-triable status often brief in nature.

Data for years prior to 1975 represent only defendants pending in criminal cases which were more than one year old at the end of the year, and, therefore, are, not comparable to the data of 1976 and later.
