CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS FOR THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL

The Judicial Council was originally provided for in section 1a of article VI of the State Constitution adopted November 2, 1926. This section was amended November 8, 1960. On November 8, 1966, a revised article VI was adopted and the provisions of former section 1a were amended and renumbered as section 6, and further revised November 5, 1974, to read:

Sec. 6. The Judicial Council consists of the Chief Justice and one other judge of the Supreme Court, 3 judges of courts of appeal, 5 judges of superior courts, 3 judges of municipal courts, and 2 judges of justice courts, each appointed by the Chief Justice for a 2-year term; 4 members of the State Bar appointed by its governing body for 2-year terms; and one member of each house of the Legislature appointed as provided by the house.

Council membership terminates if a member ceases to hold the position that qualified the member for appointment. A vacancy shall be filled by the appointing power for the remainder of the term.

The council may appoint an Administrative Director of the Courts, who serves at its pleasure and performs functions delegated by the council or Chief Justice, other than adopting rules of court administration, practice and procedure.

To improve the administration of justice the council shall survey judicial business and make recommendations to the courts, make recommendations annually to the Governor and Legislature, adopt rules for court administration, practice and procedure, not inconsistent with statute, and perform other functions prescribed by statute.

The Chief Justice shall seek to expedite judicial business and to equalize the work of judges. The Chief Justice may provide for the assignment of any judge to another court but only with the judge's consent if the court is of lower jurisdiction. A retired judge who consents may be assigned to any court.

Judges shall report to the Judicial Council as the Chief Justice directs concerning the condition of judicial business in their courts. They shall cooperate with the council and hold court as assigned.

Other constitutional provisions dealing with the Judicial Council or the Chief Justice are found in article VI, sections 15 and 18(f). There are also a number of statutory provisions referring to the Judicial Council.*

1981 REPORT OF THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL OF CALIFORNIA

INTRODUCTION

The Judicial Council in the discharge of its constitutional duty is required to survey the condition of business in the several courts and to report and make appropriate recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature at the commencement of each general session. (Cal. Const., art. VI, sec. 6.) This 1981 Judicial Council Report contains the Council's report to the 1981-1982 Regular Session of the Legislature.

Continuing the practice commenced in the Nineteenth Biennial Report, the Annual Report of the Administrative Office of the Courts, which is the staff agency serving the Council, is also included. The Annual Report contains summaries of the continuing activities of the Judicial Council and its staff. It also includes detailed statistical data on the volume of business in all the courts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1980.

The 1981 Report was produced under the general editorial supervision of Patrick J. Clark, attorney, Administrative Office of the Courts.

CHAPTER 1SENTENCING PRACTICES ANNUAL REPORT

California's determinate sentencing law, in Penal Code section 1170.6, requires the Judicial Council to "continually study and review the statutory sentences and the operation of existing criminal penalties" and report thereon to the Governor and Legislature. It also requires reports on proposed legislation affecting felony sentences.

Reports on bills affecting felony sentences are forwarded to the Governor and Legislature during each legislative session by the Administrative Director of the Courts under authority delegated by the Judicial Council. This third annual report on the overall working of the determinate sentencing law was prepared by the Judicial Council's Sentencing Practices Advisory Committee.

I. BACKGROUND

Summaries of the determinate sentencing law (Stats. 1976, ch. 1139, as amended) and of the Judicial Council's responsibilities under it have appeared in prior annual reports. This year's report, as last year's, will focus on new developments relating to sentencing, and on data becoming available as a greater number of cases are determinately sentenced.

II. IMPACT OF NEW LAW ON JUDICIAL SYSTEM AND SENTENCING PROCESS

In the last two reports, it was noted that coincidentally with the operative date of the new sentencing law, dispositions by trial had decreased and guilty pleas increased relative to total dispositions in superior courts; and it was suggested that the change might be related to the new law. Data for 1979-80 continue to support this hypothesis. With 1,926 more dispositions than last year, the number of cases disposed of by trial decreased a further 427 to 12.4 percent of the total, compared to about 16.5 percent before determinate sentencing; and guilty pleas increased 2,045 to 75.5 percent of dispositions, compared to about 70 percent before determinate sentencing:

[†] Revised.

*Includes cases resulting in acquittal or dismissal, or misdemeanor conviction.

"Uncontested" is defined as a trial in which only one side offered evidence; the issue of guilt may still be contested in such a trial.

Had the previous pattern continued, the 1979-80 dispositions would have required 8,446 trials instead of 6,338, and there would have been 35,833 guilty pleas instead of 38,361.

Two comments made in last year's report appear even more relevant:

- The indicated shift—now over 2,000 cases per year—from dispositions by trial to dispositions by guilty plea is reducing overall time for criminal cases in superior courts, even after allowing for some increase in the time for sentencing proceedings under the determinate sentencing law.
- Superior court time savings are offset, to a significant degree, by increased appellate workload. In 1979-80 criminal appeals totalled 110.4 percent of cases in which there was a conviction upon contested trial; and while our statistical system does not analyze issues on appeal, it is apparent that the excess (over 100 percent) must, in large part, be appeals raising sentencing issues arising under the determinate sentencing law.¹

Many judges and attorneys have expressed the view that the determinate sentencing law has facilitated guilty pleas by giving certainty to the length of prison sentences.

While this report discusses the resulting trend primarily in terms of decreased superior court workload (and increased appeals), it should also be noted that this significant decrease in dispositions by trial has policy implications going to the nature of the criminal adjudication process.

III. PRISON COMMITMENTS—OPERATION OF THE LAW

A. Percent Committed

Previous reports indicated that prison commitments (as a percentage of total dispositions upon felony conviction) increased noticeably when the new sentencing law took effect, and that the certainty of term afforded by the new law was probably a factor in accelerating an existing trend to increased prison commitments; but that by 1978-79, commitments might be stabilized at the new levels.

Statistics for 1979-80 continue to show the rate of prison commitment fairly stable at the new levels:

¹ In addition to sentencing questions, appeals may be taken after guilty pleas to raise fundamental legal questions (Pen. Code, § 1237.5) such as the trial court's refusal to suppress evidence allegedly seized illegally. The law pertaining to such appeals has not changed; it is possible, however, that there is some interaction between more determinate sentences and the incentive to appeal under § 1237.5.

^a Second degree murder and manslaughter. First degree murder not tabulated due to special sentencing rules.
^b An additional, large percentage of rape convictions result in commitments as "mentally disordered sex offenders."
 Probation is currently prohibited in rape cases.

There is increasing evidence that, because of differences in reporting methods, Judicial Council sentencing statistics cannot validly be compared with statistics published by the Bureau of Criminal Statistics (BCS),² and attempted comparisons no longer appear in our publications. Although BCS publications serve a function in giving an overall perspective on the problem of crime and on the criminal law process, those who receive both their publications and ours should be aware of their noncomparability. Any attempt to compare BCS and Judicial Council statistics is likely to be misleading, and to result in mistaken conclusions.

B. Length of Prison Sentences

1. Effect of Senate Bill No. 709

Senate Bill No. 709 (Stats. 1978, ch. 579), effective January 1, 1979, increased both the maximum permissible sentence and the range between lower, middle and upper terms, for numerous crimes. By the quarter ending September 30, 1979, the number of sentences governed by that law at least equalled those governed by the earlier determinate sentences; and by the end of 1979, sentences governed by Senate Bill No. 709 were the majority.³ Sentences imposed during the last six months of 1979 for the most numerous crimes affected by Senate Bill No. 709 are compared in the following table.

² The problem of comparability is discussed in greater detail in the 1980 Annual Report, pp. 5-6.
³ For quarterly breakdowns, see Table 9 in Sentencing Practices Quarterly, Nos. 9 and 10 (combined).

^a Includes effect of enhancements, e.g., firearms use, prior prison terms, and of consecutive sentencing.

The primary effects, therefore, have been an increase in the average (mean) sentence for the more violent crimes affected by the bill; and an increase in the range of sentences for robbery and burglary (first degree). There also seems to be some tendency toward a lower percentage of "upper" terms, possibly because the new "middle" terms approximate the old "upper" terms.

2. Overall length of prison terms

Each issue of the Sentencing Practices Quarterly contains a Table 6 giving, for each crime with a substantial number of cases, the following information on determinately sentenced cases in the quarter: number of cases receiving lower, middle and upper terms; number of cases in which each enhancement was charged and found, and percent imposed and stricken; number of multiple count cases, and percent sentenced concurrently and consecutively; mean (average) sentence; and range of sentences imposed. Some of this information is summarized on page 9 for a recent quarter.

3. Senate Bill No. 13

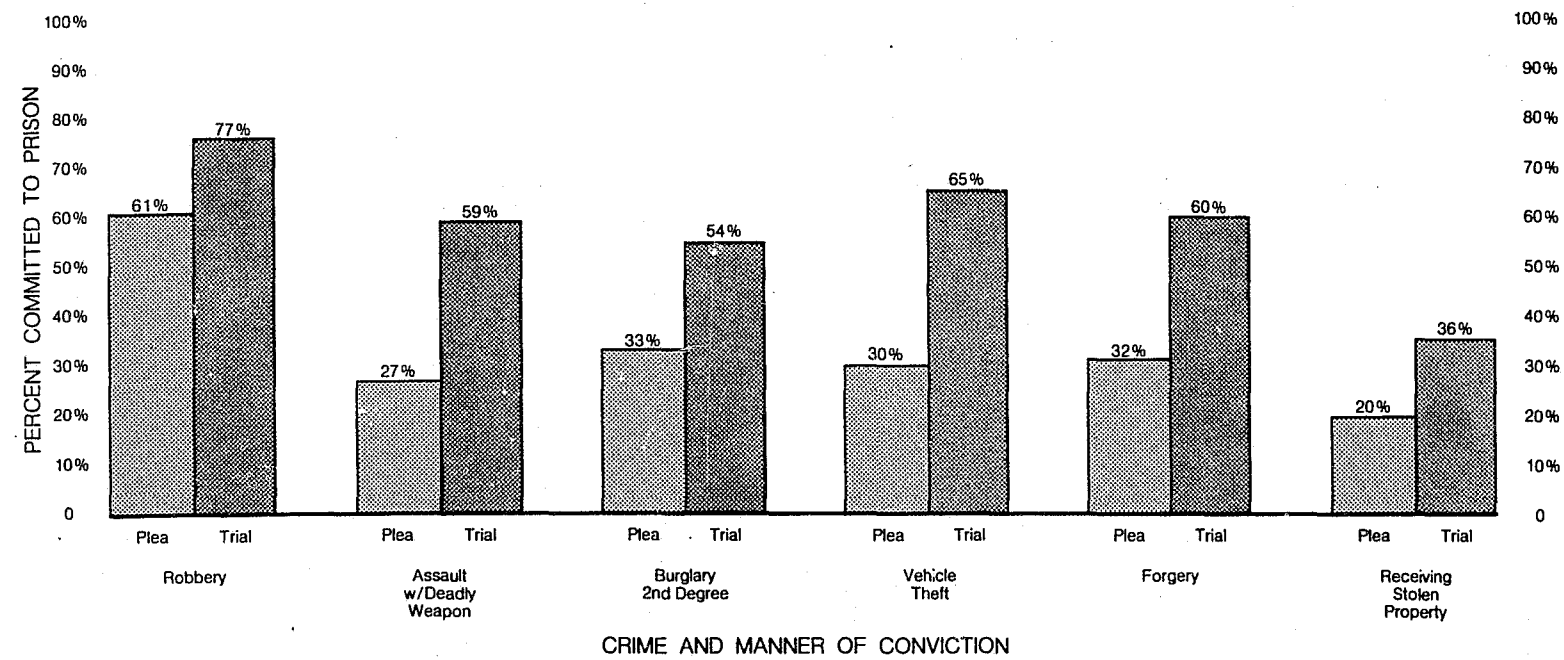

Senate Bill No. 13 (Stats. 1979, ch. 944), operative January 1, 1980, superimposed a new penalty structure for violent sex crimes on the existing determinate sentencing law. The primary features of this statute are: new, more severe "enhancements" added to the basic sentence for violent sex crimes when they involve weapons, when great bodily injury is inflicted, or when the defendant has prior convictions or has served prior prison terms for similar crimes; and provision for sentences for those crimes to be fully consecutive to any other sentences, so that the "one-third" formula generally prescribed by the determinate sentencing law for determining the effect of consecutive sentences is inapplicable. These statutory provisions are discussed in detail in Sentencing Practices Quarterly No. 8 (quarter ending June 30, 1979) at pages 4-5.

There have not yet been sufficient cases sentenced under Senate Bill No. 13 to permit a statistical analysis of the actual sentences arising under it.

4. Dependence on mode of disposition

Several issues of the Sentencing Practices Quarterly have compared type of disposition and length of prison sentences for cases in which the defendant pled guilty versus cases that were tried. They have consistently demonstrated that cases in which conviction follows trial are more likely to result in a prison sentence (and a longer prison sentence) than cases in which the defendant pled guilty. See, e.g., Sentencing Practices Quarterly Nos. 9 and 10 (combined) Tables 7 and 8, pages 18-21 and 36-39. The following charts, extracted from pages 36-39, are illustrative.

SUPERIOR COURT DISPOSITIONS OF PERSONS CONVICTED OF FELONIES AND ALTERNATIVE FELONY/MISDEMEANORS

 SELECTED OFFENSES — BY MANNER OF CONVICTION

DETERMINATE PRISON SENTENCES IMPOSED
 (By crime with the greatest principal term if multiple convictions)
 STATE TOTAL — QUARTER ENDING 12/31/79
 SELECTED OFFENSES — BY MANNER OF CONVICTION

As noted in the Sentencing Practices Quarterly, however, the statistical relationship between method of conviction and severity of sentence is not necessarily evidence of a causal relationship. It is possible that, in enough cases to affect the averages, prosecutors are offering concessions to defendants who plead guilty, and that judges are agreeing to those concessions. It is equally possible, however, that a majority of defendants who elected to go to trial did so because their prior records or current crimes were so serious that they anticipated a more severe sentence than average even if they pled guilty, and their only hope was the chance of an acquittal upon trial. The statistical data suggest a need for independent research on the cause of the difference between the ultimate disposition of cases disposed of by trial and by plea.

CONCLUSION

The overall commitment rate appears to have stabilized since the adoption of the determinate sentencing law. The more serious crimes have been subject to changes in statutory sentences whose impact is still uncertain; we will continue to follow their effects. It now appears probable that determinate sentencing is responsible for an increased frequency of guilty pleas and a reduced frequency of felony trials; and while the net effect appears to be a reduction in trial court workload, there appears to be an increase in appellate court workload resulting from sentencing issues.

CHAPTER 2

COURT INTERPRETER STUDY

I. BACKGROUND AND METHOD

Legislation enacted in 1978 providing for improved court interpreter services¹ requires the Judicial Council to "collect, analyze, and publish pertinent interpreter utilization statistics, with commentary" as part of the Judicial Council's Annual Report to the Governor and the Legislature.²

The court interpreter legislation also requires the Judicial Council to implement the legislation³ and to establish (a) standards to determine the need for an interpreter in particular cases;⁴ (b) standards to ensure interpreters are familiar with technical terminology and procedures used in the courts;⁵ (c) standards of professional conduct;⁶ and (d) a requirement for periodic review of each interpreter's skills and for removal from the recommended list of those who fail to maintain their skills.⁷ The Council accordingly adopted, effective July 1, 1979, rule 984 of the California Rules of Court and sections 18, 18.1, 18.2, and 18.3 of the Standards of Judicial Administration Recommended by the Judicial Council (see Appendix).⁸

Under the court interpreter legislation the superior court in each county designated by the Legislature must establish a list of recommended court interpreters for each language program identified by any bill appropriating funds for interpreter services.⁹ All trial courts in the designated counties must use interpreters who are on the superior court list of recommended interpreters unless a judge finds cause to appoint an interpreter who is not on the list. In compiling the list of recommended interpreters, superior courts must choose from candidates examined in a testing program administered by the State Personnel Board. Each superior court may also impose additional tests and standards as required by equity or local conditions.

Spanish was the only language program identified in the appropriation section of the 1978 legislation.¹⁰ Thirty-three counties were designated to

² Gov. Code, § 68563. The entire section reads,

The Judicial Council shall collect, analyze, and publish pertinent interpreter utilization statistics, with commentary, as part of the Council's Annual Report of the Administrative Office of the California Courts and shall report such statistics to the Governor and to the Legislature not later than December 31, 1980. In collecting these statistics, the Judicial Council shall request the standards used to determine the qualifications of interpreters serving in all courts and in all languages. Such information shall serve as a basis for determination of the need to establish interpreter programs in additional courts and in additional languages and the establishment of such programs through the normal budgetary process.

⁸ The rule and standards were adopted with the assistance of an advisory committee appointed by the Chairperson of the Judicial Council, Chief Justice Rose Elizabeth Bird. Drafts of the committee's proposals were circulated to interested persons and organizations who were also invited to offer their suggestions and to attend meetings in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The chair of the advisory committee was Judge Philip M. Newman of the Los Angeles Superior Court, and the committee members were Judges Edward Kim of the Tulare Superior Court, Frances Munoz of the Orange County Harbor Municipal Court, George W. Phillips, Jr. of the Alameda Superior Court, and Ms. Bonnie Ramirez, Court Interpreter for the Los Angeles Superior Court.

establish recommended lists of Spanish interpreters.¹¹

The State Personnel Board issued its first list of qualified candidates in December 1979 and periodically administers examinations and adds names to the list. An updated list of qualified candidates is provided annually to the superior courts.¹²

Purpose of the Study

The court interpreter legislation stated, "Reliable and uniform data are required on the use of court interpreters. Such data [are] currently unavailable at either state or local level, and [are] needed to plan, monitor, and coordinate interpreter programs and services."¹³ The section mandating a Judicial Council study states, "Such information shall serve as a basis for determination of the need to establish interpreter programs in additional courts and in additional languages."¹⁴

Using these guides, a statistical study was designed to produce information that would be useful to the Governor and Legislature in examining the following questions:

1. Should any language other than Spanish be added to the court interpreter program?
2. Should the Spanish language program be extended to any counties other than the 33 now designated?
3. Are the courts in the 33 designated counties using recommended Spanish language court interpreters as required by the legislation?
4. Are the courts in counties not designated using Spanish language court interpreters who have passed the State Personnel Board examination even though these counties are not required to do so?

How the Statistics Were Gathered

These four areas of inquiry were listed in a memorandum sent in June 1980 to a list of persons and organizations interested in court interpreting and to representative courts throughout the state. The memorandum discussed the proposed method of collecting the statistics and included a draft of the reporting forms. Comments and suggestions were solicited.

After all comments and suggestions were received and evaluated, two reporting forms were supplied to the clerk of every trial court—the Daily Worksheet¹⁵ and the Weekly Summary.¹⁶ A full set of instructions were printed on the reverse of the Weekly Summary.¹⁷ The Daily Worksheet was for use by interpreters in keeping a daily record of the number of cases and hours of interpreting. This form was not to be submitted to the court or to the Administrative Office of the Courts. Court interpreters summarized their Daily Worksheets on the Weekly Summary. This summary was submitted to the court interpreter assignment clerk or, if none, to the courtroom clerk. Each court clerk's office was instructed to supply every courtroom with copies of the forms.

The study relied heavily upon courtroom clerks and court interpreter assignment clerks to make the reporting forms available to interpreters and to collect the forms from interpreters who were not employees of the court. After much study and discussion with clerks and interpreters, it was determined that court interpreters themselves could most accurately and conveniently record the number of cases and hours interpreted. The study relied upon interpreters to complete the Weekly Summary forms accurately and to submit them to the court clerks or assignment clerks.

Every person who interpreted for a court in a language other than English¹⁸ in any kind of case (civil, criminal, juvenile, small claims, traffic, etc.) was required to submit a Weekly Summary. Reports were required for any interpreting inside a courtroom or outside if on assignment by the court. For purposes of the study interpreters included those who interpreted for the entire courtroom and those who only interpreted for a single participant (for example, at counsel table). An interpreter could have been an employee of the court, county, or municipality or a paid interpreter on assignment by the court or an unpaid volunteer. Any clerk, bailiff, judge, attorney, witness, juror, party, or any other participant at a trial who undertook any interpreting that assisted the judicial process was considered an interpreter who was required to submit a Weekly Summary.

The study requested interpreters to report the number of cases interpreted and the actual number of hours of interpreting, including any time spent in court waiting to be called and any time spent interpreting outside the courtroom on assignment by the court. The number of hours of interpreting was frequently not the same as the number of hours for which the interpreter was paid. Civil and criminal (including juvenile) cases and hours were reported separately.

II. COURT INTERPRETER STATISTICS

Weekly court interpreter reports were submitted to the Administrative Office of the Courts for eight weeks—July 28 through September 19. Over 2,800 weekly reports were received.¹⁹ Forty-seven counties reported some interpreting during the study. Many of the counties or courts that had no interpreted cases sent letters or report forms indicating that fact.

Adding Other Languages to the Interpreter Program

The court interpreter study, according to the stated purpose of the Legislature, "shall serve as a basis for determination of the need to establish interpreter programs . . . in additional languages . . ." ²⁰ Spanish is the only language designated to have a testing program and the only language for which a recommended list is required in each of the 33 designated counties.²¹

The study shows that use of Spanish language interpreters far exceeds the use of interpreters in other languages. Spanish accounted for 98 percent of interpreted cases reported and 96 percent of the hours of interpreting (Figure 1). No other language amounted to more than 1 percent of the total of the cases or hours (Table 1).

Adding Other Counties to the Spanish Program

Besides the need for statistics to help determine if interpreter programs should be established for languages other than Spanish, the Legislature also asked for statistics to help determine if additional counties should be added to the 33 designated counties in which the superior courts are required to establish a recommended list of Spanish language interpreters to be used by all trial courts in the county. The choice of the 33 counties originally designated appears to have been based on a recommendation of the Judicial Council Advisory Committee on the Study of the Language Needs of Non-English Speaking Persons in Relation to the State's Justice System.²² The advisory committee recommended selection of counties that had the highest portion of the state total of "Spanish origin" population according to the 1970 Census.

The number of reports received from the nondesignated counties was very small, accounting for less than 1 percent of the total Spanish cases or hours (Table 2). It might be misleading to attempt to use these statistics to make decisions on adding to the list of counties.²³ The 1980 Census might provide a better indication of the need for extending the Spanish language program to other counties.

Three counties accounted for over half of the total Spanish cases and hours (Table 2). Los Angeles County reported 29 percent of the cases and 31 percent of the hours. Orange County reported 13 percent of the cases and 9 percent of the hours and San Diego reported 12 percent of the cases and 10 percent of the hours. Over three-fourths of the cases and hours were reported by ten counties. Forty-three counties reported interpreted cases amounting to 1 percent or less of the total interpreted cases state-wide (Table 2).

Use of Recommended Spanish Language Interpreters in the Designated Counties

The program established for Spanish language interpreting requires the superior court in each of the designated counties to adopt a list of recommended interpreters for use by all trial courts within the county.²⁴ In ²¹ Stats. 1978, ch. 158, § 2(b).

²⁴ Gov. Code, § 68562.

December 1979 the superior courts were supplied with a list of qualified candidates who had passed the State Personnel Board examination. Since then all of the designated counties reporting to this office have established recommended lists.²⁵ The designated counties reported 99 percent of the Spanish language cases.

About 60 percent of the reported Spanish cases in counties designated to have recommended lists were interpreted by interpreters from the superior court recommended lists (Table 3).

The counties varied widely in their use of recommended interpreters. Of the counties reporting the largest number of Spanish language cases, recommended interpreters were used most frequently by Ventura (99 percent), Santa Clara (90 percent), and Los Angeles (81 percent). Santa Barbara (15 percent), Orange (43 percent), and San Diego (44 percent) used recommended interpreters less frequently (Table 3).

Use of the State Personnel Board List in Nondesignated Counties

Twenty-five counties were not designated as counties required to have a Spanish language interpreter program. These counties do not have recommended lists but many interpreters available to their courts have taken the State Personnel Board examination and appear on its list of qualified candidates. The courts in nondesignated counties are generally aware of the testing program, and information was sought on whether they use interpreters who have passed the court interpreter examination for Spanish. (Only designated counties are required to use interpreters who have passed the examination.) The study asked Spanish language interpreters in both designated and nondesignated counties if they had passed the examination.

Reports from the nondesignated counties indicate that 28 percent of the cases reported were interpreted by interpreters who had taken and passed the examination (Table 4). The cases reported by the nondesignated counties, however, represent only 1 percent of the total Spanish language cases and very few reports were received from these counties. Any conclusions based on such small numbers may be open to error.

Reports from designated counties show that 63 percent of the cases in those counties were interpreted by interpreters who had passed the court interpreter examination (Table 5). This figure is slightly higher than the use of recommended interpreters in the designated counties—60 percent of the cases (Table 3). Passing the examination is a minimum qualification for being placed on a recommended list.²⁶

Spanish Language Interpreter Use in Civil and Criminal Cases by Trial Court Type

Most of the interpreted cases involved Spanish interpreters in municipal court criminal trials. Ninety-four percent of the cases interpreted in Spanish²⁷ were criminal cases, and 84 percent of these cases were in municipal courts (Figure 2). Nine percent of the criminal cases interpreted were in superior courts and 7 percent in justice courts (Table 1). Civil trials accounted for only 6 percent of the cases interpreted in Spanish (Figure 2).

As might be expected, the cases in superior court used proportionately more hours of interpreting than those in municipal and justice courts. Superior courts, with 9 percent of the criminal cases, consumed 18 percent of the hours of interpreting; municipal courts, with 84 percent of the cases, used 76 percent of the hours; and justice courts, with 5 percent of the cases, used 6 percent of the hours (Figure 2).

Standards Used to Determine Qualifications of Court Interpreters

The court interpreter legislation required the Judicial Council to "request the standards used to determine the qualifications of interpreters serving in all courts and in all languages."²⁸ The Administrative Office of the Courts requested these standards from each presiding judge of the superior and municipal courts and each justice court judge. Copies of the replies have been sent to the Governor, the President pro Tempore of the Senate, and the Speaker of the Assembly.

Use of Recommended Lists and the State Personnel Board List of Qualified Candidates

As a part of the survey requesting the standards used by the courts to determine the qualifications of court interpreters,²⁹ we asked the courts about their use of the superior courts' recommended lists and their use of the State Personnel Board list of candidates who had passed the Spanish language court interpreter examination. In the designated counties, all of the superior courts who replied to the survey reported that they have established recommended lists³⁰ and that they regularly use the list to choose interpreters. Sixty percent of these superior courts have adopted the entire State Personnel Board list of qualified candidates as their recommended lists and 40 percent have adopted their own lists choosing from among the interpreters on the State Personnel Board list.

The court interpreter legislation requires all trial courts in a designated county to use the superior court's recommended list.³¹ The survey indicated that 90 percent of the municipal courts in the designated counties and 85 percent of the justice courts use the county's recommended list.

In the nondesignated counties (where adoption of recommended lists is not required), use of the State Personnel Board list is quite high in the superior and municipal courts—41 percent and 43 percent respectively. Only 10 percent of the justice courts in these counties reported that they use the State Personnel Board list.

²⁸ Gov. Code, § 68563.

³⁰ The list is required by section 68562 of the Government Code.

³¹ Gov. Code, § 68562.

Summary

Spanish language court interpreters are used far more frequently than interpreters in other languages—about 40 times more frequently than all others combined. About 94 percent of the interpreted cases are criminal trials, 6 percent civil trials. The great majority of interpreted cases are in municipal courts. More than half of the interpreted cases are in three counties—Los Angeles, Orange, and San Diego.

The counties designated to be in the Spanish language court interpreter program are using court interpreters on the county recommended lists in a majority of the interpreted cases. Though not required by law to do so, a substantial minority of the courts in counties not in the program are using interpreters who have been examined by the State Personnel Board. These counties altogether reported less than 1 percent of the total cases using Spanish language interpreters.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL COURT INTERPRETER STUDY

WHO SHOULD SUBMIT THIS REPORT Anyone who interprets a language other than English for a superior, municipal, justice, or small claims court is required to report the information requested on this Weekly Summary. For this study a court interpreter is anyone who interprets in a courtroom or outside the courtroom if on assignment by the court. Interpreters include those who interpret for the entire courtroom and those who only interpret for a single participant (for example, at counsel table). An interpreter may be an employee of the court, county, or municipality or a paid interpreter on assignment by the court or an unpaid volunteer. Any clerk, bailiff, judge, attorney, witness, juror, party, or any other participant at a trial who undertakes any interpreting that assists the judicial process is an interpreter.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS Keep daily records of your interpreting assignments on the Daily Worksheet and summarize them each week on this form.

*County designated to have a list of recommended court interpreters for Spanish. See 4a.

2 COURT Submit a separate form for each court in which you interpreted this week (superior, municipal, or justice). If you interpreted in more than one branch of a court, combine them into one weekly report for that court.

3 REPORTING WEEK Place a check next to the week being reported.

4 LANGUAGE Check one language only for each report. If you interpreted in more than one language, submit a separate report for each language.

4a COUNTY RECOMMENDED LIST (SPANISH ONLY)

The Legislature has required the superior courts in 33 designated counties to establish a list of recommended court interpreters for Spanish. (Gov. Code, § 68562) The list must be used by all trial courts in the county—superior, municipal, and justice.

The counties designated by the Legislature to establish a list of recommended court interpreters for Spanish are indicated by an asterisk (*) in 1.

If your county is one of the designated counties it should have a list of recommended court interpreters. If you interpret Spanish in one of the 33 designated counties, check one box to indicate if you are on the county recommended list. If the county is not a designated county or has not established a list, check the box to indicate that fact.

4b STATE PERSONNEL BOARD EXAMINATION (SPANISH ONLY)

The State Personnel Board has given an examination for Spanish Language Court Interpreters. Interpreters who have passed this examination are "qualified candidates" eligible to be placed on the county recommended list. (There are no "certified court interpreters." See Gov. Code, § 68562.) If you interpret Spanish in any county, please indicate whether you have passed the State Personnel Board Examination for Spanish Language Court Interpreters. (No other State Personnel Board Spanish language examination qualifies court interpreters.)

5 HOURS OF INTERPRETING Report the actual number of hours of interpreting, including any time spent in court waiting to be called. (The actual number of hours may not be the same as the number of hours for which you are paid.) Report the time in civil and criminal (including juvenile) cases separately. Be sure to report any time you interpret outside the courtroom on assignment by the court. Round the number of hours to the nearest half hour.

6 NUMBER OF CASES Report the total number of cases in which you interpreted in the court and language indicated. Report civil and criminal (including juvenile) cases separately.

7 IDENTIFICATION Print your name and telephone number and the date you completed the Weekly Summary.

8 SUBMITTING THIS FORM Please submit this form to the court office that assigned you to interpret for the court. If a court office did not assign you to interpret, submit this form to the clerk of the court.

APPENDIX

RULE 984 OF THE CALIFORNIA RULES OF COURT

Rule 984. Periodic review of court interpreter skills and professional conduct

Each superior court shall establish a procedure for biennial, or more frequent, review of the performance and skills of each court interpreter recommended pursuant to section 68562 of the Government Code. The court may designate a review panel which shall include at least one person qualified in the interpreter's language. The review procedure may include interviews, observations of courtroom performance, rating forms, and other evaluation techniques. The superior court shall remove from the recommended list interpreters who fail to maintain their interpreting skills or who do not conform to the Standards of Professional Conduct for Court Interpreters adopted by the Judicial Council. [Adopted effective July 1, 1979.]

SECTIONS 18, 18.1, 18.2, AND 18.3 OF THE STANDARDS OF JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION RECOMMENDED BY THE JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Sec. 18. Standards for determining the need for a court interpreter

(a) [When an interpreter is needed] An interpreter is needed if upon examination by the court a party or witness is unable to speak English so as to be understood directly by counsel, court, and jury, or if a party is unable to understand and speak English sufficiently to comprehend the proceedings and to assist counsel in the conduct of the case. Separate interpreters may be needed for each non-English speaking party. An additional interpreter may be needed to interpret witness testimony for the court.

(b) [When an examination is required] Upon request by a party or counsel, or whenever it appears that a party's or witness' primary language is not English or that a party or witness may not speak and understand English sufficiently to participate fully in the proceedings, the court should conduct an examination on the record to determine whether a court interpreter is needed. After the examination, the court should state its conclusion on the record, and the file in the case should be clearly marked to ensure that an interpreter will be present when needed in any subsequent proceeding.

(c) [Examination of party or witness] The examination of the party or witness to determine if an interpreter is needed should normally include questions on the following:

(1) Identification (for example: name, address, birthdate, age, place of birth);

(2) Active vocabulary in vernacular English (for example: "How did you come to the court today?" "What kind of work do you do?" "Where did you go to school?" "What was the highest grade you completed?" "Describe what you see in the courtroom." "What have you eaten today?" Questions should be phrased to avoid "yes-no" replies;

(3) The court proceedings (for example: the nature of the charge or the type of case before the court, the purpose of the proceedings and function of the court, the rights of a party or criminal defendant, and the responsibilities of a witness). [Adopted effective July 1, 1979.]

Sec. 18.1. Interpreted proceedings: instructing participants on procedure

In interpreted proceedings the court should instruct the participants on the procedure to be followed. These instructions may be given in writing and should normally include:

(a) [Instructions to interpreters] The following instructions should be given to interpreters:

(1) A preappearance interview should be held with the party or witness to enable the interpreter to become familiar with speech patterns and linguistics traits and to determine what technical or special terms may be used. Except when consent is given by counsel, the pending proceedings should not be discussed with the party unless the party's counsel is present or with a witness unless counsel for the party calling the witness is present.

(2) During the preappearance interview with a non-English speaking witness, the interpreter should give the following instructions on procedure:

(i) Speak in a loud, clear voice so that the entire court and not just the interpreter can hear.

(ii) All responses should be directed to the person asking the question, not to the interpreter.

(iii) Any question should be directed to counsel or to the court and not to the interpreter. Do not seek advice from or engage in discussion with the interpreter.

(3) During the preappearance interview with a non-English speaking party, the interpreter should give the following instructions on the procedure to be used when the party is not testifying:

(i) The interpreter will interpret all statements made in open court that are a part of the case.

(ii) Any questions should be directed to counsel. The interpreter will interpret all questions to counsel and the responses. Do not seek advice from or engage in discussion with the interpreter.

(4) Communications between counsel and client are not to be disclosed.

(5) No legal advice should be given to a party or witness. Legal questions should be referred to the attorney or to the court.

(6) All statements made by the witness should be interpreted including statements or questions to the interpreter. No summary of any testimony should be made except on instruction by the court.

(7) The court should be informed if the interpreter is unable to interpret a word, expression, or special terminology.

(8) All words, including slang, vulgarisms, and epithets, should be interpreted to convey the intended meaning.

(9) All statements made in the first person should be interpreted in the first person. For example, a statement or question should not be introduced with the words, "He says . . ."

(10) All inquiries or problems should be directed to the court and not to the witness or counsel. In unusual circumstances, the interpreter may request permission to approach the bench with counsel to discuss the problem.

(11) The interpreter should be positioned near the witness or party but should not block the view of the judge, jury, or counsel.

(12) The court should be informed if the interpreter becomes fatigued during the proceedings.

(13) An interpreter who is to interpret for a party at counsel table should speak loudly enough to be heard by the party or counsel but not so loudly as to interfere with the proceedings.

(b) [Instructions to counsel] The following instructions should be given to counsel:

(1) All questions by counsel examining a non-English speaking witness should be directed to the witness and not to the interpreter. For example, do not say, "Ask him if . . ."

(2) If counsel understands both languages and disagrees with the interpretation, any objection should be directed to the court and not to the interpreter. Counsel should ask permission to approach the bench to discuss the problem.

(3) If counsel believes that a prospective interpreter lacks the qualifications necessary to serve as an interpreter in the matter before the court, counsel may be permitted to conduct a brief supplemental examination before the court decides whether to appoint the interpreter. [Adopted effective July 1, 1979.]

Sec. 18.2. Interpreted proceedings: interpreter understanding of terminology used in the courts

Courts should use interpreters who can (a) understand terms generally used in the type of proceeding before the court, (b) explain these terms in English and the other language being used, and (c) interpret these terms into the other language being used. Interpreters recommended pursuant to section 68562 of the Government Code should meet these requirements. If no list of recommended interpreters is available, or if it appears an interpreter cannot understand and interpret the terms used in the proceeding, the judge should conduct a brief examination of the interpreter to determine if the interpreter is qualified to interpret in the proceeding. In conducting the examination the judge should, if possible, seek the assistance of an interpreter whose qualifications have been established. [Adopted effective July 1, 1979.]

Sec. 18.3. Standards of professional conduct for court interpreters

(a) [Accurate interpretation] A court interpreter's best skills and judgment should be used to interpret accurately without embellishing, omitting, or editing.

(b) [Conflicts of interest] A court interpreter should disclose to the judge and to all parties any actual or apparent conflict of interest. Any condition that interferes with the objectivity of an interpreter constitutes a conflict of interest. A conflict may exist if the interpreter is acquainted with or related to any witness or party to the action or if the interpreter has an interest in the outcome of the case. An interpreter should not engage in conduct creating the appearance of bias, prejudice, or partiality.

(c) [Confidentiality] A court interpreter should not disclose privileged communications between counsel and client. A court interpreter should not make statements about the merits of the case during the proceeding.

(d) [Giving legal advice] A court interpreter should not give legal advice to parties and witnesses, nor recommend specific attorneys or law firms.

(e) [Professional relationships] A court interpreter should maintain a professional relationship with court officers, parties, witnesses, and attorneys. A court interpreter should strive for professional detachment.

(f) [Continuing education and duty to the profession] A court interpreter should, through continuing education, maintain and improve his or her interpreting skills and knowledge of procedures used by the courts. A court interpreter should seek to elevate the standards of performance of the interpreting profession. [Adopted effective July 1, 1979.]

CHAPTER 1GENERAL*A. DIRECTOR'S REPORT

The Judicial Council's recommendations and actions which are described in the preceding section of the report, represent only a small proportion of the work undertaken by the Council. Many other significant activities, designed to assist judicial and nonjudicial personnel in furthering the administration of justice, were carried on by the Council and its committees and staff, some of which are summarized in this section of the annual report.

Workshops

As in previous years, the Judicial Council devoted a significant amount of effort to organizing and staging an extensive program of workshops to assist judges, hearing officers and administrative nonjudicial personnel in carrying out their important responsibilities. In 1980, nine major workshop programs were provided for such diverse groups as presiding judges of the larger superior and municipal courts, judges from rural courts, hearing officers, appellate research attorneys and court administrators. Since participant evaluations are an important part of each program, it is possible to note that all of the programs were well received.

In chronological order, the following workshops were held:

1. Workshop for New Presiding Judges in Metropolitan Superior Courts, January 11, 1980
2. Workshop for Superior Court Presiding Judges, February 8, 1980
3. Workshop for New Municipal Court Presiding Judges, March 28, 1980
4. Workshop on Arbitration, April 18, 1980
5. Institute for Cow County Superior Court Judges, May 16-17, 1980
6. Workshop for New Superior Court Presiding Judges, June 6, 1980
7. Workshop for Juvenile Traffic Hearing Officers, June 13-14, 1980
8. Workshop for Appellate Court Attorneys, September 29-October 1, 1980
9. Workshop for Municipal Court Administrators, December 11-12, 1980

Public Information Services

The information program operated by the Administrative Office of the Courts has provided the public with information about the courts and the administration of justice for more than a decade. The materials are prepared by a Public Information Attorney and are primarily designed to provide the news media and public with timely and concise reports on the actions of the California Supreme Court and Judicial Council.

News releases were issued in 1980 on actions of the Supreme Court, Judicial Council, and Commission on Judicial Appointments, as well as on various judicial administration matters. The releases are distributed to the major metropolitan news media, the legal press, selected law schools and court personnel and agencies concerned with judicial administration. A news release may be distributed to the legal, statewide and national media, depending upon its nature and relative significance. Such distribution ranges from 25 to over 250 recipients.

The news releases generate written and telephone requests for background information on the reported matters. In addition, numerous inquiries are received from citizens, legislators, court personnel and other agencies regarding individual cases and the operation of the state court system.

A bimonthly newsletter is prepared for judges, court personnel and others, including organizations interested in court administration. Distributed nationally, it reaches over 2,000 recipients. The Newsletter focuses on reporting Council actions, programs and publications and proposed and adopted rules, standards and forms. Also noted are judicial appointments, statistics, and important legislation.

Economical Litigation Project

The Economical Litigation Pilot Project—designed to reduce pleading and pretrial motion procedures, eliminate most discovery practice, and simplify court trials¹—has been operating since January 1, 1978, in the Torrance branch of the Los Angeles Superior Court, the Fresno Superior Court, and the Los Angeles and Fresno Municipal Courts.

Chapter 71 of the 1980 Statutes extended the duration of the pilot project from 3 to 5 years, thereby continuing the project through December 1982. Several changes in the project rules, which are noted on page 49 of this report, were also made by the Judicial Council.

The Chief Justice's Special Committee to Study the Appellate Practices and Procedures in the First Appellate District

Appointed in 1977, this committee initially collected numerous recommendations from bench, bar, academe, and other interested groups and individuals for improving the procedures in the Courts of Appeal, the intermediate appellate courts of California.² These were then evaluated and major suggestions were studied by the members.

The committee's conclusions regarding problems facing the Courts of Appeal and its proposals for measures to cope with high and growing case loads will be set forth in its final report, which is now in preparation.

² The members include appellate judges, trial judges, attorneys, and lay persons. They are Justice Sidney Feinberg, Court of Appeal (San Francisco) and Mr. Robert Seligson, Attorney at Law, San Francisco, Co-Chairpersons; Judge Spurgeon Avakian, Alameda County Superior Court; Mr. Marshall Krause, Attorney at Law, Larkspur; Mr. Palmer Brown Madden, Attorney at Law, San Francisco; Justice John T. Racanelli, Court of Appeal (San Francisco); Judge Gerald E. Ragan, San Mateo County Superior Court; Justice Joseph Rattigan, Court of Appeal (San Francisco); Mr. Arlo Smith, District Attorney, San Francisco; Dr. David Spiegel, Public Member, Palo Alto; Justice Wakefield Taylor, Court of Appeal (San Francisco); Mr. Michael Traynor, Attorney at Law, San Francisco; and Ms. Norma Wright, Public Member, Campbell.

The Chief Justice's Special Committee on the Courts and the Media

This broadly representative committee³ was appointed by the Chief Justice to develop rules and procedures for conducting and evaluating the Judicial Council's one-year experiment with television, radio and still camera coverage—"extended coverage"—of court proceedings. It submitted proposed experimental rules at the May 1980 meeting of the Judicial Council. The Council adopted the rules with minor modifications, and the experiment went into effect on July 1, 1980.

Prior to the advent of the experiment, the Special Committee, working partly through its Evaluation Subcommittee,⁴ played a major role in developing a thorough evaluation for the test. First, the full committee selected the following as major research issues:

1. Will the presence and operation of broadcast, recording, or photographic equipment in a courtroom be a significant distraction for trial participants, disrupt proceedings, or impair judicial dignity and decorum?
2. Will trial participants or prospective trial participants, knowing that their words or pictures will be or are being recorded, broadcast, or taken for possible use on television, radio or in newspapers or magazines, change their behavior in a way that interferes with the fair and efficient administration of justice?

The Special Committee also participated in choosing a social science consultant firm to conduct the evaluation, and the Evaluation Subcommittee met with the consultants during April to review their evaluation design before it was put in operation in May 1980, two months before cameras went into the courts. The early start allowed the evaluators to gather important baseline data on the effects of traditional media coverage of judicial proceedings for later comparison with extended coverage impacts.

Finally, the subcommittee helped develop standard forms for requesting extended coverage and seeking the required consents. These were disseminated to all California courts in late June.

³ The members are Justice Bernard S. Jefferson, Retired, Court of Appeal, Los Angeles, Chairperson; Mr. Joseph Benti, former News Anchor, KNXT-TV, Los Angeles; Ms. Marcia Brandwynne, Co-News Anchor, KNXT-TV, Los Angeles; Judge Harry F. Brauer, Santa Cruz County Superior Court; Justice Louis H. Burke, Retired, California Supreme Court, San Francisco; Justice Frances N. Carr, Court of Appeal, Sacramento; Mr. John J. Cleary, Executive Director, Federal Defenders of San Diego; Mr. Nathaniel S. Colley, Attorney at Law, Sacramento; Mr. Paul Conrad, Political Cartoonist, Los Angeles Times; Judge Roderic Duncan, Oakland-Piedmont Municipal Court; Mr. William Flynn, Editor of the Op-Ed Page, San Francisco Examiner; Ms. Susan Gilbert, Press Photographer, San Francisco Chronicle; Judge Richard Hanscom, San Diego Municipal Court; Mr. Richard G. Hirsch, Attorney at Law, Los Angeles; Judge William P. Hogoboom, Los Angeles County Superior Court; Ms. Jo Interrante, former News Director, KFRC Radio, San Francisco, now with RKO Radio Network, New York; Mr. Howard Janssen, Deputy District Attorney, Alameda County; Mr. Ephraim Margolin, Attorney at Law, San Francisco; Ms. Sue McHugh, former Producer/Writer/Host, KQVR-TV, Sacramento, now with KTVU-TV, Oakland; Mr. Peter Noyes, Executive Editor, KNBC-TV, Los Angeles; Ms. Audrey Ohlson, California Teachers Association, Burlingame; Mr. George T. Osterkamp, former Executive Producer for Public Affairs Broadcasting, KQED-TV, San Francisco, now Washington, D.C. Bureau Chief, KRON-TV, San Francisco; Ms. Joan Rich, Past President, California League of Women Voters; Mr. Randy Riddle, Reporter, KCBS-Radio, San Francisco; Mr. Wayne Satz, Investigative Reporter, KABC-TV, Los Angeles; Mr. Martin Smith, Reporter and Political Editor, Sacramento Bee; Mr. Ray Spangler, California Freedom of Information Committee, Redwood City; Mr. Sanford Svetcov, Chief Assistant United States Attorney, San Francisco.

⁴ Subcommittee members are Justice Jefferson, Mr. Cleary, Judge Duncan, Judge Hogoboom, Mr. Janssen, Ms. McHugh, Mr. Riddle, Mr. Satz, and Mr. Smith.

Small Claims Experimental Project

The Small Claims Monetary Jurisdiction Experiment, authorized by Chapter 723 of the Statutes of 1978, was completed on March 31, 1980. The 12-month experiment increased the small claims filing limit from $750 to $1500 in six courts. Two courts, with no monetary jurisdiction increase, were selected and used as control courts.

The legislation establishing the experiment directed the Small Claims Advisory Committee, with the cooperation of the Judicial Council and the Department of Consumer Affairs, to study the effects of the jurisdictional increase. The Judicial Council collected information on a random sampling of small claims cases in the experimental and control courts.

The study revealed that corporations filed a lower percentage of claims above $750 and that natural persons filed a higher percentage above $750. Consumer credit cases were a smaller percentage of total cases above $750, compared to cases below $750, but continued to be the most prevalent type of case. There was a higher percentage of personal injury or property damage cases and personal loan cases above $750. A higher percentage of cases resulted in judgment for plaintiff after trial, for cases above $750, when a natural person was the plaintiff. Natural person defendants had a lower percentage of default judgments for cases above $750 generally, but higher default rates for consumer loans.

Cases above $750 required more judicial time to dispose of, but not more clerical time.

These and other findings were presented in a report to the Small Claims Advisory Committee by the Judicial Council in May 1980. The Department of Consumer Affairs assisted the Advisory Committee in preparing the final report to the Legislature which will contain the recommendations of the committee.

Weighted Caseload Study

A report on the results of the 1979 update of the superior court weighted caseload system was presented to the Judicial Council. The Council deferred action on the report while an advisory committee reexamines the theoretical bases of the weighted caseload system. In the interim, the present weights and judge-year values will continue to be used. Forty-two superior courts participated in the update study conducted in October and November of 1979.

Judgeship Reports

As part of its ongoing service to the Legislature and the executive branch of government, the Judicial Council prepares statistical reports on the judgeship needs of courts seeking additional judgeships. In preparing these reports, the Council utilizes a weighted caseload system to measure judgeship needs, developed on the basis of time studies for various judicial proceedings.

In the 1980 session of the Legislature, the Judicial Council prepared 15 such reports concerning trial courts, eight of which applied to the superior courts and seven to the municipal courts.⁵

⁵The courts for which judgeship reports were prepared were: Superior Courts in the Counties of Kern, Orange, Sacramento, San Diego, San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Sonoma, Stanislaus; Municipal Courts in the Districts of Desert, North County (San Diego), Riverside, Santa Barbara-Goleta, Santa Clara County, South Orange County, West Kern.

Court Management Services

The Court Management Services unit, formerly known as the Calendar Management Technical Assistance Team, is a court services unit of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Technical assistance in court management is provided to any trial court in California upon request, in order to improve the court's management practices, consistent with the standards recommended by the Judicial Council. Theoretical studies are avoided. Care is taken to understand local problems, in the daily operation of the courts, which directly affect court organization and caseload management procedures.

During 1980 approximately 40 courts received assistance. This level of service represents approximately 420 work days actually spent within the respective trial courts.

B. SUMMARY OF 1980 LEGISLATIVE ACTION ON COUNCIL RECOMMENDATIONS AND OTHER SELECTED LEGISLATIVE MEASURES

During the second year of the 1979-80 Regular Session of the Legislature, the Judicial Council recommended two measures for enactment, both of which were enacted substantially as introduced.

In addition to its action on these measures, the Judicial Council was concerned with a variety of other legislative measures significantly affecting the judiciary and the administration of justice. This report summarizes a number of these other measures. Judicial Council-sponsored measures are summarized first, followed by other enacted measures of particular interest to the judiciary and, finally, measures of interest to the judiciary that were not enacted. Unless otherwise indicated, all measures are effective January 1, 1981.

Senator Bob Wilson and Assemblyman Jack Fenton were the legislative members of the Judicial Council during the second year of the 1979-80 session.

1. JUDICIAL COUNCIL MEASURES

Economical Litigation Project

Assembly Bill 1939, introduced by Assemblyman Knox at the request of the Judicial Council, extends the duration of the experimental project in the Fresno and Los Angeles courts to test simplified procedures intended to reduce the duration and expense of civil litigation. The extension will permit a sufficient number of cases to be completed under the experiment to adequately evaluate the procedures. This measure was enacted as chapter 71.

Coordination of Actions

Assembly Bill 2425, introduced by Assemblyman Fenton, provides that actions pending in a municipal or justice court may be transferred to the superior court and consolidated with a superior court action affecting the same subject matter. The purpose of the measure is to provide a more convenient and efficient alternative to coordination of such proceedings. The measure was enacted as chapter 318.

2. OTHER MEASURES ENACTED

Eight-Member Juries

Senate Constitutional Amendment 14, introduced by Senator Beverly, amends the California Constitution by authorizing the Legislature to reduce the size of juries in civil actions in the municipal and justice courts from 12 to 8. The measure was placed on the November 1980 ballot as resolution chapter 47, and was approved by the voters.

Peripheral Canal

Assembly Constitutional Amendment 90, introduced by Assemblyman Kapiloff, establishes special venue and judicial review provisions relating to the proposed peripheral canal. Venue for actions which concern the peripheral canal is in Sacramento County. A one-year statute of limitations applies to certain actions with some actions having calendar preference. The measure requires the Supreme Court, on request, to transfer certain appeals to itself unless the proceeding is unlikely to substantially affect the canal or compliance with certain sections of the Water Code. It provides time limits within which each court is to commence hearing certain actions but provides that the Supreme Court's authority contained in article VI, section 12, to transfer cases is not affected. The measure was placed on the November 1980 ballot as resolution chapter 49, and was approved by the voters.

Family Conciliation Courts

Senate Bill 961, introduced by Senator Sieroty, extensively revises the provisions governing conciliation courts. It specifies the powers and minimum qualifications of supervising counselors, requires courts to provide for mediation of child custody disputes, and permits some additional fees to fund conciliation services. It was enacted as chapter 48.

Sentences in Burglary Cases

Senate Bill 1236, introduced by Senator Beverly, prohibits probation in felony burglary sentences, and mandates a 90-day jail term in misdemeanor residential burglary sentences, except in unusual cases where the interests of justice would best be served by granting probation. The measure was enacted as chapter 42.

Fines, Forfeitures, and Assessments

Senate Bill 1408, introduced by Senator Robbins, provides for funds to contribute to the overall cost of certain courthouse construction in San Francisco and Los Angeles Counties by establishing a locally optional courthouse temporary construction fund, based on criminal filings in the courts of those counties. The fund receives one dollar for every parking filing, two dollars for every infraction filing, and five dollars for every misdemeanor filing, regardless of whether any fine or forfeiture is collected in the particular case. In Los Angeles County, certain areas are designated for courthouse construction. The measure was enacted as chapter 578.

Assembly Bill 493, introduced by Assemblywoman Moore, simplifies the penalty assessment structure by establishing a single assessment applicable to all criminal cases, with distribution of funds administered by the State Treasurer, instead of by individual court clerks. The measure establishes a uniform assessment on all fines and forfeitures, in the amount of $3 for every $10, or fraction thereof, in lieu of existing assessments. The measure was enacted as chapter 530. Certain of the measure's key provisions were also incorporated into Senate Bill 1428, introduced by Senator Presley, which alters the formula for distribution of funds, enacted as chapter 1047.

Proceedings Open to the Public

Assembly Bill 1374, introduced by Assemblyman Felando, provides that the public shall be admitted to any juvenile hearing where the minor is alleged to have committed certain specified serious offenses, including murder, armed robbery, aggravated assault, and certain offenses against persons over 60 years of age. The measure was enacted as chapter 322. Another more comprehensive measure, Senate Bill 450, introduced by Senator Nielsen, that would have opened all preliminary hearings and probation reports to the public, was dropped by its author.

Jury Selection

Assembly Bill 1454, introduced by Assemblyman Chappie, establishes uniform statutory provisions for random selection of jurors in superior, municipal and justice courts. It requires use of multiple source lists for jurors where feasible and directs the Department of Motor Vehicles to provide source lists to jury commissioners semi-annually. Together with Assembly Bill 2025, introduced by Assemblyman Statham, enacted as chapter 1361, it permits boards of supervisors to fix jury fees and mileage allowances in excess of a statewide minimum. Assembly Bill 1454 was enacted as chapter 81.

Misdemeanor-Infractions

Assembly Bill 1813, as introduced by Assemblyman Kapiloff, would have authorized the court to reduce certain specified misdemeanor offenses including battery, joy riding, reckless driving, and possession of marijuana to infractions with a maximum fine of $250. The measure was amended to restrict its effect to less serious offenses, including disturbing the peace, failure-to-appear under Vehicle Code section 40508, and furnishing alcohol to a minor. It was further amended to require the defendant's consent to have the charge treated as an infraction and to permit the prosecution to charge the matter as an infraction in the first instance. As amended, the measure was enacted as chapter 1270.

Small Claims Actions

Assembly Bill 2142, introduced by Assemblyman Bane, permits the small claims court to retain jurisdiction of cases where a small claims defendant has filed a civil action in excess of small claims jurisdiction, until a small claims judgment is rendered. With amendments to give the court discretion to transfer a small claims case to the regular civil calendar when the ends of justice would be served, the measure was enacted as chapter 536.

Civil Fees in Superior, Municipal, and Justice Courts

Assembly Bill 2361, introduced by Assemblyman Frazee, revises filing fees and other miscellaneous fees payable in civil cases, and provides for substantially identical miscellaneous fees in the superior, municipal, and justice courts. The measure also establishes a $12 fee for each motion or other filing after the first paper which requires a hearing. In addition, the law library fee, as revised by Assembly Bill 1226, introduced by Assemblyman Mello, and enacted as chapter 64, together with the court reporter fee and judges' retirement fee, are merged into a total filing fee, to be fixed within specified limits by the county boards of supervisors. Assembly Bill 2361 was enacted as chapter 1372.

Civil Forms

Assembly Bill 2632, introduced by Assemblywoman Waters, requires the Judicial Council, in consultation with a representative advisory committee, to adopt standard forms for interrogatories and requests for admission to be used in personal injury, property damage, wrongful death, unlawful detainer, breach of contract, and fraud cases. Use of the forms is optional. The measure was amended to include an appropriation, and was enacted as chapter 1263.

Juvenile Traffic Cases

Assembly Bill 2744, introduced by Assemblyman Mangers, permits juvenile traffic infractions to be heard in the municipal and justice courts, under general provisions of law. All fines and forfeitures in such cases continue to go to the county general fund. Placement of such cases in the municipal and justice courts is at the option of the county board of supervisors, with the concurrence of the presiding judges of the affected courts. The measure was enacted as chapter 1299.

3. MEASURES WHICH FAILED ENACTMENTStructure of the Judicial Council

Senate Constitutional Amendment 9, introduced by Senator Dills, sought to restructure the Judicial Council by increasing its size from 21 to 23, by deleting the authority of the Chief Justice to appoint judge members, and by providing, instead, for the election of judge members by judges of the various court levels to represent their particular judicial constituency. SCA 9 was dropped by the author.

Structure of the Judiciary

Senate Constitutional Amendment 35, introduced by Senator Russell and Assembly Constitutional Amendment 67, introduced by Assemblyman Wyman, were identical omnibus measures. They sought, among other things, to reduce Supreme Court and Court of Appeal terms of office from twelve years to eight years; to require all Supreme Court and Court of Appeal judges to again stand for election at the next general election, and to permit contested elections; to abolish the Commission on Judicial Appointments and provide for Senate confirmation, by majority vote, of all judges to courts of record; to restructure the Judicial Council as spelled out in SCA 9, above, and to specify when a cause pending before the Supreme Court or a Court of Appeal is under submission. SCA 35 failed passage on the Senate floor; ACA 67 failed passage in the Assembly Judiciary Committee.

Retroactivity of Judicial Decisions

Senate Constitutional Amendment 38, introduced by Senator Garamendi, and Senate Constitutional Amendment 45, introduced by Senator Foran, both sought to restrict the power of state appellate courts to apply decisions in criminal cases retroactively. SCA 45 was amended into SCA 38, which failed passage in the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee.

Creation of Special Tax Court

Assembly Constitutional Amendment 38, with implementing legislation, Assembly Bill 2254, both introduced by Assemblyman Knox, sought to establish a special tax court, with a small claims division, within the judicial branch of government to determine all questions of law and fact arising under California taxing statutes. AB 2254 failed passage in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee; ACA 38 failed passage in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Small Claims Courts

Senate Bill 519, introduced by Senator Dills, and Senate Bill 1806, introduced by Senator Marks, sought to implement recommendations arising from the small claims experiment (Stats. 1978, ch. 723). SB 519 would have increased small claims filing fees for heavy users of the court. SB 1806 would have provided for small claims advisors in most municipal courts, and would have directed the Department of Consumer Affairs to provide a small claims manual for distribution in all courts. The provisions of SB 519 were incorporated into SB 1806 by the Assembly and the fee increase was limited to courts which utilized small claims advisors. SB 1806 failed on the closing day of the session when the Senate refused to concur in the measure as amended.

Judicial Impact Analyses

Senate Bill 720, introduced by Senator Russell, sought to require preparation of a judicial impact analysis on selected legislative proposals before the Senate and Assembly Judiciary Committees and the Assembly Criminal Justice Committee. The analyses were to be prepared by the Legislative Analyst, with assistance from the Department of Finance and the Judicial Council. The measure failed passage on the Senate floor.

Court Approval of Abortions

Senate Bill 1814, introduced by Senator Schmitz, would have required the courts to decide on a case-by-case basis whether abortions should be provided for unmarried minor females, but provided no legal standards against which judges could evaluate a particular request. The measure failed passage in the Assembly Health Committee.

Structure of the Court of Appeal

Assembly Bill 2444, introduced by Assemblyman Imbrecht, sought to abolish divisions in the Court of Appeal, and to require regular rotation of judges from panel to panel in all of the appellate Courts of Appeal. The measure would also have created a new Sixth Appellate District, to consist of the San Bernardino division of the Fourth Appellate District. The measure passed the Assembly, but failed passage in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

C. CHANGES IN THE CALIFORNIA RULES OF COURT DURING 1980

During 1980 the Judicial Council adopted a number of amendments to the appellate and trial court rules designed to improve court administration and expedite court proceedings.

The Council also approved 60 new and revised forms for statewide use which are discussed in section F of this chapter.

1. APPELLATE RULES

Rules on Appeal (Rules 15(b)(d), 25(a), 42(b)(c), 56(a))

The amendments to rule 15, originally suggested by the Academy of Appellate Lawyers, require printed briefs to be 8½ x 11 inches in size, and make related changes.

Appeals to Appellate Department (Rules 103(a), 105(a), 107(b)(c), 108, 184(d) and 185)

These amendments, which were originally proposed by the Appellate Courts Committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association, allow more time for certain steps in appeals from municipal and justice courts to the appellate departments of superior courts.

2. TRIAL COURT RULES

Traffic Bail Schedule (Rule 850(b))

The Council's uniform traffic bail schedule was revised to conform to Chapter 71 of the 1979 Statutes (Assem. Bill No. 518), which amended the law on "notices to correct" registration, license or mechanical violations of the Vehicle Code. The 1979 legislation provides that this previously mandated procedure is now optional.

Court Reporters' Transcript Production, Income and Time Reports (Rule 860)

To conform to 1980 legislation, the Judicial Council amended rule 860 to extend its applicability to each official reporter and temporary official reporter in Calaveras, Imperial, Monterey, Nevada, Placer, Sierra, Tehama, and Yolo Counties. This rule requires that court reporters report to the Judicial Council regarding their income and transcript production. This information is used by the Council in preparing required reports to the Legislature and the county boards of supervisors.

Subpena Forms (Rule 982(a))

Two legislative measures enacted in 1979 required revision of the form Subpena, Subpena Duces Tecum previously adopted for mandatory use. Chapter 458 (Assem. Bill No. 561) amended Code of Civil Procedure section 1985 to allow attorneys in civil cases to issue subpoenas. The second measure, chapter 67 of the Statutes of 1979 (Assem. Bill No. 89) provides that a subpoenaed witness shall be given written notice on the subpoena that the witness may be entitled to receive payment for fees and mileage.

Acting pursuant to the recommendations of its Advisory Committee on Legal Forms, the Council adopted two separate subpoena forms for mandatory use in civil and criminal cases. The existing single Subpena, Subpena Duces Tecum form was revoked effective July 1, 1980.

Waiver of Court Fees (Rule 985)

The Judicial Council adopted a new rule and four new forms for the waiver of court fees and costs (in forma pauperis) pursuant to Government Code section 68511.3. In general, any papers presented by a litigant either with an application for waiver of fees or later will be filed without requiring payment of fees. If the application is denied, the applicant must pay any applicable fees within 10 days or any papers filed are ineffective.

Economical Litigation Pilot Project (Rules 1719, 1721, 1722, 1723, 1725, 1727, 1729, 1741, 1825, 1826, 1827, 1829, 1829.1, 1831, 1837, 1849)

The Economical Litigation Pilot Project—designed to simplify pretrial procedure and court trials—has been operating since January 1, 1978 in the Torrance Branch of the Los Angeles Superior Court, the Fresno Superior Court, and the Los Angeles and Fresno Municipal Courts.

On the recommendation of the Economical Litigation Review Committee, which monitors the operation of the project, the Judicial Council made several changes in the rules for the pilot project, so as to further simplify procedure and to help prevent inadvertent noncompliance with the rules.

3. OTHER RULES

Judge's Option to Appear before the Commission on Judicial Performance (Rules 904 and 904.5)

These amendments give a judge on whom the Commission on Judicial Performance intends to impose a private admonishment the right either to an appearance before the Commission or to a formal hearing under rule 905 before the admonishment is imposed. If the judge claims either option, the Commission may conduct further preliminary investigation and may institute formal proceedings, but it may not, in lieu of the private admonishment, recommend the censure, retirement or removal of the judge unless substantial and serious new facts to justify such a recommendation are proved in the formal proceedings.

The amendments to rules 904 and 904.5 were based in part on comments and suggestions received from judges, attorneys and interested persons who responded to an invitation to comment on an earlier version of the proposal.

Electronic or Photographic Coverage of Court Proceedings (Rules 980.2, 980.3)

Rules 980.2 and 980.3 were adopted to govern the year-long experiment with "extended coverage" of proceedings in California courtrooms. (Extended coverage means coverage by television, radio, photographic, and audio and video recording equipment.) The experiment will run from July 1, 1980 to June 30, 1981.

Any media representative interested in conducting extended coverage of a case must make a written request to the judge within a reasonable time before the coverage is to begin. The approval of the judge is required, but not that of the parties, attorneys, or witnesses in civil cases. However, in criminal cases, the courts must obtain the consent of both the defendant and the prosecutor before permitting television, radio or photographic coverage of a criminal case. This distinction was made because of the uncertainty resulting from the pendency of the case of Chandler v. Florida (probable jurisdiction noted April 21, 1980, 48 United States Law Week p. 3677) (Dock. No. 79-1260) in the United States Supreme Court, and to obviate the possibility of reversals of convictions should Chandler be decided adversely to television, radio or photographic coverage.

That case involves a challenge, on constitutional grounds, to a Florida rule permitting electronic media coverage of criminal trials over the defendant's objection. The Council expressly noted that the consent requirement is subject to reconsideration when the Chandler case is decided.

A separate set of provisions governs extended media coverage that is conducted for educational purposes.

D. JUDICIAL REDISTRICTING

In recent years the major changes in the composition of municipal and justice court districts in California began in July of 1975. Realignments and consolidations have eliminated 96 judicial districts and reduced the total number of judicial districts to 183. Ninety-nine justice court districts were eliminated and the number of municipal court districts rose by 10, to 90, and then fell back to 83 with the consolidation of a number of districts.

In fiscal year 1979-80 the total number of judicial districts was reduced by eight. In Santa Clara County the Gilroy-Morgan Hill, Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga, Palo Alto-Mountain View, San Jose-Milpitas, Santa Clara and Sunnyvale-Cupertino Municipal Courts consolidated to become the Santa Clara County Municipal Court District. In San Bernardino County the Twentynine Palms Justice Court became a municipal court and almost immediately consolidated with the San Bernardino County Municipal Court as the Morongo Basin Division. The Monterey Peninsula, Northern Monterey County and Salinas Municipal Court Districts consolidated to become the Monterey County Municipal Court. The Redding Justice Court became the Redding Municipal Court.

The number of districts served by justice courts has steadily decreased since the lower court reorganization of 1953 because of (1) redistricting by local boards of supervisors resulting in the consolidation of separate justice court districts to form either municipal courts or larger justice court districts, and (2) the creation of municipal courts as district populations increased to levels in excess of the 40,000 constitutional limit for justice courts.

Table A gives the total number of judicial districts as of June 30, 1980, and for each year since the lower court reorganization.

E. JUSTICE COURT ORAL EXAMINATIONS

Judicial vacancies in justice courts may at the option of the board of supervisors of the county in which the court is situated, be filled by appointment of the board of supervisors or by special election.⁶ Only attorneys are eligible to be justice court judges.⁷ Oral examinations are required when there are more than three qualified candidates for appointment to a justice court judgeship. The Chairperson of the Judicial Council designates a superior court judge as chairperson of the oral examining board. The chairperson of the board appoints two residents of the county to serve with him as members of the board. The board ranks the candidates and submits the three highest ranked to the board of supervisors.⁸

During the 1980 calendar year an oral examination board was appointed to interview seven candidates for the office of judge of the Oroville Justice Court, Butte County.

F. JUDICIAL COUNCIL LEGAL FORMS

During 1980 the Judicial Council approved 60 court forms for statewide use. The forms were prepared and recommended for Judicial Council approval by the Judicial Council Advisory Committee on Legal Forms, a statewide committee with representation from the State Bar, the judiciary, and the court clerks' organizations.

Camera-ready copies of the new and revised forms approved for statewide use were sent to trial courts throughout the state so that each court could reproduce the forms for local use.

An explanation of the new forms and background of the changes in certain existing forms follows.

MANDATORY FORMS

A. Rule 982 Forms

1. Abstract of Judgment (Rule 982(a)(1))

The Abstract of Judgment (Civil) form has been revised to incorporate the new requirement of chapter 1281 of the 1980 Statutes to show the address at which the summons was served or to which it was mailed. The legislation also requires the recorder to notify the debtor of the recordation of an involuntary lien when the recorded document contains the address of the debtor or the debtor's attorney of record. The revised form requests that address if known.

2. Subpena, Subpena Duces Tecum (Rule 982(a)(7)) [Revoked]

This form was revoked effective July 1, 1980, because the Council adopted two separate forms for use in civil and criminal cases (see rule 982(a)(15) and (16)).

3. Civil Subpena (Rule 982(a)(15))

Two legislative measures enacted in 1979 required revision of the form Subpena, Subpena Duces Tecum previously adopted for mandatory use. Chapter 458 (Assem. Bill No. 561) amended section 1985 of the Code of Civil Procedure to allow attorneys in civil cases to issue subpoenas. The second measure, chapter 67 of the Statutes of 1979 (Assem. Bill No. 89) required that a subpoenaed witness be given written notice on the subpoena that the witness may be entitled to receive payment for fees and mileage. The Council adopted two separate subpoena forms for mandatory use in civil and criminal cases effective July 1, 1980.

4. Subpena (Criminal or Juvenile) (Rule 982(a)(16))

Adopted effective July 1, 1980. See comments on the Civil Subpena form (rule 982(a)(15)).

In Forma Pauperis Forms

The Judicial Council adopted four new forms for the waiver of court fees and costs (in forma pauperis) to follow the procedure established by new rule 985. The forms and new rule were required by Section 68511.3 of the Government Code. An Information Sheet on Waiver of Court Fees and Costs containing a brief set of instructions to the applicant was also approved. The following mandatory in forma pauperis forms were adopted effective January 1, 1981:

5. Application for Waiver of Court Fees and Costs (Rule 982(a)(17))

6. Order on Application for Waiver of Court Fees and Costs (Rule 982(a)(18))

7. Notice of Waiver of Court Fees and Costs (Rule 982(a)(19))

8. Application for Waiver of Additional Court Fees and Costs (Rule 982(a)(20))

B. FAMILY LAW FORMS

Legislation enacted in 1980 required changes in a number of mandatory Judicial Council family law and domestic violence forms and adoption of several new forms.

1. Temporary Restraining Orders (Rule 1285.05)

This new form, intended to be attached to the Order to Show Cause, provides a detailed outline of the restraining orders available under section 4359 of the Civil Code as well as an order regarding delivery of the orders to law enforcement agencies. The form also contains a boxed warning that violation of any of the orders is a misdemeanor and advises that the orders expire on the date of the hearing.

2. Application for Order and Supporting Declaration (Rule 1285.20)

Amendments to this form, effective July 1, 1980, were required by amendment of section 4359 of the Civil Code concerning ex parte protective orders. This form was also revised effective January 1, 1981, as follows: (1) the allegations relating to child custody and child support were divided into separate requests; and (2) the request for a wage assignment for child support was deleted because chapter 1341 of the 1980 Statutes mandates the granting of an ex parte application for a wage assignment if the person ordered to pay the support is in arrears at least one month's payment and notice of the intent to seek the wage assignment in event of default has been given by certified mail or personal service at the time of or after the final decree. This notice was placed on the Final Judgment (Family Law) form. The application form was also revised to permit requests for the delivery of restraining orders to law enforcement agencies.

3. Responsive Declaration to Order to Show Cause or Notice of Motion (Rule 1285.40)

Amendments effective July 1, 1980 were required to conform to changes in section 4359 of the Civil Code concerning ex parte protective orders. This form was also revised effective January 1, 1981 to conform to the changes in the application.

4. Interlocutory Judgment of Dissolution of Marriage (Rule 1287)

Chapter 329 of the 1980 Statutes adds section 4800.6 to the Civil Code to require an attorney representing a client in a dissolution or legal separation proceeding to give notice in writing that even though a debt based on a contract is assigned to one party, the other party may be sued in the event of a default in payments. The form was revised to incorporate the notice required by the statute.

5. Final Judgment (Rule 1289)

Chapter 1188 of the 1980 Statutes adds section 4352 to the Civil Code requiring every final judgment of nullity or dissolution to contain a notice that parties should review their wills. This form was revised to incorporate the warning verbatim from the statute. It was also revised to incorporate an additional warning related to wage assignments for child support. To assist clerks in their record keeping when dissolution proceedings are bifurcated, the caption of the form was revised so that it might serve as a Final Judgment-Dissolution of Marriage—Status Only.

6. Joint Petition for Summary Dissolution of Marriage (Rule 1295.10)

Chapter 627 of the 1980 Statutes changes the limitations on the use of the summary dissolution procedure to allow its use in a marriage of no more than five years' duration (rather than two) if the parties have less than $10,000 in community property and $10,000 apiece in separate property (rather than $5,000) and $3,000 in community obligations (rather than $2,000). The legislation also provides that the Judicial Council every two years beginning January 1, 1983, compute and publish adjustments in these dollar amounts to reflect any change in the value of the dollar. To conform to the new legislation, the form was revised to incorporate the revised limitations. All dollar amounts appear at the end of sentences so that the new form can be easily revised every two years to reflect the newly applicable amounts.

7. Request for Final Judgment, Final Judgment of Dissolution of Marriage, and Notice of Entry of Judgment (Summary Dissolution) (Rule 1295.20)

Because chapter 1188 of the 1980 Statutes adds section 4352 to the Civil Code requiring every final judgment of nullity or dissolution to contain a notice that parties should review their wills, this form was revised to incorporate the warning verbatim from the statute. The format was also revised to provide a separate section 4 below the request for final judgment portion of the form to make clearer the requirement that the wife must sign if she now, for the first time, requests the return of her former name.

Domestic Violence Forms

Six new forms (rules 1296-1296.40) were adopted to implement the Domestic Violence Prevention Act (Code Civ. Proc., § 540 et seq.) which was effective July 1, 1980. A booklet, Instructions for Orders Prohibiting Domestic Violence, was approved effective July 1, 1980, and revised effective January 1, 1981, to incorporate changes in the Domestic Violence Prevention Act. It contains facsimiles of completed forms as a guide to users of the forms.

8. Application and Declaration (Domestic Violence) (Rule 1296)

This form was adopted effective July 1, 1980, but during the year the Legislature enacted chapter 1158 of the 1980 Statutes. The new law amends the Domestic Violence Prevention Act to eliminate the requirement of a sexual relationship between nonrelated household members before one of them can invoke the provisions of the act and to provide for the delivery of restraining orders to law enforcement agencies by either mailing by the clerk or personal delivery by the applicant or the applicant's attorney. Both mailing and delivery are now required. This form was revised effective January 1, 1981, to delete reference to sexual relations and to add a request for an order shortening time with space to state the facts supporting the application.

9. Order to Show Cause and Temporary Restraining Order (Domestic Violence-Uniform Parentage) (Rule 1296.10)

This form was adopted effective July 1, 1980, and the reverse of the form was revised effective January 1, 1981, to provide space for the new alternative forms of order relating to delivery of the form and space for an order shortening time and to delete the portion of the order which directed that the Instructions for Orders Prohibiting Domestic Violence be served on the defendants.

10. Application and Order for Reissuance of Order to Show Cause (Domestic Violence) (Rule 1296.15)

This new form was adopted to implement section 527(b) of the Code of Civil Procedure which provides for reissuing the order to show cause when the plaintiff files an affidavit containing specified allegations. The new form replaces a portion of the existing form Order to Show Cause (Domestic Violence).

11. Responsive Declaration to Order to Show Cause (Domestic Violence) (Rule 1296.20)

Adopted effective July 1, 1980.

12. Order Prohibiting Domestic Violence (Family Law-Domestic Violence-Uniform Parentage) (Rule 1296.30)

This form was adopted effective July 1, 1980, and was revised effective January 1, 1981, to provide for the new alternatives relating to delivery of the orders to law enforcement agencies.

13. Proof of Service (Rule 1296.40)

This form, adopted effective July 1, 1980, is designed for use in domestic violence, harassment, and emancipation proceedings.

14. Summary Dissolution Information

The Summary Dissolution Information booklet, available in English and Spanish, was revised effective January 1, 1981, to refer to the increased eligibility limits (see discussion accompanying rule 1295.10). Additionally, language was placed in a box on the cover to read:

Beginning on January 1, 1983, and every two years thereafter, the Judicial Council is required to adjust the following amounts referred to in this booklet to reflect any change in the value of the dollar: the $10,000 limitation on community property; the $10,000 limitation on separate property; and the $3,000 limitation on community obligations.

It is not planned that this booklet will be revised to refer to the new amounts. The new amounts for each limitation will be printed on the form Joint Petition For Summary Dissolution of Marriage (Family Law-Summary Dissolution) which will be revised effective January 1, 1983, and every two years thereafter.

C. CRIMINAL LAW FORMS

1. Release Agreement, Appearance Bond, and Bail Deposit Receipt (10%)

Chapter 873 of the 1979 Statutes permits deposit of 10 percent of bail by the defendant in a misdemeanor case. Section 1269d(g) of the Penal Code directs the Judicial Council to prescribe uniform forms for the release agreement, appearance bond, and deposit receipts for persons released on 10 percent deposit of bail.

A single-page form designed to serve these three functions was developed with the advice and assistance of many persons from throughout the state representing law enforcement, the courts, and the bar. Among the questions raised during the course of the development of the form was the question of whether the statute permits a person other than the defendant to make the 10 percent deposit. The great majority of persons who commented on this question were of the view that the law as presently written requires that, even though another person might pay in defendant's name, the receipt must be issued to the defendant and any returnable money must be given to the defendant. In view of this requirement, item 6 in the receipt portion of the form as adopted provides that the deposit is "received from or on behalf of the defendant." Item 7 of the form provides that an agency's own receipting validation may be attached to the uniform receipt form. This provision is designed to permit local agencies to use the new statewide form without substantially altering their recordkeeping procedures.

OPTIONAL FORMS

Until January 1978 the Judicial Council published a looseleaf version of the California Rules of Court in which each optional form was identified by two letters (indicating the subject area) and a three-digit number. For example, the Writ of Attachment form was given the identifying number AT-135.

Beginning January 1, 1981, this system was resumed with some modifications. Each form approved or revised by the Judicial Council and each existing form reprinted for distribution by the Administrative Office of the Courts bears the identifying letters and numbers in the lower margin. Legal publishers have been requested to include in their publications a current index listing the approved forms and showing the identifying letters and numbers for the current version of each form.

The following modifications to the numbering system have been adopted:

1. The letter designations (AT = attachment, CD = claim and delivery, EJ = enforcement of judgments, etc.) has been retained, with the following exceptions:

(a) The criminal (CR) form category has been eliminated and those forms previously listed in this category that are for internal court use only or are used exclusively by law enforcement agencies (for example, warrant forms and traffic citation forms) are no longer listed and will not be distributed to legal publishers. The remaining CR forms have been moved to other existing categories or to the Miscellaneous category.

(b) The existing designation for probate forms PB has been dropped in favor of DE for forms used in decedents' estates and GC for forms used in guardianships and conservatorships.

2. The three-digit number has been retained for identifying individual forms within a subject-matter category. Insofar as possible forms have been arranged within each category according to their logical sequence of use in practice. Decimals will not normally be used.

3. To provide a convenient means of ascertaining whether a form has been revised, a complete list of all Judicial Council forms is distributed to each legal publisher and clerk's office and is periodically revised. In this list, the date of approval or of the latest revision is indicated parenthetically immediately following the three-digit identifying number. For example, the current Writ of Attachment, which was approved in 1977, is form AT-135(77). If revised in 1982, the revised form would be AT-135(82).

A. PROBATE FORMS

Responding to recent legislation that has extensively rewritten California's guardianship and conservatorship law, the Judicial Council revised or revoked all forms for use in guardianships and conservatorships and approved several new forms for optional use effective January 1, 1981. The new law, effective the same date, adds a new division to the Probate Code (Stats. 1979, chs. 726 and 730). The new and revised forms include legislative changes made since enactment of the principal legislation (for example, Stats. 1980, chs. 89, 264, and 1304).

Several forms used for administration of decedents' estates were also revised because of recent legislation (Stats. 1980, chs. 136, 539, 955, and 1366). The Petition for Probate was extensively revised to conform to amendments to the Probate Code.

The probate forms approved or revised in 1980 have identifying letters and numbers printed on the lower left margin. Probate forms were divided into two categories—forms for administering decedents' estates with numbers prefaced by the letters DE and forms for guardianships and conservatorships with numbers prefaced by the letters GC. The identifying number includes a number in parentheses indicating the year the form was first approved or last revised. The revised Petition for Probate, for example, bears the number DE-100(81). Forms that may be used for either category (for example, Inventory and Appraisal) bear two reference numbers, a DE number and a GC number.

1. Guardianship and Conservatorship Forms

a. New Forms

- (1) Notice of Hearing—Guardianship or Conservatorship
- (2) Order Dispensing with Notice—Guardianship or Conservatorship
- (3) Petition for Appointment of Temporary Guardian or Conservator
- (4) Order Appointing Temporary Guardian or Conservator
- (5) Letters of Temporary Guardianship or Conservatorship
- (6) Consent of Guardian, Nomination, and Waiver of Notice
- (7) Letters of Guardianship
- (8) Letters of Conservatorship
- (9) Petition for Authority to Give Consent for Medical Treatment
- (10) Order Authorizing Conservator to Give Consent for Medical Treatment

b. Revised Forms

The forms followed by an asterisk (*) needed revision only to eliminate references to guardianships of incompetents, which under the new law will become conservatorships. The Judicial Council expressly authorized continued use of existing supplies of these forms if the outdated references are struck. These forms will not be reprinted and distributed to the courts until additional amendments are required.

Petition for Probate

b. Corrected Forms

Existing supplies of the following forms were corrected by changing the references in the forms to section 1200 of the Probate Code to section 1200.5. Legislation effective January 1, 1981, changes the section number (Stats. 1980, ch. 955).

(1) Notice of Hearing (Probate)

The section number in the notice box was changed to 1200.5.

(2) Notice of Death and of Petition to Administer Estate

The section number in item 8 was changed to 1200.5.

B. SMALL CLAIMS FORMJudgment Debtor's Statement of Assets

Section 117.19 of the Civil Code (Stats. 1980, ch. 1018) requires the clerk, at the time judgment is rendered or notice is mailed to the parties, to provide a form to be completed by the judgment debtor regarding the nature and location of any assets. This form was approved effective January 1, 1981, and given the identifying number SC-133(81).

C. MISCELLANEOUS FORMS

Two forms were approved effective July 1, 1980, to implement the Emancipation of Minors Act (Civ. Code, § 60 et. seq.).

1. Petition for Declaration of Emancipation of Minor2. Declaration of Emancipation of Minor after Hearing*G. FEDERALLY FUNDED PROJECTS

A. The following Judicial Council projects funded by federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration grants operated in 1980:

1. Judicial Criminal Justice Planning Committee (CCCJ 8035-80)
$50,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $100,000 total project cost.

This grant continued to support the Judicial Criminal Justice Planning Committee organized pursuant to sections 13830-13833 of the Penal Code. The committee reviews and makes recommendations to the Office of Criminal Justice Planning on any California court project submitted for funding. It also develops planning material for trial court use and serves to provide direction for court projects.

2. Workshops on Criminal Caseloads (CCCJ 2790-3-79)

$54,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $60,000 total project cost.

This grant funds the third year of a series of workshops specifically designed to assist courts in dealing with criminal backlog and delay, and the needs of defendants, victims and witnesses. The workshop design was to assist judicial and nonjudicial personnel of the state's courts in carrying out their responsibilities more effectively by familiarizing them with recent developments and innovations in court management and by providing a forum for discussion of the most pressing problems facing the trial courts.

3. Implementation of Statewide Lower Court Criminal Case Transcription Capabilities (CCCJ 4227-1-79)

$200,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $222,222 total project cost.

These funds were applied to an analysis of the need for recording equipment in municipal and justice courts throughout the state for the purpose of providing transcripts of cases to defendants in these courts. Once the courts needing such equipment were identified, recording equipment meeting the Judicial Council's standards for tape recorders was purchased and distributed to those courts.

4. California Continuing Judicial Studies Program (CCCJ 4255-1 and 2)

$101,700 CCCJ (LEAA) / $113,000 total project cost, first year.

$144,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $144,000 total project cost, second year.

This project funds the first and second years of a three-year experimental program to institute an ongoing judicial studies program to continue the education and improve the performance of California trial court judges beyond their initial orientation and training as new judges. The effort was developed by the California Center for Judicial Education and Research.

5. Updating and Reprinting of the CJER Judges Benchbook and Manual (CCCJ 4255-1 and 2)

$119,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $132,222 total project cost, first year.

$60,309 CCCJ (LEAA) / $60,309 total project cost, second year.

This grant finances the updating, reprinting and distribution of the California Municipal and Justice Courts Manual and the California Judges' Evidence Benchbook, both of which had been out of print for several years. The project is being administered by the California Center for Judicial Education and Research.

6. Juror Utilization and Management Incentive Program (CCCJ 4334-1/LEAA 7-DF-AX-3233-3412-1)

$122,193 CCCJ (LEAA) / $135,769 total project cost.

This grant enabled California to participate in a nationwide LEAA Discretionary Grant Program to improve the utilization and management of prospective jurors in Butte and Ventura Counties initially and statewide eventually.

7. Automation of the California Supreme Court (CCCJ 4492-1)
$99,750 CCCJ (LEAA) / $99,750 total project cost.

These funds are being used to finance the planning, design, purchase, implementation and evaluation of a combined word processing/data processing system for the California Supreme Court.

8. Automation of the California Appellate Courts Clerks' Offices—Phase I (CCCJ 4396-1)
$135,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $135,000 total project cost.

This project funds the planning, design, purchase, implementation and evaluation of a combined word processing/data processing system for the First District Court of Appeal Clerk's Office. The system will be expanded to the other four clerks' offices if proven effective in reducing delay in the preparation of records on appeal and increasing the ability of the clerk's office to monitor the progress of respective appeals.

9. Experimentation and Evaluation of Extended Media Coverage in Courts (CCCJ 4387-1)
$100,000 CCCJ (LEAA) / $100,000 total project cost.

These funds are financing the first extensive experiment on the effects of extended media coverage in the courts, including the development and application of an effective methodology for evaluating such impact, and the determination of what changes, if any, should be made in the existing Rules of Court or Standards of Judicial Administration which govern such coverage.

B. The following Judicial Council projects have been approved for funding during 1981 by the California Council on Criminal Justice and the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration:

1. Judicial Criminal Justice Planning Committee (CCCJ 8035-81)
$32,913 CCCJ (LEAA) / $65,826 total project cost.

This grant will continue to support the Judicial Criminal Justice Planning Committee organized pursuant to sections 13830-13833 of the Penal Code. The committee reviews and makes recommendations to the Office of Criminal Justice Planning on any California court project submitted for funding. It also develops planning material for trial court use and serves to provide direction for court projects.

2. Juror Utilization and Management Incentive Program (LEAA 80-PG-AX-0086)

$132,115 LEAA / $146,795 total project cost.

This project will continue California's participation in a nationwide LEAA Discretionary Grant Program to improve the utilization and management of prospective jurors statewide.

C. The following Judicial Council projects, funded by federal Intergovernmental Personnel Act Advisory Council grants, operated in 1980:

1. Basic In-Service Training Program for Entry Level Deputy Clerks—First Year (IPA 79-CA03)
$30,000 IPA / $66,170 total project cost.

This project funded the first year of a three-year experimental project to develop training materials and training programs for entry level deputy clerks and line supervisors in justice, municipal and superior courts throughout the state.

2. Basic In-Service Training Program for Entry Level Deputy Clerks—Second Year (IPA 80-CA03)
$48,429 IPA / $96,840 total project cost.

This project provided funds for the second year of a three-year experimental project to develop training materials and training programs for entry level deputy clerks and line supervisors in justice, municipal and superior courts throughout California.

3. Consolidated Court Administration (IPA 79-CA23-1)
$30,000 IPA / $64,288 total project cost.

This grant represents the initial effort in California to identify those factors required for the consolidation of support services in trial courts throughout the state and the development of guidelines for the use of trial courts desiring to pursue such consolidation.

D. The following Judicial Council projects were approved for funding by federal Intergovernmental Personnel Act Advisory Council grants in 1981:

1. Basic In-Service Training Program for Entry Level Deputy Clerks—Third Year (IPA 81-CA03)
$45,000 IPA / $99,090 total project cost.

This project will provide funds for the third year of a three-year experimental project to develop training materials and training programs for entry level deputy clerks and line supervisors in justice, municipal and superior courts throughout California.

2. Nonjudicial Staff Weighted Caseload Study (IPA 81-CA-04)
$50,000 IPA/$104,980 total project cost.

This grant will fund the development and validation of a weighted caseload system for measuring the nonjudicial staffing needs of California's municipal and justice courts.

E. The following Judicial Council projects were approved for funding by federal Office of Traffic Safety grants in 1981:

1. Traffic Adjudication Workshop for Juvenile Traffic Hearing Officers (OTS number to be assigned)
$15,000 OTS/$15,000 total project cost.

This grant will finance a statewide conference for all juvenile traffic hearing officers to present and discuss recent legislative developments, management techniques and general information relevant to the role and responsibilities of these officers in the trial court system.

2. Traffic Adjudication Workshop for Commissioners and Traffic Referees (OTS number to be assigned)
$15,000 OTS/$15,000 total project cost.

This project will fund a statewide conference for all commissioners and traffic referees hearing adult cases to present and discuss recent legislative developments, management techniques and general information relevant to the role and responsibilities of these individuals in the trial court system.

H. COORDINATION OF MULTICOURT CIVIL ACTIONS

The number of petitions for coordination⁹ received in the Administrative Office of the Courts passed the 1,000 mark on July 25, 1980. The mix of business, described in a very general way, has remained fairly constant during the first 1,000 petitions. Wrongful death, personal injury and property damage litigation comes first with 530 petitions divided between actions arising out of motor vehicle collisions (461) and nonmotor vehicle events (69). Commercial disputes, accounting for 166 petitions, were the next most common course of coordination activity, followed by real property (142 petitions divided among 106 involving wrongful detainer issues and 36 other), construction and subdivision (59), fire casualty (35) and public law (21) litigation. Miscellaneous claims, including some family law and probate cases constituted the remainder of the filings (47).

The first 1,000 petitions included 3,168 actions, divided among the superior courts (2,289), municipal courts (869), and justice courts (10). Seventy-one percent included only two actions, 12 percent included three actions, and 17 percent included more than three actions.

⁹ Code Civ. Proc., §§ 404-404.8; Cal. Rules of Court, rules 1501-1550. Coordination is basically a two-step procedure: on petition, the Chairperson of the Judicial Council assigns a coordination motion judge to determine whether coordination of cases pending in different courts and sharing a common question of fact or law is appropriate (Code Civ. Proc., § 404; Cal. Rules of Court, rules 1521, 1524) and if coordination is ordered, the Chairperson assigns a trial judge to hear and determine the coordinated actions (Code Civ. Proc., § 404.3; Cal. Rules of Court, rules 1529, 1540).

Fifty-seven percent of the first 1,000 petitions involved "vertical" coordination of superior court and municipal or justice court actions. The 1980 Legislature amended the coordination statute¹⁰ to permit the transfer of lower court cases for consolidation in the superior court in lieu of coordination, which is expected to reduce the paperwork and management burdens in such proceedings.

Of the total number of petitions for coordination in which rulings had been made by July 25, 1980, 76 percent had been granted, with the remainder withdrawn, become moot or denied.

The number of petitions filed in each calendar year since the effective date of the coordination procedure show a growth pattern as follows: 1974, 67 petitions; 1975, 95 petitions; 1976, 118 petitions; 1977, 131 petitions; 1978, 183 petitions; 1979, 229 petitions; 1980, 290 petitions.

The subject-matter categories of the 290 petitions for coordination filed in calendar year 1980 were: personal injury, 168 (motor vehicle, 150; other, 18); real property, 45 (unlawful detainer, 38; other, 7); commercial, 35; construction, 25; fire casualties, 8; public law, 5; miscellaneous, 4. A total of 881 actions were involved, 591 in the superior courts, 280 in the municipal courts, and 10 in the justice courts. "Vertical" coordination totaled 186, 118 affecting the Los Angeles Superior Court. Of the rulings made by December 31, 1980, for cases filed during 1980, 53 percent of the petitions were granted. Two-action petitions totaled 224, three-action petitions totaled 30, with the remainder being 36.

Among the proceedings originating during 1980 which generated considerable interest was the "Asbestos Insurance Coverage Cases" (Jud. Co. No. 1072) which concerns the theories of insurance coverage applying to the hundreds of asbestosis cases on file in California and which may affect potential exposure extending into billions of dollars.

I. JUDICIAL ARBITRATION

California courts reported a total of 26,930 cases placed on the arbitration hearing list during fiscal 1979-1980, the first year of operation of the expanded judicial arbitration program.¹¹ The volume of filings was six times that of the predecessor judicial arbitration program which was operative for three years ending June 30, 1979 and which was limited to arbitration of superior court cases upon stipulation of the parties, or when the plaintiff elected to arbitrate and waived damages in excess of $7,500. The expanded judicial arbitration program extended stipulated/elective arbitration to all courts, and lifted the ceiling for arbitration by plaintiff's election to $15,000, coincident with the increase in municipal court jurisdiction to that amount. Also, subject to excepted categories, superior courts with ten or more judges were authorized to order arbitration when the amount in controversy was found not to exceed $15,000. Smaller su-

The percentage of requests for trials de novo after an arbitration award has continued to increase, reaching 38 percent for fiscal 1979-1980. However, as in previous years, incomplete evidence indicates that the great majority of cases in which a request for trial de novo is made are disposed of short of trial.

During fiscal 1979-80, 25 of the 45 superior courts with 10 or fewer judges reported a total of 1,208 arbitration filings. J. CHANGE OF VENUE IN CRIMINAL CASES

Pursuant to Penal Code section 1038 the Judicial Council in 1972 adopted California Rules of Court 840-844 to provide an administrative procedure for assisting the trial court when venue in criminal cases is changed. Rule 842 provides that "When the court in which the action is pending determines that it should be transferred pursuant to section 1033 or 1034 of the Penal Code, it shall advise the Administrative Director of the Courts of the pending transfer. Upon being advised the Director shall, in order to expedite judicial business and equalize the work of the judges, suggest a court or courts that would not be unduly burdened by the trial of the case. . . ."

The Administrative Office of the Courts was advised of 23 felony and 4 misdemeanor cases in which a change of venue motion was granted in 1980.

In connection with a pending transfer, workload reports are reviewed and the presiding judges of possible receiving courts, including those suggested by the judge granting the motion, are contacted regarding their ability to conduct the trial. Various factors are reviewed with the judges contacted, such as the trial's probable length, the availability of assigned judges, and any special security problems.

The judge who has granted the motion is advised of one or more courts that would not be unduly burdened by the case. After the judge has determined the proper court for the trial following a hearing pursuant to McGown v. Superior Court (1977) 75 Cal.App.3d 648, the Administrative Office is notified of the choice and advises each of the courts previously contacted.

The Administrative Office of the Courts also renders assistance, on request, when change of venue motions are granted in civil cases.

CHAPTER 2 JUDICIAL STATISTICS

A. SUPREME COURT

1. SUMMARY OF FILINGS AND BUSINESS TRANSACTED

In 1979-80 the Supreme Court recorded 3,858 filings, a return to the 1977-78 peak level after a decline in 1978-79.

There were 22 death penalty cases automatically appealed directly to the Supreme Court.¹

The court's workload was almost equally divided between civil matters (1859 or 48%) and matters arising out of criminal or quasicriminal controversies (1999 or 52%).

^R Revised

^a It appears likely that beginning in 1974-75 a change in the method of counting petitions for hearing inadvertently introduced a change in definition. Petitions for hearing in 1978-79 and 1979-80 were recounted and are correct. Data reported for prior years may not, therefore, be fully comparable to the data for 1978-79 and 1979-80.

^b Three petitions were withdrawn after filing.

^c Due to small number, these filings were included in listing by character of underlying proceeding.

^d Petition for hearing statistics are based on the record of those disposed of during the fiscal year. A separate count of filings had not been maintained by the Clerk's office because of the short time between filing and action upon a petition (see rule 28(a),(e), Calif. Rules of Court). A separate count of petitions filed is expected to be available for fiscal year 1981-82.

During the fiscal year, the Supreme Court disposed of 3,180 petitions for hearing, a 6 percent increase from last year's 3,006. It also ruled on 543 original proceedings, an 8 percent decrease, and 17 executive clemency applications, in addition to numerous motions and petitions for rehearing. The Court disposed of 100 appeals and 40 original proceedings by written opinion, a total of 140 cases decided on the merits, in addition to the Court's workload of reviewing petitions for hearing, original proceedings and other matters.

¹ Direct appeals to the Supreme Court are permitted only in criminal cases where judgment of death has been pronounced. Cal. Const., art. VI, sec. 11. In those cases, the appeal is automatic. Pen. Code, § 1239 (b).

^a See note a, Table I, concerning a possible discontinuity in the data.

^b "Transfer after hold" is distinguished from "transfer and retransfer orders" in that the "transfer after hold" cases involve an issue the Supreme Court decided in another, "lead" case; after the "lead" case is decided, cases involving the same issue are frequently transferred to Courts of Appeal for decision in the light of the "lead" case. The number of such cases was unusually large in 1979-80 because of the large number of cases involving the same issue as People vs. Sage (1990) 26 Cal.3d 498, modified 27 Cal.3d 144a.

^c Includes those filed initially in the Supreme Court, and those previously decided by Courts of Appeal but transferred to the Supreme Court on petition for hearing or on its own motion.

^d Excluding granted motions to dismiss reported under appeals.

^e Not reported elsewhere.

^f Data previous to 1973-74 included in miscellaneous.

^g Cal. Const., art. V, sec. 8.

The Supreme Court's workload also included a number of disciplinary proceedings against attorneys, as reflected in Table III below. A large percentage of the attorneys subject to disciplinary proceedings did not seek review² of the State Bar's recommendations and, as noted in Table III, a number resigned while proceedings were pending. Even when the attorney involved did not challenge the recommendation, however, the Supreme Court reviewed the record and made its own determination of the appropriate disciplinary sanction. In several cases, the Court's preliminary review indicated a possible sanction more severe than that recommended by the State Bar; in those cases, the attorney was invited to file a response if one had not previously been submitted.

² When an attorney files a petition for a writ of review in the Supreme Court, the disciplinary matter is docketed as a civil original proceeding, and the case is reflected both in the summary of the filings and, when decided, in the business transacted tables.

2. PETITIONS FOR HEARING

There were 3,183 petitions for hearing in matters previously decided by Courts of Appeal. This is the largest number in the Supreme Court's history. Petitions for hearing in appeals (2,044) accounted for 64 percent of all petitions for hearing.

Table IIIA indicates that petitions for hearing in appeals bore about the same relationship to appeals decided by Courts of Appeal (33.1%) as last year (33.3%).

3. ORIGINAL PROCEEDINGS

Filings of civil original proceedings in the Supreme Court were almost identical to last year (215 vs. 213). Criminal original proceedings increased (438 vs. 378), but remained below the level of 1977-78 and preceding years.

Although relatively few petitions for original writs are granted and decided by the Supreme Court by written opinion, they impose a substantial workload on the Court, since each matter filed must be evaluated by the Court to determine if it presents a question of substantial merit. A significant number are found to be sufficiently meritorious to require a full hearing, which the Supreme Court may direct should be held in a lower court.³

Unlike the Courts of Appeal, the Supreme Court now classifies original proceedings according to the nature of the underlying controversy. Thus, a proceeding dealing with a criminal case is a "criminal original proceeding" even though the issue is raised by mandamus or prohibition, historically considered civil writs; and a proceeding in which criminal law principles are applicable to a juvenile case would also be counted as "criminal". Legal questions of great significance may arise and be decided in these matters; for example, the case⁴ in which the Supreme Court determined that California's 1973 death penalty law⁵ was unconstitutional came before the Court as a petition for a writ of prohibition.

4. APPEALS

Twenty-two direct appeals were filed⁶ in 1979-80, representing criminal cases in which the death penalty was imposed. Five death penalty cases were decided in 1979-80.

Except for those five cases, the appeals shown as disposed of in Table II consisted entirely of cases in which a hearing was granted in the Supreme Court pursuant to petition or on the Court's own motion in the exercise of its discretion, rather than cases within the Supreme Court's original appellate jurisdiction.

³ See Table II, "Transfers and Retransfers" and "Alternative Writs or Orders to Show Cause."

⁴ Rockwell v. Superior Court (1976) 18 Cal.3d 420.

⁵ Pen. Code, §§ 190-190.3.

⁶ A criminal appeal is deemed "filed" when the record, including a reporter's transcript, is received by the reviewing court.

B. COURTS OF APPEAL

1. FILINGS

Summary

Filings of contested matters⁷ in the Courts of Appeal increased by 1,521 (11.8 percent) over the previous year. There were increases in all categories of filings, but the greatest increases were in civil appeals (+ 587 or 16%) and civil original proceedings (+ 429 or 11%).

Court of Appeal filings in 1979-80 included 8,835 appeals, which comprised 61.5 percent of all contested filings in those courts, a figure consistent with that in prior years.

Appeals—Civil

The 4,249 civil appeals filed in 1979-80 represent an increase of 16.0 percent over last year. Civil appeals had increased at an annual rate averaging around 7 percent from 1967-68 to 1978-79.⁸

COURTS OF APPEAL—STATE TOTAL⁹

Figure 1

⁷ "Contested matters" includes all appeals and original proceedings; it excludes motions to dismiss on clerk's certificate, which do not significantly add to the courts' workload.

⁸ The increase is stated as the equivalent of a compound interest rate, that is, on the average each year increases by about that rate over the total civil appeals in the previous year.

⁹ This and other charts in this section are plotted on "semilog" scales so that a constant slope represents a constant percent of change, and equal vertical distances represent equal percentage differences.

Table VII indicates that civil appeals increased from about 14 percent to over 17 percent of contested superior court civil dispositions. This increase in the percentage of civil cases appealed accounts for the increase in civil appeals, as the number of contested superior court civil dispositions actually decreased.

Appeals—Criminal

The 4,586 criminal appeals filed in 1979-80 were an increase of 307 (7.2%) over the number filed in 1978-79. This corresponds to the long-term trend of 7 percent mentioned in last year's report and depicted in Figure 1.

Criminal appeals equaled 110.4 percent of convictions after contested trials in superior court; the corresponding figure last year was 100.5 percent. This tends to support last year's hypothesis that the increasing percentage is the combined result of the higher number of defendants who plead guilty rather than face a trial, and an increase in the number of appeals by both the defense and the prosecution on sentencing questions. As indicated in a footnote to Table VII, this percentage is derived by comparing total criminal appeals to total convictions by contested trial, and not by tracking individual cases to see which appealable cases are actually appealed.

The trend toward fewer contested trials and more guilty pleas is discussed in the Sentencing Practices Annual Report, supra; and appears directly in Appendix Table 22. Although guilt cannot normally be reviewed on appeal after a guilty plea (Pen. Code, §§ 1237, 1237.5), sentence can be questioned. It was noted in the 1979 Annual Report (page 48) that appellate workload was expected to reflect issues arising under the new determinate sentencing law. Such questions can be raised even after a plea of guilty.

New statistical measures will be developed which will differentiate between appeals from the conviction and appeals raising only sentencing questions.

Original Proceedings

Civil original proceedings consist primarily of petitions for the writs of mandamus and prohibition. These writs are used to seek appellate review of trial court decisions when an appeal is not permitted or would be an inadequate remedy, as is often true of interlocutory rulings.

Filings—Highlights by District

District 1. Although civil appeal filings in the First District were again virtually unchanged from 1976-77, criminal appeals increased 181 (18.3%) over last year.

Figure 3

District 2. In this district, civil and criminal appeal filings increased by 252 (24.7%) and 192 (11.3%) respectively.

Figure 4

District 3. Civil appeals increased sharply (+ 135, or 30.5%) to almost exactly the number suggested by projecting the long-term trend of an average annual increase of 14 percent.

Figure 5

District 4. Civil appeals increased by 143 (18.8%), in line with the trend shown in Figure 6. Criminal appeals increased by only 52 (7.6%) but the long-term trend would suggest a greater increase in the future.

Figure 6

District 5. Civil appeals increased by 74 (23.4%), continuing the trend which saw increases of 27.9 percent last year, 35.7 percent in 1977-78, and 33.8% in 1976-77.

Criminal appeals decreased; but in view of the long-term trend shown in Figure 7, they are likely to return to about the 1978-79 level (504) in the near future.

Summary

In 1979-80 the Courts of Appeal set another new record in disposing of 6,659 contested matters¹⁰ on the merits by written opinion (+ 495, or 8.0%, over last year). More trial court judges and retired judges were assigned to assist Courts of Appeal than last year, increasing the number of judge-equivalents from 58.1 to 63.6 (+ 9.5%) (see Table IX). This additional assistance appears to be largely responsible for the increased number of dispositions on the merits.

Dispositions by written opinion included 2,816 civil appeals (+ 5.3%), 3,359 criminal appeals (+ 9.2%) (6,175 total appeals), and 484 dispositions of original proceedings (+ 16.9%).

2,523 civil appeals and 982 criminal appeals were disposed of without opinion. In most cases, appeals disposed of without written opinion constitute little burden on the court because they are settled or abandoned. In a court with an active preargument settlement conference program, however, many of these settlements may be the result of judicial efforts which, while less time-consuming than deciding contested cases, still require substantial judicial resources.

All original proceedings, whether or not resulting in written opinions, require judicial review to determine whether they have merit. Thus, although written opinions in original proceedings increased by only 70, the 4,841 (+ 483 over 1978-79) original proceedings disposed of without written opinion represented a significant increase in judicial workload.

¹⁰ "Contested matters" means appeals and original proceedings. While some motions (e.g., a contested motion to dismiss) may add significantly to the courts' work, the majority of motions do not do so to any great extent.

In 1975, the Judicial Council concluded that "in evaluating the need for Court of Appeal justices . . . current experience indicates generally that one judge is required for each 95 written opinions. . . ." ¹¹ Even with the assistance of retired judges and trial court judges sitting on assignment, the Courts of Appeal are generally exceeding this standard in order to maintain reasonable currency. All districts except the Third disposed of 100 or more cases per judge-equivalent by written opinion, and the state total was 104.7 cases per judge-equivalent.

^R Revised.

Although new judgeships were authorized for the Fourth and Fifth Appellate Districts effective January 1, 1980 (Stats. 1979, chs. 814 and 1020), the filing trends depicted in Figures 1 through 7 suggest that additional judgeships will be needed in the near future to prevent severe overloads.

Beginning in January 1975, the Third Appellate District began an experimental program of holding preargument settlement conferences in civil appeals. The initial success of this program has led to its expansion, in the Third Appellate District, to almost all civil appeals (beginning in 1977); to its application, in much more limited form, in other districts; and to the adoption of a statewide rule facilitating settlement conferences.¹² While there is little question that these conferences result in a significant number of added settlements, saving the parties expense and uncertainty, it is difficult to measure the results of the program statistically, because it has always been true that a large number of civil cases settle or are abandoned pending appeal.

Two new statistical measures are included in this year's report to include the results of settlement conferences in a way that is not dependent on possible subjective evaluations of their success. Table IX-A shows, per judge-equivalent, the number of cases disposed of, including civil appeals disposed of without opinion (i.e., settled or otherwise dismissed), so as to give equal weight to dispositions achieved by settlement and dispositions by written opinion.

Table IX-B shows, as a percentage of civil appeals filed, the number disposed of without opinion. This measure has historically varied from district to district. Comparison of the trends in other districts with that in the Third, however, suggests the impact of the Third District's intensive settlement conference program: dismissals increased sharply coincident with the start of their experimental program (mid-1974-75), have increased further, and exceed the dismissal percentages in other districts.

A tabulation of the outcome of criminal appeals (Table X-A) shows that relatively few are successful. In about one-third of the cases which the Supreme Court deemed sufficiently important to review, the trial court decision was reversed.

The percentages are not significantly different from previous years.

3. BACKLOG AND DELAY

Total Appeals Pending

There were 7,462 appeals pending in the Courts of Appeal on June 30, 1980, an increase of 1,143 (18.1%) over the number pending a year earlier. An appeal is treated as "filed" for statistical purposes when the record on appeal is transmitted to the Court of Appeal. It is not ready for action by the court, however, until briefing has been completed, which is normally several months after the appeal is filed. During the intervening period, a significant percentage of appeals is dismissed as a result of settlement or abandonment.

Accordingly, while total appeals pending indicate the courts' potential workload, only those in the category "argued, calendared or ready for calendar" represent appeals ready for judicial action.

Pending Appeals Argued, Calendared or Ready for Calendar

An appeal is ready for judicial action when the last brief has been filed, or the time for its filing has passed. Of the total appeals pending on June 30, 1980, there were 3,212 ready for judicial action, as compared with 2,644 pending a year earlier, an increase of 568 (21.5%) (see Table XII). The increase in both ready civil appeals (+ 325) and ready criminal appeals (+ 243) indicates that the problem is not isolated, and is the result of the increased filings in both categories (see Table VI and Figure 1).

The significance of the backlog of ready appeals may be measured by comparing the backlog with the number of cases the court disposes of in a year.¹³ The "ready pending ratio" in Table XIII is the court's backlog of ready appeals expressed as a percentage of the preceding year's dispositions by written opinion. There is, of course, an irreducible minimum number of cases that will be on hand. For example, if one month were allowed for calendaring and notice and one month for decision, there would be two months' ready appeals, or a ratio of 16.7 percent.

¹³ Dispositions by written opinion are used here because dismissals by stipulation and the like generally occur before cases are "ready."

Statewide, there are still over six months' civil cases (64.2 percent of a year) ready, and ready criminal cases are up to 5 months' workload (41.8 percent of a year). Some of the ready backlog figures are cause for particular concern; e.g., in the Fifth District, a year's criminal appeals and 1½ years' civil cases are ready, despite that Court's high productivity per judge (Tables IX and IX-A).

Delay

Viewing the ratios in the preceding table as fractions of a year, they correspond closely to the reported average times for decision of ready appeals in the several districts. Criminal appeals receive priority in consideration and are normally decided promptly after briefing is completed.

Civil appeals in some districts, however, are to an increasing degree pending for extended periods of time after the last brief is filed. In evaluating Table XIV it should be noted that times are stated as the median number of months that a case was pending, based on cases decided during the last quarter of the fiscal year. It therefore follows, by definition, that: (a) one-half of all cases decided during the quarter were probably pending for a greater period of time than that stated, and (b) in a court whose backlog of cases is increasing, appeals still pending on June 30 will, on the average, take longer until decision than the times shown in this table.

C. SUPERIOR COURTS

1. FILINGS

Highlights

The 710,700 cases filed in superior courts in 1979-80 reflected a decrease from the preceding year for the first time in eight years. About 30,200 or 4 percent fewer cases were filed than in the preceding year.

Fewer cases were filed in five categories. The categories were other civil petitions (-14,700), personal injury, death and property damage (-9,800), other civil complaints (-9,300), juvenile delinquency (-4,000) and family law (-200). Together, a total decrease of about 38,000 cases was registered. One possible factor contributing to the decline in the filing of personal injury, death and property damage, and other civil complaint cases was legislation, effective July 1, 1979, which raised the jurisdictional limit in lower court civil cases from $5,000 to $15,000. Thus, after the legislation, affected cases were filed in municipal and justice courts rather than in superior courts. (See Lower Court section for analysis of the effect on civil cases filed in municipal and justice courts.)

R Revised.

In seven categories more cases were filed in 1979-80 than in 1978-79, but the rise was less dramatic than the declines in other categories. The increases occurred in the following categories: criminal (+4,000), probate and guardianship (+1,400), juvenile dependency (+1,300), eminent domain (+400), appeals from lower courts (+400) and habeas corpus (+300). In mental health, about the same number of cases was filed in both 1979-80 and in 1978-79.

The filings per judge index which had increased the past eight years, although at a much slower rate during the past three years, dropped sharply in 1979-80 as filings declined and 15 courts were given a total of 46 additional judges. The drop from 1,321 filings per judge in 1978-79 to 1,171 filings per judge in 1979-80 ended, at least temporarily, the upward trend in such filings. The 1979-80 filings per judge, nevertheless, still exceeded two other years of the past decade.

Filings by Type of Proceeding

In 1979-80 the other civil petitions category reflected the largest numerical decline in filings. Those filings decreased by 14,700, or 12 percent from the record peak reached a year earlier, to 103,700 cases in 1979-80. About 10,000 fewer cases, or two-thirds of the decrease, occurred in Los Angeles County. The decline reflects, in part, a reduction in the number of petitions filed relating to child support.

R Revised

The categories reflecting the next largest reductions in filings were personal injury, death and property damage, and other civil complaints. Personal injury, death and property damage filings decreased by 9,800, and other civil complaint filings decreased by 9,300 from the record totals filed a year earlier.¹⁴ These two categories were affected most by the previously mentioned legislation which raised the jurisdictional limit in lower court civil cases from $5,000 to $15,000. As a result, many cases which formally would have been filed in superior courts were filed in municipal and justice courts. The legislation appeared to have a greater effect on ¹⁴ The change in lower court civil jurisdiction from $5,000 to $15,000 probably affected personal injury death and property damage, and other civil complaints the most. If these filings are combined, 31 of the 58 superior courts had decreases in those categories in 1979-80. Those courts with the largest decreases are: Los Angeles (-12,100), San Francisco (-1,500), Alameda (-1,400), San Diego (-1,200) and Santa Clara (-1,100).

cases involving motor vehicles than on other personal injury cases. About 9,500 cases or 96 percent of the overall personal injury decrease involved motor vehicle cases. In contrast, motor vehicle cases comprised about two-thirds of all personal injury cases filed in superior courts. Other personal injury cases, which include medical malpractice suits, declined by only 400 cases.

Probate and guardianship filings, after two consecutive years of declines, rose by 1,400 cases or 2 percent in 1979-80. The 1979-80 level was still slightly below the record number filed in 1976-77.

Eminent domain filings which registered an increase of 21 percent, reflected the largest relative change of all categories. The numerical increase, however, was only 400 cases above the record low registered in 1978-79.

Juvenile delinquency cases reflect the fourth largest decrease with a reduction of 4,000 cases or 5 percent from the preceding year. The decline is the fourth in four years since 1975-76. Accounting for almost 3,600 or 90 percent of the overall decline in juvenile delinquency cases were filings under Section 602 of the Welfare and Institutions Code. The record peak of such cases occurred in 1976-77 when 86,400 cases were filed. Subsequently, cases filed under Section 602 of the Welfare and Institutions Code have been decreasing and dropped to 81,000 cases in 1979-80. Similarly, cases filed under Section 601 of the Welfare and Institutions Code have been decreasing since 1975-76, the first year petitions filed under sections 601 and 602 were reported separately. A record number of 12,800 cases were filed in 1975-76. In 1979-80 the figure decreased to 1,300 cases, reflecting in large part a decline of petitions filed concerning minors who ran away from home.

Juvenile dependency petitions, contrary to the trend in juvenile delinquency cases, have been rising each year since 1975-76, the first year the category subsequent petitions was included in filings. About 1,300 filings or 7 percent more cases were filed in 1979-80 than in 1978-79. With the increase a record level of 19,600 cases was established.

About 4,000 or 7 percent more criminal cases were filed in 1979-80 than in the preceding year. The increase was the largest of all categories, and the total of 57,900 cases filed was the highest in seven years. Criminal cases have been filed at the rate of 54,000 to 55,000 cases a year since 1973-74. The 1979-80 filings reflected the first significant increase. Superior court workloads are significantly affected by changes in criminal filings since such cases generally take precedence over civil cases in trial setting and account for over half of the jury trials conducted in superior courts.

Modest changes occurred in the appeals from the lower court category and the habeas corpus category. About 400 or 3 percent more filings were reported in appeals and about 300 or 2 percent more cases were reported in the habeas corpus category.

Family law and mental health filings were relatively unchanged in 1979-80.

Filings In Weighted Units

The weighted caseload represents the estimated time required to dispose of the various categories of cases filed in superior courts and is the result of multiplying the number of filings in a category by the computed average case-related time required to dispose of a filing of that category. Dividing the total weighted units of a category by the judge-year value, that is, the average number of weighted units a judge is able to dispose of in a year, determines the number of judicial positions required to dispose of the weighted caseload. Weighted units are used primarily to estimate the judgeship needs of a court.

Multiplication of the case weights approved by the Judicial Council in 1977¹⁵ by the filings reported in 1979-80 produces a caseload of 54.4 million weighted units for the superior courts. This weighted caseload, when divided by the average judge-year value for all superior courts of 73,000 units, showed a need for 745 judicial positions. In comparison, the number of judicial positions actually authorized in superior courts in 1979-80 was 705, including 46 new judgeships added during the year.

Figure 9 displays the number of judicial positions required to dispose of the weighted units in each major case category. It also displays the percentage that each major category is of total filings as well as of total weighted units. The categories are arranged according to the volume of caseload with the largest located at the bottom of the chart. The categories for filings are listed on the left side and the categories for weighted units are listed on the right side.

The listing on the right side shows that the three categories with the largest weighted caseload were criminal, other civil complaints, and family law. These categories accounted for over two-thirds of the weighted caseload filed in superior courts in 1979-80, indicating the need for 511 of the 745 judicial positions required to process the cases.

The criminal category was responsible for 30 percent of the total weighted units in superior court. Even though its filings were only 8 percent of the total, the weighted caseload system indicated a need for 224 judicial positions to process these criminal cases.

The category with the next largest weighted caseload was other civil complaints. Its weighted units were 24 percent of the total and represented a need for 178 judicial positions.

¹⁵ See 1978 Annual Report, page 83. A judicial time survey to update the weighted caseload system was conducted during the months of October and November 1979. The results of that survey were presented to the Judicial Council in May 1980 but have not been approved for use pending a study of the theoretical basis of the weighted caseload system by an Advisory Committee.

² Weighted filings divided by the judge-year standard of 74,000 weighted units for Los Angeles County and 72,600 weighted units for the remainder of the state. The 74,000 weighted units is the approved standard for courts with 11 or more judicial positions. The 72,600 weighted units is the average of the approved set of judge-year standards considering the number of judicial positions in each judge-year group as computed below:

Court size in judicial positions	Judge-year standard	Judicial positions in group	Judicial positions multiplied by judge-year standard

³ Parts do not add to total because of rounding.

The family law category, with 25 percent of the total cases filed in superior court, had more filings in 1979-80 than any other group. Its weighted units, however, ranked third highest with 15 percent of the total, reflecting a requirement for 108 judicial positions to dispose of those cases.

Personal injury and juvenile delinquency categories ranked, respectively, fourth and fifth highest in weighted units with proportions of 11 percent and 9 percent. Their share of filings was somewhat comparable, with personal injury cases and juvenile delinquency petitions, each comprising 12 percent of the total.

The remaining seven categories, including juvenile dependency, probate and guardianship, other civil petitions, appeals from lower courts, eminent domain, mental health, and habeas corpus, accounted for about one-third of the total superior court filings but only 11 percent of the total weighted units. The weighted units in this group represented a caseload for 84 judicial positions.

2. DISPOSITIONS

Highlights

In 1979-80 superior courts disposed of 562,000 cases exclusive of civil matters dismissed for lack of prosecution.¹⁶ This level represented a decline of 4 percent from the volume disposed of in 1978-79 and paralleled the decrease in filings. As in filings, the largest decline in dispositions occurred in the other civil petitions category. Dispositions of personal injury, death and property damage cases also declined but not to the same extent as filings. Dispositions of other civil complaints, contrary to the trend in filings, did not decrease. Apparently, personal injury, death and property damage and other civil complaint cases filed but not disposed of in previous years compensated, in part, for the decline in cases filed in 1979-80.

^R Revised

In 1979-80 the average number of cases disposed of per judicial position equivalent¹⁷ dropped by 7 percent to 817 with the reduction in total dispositions. This disposition rate provides a rough index of judicial output. It is, however, influenced not only by judicial effort but also by factors over which the courts have little or no control, for example: rate at which cases are filed, manner in which cases are disposed of, and the effect of changes in the statutes and case law.

¹⁶ Under Cal. Code of Civ. Proc., §§ 581a and 583, courts may dismiss old cases for lack of prosecution. From time to time individual courts purge their records by making such "housekeeping" dismissals. In 1979-80 these dismissals totaled 9,866; in 1978-79 they totaled 8,918. Dispositions, excluding civil cases dismissed for lack of prosecution, indicate more accurately than do total dispositions the number of cases disposed of by judicial effort. In the discussion that follows, disposition figures do not include civil dismissals for lack of prosecution. Civil dismissals for lack of prosecution, however, are included in the disposition totals shown in appendix Tables 11 through 18. Thus, there is a difference between the disposition figures shown in the text tables and those shown in the appendix tables.

¹⁷ Judicial position equivalents are defined as authorized judgeships, plus full-time commissioners and referees, when adjusted to reflect judge vacancies, assistance rendered to other courts by superior court judges and assistance received by superior courts from assigned judges or from temporary judges serving by stipulation of the parties.

The work of the judges, however, did not diminish as much as the disposition rate might suggest since of the total decrease of 26,000 dispositions about 16,900 or two-thirds occurred before reaching the trial stage. About 8 percent fewer cases were disposed of before trial in 1979-80 than in 1978-79. Cases going to trial—contested matters and jury trials—as indicators of heavy workload changed only slightly. Cases disposed of after trial only decreased by 2 percent while contested matters were only down by 1 percent and jury trials did not decline.

Disposed of Before Trial and After Trial

Of all superior court cases, about 209,200 or 40 percent were disposed of without trial in 1979-80. This level was about 16,900 cases or 8 percent less than the number disposed of before trial in 1978-79. (See Table XVIII-B.) The largest decline of 20,800 (-36 percent) occurred in the category of other civil petitions where customarily about two-thirds of the cases are disposed of before trial. (See Figure 10.) Other categories in which the number of the cases disposed of before trial declined but in much smaller magnitudes were personal injury, death and property damage (-1,300), other civil complaints (-800), eminent domain (-100) and appeals from lower courts (-100). Offsetting increases were registered in the other categories with the largest in criminal (+2,400), family law (+1,300), and habeas corpus (+1,000).

About 352,900 cases or 60 percent of all superior court cases were disposed of after trial in 1979-80. (See Table XVIII-B.) This volume was only 9,000 cases or 2 percent less than the number tried during the preceding year. Because of this relatively small decline, and since trials are the most time-consuming activity, judicial work in superior courts remained at a high level. Categories that reflected fewer trials in 1979-80 than in 1978-79 were family law (-5,100), juvenile delinquency (-3,700), other civil petitions (-2,100), probate and guardianship (-700), habeas corpus (-500), criminal (-400) and appeals from lower courts (-200).

Even though the change in municipal court civil jurisdiction moderately reduced the number of superior court cases filed in the categories of personal injury, death and property damage and other civil complaints, the number of such cases that were tried did not decline in 1979-80. Instead, about 2,500 (+18 percent) more cases in the other civil complaints category were tried in 1979-80 than in 1978-79. Trials of personal injury, death and property damage category cases increased by only 128 cases. Juvenile dependency was the only other category with a large gain in trials in 1979-80, with an increase of about 1,000 trials over the number reported in the previous year.

Table XIX shows the number of criminal defendants who were convicted or acquitted before and after trial and the number of criminal cases that were dismissed or transferred before trial. A large portion of superior court criminal cases are normally disposed of before trial by pleas of guilty. In 1979-80, 88 percent of such cases in superior court were disposed of before trial; 76 percent by pleas of guilty and 12 percent by dismissals and transfers. About 6,300 or 12 percent of all criminal cases were disposed of by trial. Although the number of cases proceeding to trial is relatively small, jury trials absorb a substantial portion of the judicial effort expended on criminal matters.

Contested Matters

Contested matters are those cases disposed of after a trial or a hearing that has progressed to a point where both parties have introduced evidence. These are the most time-consuming types of dispositions.

Table XX shows that about 63,300 cases disposed of in 1979-80 were contested matters. This figure was 800 cases or just over 1 percent less than in 1978-79. The decline was smaller than for cases disposed of after trial, which decreased by 9,000 cases (2 percent) from the earlier year, as might be expected in view of the large drop in uncontested matters. The categories that experienced decreases from a year earlier were personal injury, death and property damage, other civil complaints, other civil petitions, criminal, appeals from lower courts and habeas corpus.

Table XX-A shows the number of contested matters disposed of each year since 1970-71 for four selected categories of proceedings that require substantial judicial effort. These categories accounted for nearly 27,000 or 43 percent of all contested matters disposed of in 1979-80. The total was about the same as the number contested in 1978-79 and only 6 percent below the peak of 28,800 contested matters disposed of in 1976-77.

3. JURY TRIALS

The number of jury trials held is another important measure of judicial activity in superior courts. Prior to 1975-76 this information was not collected and the number of juries sworn was used as an index. Table XXI shows the number of juries sworn each year since 1970-71 for all cases and the two selected categories of personal injury, death and property damage, and criminal.

In 1979-80 jury trials in superior courts disposed of about 7,400 cases. This total was about the same as the number disposed of by jury in 1978-79, even though the number of contested matters decreased slightly from the preceding year.

Jury trials of personal injury and criminal cases together accounted for about 6,300 cases or 86 percent of the total number of jury trials held in superior court. The criminal category alone accounted for 60 percent. The number of jury trials held in criminal proceedings was about the same as in 1978-79. In personal injury proceedings, about 5 percent more cases were tried by juries in 1979-80.

4. CONDITION OF CIVIL CALENDARS— METROPOLITAN COURTS

In 1980, for the first time since 1972, the condition of the civil calendars in the larger metropolitan superior courts did not continue to worsen but remained relatively unchanged from the preceding year.

The two indices that the Judicial Council uses to describe the condition of civil calendars are the number of civil cases awaiting trial and the elapsed time to trial measured from the filing of the at-issue memorandum. These indices are closely related and an increase or decrease in the number of cases awaiting trial often forecasts a similar change in elapsed time to trial.

The following discussion of civil calendar conditions is based on the 21 superior courts with six or more judges.¹⁸ Together these courts account for about 90 percent of civil filings statewide and for a corresponding proportion of both case inventory and jury trials. Also, problems of calendar congestion and lengthy waiting time to trial generally are most severe in these larger courts. Even though the courts are often discussed as a group, each calendar is unique and conditions will, of course, differ from one court to another.

Number of Civil Cases Awaiting Trial

The inventory of civil cases awaiting trial (cases on the civil active list as the result of filing an at-issue memorandum) as of June 30, 1971 through 1980 is shown in Table XXII. The total of 126,894 civil cases that awaited trial in the 21 courts as of June 30, 1980 was the highest for any June since these records have been compiled. The 1980 total was, however, only 502 cases, or less than one-half of 1 percent over the total for the previous year. Jury cases, which are the critical component of the inventory, increased again this year. The June 30, 1980 jury list of 77,031 cases represents an increase of 1,409 cases or 2 percent over the same figure for 1979.

It is important to note that only a small percentage of the inventory of "cases awaiting trial" will be disposed of by trial. For instance, only 20 percent of civil cases recorded as awaiting trial on June 30, 1979 were actually disposed of at a contested trial in 1979-80.

While the number of cases awaiting trial remained relatively unchanged between June 30, 1979 and June 30, 1980, 12 of the superior courts experienced decreases, 8 courts experienced increases and 1 court showed virtually no change. The superior courts which experienced a substantial decrease in their civil calendars were Marin, Orange, Riverside and Sonoma. The superior courts which had a substantial increase in their civil calendars were San Bernardino, San Francisco and Santa Clara.

The number and proportion of civil jury cases awaiting trial for one year or more as of June 30, 1980 are shown in Table XXIII. Also shown is a comparison of that proportion for each court as of June 30, 1979.

^R Revised.

It is noteworthy that of the 15 courts that reported an interval in excess of one year, 9 show increases from 1979 to 1980 in the percentage of civil jury cases awaiting trial in which the at-issue memoranda had been on file for more than one year.

Table XXIV shows in detail the number of civil cases awaiting trial per authorized judge as of each June 30 commencing in 1971 through 1980.

Elapsed Time to Trial

It has been noted in previous reports that the term "delay" is misleading when used to describe some of the various time elements in court proceedings terminating in trial. Therefore, in lieu of that designation the Judicial Council has adopted the term "elapsed time to trial" which more accurately describes the time from the point of filing various documents (e.g., complaint, at-issue memorandum, certificate of readiness, etc.) to the start of trial. This interval not only includes time that courts require to bring a ready case to trial, but also the substantial amount of time attorneys regularly require to prepare cases for trial. To label such composites of time periods as "court delay" is inaccurate, for it implies that the time being measured results exclusively from conditions within the court. It is true, however, that if the interval to trial is larger than present medians in other courts, or in the past, then it can be reasonably inferred that ready cases are probably being delayed by court congestion.

Table XXV displays the median elapsed time to trial, in months, from the filing of the at-issue memorandum, as of June 30, 1971 through June 30, 1980, in the 21 metropolitan courts. In nine of the courts the interval to jury trial increased between 1979 and 1980.

The interval from the at-issue memorandum to trial measures the elapsed time from the point at which attorneys first request a trial date. Even though taken from the point at which a trial is requested, this interval is not a fully reliable measure of delay chargeable to the courts. Attorneys often file at-issue memoranda for tactical reasons in cases where an early trial is neither desired nor anticipated. The at-issue memoranda has a different meaning from court to court in terms of trial readiness. Because of this, attorneys may time their filings in accordance with their knowledge of the time frame that a particular court follows in processing the case. For these reasons the index cannot be considered an entirely valid measure of the delays arising from internal court conditions.

The average interval from at-issue memorandum to trial increased between June 1979 and June 1980 in many metropolitan courts, and in several of the courts the increase was substantial. In June 1980, in only 6 of the 21 courts did the median jury case reach trial within a year of the filing of the at-issue memorandum. In all but 2 of these 21 courts (Monterey and San Mateo) the interval exceeded six months. The elapsed time increased significantly in the superior courts of Contra Costa (up 10 months), Fresno (up 4 months), Los Angeles (up 3 months), San Diego (up 6 months), Santa Clara (up 4 months), and Ventura (up 18.5 months). Eight courts—Alameda, Orange, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Santa Barbara, Sonoma, Stanislaus and Tulare, each recorded a reduction in the interval between at-issue memorandum and trial.

5. CONDITION OF CRIMINAL CALENDARS— METROPOLITAN COURTS

Data for 1980 submitted by the superior courts indicate an overall increase in the number of criminal cases set for trial in the metropolitan courts.¹⁹ The rise was quite substantial and the total is the highest since 1970. Trial calendars increased from a total of 7,515 cases set for trial as of June 30, 1979 to 8,802 on June 30, 1980, an increase of 17 percent. However, if the trial calendar for the Los Angeles court is excluded, the cases set for trial showed an increase of 13 percent from 4,506 cases set in 1979 to 5,083 in 1980.

Criminal calendar conditions are discussed in terms of the same 21 courts that were used to describe civil calendars. These larger courts together accounted for 94 percent of criminal cases calendared for trial as of June 30, 1980 and hence their problems of congestions and extended time to trial generally are more acute than other courts. Although the courts are described as a group, each court's calendar is unique and conditions will, of course, differ from one court to another. The Los Angeles court is discussed separately because its size would tend to obscure trends in other courts.

Cases Calendared for Trial

Except for good cause, a superior court must dismiss a criminal case if the defendant has not been brought to trial within 60 days of the indictment or information, unless the defendant waives the right to trial within this time.²⁰ Even though many defendants demand a trial and waive time, the 60-day requirement nevertheless tends to limit the time cases remain awaiting trial and, in contrast to civil calendars, to limit the number of cases in the inventory of criminal cases awaiting trial.

Table XXVI lists the number of criminal cases calendared for trial²¹ as of June 30, 1971 through June 1980 for the courts under consideration. It shows that 14 of the 21 courts had increases over the previous year in criminal cases set for trial while 4 of the courts showed decreases and 3 showed practically no change. The 20 courts, exclusive of Los Angeles, showed a net increase of 577 criminal cases awaiting trial, an increase of 13 percent. Criminal filings during the year for the same 20 courts increased by 1,242 cases from 31,663 to 32,905 or 4 percent. In comparison, Los Angeles recorded an increase of 710 cases awaiting trial (up 24 percent) while its filings rose by 14 percent from 17,025 in 1978-79 to 19,372 in 1979-80.

As with civil trial inventories, criminal inventories considerably overstate the number of cases that will actually reach trial. Many criminal cases are calendared for trial where, despite a trial demand, defendants neither wish nor anticipate a trial. Cases against many such defendants will ultimately be disposed of by pleas of guilty. In 1979-80, pleas of guilty (including certifications on pleas of guilty from lower courts) accounted for 77 percent or 21,843 of the 28,208 total dispositions in the 20 superior courts excluding Los Angeles. In the previous year, 76 percent of all criminal dispositions were pleas of guilty.

¹⁹ Superior Courts of Alameda, Contra Costa, Fresno, Kern, Los Angeles, Marin, Monterey, Orange, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Joaquin, San Mateo, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Sonoma, Stanislaus, Tulare and Ventura Counties. ²⁰ Pen. Code, § 1382(2).

^R Revised.

Many of the pleas of guilty came after the defendant had first pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. Although precise figures are not available, it is known that a substantial proportion of these changes of plea occur as a result of negotiations between the prosecution and defense.

There are no empirical data available as to the effects of the various types of plea negotiation on the condition of criminal trial calendars.

Relatively few criminal cases are actually disposed of by trial.²² There were 2,936 juries sworn in 1979-80 in criminal cases in the 20 metropolitan courts, exclusive of Los Angeles, comprising 10 percent of the criminal dispositions in those courts. A comparison of the number of initial trial demands with the number of juries actually sworn indicates that courts generally set about five cases for trial for each trial that results, and conversely, that guilty pleas are subsequently entered in the other four cases that had been set for trial.

In 1979-80, 10 of the 21 metropolitan courts showed an increase in the ratio of juries sworn to total filings and 11 showed decreases. The overall ratio of juries sworn to cases filed for the 21 courts did not change significantly in 1979-80 from 1978-79. In 1979-80, juries were sworn in 9 percent of criminal cases in the metropolitan courts.

²² Unless otherwise indicated "trial" excludes cases disposed of on the transcript of the preliminary hearing.

Many offenses charged as felonies in the municipal and justice courts are disposed of in those courts either by dismissal or by sentencing as misdemeanors under the provisions of Section 17(b) of the Penal Code. Table XXVIII displays the difference in the felony filings in the municipal and justice courts and the superior courts of the 21 metropolitan counties in 1979-80 municipal and justice courts in the 20 metropolitan counties, exclusive of Los Angeles municipal and justice courts, disposed of about 54 percent of the felony filings. The proportion disposed of ranged from a low of 27 percent in Ventura to a high of 70 percent in San Joaquin. It should be noted that in some cases the defendants were held to answer in the lower court but the prosecuting officer did not file an information in the superior court.

Elapsed Time to Trial

Except for good cause, or unless a defendant waives the right to a speedy trial, criminal cases must be brought to trial within 60 days of filing of the indictment or information in the superior court. When the time to trial exceeds this statutory limit the delay is usually caused by the defendant seeking or agreeing to the extended trial setting. The majority of defendants initially plead not guilty at arraignment, following which many may demand a jury trial and waive their right to a speedy trial.

Commencing about 1973-74, the superior courts have reported increases virtually every year in both the number and proportion of cases where the commencement of trial exceeded the 60-day limit. This trend receded temporarily in 1978-79 but in 1979-80 the metropolitan courts again reported increases in the number and proportion of cases with juries sworn more than 60 days from filing. In 1979-80, 15 of the 21 courts reported overall increases in the percentage of cases with juries sworn more than 60 days from the filing of the indictment or information. Of the 4,205 criminal juries sworn in these courts last year, 2,414 or 57 percent were sworn more than 60 days from filing, ranging from a low (excluding Tulare which did not report any such cases) of 20 percent in Contra Costa to a high of 96 percent in Santa Clara. Of the 21 courts, 16 reported that half or more of their criminal jury cases were tried after 60 or more days from filing. In three courts, over 75 percent of the criminal jury cases tried exceeded the 60-day limit.

Los Angeles Superior Court

The Los Angeles Superior Court has been considered separately in discussing criminal proceedings since inclusion of its criminal filings, presently 33 percent of the state total, would tend to obscure trends in other courts.

Since the marked decrease in felony filings in 1971-72, felony filings in the Los Angeles Superior Court have continued to drop virtually every year. In 1979-80, the trend was reversed and criminal filings increased 14 percent over the preceding year. In the 20 other metropolitan courts, criminal filings rose only 4 percent.

The number of criminal cases calendared for trial, which fluctuated between 3,000 and 4,000 cases during the preceding eight years, rose 24 percent from the decade's low of 3,009 cases in 1978-79 to 3,719 cases in 1979-80. Criminal cases set for trial in the 20 other metropolitan courts increased at the lower rate of 13 percent.

In the Los Angeles Superior Court the ratio of pleas of guilty to total dispositions was similar to that of the other superior courts in the state. In 1979-80, there were 17,958 criminal dispositions of which 13,614 were pleas of guilty, a ratio of 76 percent. During this same period the statewide (exclusive of Los Angeles) ratio of pleas of guilty to total criminal dispositions was 75 percent.

In 1979-80 in Los Angeles County, municipal and justice courts disposed of 33 percent of the felony filings. This proportion was the lowest among the 21 courts with six or more judges except for Ventura (see Table XXVIII). In 1979-80, the Los Angeles Superior Court disposed of 7 percent of its total felony filings as misdemeanors under Section 17(b) (5) of the Penal Code and other statutory provisions. This was down slightly from last year's percentage of 8; but still above the 6 percent average for the 20 other metropolitan courts for the same period. Table XXIX sets forth the percentages of felony and misdemeanor convictions in these superior courts under Section 17(b) of the Penal Code and other statutory provisions.

The Los Angeles Superior Court had a smaller percentage of juries sworn after 60 days from the filing of an indictment or information than the 20 other larger superior courts. In the Los Angeles court, about 50 percent of the total juries were sworn after 60 days from filing, but in the 20 other metropolitan courts about 61 percent of the total juries were sworn after 60 days from the filing of an indictment or information (see Table XXVIII-A).

1. FILINGS

Total Filings

The historical 10-year trend data presented in this section has been combined for the municipal and justice courts. This facilitates study of the effects of changes in legislation and permits the reporting of filings and dispositions without the need to adjust the justice court figures for recent changes in jurisdiction.²³

Total filings for the 83 municipal courts and 100 justice courts increased by 4 percent to 18.1 million during the 1979-80 fiscal year. Over the 10-year period, total filings have risen from 12.9 to 18.1 million, an increase of 40 percent. During the same 10-year period, nonparking filings increased 22 percent from 6 to 7.3 million. Filings for illegal parking increased by 57 percent from 6.9 to 10.8 million during the 10 years shown in Table XXX.

Filings by Type of Proceeding

Felony filings registered a 9 percent increase in 1979-80 to 115,800. This is the largest increase since 1970-71 when felony filings reached 137,000 and is substantial compared to the previous four years when filings had remained at about 105,000. Fifty-seven municipal courts had increases in their felony filings during the 1979-80 fiscal year. The Los Angeles Municipal Court had the largest increase in felony filings, 2,577 over the 1978-79 fiscal year, or 27 percent of the statewide increase. Los Angeles County municipal courts, including the Los Angeles Municipal Court, accounted for 64 percent of the statewide increase in felony filings, with 6,222 more than last fiscal year. Other municipal courts with large increases in felony filings were: San Francisco, an increase of 591; Santa Clara County, 552; West Kern, 450; Sacramento, 396; Riverside, 350; Stockton, 320; San Bernardino County, 293; Central Orange County, 291; and Fremont-Newark-Union City, 212. The decline in felony filings between 1970-71 and 1975-76 followed the amendment of Section 17 of the Penal Code in 1969, which gave prosecuting officers discretionary authority to file as misdemeanors certain types of cases which previously would have been filed as felonies.

Nontraffic misdemeanors and infractions increased 1 percent to 651,400. This includes a 4 percent increase in Group A misdemeanors²⁴ with decreases in the other categories of nontraffic misdemeanors and infractions. (See Table XXXI.)

Selected traffic²⁵ cases increased 6 percent to 302,000 in fiscal year 1979-80 and other traffic²⁶ offenses decreased by 2 percent to 5.2 million. Other traffic offenses continued their 10-year decreasing trend in percent of total filings by dropping to 29 percent of total filings from 35 percent in 1970-71. Within other traffic, Group D filings decreased 1 percent to 279,000 and traffic infractions decreased 2 percent to 4.9 million during 1979-80. (See Table XXXI.)

Small claim filings increased 47,000 or 9 percent, the third annual increase since the maximum recovery limit was raised from $500 to $750 in January 1977. All but eight of the municipal courts experienced an increase in small claim filings. There were 15 courts with increases of more than 1,000 cases. Included in these 15 courts were: Oakland-Piedmont Municipal Court with an increase of 1,435 filings; Consolidated Fresno Municipal Court, 1,821 additional filings; Compton Municipal Court, 1,741 additional filings; and West Orange County Municipal Court, 1,981 additional filings. These four courts participated in the Small Claims Monetary Jurisdiction Experiment which included the months of July through March of the 1979-80 fiscal year. The monetary jurisdiction experiment increased the small claims limit temporarily from $750 to $1500 in six courts, the four courts mentioned above plus the Chino Division of the San Bernardino County Municipal Court and the East Los Angeles Municipal Court.

²⁴ Group A misdemeanors include Penal Code violations and other state statutes excluding Fish & Game and Intoxication.
²⁵ Group C Vehicle Code misdemeanors §§ 20002 (hit and run property damage), 23102 (misdemeanor drunk driving), 23104 (reckless driving with injury), and 23105 (driving under the influence of drugs), and Vehicle Code felonies filed as misdemeanors under Penal Code § 17(b)(4).
²⁶ Group D traffic misdemeanors (all traffic misdemeanor offenses except those specified in Group C) and traffic infractions.

Other civil filings increased 21 percent to 500,000. This increase included a 20 percent increase in the justice courts (2,995 filings) and a 21 percent increase in the municipal courts (84,014 filings). Only two municipal courts did not experience an increase in civil filings for the 1979-80 fiscal year: the Imperial County Municipal Court with nine fewer filings than the previous fiscal year, and the Merced County Municipal Court with 185 fewer filings than in 1978-79. Of the remaining 81 municipal courts, 26 had increases of more than 1,000 civil filings. These 26 courts accounted for 62,626 filings, or 75 percent of the increase in civil filings. The eight courts with the largest increases in civil filings were: Los Angeles Municipal Court, with 16,542 additional civil filings; San Diego Municipal Court, 4,645; San Francisco Municipal Court, 4,189; Santa Clara County Municipal Court, 3,095; Sacramento Municipal Court, 3,043; San Bernardino County Municipal Court, 2,810; Consolidated Fresno Municipal Court, 2,386; and Central Orange County Municipal Court, 2,272. These eight courts accounted for 46 percent of the total increase in civil filings for the municipal courts. The effect of the jurisdictional change for civil cases in the lower courts is discussed in the next section.

Estimated Impact of Civil Jurisdictional Increase

On July 1, 1979, the limit on civil cases filed in the lower courts increased from $5,000 to $15,000. This change contributed to a 21 percent increase in civil filings in the lower courts.

Superior court filings in the categories of Personal Injury, Death and Property Damage (Motor Vehicle and Other) and Other Civil Complaints were significantly affected by the civil jurisdictional change. Superior court civil filings in these combined categories decreased from 192,241 in fiscal year 1978-79 to 173,061 for the 1979-80 fiscal year, a 10 percent decrease.

BEFORE AND AFTER LOWER COURT JURISDICTIONAL CHANGE,
By Month, July 1977 through June 1980

Figure 12A is a graph of the monthly civil filings in municipal and superior courts from July 1977 through June 1980. The broken vertical line indicates when the jurisdictional change took place. Trend lines for each court are drawn using the civil filings for the 1977-78 and 1978-79 fiscal years. The purpose of the trend lines is to estimate the change in civil filings if no jurisdictional change had taken place. It is estimated that civil filings in the municipal courts would have increased approximately 10 percent without the jurisdictional change. It is estimated that the jurisdictional change accounts for about half of the 21 percent civil filings increase, and natural growth accounts for the balance.

The trend line for superior courts suggests that combined civil filings would have increased approximately 10 percent without the municipal court civil jurisdictional increase to $15,000. The decline in superior court civil filings was 18 percent in relation to the expected filings using the trend line. Civil filings in both types of courts show an increasing trend over the 24-month period prior to the change but the municipal court trend is steeper than the superior court trend, indicating a faster growth in civil filings. Both types of courts display a marked shift (up for the municipal courts, down for the superior courts) in July of 1979 when the jurisdictional change took effect. Table XXXI-A shows the estimated impact of the jurisdictional increase on the municipal and superior courts.

2. DISPOSITIONS

The lower courts disposed of 14 million cases during 1979-80, a decrease of 3 percent from the previous year. Fifty-six percent or 7.9 million dispositions were parking violations and the remaining 44 percent, 6.2 million, were either nonparking criminal offenses or civil cases (see Tables XXXI and XXXII).

Table XXXII and Figure 13 show nonparking dispositions by type of disposition. Dismissals and transfers increased 5 percent in 1979-80 to a total of 1.2 million and accounted for 20 percent of all nonparking dispositions. Bail forfeitures, accounting for 45 percent of all nonparking dispositions, decreased 8 percent. Dispositions by conviction or by being bound over after plea of guilty, after increasing in 1978-79, decreased to 1.4 million. All other before trial dispositions increased to 172,000 or 18 percent, the largest percentage increase in all types of dispositions. "All other before trial" dispositions consists of the categories "summary judgments" and "all other judgments." These categories of dispositions were affected by the increase in the lower courts' civil jurisdiction limit from $5,000 to $15,000. Only 14 municipal courts did not experience an increase in these categories of dispositions.

Uncontested trials increased 11 percent to 336,000 and contested trials decreased 1 percent to 245,000. The increase in uncontested trials is mainly due to the increase in small claims filings (9%) and other civil filings (21%). There was only a 7 percent increase in criminal uncontested trial dispositions while there was a 12 percent increase in civil (small claims and other civil) uncontested trial dispositions. Juvenile orders declined 16 percent to 40,000, the category of dispositions with the largest decline. Juvenile orders declined 27 percent in the justice courts (2,002 dispositions) and 14 percent in the municipal courts (5,661 dispositions). Juvenile orders are processed at the discretion of the court and several municipal courts discontinued processing juvenile orders, either partially or completely, when their caseload became too large. Only 18 municipal courts processed 50 or more juvenile orders during the 1979-80 fiscal year. This is down from 20 courts which processed 50 or more juvenile orders during the 1978-79 fiscal year.

* Judge equivalents are the number of authorized judgeships adjusted to reflect vacancies, assistance rendered to other courts and assistance received by municipal courts from assigned judges and from temporary judges serving by stipulation of the parties.

Table XXXIII shows the number of lower courts and the number of judges in those courts over the last 10 years. There has been a 41 percent decline in the number of courts from 309 to 183, due to the consolidation of justice courts, the assimilation of justice courts into municipal courts, and the consolidation of municipal courts. The number of authorized judicial positions in the lower courts has increased over the 10-year span from 616 to 645, an increase of 5 percent; nonparking filings and dispositions increased about eight and two times faster, respectively, than judicial positions in the same period. Table XXXIII also reflects that all justice court judges are attorneys. In the 5½ years since the Gordon decision (Gordon v. Justice Court (1974) 12 Cal.3d 323), the percentage of attorney judges increased from 42 percent to 100 percent.

Table XXXIV shows the dispositions per 100 filings for certain categories of cases during the last 10 fiscal years. Dispositions per 100 filings is an approximation of the percentage of cases filed that reach a judicial disposition. For example, small claims have 73 dispositions per 100 filings, which could be interpreted to mean that about one-fourth of the cases filed are not resolved through the judicial processes.

Generally, the number of dispositions per 100 filings is stable from year to year, but there have been three exceptions to this trend in recent years. Dispositions per 100 filings for felony preliminary cases increased sharply in 1975-76 and since then have dropped to 84. One possible reason for this change is that district attorneys throughout the state adopted uniform crime charging standards at about the time of the change. With a rigorous screening of cases, a higher proportion of cases filed as felonies received a judicial disposition. At the same time, dispositions per 100 filings for selected traffic (Group C) violations declined to 81 dispositions per 100 filings in 1975-76 and are 80 for this fiscal year. This change coincides with the shift in July 1975 of Vehicle Code section 14601, driving with a suspended or revoked driver's license, and Vehicle Code section 23103, reckless driving without injury, from the Group C category to Group D (other traffic) misdemeanors. This change seems to have had the effect of causing a decline in the number of Group C misdemeanor filings and of lowering the dispositions per 100 filings for Group C misdemeanors.

Parking dispositions per 100 filings declined substantially again this year from 78 to 73 dispositions per 100 filings. It was suggested that the decline to 78 dispositions per 100 filings from 85 in 1978-79 was due to a delay in reporting dispositions which were processed through the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV), made possible by Vehicle Code section 4760. It was expected that the drop in dispositions per 100 filings would only be temporary, and the dispositions per 100 filings would return to their normal rate. This did not happen. Investigation reveals that some courts are not reporting parking dispositions handled by the DMV, which would account for the continued decline in dispositions per 100 filings. It is expected that parking dispositions per 100 filings will return to between 85 and 90 when this reporting problem is corrected.

Table XXXV shows the number and types of dispositions per judge equivalent in municipal courts over the last 10 fiscal years. Justice courts were omitted because many of the small justice courts have less than a full workload and their inclusion would distort the figures. Parking as well as before trial and contested trial dispositions per judge equivalent show a decline from the previous year, while all other dispositions per judge equivalent increased. Juries sworn per judge equivalent have declined steadily over the last 10 years to the current level of 17 juries per judge equivalent.

Dispositions by Type of Proceeding

Methods of disposition of felony cases in lower courts are depicted in Figure 14. Only 12 percent of the felony cases were disposed of by guilty plea, while 94 and 95 percent of felonies reduced to misdemeanors under Penal Code section 17(b)(5) and under other statutory provisions were disposed of by pleas of guilty.

The percentage distributions for nontraffic misdemeanor and infraction dispositions are shown in Figure 15. The percentages of cases disposed of by bail forfeitures and pleas of guilty vary significantly among the three categories with bail forfeitures varying inversely to pleas of guilty.

Dispositions are shown in Figure 16 for the four traffic categories. The ratio of pleas of guilty to bail forfeitures declines as the offenses are ranked from most serious to least serious. A statutory provision (Veh. Code, § 13103) requires a forfeiture of bail to be considered equivalent to a plea of guilty for most purposes. The only significant workload difference in these two methods of disposition is the judicial time involved in taking a plea of guilty.

It is interesting to note that only 2 percent of the illegal parking dispositions are after trial. This 2 percent, however, amounts to almost 157,000 dispositions. San Francisco, which had 1.6 million parking dispositions for fiscal year 1979-80, or 22 percent of all parking dispositions, accounted for 151,000 or 99 percent of the parking dispositions after trial.

Types of dispositions of small claims and other civil matters are shown in Figure 17. In small claims, 33 percent of the dispositions were after contested trials, while in other civil matters only 6 percent were disposed of in this manner. The percent of dismissals before trial is approximately the same in both categories.

Conviction Rates in Criminal Trials

The number of convictions after uncontested and contested trials by court or by jury according to type of proceeding and the conviction rates are presented in Table XXXVI. A graphic representation, for comparison, of the conviction rates is shown in Figure 17.

The conviction rates for uncontested nontraffic misdemeanors and infractions were generally lower than in contested cases for the same offenses. Likewise, the conviction rate for uncontested traffic infractions was lower than for contested traffic infractions. The opposite was true for parking trials; uncontested parking trials produced a higher conviction rate than did contested parking trials.

Weighted Filings

In 1967, a weighted caseload system was developed for estimating the need for additional judges in municipal courts. Weights were established for seven categories of cases. Later, a weight was also established for parking. The weights represent the average number of judicial minutes required to dispose of a filing. A judge-year value, representing the average number of minutes per judge available in a year for case-related work, is used in conjunction with the weights to determine the number of judges needed to dispose of a given caseload.

The weight for each category of case is multiplied by the number of filings in that category. The total weight for all categories of cases are then divided by the judge-year value to obtain the required number of judges.

In 1971 and 1973, a consultant firm conducted six-week surveys in 22 and 21 municipal courts respectively to determine the case weights. In 1975 the number of categories of cases was expanded to 10, and in 1977 a 56-court survey was conducted by the staff of the Administrative Office of the Courts for two months to determine new weights for the 10 categories of cases. The courts that participated in the 1977 survey accounted for 73 percent of the nonparking filings in fiscal year 1977-78.

¹ Weight times filings, an estimate of judicial minutes of case-related time to dispose of filings.

² An estimate of the number of judicial positions needed to dispose of a given amount of filings. Required judicial positions are calculated by dividing weighted filings by an appropriate judge-year value. Judge-year values vary by size of court as follows:

1-2 (Judges)	71,500
3-10 (Judges)	72,000
11 and over	78,000

A judge-year value of 78,000 was used for Los Angeles and a (weighted) average judge year value of 72,500 for the rest of the courts.

³ Components may not add to totals due to rounding.

*Components may not total 100% due to rounding.

In 1978, the Judicial Council approved the weights and judge-year values derived from the survey for use in judgeship needs studies for municipal courts until new weights are derived. The current weights and judge-year values are shown in Table XXXVII. Two sets of weights have been approved for use, one set for the Los Angeles Municipal Court and the second for all other municipal courts in the state. In Table XXXVII, filings for fiscal year 1979-80 have been multiplied by the appropriate weight for each category and divided by a judge-year value to estimate the number of judges needed to dispose of the filings in that category.

Under the weighted caseload system, 602 judicial positions were needed to dispose of the 18.1 million municipal court filings in fiscal year 1979-80. Sixty-four percent of the required judicial positions were needed for three categories of cases; felony preliminary hearings 110 positions, nontraffic Group A misdemeanors 157, and traffic Group C misdemeanors 118. Civil matters required 21 percent of the judicial positions: small claims 54 positions, and other civil 71. Traffic infractions needed 9 percent of the judicial positions, while the remaining four categories of cases required only 6 percent.

Figure 19 compares the percent distribution of filings by type of case with the judicial time (weighted filings) needed to dispose of each of the categories of cases. For example, illegal parking had 61 percent of total municipal court filings but required only 1 percent of judicial time. In fact, parking and traffic infractions together represented 87 percent of total filings but required only 10 percent of judicial time. The other proceedings, none of which exceeded 3 percent of filings, required the remaining 90 percent of judicial time. Group A and Group C misdemeanors represented 4 percent of filings but required 46 percent of all municipal court judicial time. Felony complaints, however, were the most time-consuming type of case since they comprised only 1 percent of total filings but required 18 percent of the available judicial time.

E. JUDICIAL ASSIGNMENTS AND ASSISTANCE

1. SUMMARY—NUMBER OF DAYS OF ASSIGNED ASSISTANCE

The California Constitution directs the Chief Justice to seek to expedite judicial business and to equalize the work of judges, and it authorizes her to assign judges to assist in courts other than their own.²⁷

At the request of presiding judges of both trial and appellate courts, the Chief Justice issues assignments for reasons such as vacancies, illnesses, disqualifications and calendar congestion. The following table reflects the days of assistance provided during fiscal years 1970-71 through 1979-80. Overall, there was a 4 percent increase in the total days of assistance in 1979-80 compared to the previous fiscal year.

Courts of Appeal

In 1979-80, 2,647 days of assigned assistance were received by the Courts of Appeal. The assistance provided in 1979-80 came from superior court judges (83 percent), municipal court judges (14 percent) and retired judges (3 percent).

Superior Courts

In 1979-80, 8,373 days of assigned assistance were received by the superior courts. The assistance provided to the superior courts through assignments came from retired judges (47 percent), municipal court judges (32 percent) and other superior court judges (20 percent). One percent of assistance came from justice court judges and Court of Appeal justices contributed less than 1 percent.

Municipal Courts

In 1979-80, 5,564 days of assigned assistance were received by the municipal courts. The largest assistance to municipal courts came from justice court judges (70 percent). Retired judges contributed 24 percent, other municipal court judges gave 5 percent and superior court judges 1 percent of the assistance.

Justice Courts

In 1979-80, 2,216 days of assigned assistance were received by the justice courts. Almost all of the assistance (95 percent) was provided by other justice court judges.

Days of Assistance Received and Rendered by Courts through Assignments

Tables XL and XLI display days of assistance received and rendered by the superior courts and the municipal courts, respectively, for fiscal years 1978-79 and 1979-80 on a court-by-court basis. The last column indicates net days of assistance. A minus item indicates that the court rendered more days of assistance than it received.

^a Minus sign (-) indicates the court rendered more days of assistance than it received during the year through assignments by the Chairperson of the Judicial Council under Section 6 of Article VI of the State Constitution. Each day worked in excess of three hours was reported as a full day with three hours or less as a half day.

^b For explanation, see footnote applicable to the court on Table 27.

3. ASSISTANCE BY COMMISSIONERS, REFEREES AND TEMPORARY JUDGES

Some superior and municipal courts also received assistance in fiscal year 1979-80 other than by assignment from the Chief Justice. This assistance, as shown in the following Tables XLII and XLIII, was provided by commissioners, referees and attorneys acting as temporary judges. Such assistance should be considered when analyzing workload or productivity of these courts.²⁸

²⁸ In a number of instances throughout this report statistics are analyzed on a "per judge" basis. Such treatment reflects only the number of authorized judgeships and does not reflect assistance given or received through judicial assignments or through the use of commissioners, referees and temporary judges. A more complete assessment of workload or productivity in such courts requires that "per judge" figures be adjusted to reflect such additional assistance.

^b Includes days of assistance given by traffic referees.

^c These figures include data for Monterey Peninsula, North Monterey County and Salinas Municipal Court Districts, which consolidated on January 1, 1980 to become Monterey County Municipal Court District.

^d Represents 18 courts, each receiving less than 50 days of total assistance; nine courts received no assistance.

Superior Courts

In 1979-80, 25,522 days of assistance by commissioners, referees and attorneys acting as temporary judges were received by the superior courts. Referees furnished 39 percent of this assistance, with 12 percent provided by commissioners acting as temporary judges, 41 percent by commissioners acting as commissioners and 7 percent by lawyers acting as temporary judges.

Table XLII lists the days of assistance by commissioners, referees and attorneys acting as temporary judges for superior courts receiving such assistance. Los Angeles received 43 percent of the total assistance for all superior courts. In almost all cases, commissioners perform functions which would otherwise require a judge. In some courts they hear matters on stipulation and sign orders as temporary judges, while in other courts they do not sign orders but prepare them for a judge's signature. The assistance provided to superior courts by commissioners, referees and attorneys acting as temporary judges amounted to the equivalent of 118 full-time judges in 1979-80.

Municipal Courts

In 1979-80, municipal courts received a total of 21,347 days of assistance from commissioners, referees and attorneys acting as temporary judges. Table XLIII lists the days of assistance by commissioners, referees and attorneys acting as temporary judges for municipal courts receiving such assistance.

Commissioners acting as temporary judges provided 45 percent of the assistance. Lawyers acting as temporary judges contributed 17 percent of the total assistance. Referees contributed 11 percent and commissioners acting as commissioners provided 27 percent.

Seventy-four municipal courts received assistance from commissioners, referees or temporary judges. Eighteen courts each received fewer than 50 days of assistance and 11 courts received more than 432 days of assistance (the equivalent of two full-time judges).

The 21,347 days of assistance given to municipal courts from commissioners, referees and temporary judges in 1979-80 were the equivalent of 99 additional full-time municipal court judges.

^a "Juries selected and sworn" are not the equivalent of cases disposed of by verdict since a single jury may try consolidated cases which in criminal matters may result in multiple dispositions. No disposition is reported for hung juries.
^b Violations of Sections 20002, 23102, 23104 and 23105 of the Vehicle Code and Vehicle Code felonies filed as misdemeanors under Penal Code Section 17(b)4.
^c Data are for civil juries sworn; in previous years civil jury trials were used.
^d For explanation, see footnote applicable to the Court on Table 27.
