INTRODUCTION

Establishment of the Eleventh Circuit

With the passage of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Reorganization Act of 1980 (Public Law 96-452, effective October 1, 1981), the Fifth Circuit was reorganized into two circuits - the new Fifth Circuit, composed of the Canal Zone and the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas; and the Eleventh Circuit, composed of the states of Alabama, Florida, and Georgia. On October 1, 1981, the Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia, officially began operations, handling a workload of administrative appeals and appeals of U.S. court decisions from the states within its jurisdictional boundaries.

In this report, statistics on the caseload of the courts of appeals, U.S. district courts, and U.S. bankruptcy courts reflect this reorganization as though it were in effect for the entire twelve month period ended December 31, 1981. Such data for each district court and bankruptcy court affected are fully comparable to data of prior periods. Courts of appeals statistics are also reflected as if the reorganization was in effect the entire period. However, only civil and criminal appeals are directly comparable to figures for earlier years. Because original proceedings and administrative agency appeals could not be readily differentiated according to origin, prior to July 1, 1980, revision of the historical data on these matters has been approximated based on information provided by the circuits and other available material.

U.S. COURTS OF APPEALS

Summary of Workload

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, the number of cases filed and terminated in the U.S. courts of appeals reached the highest level ever recorded in a reporting period. Part of the growth in case activity can be attributed to the change in the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure in 1979 which required that the courts of appeals docket an appeal upon receipt of the notice of appeal from the lower court. In response to this change, the courts of appeals reporting criteria were modified on July 1, 1980 to allow for the inclusion of certain types of cases that were not included in prior years.

A total of 27,445 cases were filed in the courts of appeals during the past twelve months, an increase of 13.8 percent over the 24,122 cases filed in 1980. Total case dispositions rose a sizable 16.9 percent during the year, up from 22,886 in 1980 to 26,757 in 1981. Since filings outnumbered terminations by 688 cases during the past twelve months, the pending appellate caseload continued to grow. A total of 22,117 appeals were pending at the end of the year, up 3.2 percent over the 21,429 appeals pending in 1980. Table 1 provides a comparison, by circuit, of the appellate workload during the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1980 and 1981. Appendix Table B-1 provides more detailed data on the appellate workload in 1981.

Filings

During this twelve month period, the largest increases in filing activity were reported in the Fourth Circuit (up 30.4 percent); the Tenth Circuit (up 25.0 percent); and the Eighth Circuit (up 22.0 percent). The only circuit to register a decline in case filings was the District of Columbia, where new filings decreased 9.8 percent from the previous year. Of the remaining eight circuits, all reported filing increases greater than 5.0 percent.

All categories of appeals reflected increases in case filings during the year. The largest growth was reported in U.S. civil appeals, up 20.4 percent from 4,502 cases in 1980 to 5,421 cases in 1981. The number of bankruptcy appeals increased 19.6 percent, while private civil appeals and original proceedings also increased significantly during this period, up 17.3 percent and 15.5 percent, respectively. Administrative agency case filings, which increased 15.7 percent last year, rose only 1.0 percent during 1981. Table 2 is a comparison of the types of appeals filed during the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1980 and 1981.

Quarterly Comparison

Table 3 provides a comparison of appeals filed, by quarter, during each of the twelve month periods ended June 30, 1977 through 1981 and the quarters ended September 30 and December 31, 1981. The 6,646 appeals filed during the period October through December 1981 were 5.3 percent greater than the 6,311 appeals filed during the comparable period last year. This second quarter figure for 1981 was, however, 5.3 percent less than the 7,016 appeals reported during the previous three months. For the six month period July through December 1981, a total of 13,662 cases were filed in the courts of appeals. This number represents an increase of 8.6 percent over the 12,579 cases filed during the same time last year.

Dispositions

While overall dispositions rose by 16.9 percent, the rate of change varied considerably among the 12 circuits. The largest growth in termination activity was reported in the Eighth Circuit, up 35.4 percent from the previous year. Substantial increases in appellate dispositions were also reported in the Second Circuit (up 25.3 percent); the Eleventh Circuit (up 24.7 percent); the Seventh Circuit (up 23.7 percent); the Ninth Circuit (up 20.6 percent); and the First Circuit (up 20.2 percent). The only circuit to register a decline in case terminations was the Third Circuit, where dispositions decreased 12.3 percent from 1,956 cases in 1980 to 1,716 cases in 1981.

Pending Caseload

Despite the overall 3.2 percent increase in the pending caseload, four circuits were able to reduce the pending caseload during 1981. These circuits were the District of Columbia Circuit (down 15.3 percent); the Fifth Circuit (down 10.3 percent); the Ninth Circuit (down 7.0 percent); and the Second Circuit (down 1.4 percent). The decline in the District of Columbia Circuit resulted largely from the 9.8 percent drop in new case filings during 1981.

The most significant growth in pending caseload was reported in the Third Circuit, up 37.4 percent from 1,267 appeals in 1980 to 1,741 appeals in 1981. This tremendous increase resulted from a 12.3 percent decrease in termination activity along with a 16.9 percent increase in new filings during the year. Other notable increases in pending caseload were reported in the Fourth Circuit (up 14.0 percent); the Tenth Circuit (up 13.2 percent); the Sixth Circuit (up 12.4 percent); and the Seventh Circuit (up 11.1 percent).

Cases Disposed of After Hearing or Submission

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, the courts of appeals disposed of 12,337 cases after oral hearing or submission on briefs, an increase of 11.6 percent over the 11,056 cases reported in 1980. Of all 1981 terminations, 46.1 percent were terminated in this manner, a slight decrease from the 48.3 percent recorded a year ago. Cases terminated without oral hearing or submission on briefs increased 23.6 percent during the past twelve months, up from 8,436 in 1980 to 10,430 in 1981. As a percent of the total terminations, these cases grew from 36.9 percent in 1980 to 39.0 percent in 1981. The number of cases terminated by consolidation increased from 3,394 appeals in 1980 to 3,990 appeals in 1981, a rise of 17.6 percent. The percentage of consolidations to total terminations remained relatively unchanged, as 14.9 percent of the appeals were disposed of by consolidation in 1981 as opposed to 14.8 percent in 1980.

Cases Under Submission in the Courts Of Appeals and Other Federal Courts

The U.S. courts of appeals, Court of Claims, Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, and Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals reported 541 cases held under submission more than three months on December 31, 1981. This was 4.6 percent less than the 567 cases reported in December 1980. A total of 268 cases (49.5 percent) were held more than three but less than six months; 149 cases (27.5 percent) were held more than six but less than nine months; 70 cases (12.9 percent) were held more than nine months but less than one year; and 54 cases (10.0 percent) were held more than one year. Cases awaiting the submission of additional memoranda or awaiting an opinion in another case are not included in the totals.

Compared to a year ago, the overall number of cases under submission has decreased slightly. The number of cases under submission over one year, however, has decreased 12.9 percent from 62 cases in 1980 to 54 cases in 1981. The Third and Eleventh Circuits reported no cases under submission, while the Ninth Circuit reported 187 cases, 34.6 percent of the total cases under submission. Cases under submission in the courts of appeals and other federal courts were distributed as shown in Table 4.

U.S. DISTRICT COURTS

CIVIL WORKLOAD

Summary of Calendar Year Civil Workload

The twelve month period ended December 31, 1981 represents a record year for civil activity in the U.S. district courts with the number of civil cases filed, terminated, and pending each reaching all-time high levels. During 1981, a total of 190,430 civil cases were commenced, an increase of 9.2 percent over the 174,369 cases commenced in 1980. Dispositions of civil cases also increased, up 5.7 percent from 170,979 in 1980 to 180,799 in 1981. Despite the increased disposition rate, case filings exceeded terminations by 9,631, resulting in the pending civil caseload rising to 196,646 cases as of December 31, 1981. This represents an increase of 5.1 percent over the 187,015 cases pending a year ago. Table 6 is a comparison, by district, of the civil workload for the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1980 and 1981. More detailed information on the civil workload is also provided in Appendix Table C-1.

Summary of July through December (Six Months) Civil Workload

During the six month period from July through December 1981, a total of 97,609 civil cases were filed. This represents an increase of 11.2 percent over the 87,755 such cases filed during the same period a year ago. A total of 47,165 cases were filed in the three month period October through December, down from the record 50,444 in the previous three month period, but still 11.4 percent higher than the same period last year. Table 5 provides data on the number of civil cases filed, by quarter, from July 1, 1976 through December 31, 1981.

Civil Filings

The 190,430 civil cases filed in the U.S. district courts during 1981 continues a trend of steadily increasing workload. The rate of increase in 1981, 9.2 percent, is slightly higher than the 7.2 percent rate of increase in 1980. Seventy-four districts experienced increases in filing activity during 1981. The most notable increases are in Wisconsin, Western (up 76.1 percent); Utah (up 55.0 percent); and Washington, Eastern (up 54.7 percent). The increase in Wisconsin, Western is largely the result of a jump in U.S. contract filings, while the increases in Utah and Washington, Eastern are highlighted by rises in private contract cases and tax suits, respectively. Despite the overall increase, 21 districts experienced declines in filing activity. The most significant declines, except for the territorial courts, were in California, Southern and Hawaii, down 32.9 percent and 26.3 percent, respectively. The decline in California, Southern is a result of a reduction in land condemnation filings, while the decline in Hawaii can be attributed to a drop in the filing of personal injury cases. Additional data on the number and type of civil cases filed, by district, is provided in Appendix Table C-3.

Civil Filings by Basis of Jurisdiction

The rise of 9.2 percent in the number of civil cases filed during 1981 is the result of overall increases in both U.S. and private cases. Filings of private cases increased from 111,645 in 1980 to 124,403 in 1981, a jump of 11.4 percent. Diversity of citizenship and federal question litigation increased 12.3 percent and 11.1 percent, respectively, while local jurisdiction litigation declined slightly (down 4.5 percent). Cases involving the U.S. rose a more modest 5.3 percent from 62,724 in 1980 to 66,027 in 1981. Cases filed by the U.S. rose 7.7 percent while cases against the U.S. increased only slightly (1.4 percent). Table 7 is a comparison of civil cases filed, by basis of jurisdiction, during each of the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1980 and 1981. Additional data on civil cases filed, by basis of jurisdiction, is provided in Appendix Table C-2.

Civil Filings by Nature of Suit

The 190,430 civil cases filed during 1981 represents an increase of 16,061 such cases over 1980. This increase is highlighted by significant increases in actions for recovery of overpayments and enforcement of judgments, which jumped 48.6 percent from 15,652 in 1980 to 23,263 in 1981. The dramatic increase in this category is the result of increasing efforts by the U.S. to recover defaulted student loans and overpayments of veteran's educational benefits. Other categories of cases showing large increases include prisoner civil rights and habeas corpus petitions, tax suits, and employment civil rights cases. Significant declines were noted in land condemnation cases, fraud cases (including truth in lending), environmental matters, and Freedom of Information Act cases. More detailed information on civil cases filed, by district and nature of suit, is provided in Appendix Table C-3.

Civil Terminations

During 1981, the number of civil cases disposed of in the U.S. district courts rose to 180,799, an increase of 9,820 cases over the 170,979 terminated a year ago. The 5.7 percent rate of increase, however, was considerably below the 12.4 percent rate in 1980. The overall increase in termination activity resulted from increases in 60 districts. The districts with the largest increases were Kentucky, Eastern (up 80.2 percent); Louisiana, Middle (up 64.8 percent); and West Virginia, Southern (up 64.6 percent). Despite the nationwide increase, 35 districts experienced declines in termination activity. The most notable decline, except for the territorial courts, was in Massachusetts, down 47.2 percent (primarily in private commerce cases). A summary of civil cases terminated in 1981, by district and action taken, is provided in Appendix Table C-4A.

Significant increases were reported in the termination activity for several case types. Among cases involving the U.S. as a plaintiff or defendant, the most significant increase was in recovery of overpayment and enforcement of judgments (up 35.9 percent). Among cases not involving the U.S., the largest increases were in labor actions and prisoner appeals, up 14.7 and 13.6 percent, respectively. Significant declines in termination activity occurred in federal question real property cases (down 45.9 percent) and U.S. personal injury cases (down 25.6 percent). Additional data on civil cases terminated in 1981, by nature of suit and action taken, is provided in Appendix Table C-4.

Civil Pending Caseload

The number of civil cases pending in the U.S. district courts reached 196,646 as of December 31, 1981, the largest total ever. This represents an increase of 9,631 over the 187,015 cases pending a year ago. Despite the steady growth in the number of pending cases, 15 districts were able to reduce their pending caseload in 1981. The most significant reductions, except for the territorial courts, were in West Virginia, Southern (down 34.8 percent) and Florida, Southern (down 25.8 percent). The largest increases in pending caseload were in the Northern Mariana Islands and Nevada, with increases of 45.3 and 43.3 percent, respectively.

The rise in pending caseload was highlighted by substantial increases in several case types. The most notable were in state prisoner petitions (up 18.5 percent) and U.S. contract actions (up 13.4 percent). The largest declines were in land condemnation cases (down from 9,421 in 1980 to 5,624 in 1981) and private commerce cases (down from 1,730 to 847 in 1981). Additional data on civil cases pending in 1981, by nature of suit and district, is provided in Appendix Table C-3A.

Civil Cases Pending Three Years or More

Prior to 1980, the number of civil cases pending three years or more had increased steadily to a high of 21,661 in 1979. In 1980, however, through a concerted effort on the part of the district courts, this total was reduced 11.2 percent to 19,227. This effort continued through 1981 and resulted in a further reduction in these cases. As of December 31, 1981, the number of three-year-old cases pending dropped to 17,344, the lowest total since 1977 and 9.8 percent below the 1980 figure. Table 8 is a summary of civil cases pending, by age, as of December 31, 1971 through 1981.

Table 9 provides a special comparison of civil cases pending three years or more (excluding land condemnation), as of June 30 and December 31, 1981. Over the past six months, 42 districts have been able to reduce their three-year-old pending caseload. The most notable declines were in West Virginia, Southern (down 46.5 percent from 312 to 167 cases) and Massachusetts (down 39.0 percent from 1,673 cases to 1,021). A total of 48 districts experienced an increase in three-year-old cases over the period. The most significant increases were in Guam (up 53.9 percent from 128 to 197) and New York, Northern (up 43.2 percent from 222 to 318). Additional data on civil cases pending as of December 31, 1981, by age and district, is provided in Appendix Tables C-6A and C-6B.

Cases and Motions Under Advisement in U.S. District Courts

U.S. district judges reported 1,679 matters held under advisement over 60 days on December 31, 1981; 7.7 percent less than the 1,820 matters reported last year. Much of this decrease is attributable to the large number of judges who did not report this quarter. A total of 72 active judges were listed as not reporting this quarter, compared to 27 last year. Table 10 shows that 526 district judges, including 126 senior judges, reported on the status of matters before the court. While 317 judges (60.3 percent) reported no matters under advisement over 60 days, 209 judges (39.7 percent) reported matters under advisement over 60 days.

The 209 judges having matters held under advisement reported a total of 453 cases and 1,226 motions held under advisement over 60 days on December 31, 1981. Of these, 301 cases and 726 motions (61.2 percent) were held under advisement over 60 days but not more than six months; 93 cases and 330 motions (25.2 percent) were held under advisement over six months but not more than one year; and 59 cases and 170 motions (13.6 percent) were held over one year. The Seventh Circuit reported the largest number of matters under advisement with a total of 537 matters.

Table 11 provides the distribution by circuit of cases and motions held under advisement over 60 days in the U.S. district courts on December 31, 1981.

CRIMINAL CASELOAD

Summary of Workload

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, the criminal caseload in the U.S. district courts increased significantly, reversing the downward trend of the last five years. Criminal case filings increased by 5.7 percent, from 29,856 cases last year to 31,566 this year. Terminations also rose, with 30,197 cases terminated, or 4.8 percent more than last year. Table 12 reflects the change in criminal case filings and terminations during the past four years.

Terminations	41,525	33,577	30,763	28,807	30,197	4.8

There were 1,369 more cases filed than terminated during the year, resulting in an increase in the pending caseload of 9.2 percent from 14,805 cases on December 31, 1980 to 16,174 cases pending on December 31 this year.

Six Month Statistics

Table 13 provides the number of criminal cases filed and terminated during the six month period from July through December, for each year 1977 through 1981. During the six month period ended December 31, 1981, criminal case filings increased to 15,577 cases, which is 4.4 percent more than the 14,919 cases filed during the same six months in 1980. Last year, cases filed during the six month period increased by 10.2 percent, which was the first increase since 1977.

Case Filings by Offense

Criminal case filings, exclusive of transfers, increased 6.0 percent from 28,896 to 30,644 during the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981. Appendix Table D-2 provides the number of defendants and cases filed in 1981 by the type of offense. Case filings increased in eight of the major offense categories listed in Table D-2, decreased in six of the categories, and showed no change in one.

Prosecutions for weapons and firearms violations increased by 39.9 percent this year, up to 1,556 case filings. Last year, cases filed for weapons and firearms offenses increased by 28.3 percent, after a substantial decrease of 60.4 percent in 1979. There were 1,316 cases filed for marihuana violations this year, which was 374 cases, or 39.7 percent, more than last year. In 1980, marihuana prosecutions had risen by 41.9 percent over 1979. Embezzlement cases also increased significantly in both 1980 and 1981. During the current year, embezzlement cases rose by 11.8 percent, up to 1,928 cases; and in 1980, they rose by 16.8 percent.

Robbery cases totaled 1,397 this year, a 9.0 percent increase over the number last year; escape cases totaled 967, a 21.2 percent increase; and homicide cases came to 173, a 17.7 percent increase.

Case Filings by Type of Proceeding

Criminal cases are commenced in the U.S. district courts by one of eleven proceedings. Table 14 provides the number of cases by the type of proceeding for the years ended December 31, 1980 and 1981.

The number of cases heard on consent before a magistrate increased by 56.4 percent, as compared to 43.2 percent last year. This increase is primarily the result of the Magistrates Act of 1979, which enlarged the jurisdiction of the U.S. magistrates to try all misdemeanors, regardless of the amount of the fine involved. The 2,649 cases commenced on consent accounted for 8.6 percent of all filings, exclusive of transfers.

The indictments accounted for the largest proportion (57.8 percent) of all cases filed during 1981. Cases filed on an information, including those for which indictment was waived by the defendant, made up 32.0 percent of the types of proceedings.

Case Filings by District

Table 15 provides a comparison of the criminal cases filed, terminated, and pending, inclusive of transfers, for the twelve month periods ended December 1980 and 1981. For the nation, case filings increased by 5.7 percent this year. Fifty-two districts contributed to the overall increase in case filings, while 43 districts reported decreases in the number of cases filed.

New Hampshire	34	51	50.0
Maryland	778	1,113	43.1
Alabama, Middle	218	310	42.2

The increase in case filings in Rhode Island was primarily the result of 36 additional filings for fraud offenses this year. In Tennessee, Western, 148 additional prosecutions for fraud violations created the substantial increase in filings. Other noticeable increases in prosecutions of specific offenses occurred in Washington, Western with 222 more traffic offense filings; Pennsylvania, Middle with 58 new filings for fraud; Maryland with 143 additional prosecutions for marihuana and 61 for traffic; and Alabama, Middle with 49 more traffic cases.

There were 43 districts which reported decreases in case filings this year. Table 17 lists the six districts which reported decreases of more than 30 percent.

The decrease in Louisiana, Middle was caused by fewer filings under Migratory Bird Laws; this reversed the increase that occurred in that district last year. In Georgia, Southern, a significant decrease occurred in filings for traffic violations, with 392 fewer traffic cases filed this year. For the other four districts, the decreases in filings were generally spread across the offense categories.

Terminations by District

Nationally, there were 4.8 percent more cases terminated this year than last year in the district courts. Case terminations increased in 57 districts, decreased in 37 districts, and showed no change in one district. The seven districts which had more than a 40 percent increase in terminations are indicated in Table 18.

Pending Criminal Cases Increased 9.2 Percent

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, the pending caseload increased by 9.2 percent. Fifty-eight districts had more cases pending on December 31 of this year than were pending on the same day last year. Thirty-four districts reported a decrease in the number of cases pending, and three districts had the same number of cases pending at the end of this year as last year.

Table 20 lists the nine districts which had an increase of 50 percent or more in the number of cases pending on the last day of the year.

JUROR USAGE

The following text summarizes grand and petit juror activity in U.S. district courts during the six month period July 1 through December 31, 1981. It contains comparisons of one district to another excluding the district courts of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and the Northern Mariana Islands. Comparison would be difficult since these courts experience language, transportation, and other problems quite uncommon in the rest of the country. No grand juror activity was reported in the Virgin Islands, the Canal Zone and the Northern Mariana Islands for the six month period. No petit juror activity was reported in the Canal Zone during the six month period.

Grand Juror Activity Declined

As illustrated in Table 22, grand jury activity declined in most categories during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. The total number of grand jury sessions convened decreased 5.4 percent from 5,352 in 1980 to 5,062 in 1981, thereby reversing a three year increasing trend. Correspondingly, there were 5,410 fewer jurors in session (down 5.1 percent) and 1,399 fewer hours in session (down 5.0 percent). Appendix Table J-1 shows, by district, the number of grand juries in existence, sessions convened, jurors in session, hours in session, average number of jurors per session, and average number of hours per session.

The Southern District of New York reported the greatest amount of grand jury activity with 527 sessions convened, 10,531 jurors in session, and 2,419 hours in session. Excluding Puerto Rico and the territorial courts, four districts convened the fewest number (six) of grand jury sessions. The Western District of North Carolina reported the least number of jurors in session (111) and Wisconsin, Western recorded the least number of hours in session (30).

There were 583 grand juries in existence during the six month period, a modest 2.1 percent increase over last year. Compared to 1980, 14 more grand juries were discharged, but eight fewer grand juries were impaneled. New York, Eastern and New York, Southern reported the most grand juries in existence with 40 each. The Southern District of New York, however, impaneled more grand juries (9) and discharged more grand juries (10) than any other district in 1981. Nine districts reported only one grand jury in existence. Virginia, Western showed the largest increase with 10 grand juries in 1981 compared to only 4 in 1980.

Between 16 and 23 jurors must be present to conduct a grand jury session. Nationally, the average number of jurors per session was unchanged from last year at 19.9. The averages for the individual districts ranged from a low of 18.1 jurors per session in the Southern District of Iowa to a high of 22.1 jurors per session in Idaho. The average number of hours per session rose slightly from 5.22 hours in 1980 to 5.25 hours in 1981. Vermont recorded the lowest average with 3.38 hours per grand jury session, while Alaska and Oklahoma, Northern reported the highest with 8.00 hours per grand jury session.

Table 23 shows the number of cases commenced by indictment and the number of defendants proceeded against by indictment during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. After a five year decline, proceedings by indictment began to rise in 1980 and this trend continued in 1981. The 8,689 cases commenced by indictment and the 13,773 defendants proceeded against by indictment represent increases of 7.3 percent and 5.2 percent, respectively, over 1980.

Between 1976 and 1980, the average number of defendants indicted per session declined and the number of grand jury sessions increased. This year the reverse was true as the average number of defendants indicted per session climbed from 2.45 in 1980 to 2.72 in 1981, and the number of grand jury sessions decreased 5.4 percent.

Petit Juror Activity Decreased Slightly

Table 24 summarizes petit juror activity in U.S. district courts for the six month period July 1 through December 31, 1981. For the first time since 1978, petit juror activity decreased slightly during this period. Where 302,322 prospective jurors were available to serve during 1980, there were 299,742 jurors (0.9 percent fewer) available to serve during the same period in 1981.

The categories of jury service include selected or serving; challenged; and not selected, serving, or challenged. The actual numbers of jurors in all three categories declined slightly in 1981, however, the proportions of the total remained virtually unchanged. While 61.2 percent of the available jurors were selected or serving, an additional 15.4 percent were challenged peremptorily or for cause. The remaining 23.4 percent were not selected, serving, or challenged (including a small proportion of jurors (0.9 percent) who travelled to or from court).

For the second consecutive year, civil jury trial days accounted for the majority of jury trial days during this six month period. Criminal jury trial days decreased by 52 days (0.7 percent) while civil jury trial days increased by 191 days (2.2 percent).

Appendix Table J-2 provides a breakdown of petit juror activity for each district court during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. For the category of jurors selected or serving, the national average was 61.2 percent. Percentages ranged from a high of 84.2 percent in the Eastern District of Oklahoma to a low of 38.8 percent in Nebraska.

The Western District of Virginia reported the greatest percentage of jurors as challenged either peremptorily or for cause at 39.3 percent. The Western District of North Carolina, however, reported the least number of its available jurors in this category, 6.9 percent. Nationally, 15.4 percent of available jurors were challenged.

In the Eastern District of Oklahoma less than one percent of the total available jurors were not selected, serving, or challenged, the lowest percent reported in this category. Nebraska reported 48.9 percent of its total available jurors as not selected, serving, or challenged. Of the 47 districts that reported jurors in travel status, 23 districts reported that jurors in route to or from the place of holding court accounted for less than one percent of total available jurors. Jurors in travel status in the other 24 districts ranged from 1.0 percent in Alaska to 14.5 percent in Montana.

Nationally, civil jury trials accounted for 54.2 percent of the 16,498 jury trial days during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. Criminal jury trials accounted for 45.8 percent. The percentage of civil jury trial days ranged from 6.7 percent in Alaska to 93.6 percent in the Middle District of Louisiana.

The Juror Usage Index (J.U.I.) is the average number of jurors on hand for each jury trial day. The index is calculated by dividing the total number of available jurors by the total number of jury trial days. The national J.U.I. for the six month period ended December 31, 1981 was 18.17, not a significant change from last year. While 36 districts reporting jury trial days had J.U.I.s above the national average, 54 districts reported J.U.I.s below (or better than) the national average. J.U.I.s ranged from 11.40 in Oklahoma, Eastern to 26.13 in Nebraska.

FEDERAL PUBLIC/COMMUNITY DEFENDERS

There were 32 federal public defender and seven community defender organizations operating on December 31, 1981. Although this represents a decline of one federal public defender organization from the number reported a year ago, there are not fewer defender offices. Totals for Missouri Western's temporary branch office in the Western District of Arkansas are no longer shown separately. During the past year, the federal public defender organization for the Central and Southern Districts of Illinois was authorized to provide representations in the Eastern District of Missouri. The Illinois organization began reporting representations in Missouri, Eastern in August 1981 and representations by this branch office are shown separately under the totals for the Illinois organization.

Tables 25 and 26 summarize the number and type of cases opened, closed, and pending in the defender organizations during the last three years. Appendix Tables K-1 and L-1 provide detailed statistical information on the case activity of each office during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. The information is classified into three major categories of representations: criminal, appeals, and other. The last category includes representations for habeas corpus, parole/probation revocation, witness, and motions to correct or reduce sentence. The statistics in this report cover only those representations provided by federal public/community defenders and, therefore, exclude representations by private panel attorneys under the Criminal Justice Act of 1964. Those statistics are available in the Report to the United States Judicial Conference Committee to Implement the Criminal Justice Act.

Federal Public Defenders

Federal public defenders received 7,338 cases during the six-month period ended December 31, 1981, a modest 1.0 percent increase over the 7,263 openings in 1980. This rise in assigned cases is due to a 15.6 percent increase in other representations which offset declines in the other two case categories. Much of this increase is attributable to the substantial rise in the number of court-directed prisoner representations of inmates at the U.S. Medical Center for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Missouri. These representations rose from 205 in 1980 to 457 in 1981, and accounted for almost 18 percent of the 2,540 other representations. Criminal matters declined 5.3 percent to 4,570, but still comprise 62.3 percent of the total workload. Appeals representations fell 5.4 percent to 228.

The Western District of Missouri reported the largest number of case openings with 807, a 61.1 percent increase over the 501 cases (including 103 cases opened in Arkansas, Western) opened in 1980. The rise in representations of inmates at the U.S. Medical Center for Federal Prisoners was primarily responsible for this increase. California, Central opened 693 cases, while California, Northern and Eastern were each assigned more than 500 cases. The fewest case openings were recorded by West Virginia, Southern (65) and Kentucky, Eastern (66).

The largest percentage increase among the 21 offices experiencing rises in their case openings was recorded by the Illinois organization. Their 76 assigned cases represented a 68.9 percent increase over 1980. Missouri, Western and Tennessee, Western reported increases of 61.1 percent and 58.3 percent, respectively. The Southern District of Florida, however, opened 60.0 percent fewer cases. This large decrease in representations was primarily due to the decline in immigration cases from 580 in 1980 to 39 in 1981. The abnormally high number of immigration cases during 1980 was caused by the influx of Cuban Refugees into Southern Florida.

Federal public defenders disposed of 7,443 cases, an increase of 5.7 percent. Criminal dispositions remained virtually the same and closings of appeals cases declined 17.4 percent. Consequently, the substantial 22.1 percent rise in closings of other representations was responsible for the overall increase in terminations. Missouri, Western closed the most cases at 779, while West Virginia, Southern terminated the least, reporting only 65 dispositions.

Dispositions rose in 22 of the 32 federal public defender offices. The largest increase was registered by Missouri, Western with 779 dispositions. This is a rise of 67.2 percent over the 466 cases (including 86 cases closed in Arkansas, Western) disposed of in 1980. Again, this was primarily due to the rise in representations of inmates at the U.S. Medical Center for Federal Prisoners. Other large increases in the number of cases closed were recorded by West Virginia, Southern (up 54.8 percent); Massachusetts (up 50.0 percent); and Illinois (up 40.0 percent). Due to the sharp drop in immigration cases, the largest decline in terminations was reported by Florida, Southern. This office closed 359 cases in 1981, 442 (55.2 percent) fewer than a year ago.

Federal public defenders spent an average of 1.9 hours in court per closed case; a decline from the average of 2.2 hours in 1980. West Virginia, Southern recorded the highest average at 5.9 hours per closed case, primarily because of two mail fraud cases which required 231 hours of in-court time. Excluding these two cases, West Virginia, Southern's average would be 2.4 hours. Missouri, Western (0.7); Tennessee, Middle (0.7); and California, Northern (0.9) averaged less than 1.0 hour in court per closed case.

The pending caseload continues to grow as 22 offices reported increases over a year ago. Florida, Southern reported the largest numerical increase (127) in pending cases, however, Florida, Northern recorded the largest percentage increase (96.0). New Mexico (down 40.2 percent) and Puerto Rico (down 37.5 percent) were among the few to reduce their pending caseload.

Community Defender Organizations

The seven community defender organizations opened a total of 3,611 cases during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. This was a 10.6 percent decrease from the 4,039 cases opened during the same period in 1980. This year, criminal cases decreased 14.3 percent to 2,634 cases, while appeals cases increased 14.3 percent to 112 cases. Other representations did not change significantly since last year.

Three offices experienced increases in case openings during the six month period ended December 31, 1981. Openings in Pennsylvania, Eastern; Oregon; and Michigan, Eastern climbed by 19.8, 11.1, and 7.5 percent, respectively. All other organizations experienced decreases in case openings ranging from a 5.5 percent decrease in the New York organization to a 19.6 percent decrease in California, Southern. Despite this decrease, California, Southern again reported the largest number of case openings of all seven organizations. The decrease in case openings in this district was primarily due to a 51.3 percent drop in petty offense cases. While 833 petty offense cases were reported last year, only 406 such cases were reported during this six month period. The New York organization reported the second largest number of case openings with 900 cases. These two offices accounted for 70.1 percent of all community defender openings.

Despite four offices which closed a total of 148 more cases this year than last year, the overall number of cases disposed of has declined by 8.1 percent. The 3,640 cases closed during this six month period was down by 322 cases from the 3,962 cases closed last year. Of the matters closed, 2,692 (74.0 percent) were criminal cases; 95 (2.6 percent) were appeals cases; and 853 (23.4 percent) were other representations.

California, Southern and Michigan, Eastern reported a 20.8 percent and 14.4 percent decrease in cases closed, respectively. These two organizations were primarily responsible for the overall decrease in cases closed.

The Second Circuit Court of Appeals reported an average of 5.6 hours per closed case. This high average, however, was caused by an unusual habeas corpus case involving an indeterminate number of inmates in a federal prison. This case alone required 238 in-court hours. The overall average number of hours in court per closed case remained at 2.0 hours.

The 1,819 cases pending on December 31, 1981 was up 4.3 percent above the 1,744 cases pending last year. Oregon's pending caseload dropped 16.7 percent while all other offices showed moderate increases in the number of cases pending on December 31, 1981.

U.S. BANKRUPTCY COURTS

Summary of Calendar Year Bankruptcy Workload

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, the number of bankruptcy estates filed in the U.S. bankruptcy courts reached 523,825, a 10.9 percent increase over the 472,400 estates filed during the same period a year ago. The 523,825 estates include 363,847 cases (159,327 of which are joint petitions) filed subsequent to the implementation of the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1978 (hereinafter referred to as Code cases). The remaining 651 estates represent cases originally filed prior to implementation of the Reform Act (hereinafter referred to as Act cases) and reopened during the period. Table 27 is a comparison of the bankruptcy caseload during the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1980 and 1981. Additional data on the bankruptcy workload is provided in Appendix Tables F-1, F-2A, F-2B, F-3A, F-3B, F-3C, and F-3D.

During the Twelve Month Periods Ended December 31, 1980 and 1981

1980	306,018	472,400	233,442	544,976
1981	544,976	523,825	383,481	685,320
Percent Change	78.1	10.9	64.3	25.8

The number of bankruptcy estates disposed of also increased in 1981, but at a much higher rate than filings. The number of bankruptcy estates terminated rose to 383,481 in 1981, 64.3 percent greater than the 233,442 cases disposed of in 1980. This total is comprised of 239,002 Code cases (including 99,674 joint petitions) and 44,805 Act cases. This dramatic increase in disposition activity nationwide is highlighted in the activity of the six largest districts, which accounted for more than one-fourth of the estates terminated. A comparison of the disposition activity in these districts is indicated below:

District	Estates Terminated		Percent Increase
	1980	1981
Total	57,101	100,672	76.3
California, Central	12,080	24,235	100.6

California, Northern	9,298	14,806	59.2
Michigan, Eastern	6,913	11,577	67.5

Despite the tremendous increase in termination activity, estate filings still outnumbered terminations in 1981 by 140,344. Thus, the pending caseload continued its upward trend, rising 25.8 percent from 544,976 in 1980 to 685,320 as of December 31, 1981. The 25.8 percent rate of increase in the pending caseload, however, was down dramatically from the 78.1 percent rate of increase last year. The 685,320 estates pending include 418,127 Code cases (184,616 joint petitions) and 82,577 Act cases.

Summary of July through December Bankruptcy Workload

During the six month period July through December 1981, a total of 259,366 bankruptcy estates were filed, an increase of only 1.9 percent over the comparable period in 1980, but 81.7 percent above the 1979 level. During the three month period October through December 1981, a total of 128,962 estates were filed, down slightly from the 130,404 estates filed in the previous three month period but slightly above (1.1 percent) the number filed during the same period a year ago. Table 28 is a summary, by quarter, of the number of bankruptcy estates filed from July 1, 1974 through December 31, 1981.

Adversary Proceedings

In addition to bankruptcy estates, adversary civil actions arising out of bankruptcy cases may also be filed with the U.S. bankruptcy courts. During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, a total of 115,894 adversary proceedings were filed, an increase of 63.8 percent over the 70,762 filed during 1980. During 1981, a total of 27 districts had more than double the number of adversary proceedings filed than in 1980, and in seven of those districts the number tripled during the period. Table 22 provides a comparison of the number of adversary proceedings filed, by district, during each of the twelve month periods ended December 31, 1980 and 1981.

During 1981, the U.S. bankruptcy courts disposed of 78,406 adversary proceedings, a jump of 130.1 percent over the 34,078 terminated in 1980. Because of the large influx of these matters into the courts, the number of adversary proceedings pending rose to 78,282 as of December 31, 1981, an increase of 91.9 percent over the 40,794 such actions pending a year ago. More detailed information on the adversary proceeding workload, by district, during 1981 is provided in Appendix Table F-1AP.

FEDERAL PROBATION SYSTEM

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, 36,761 persons were received for supervision in the Federal Probation System, a modest decline of 0.9 percent from the 37,079 received last year. The number removed from supervision also fell by 2.3 percent to 39,611 this year from 40,556 during 1980. Because removals continued to outpace persons received, the number of persons under supervision at year's end dropped for the third successive year. On December 31, 1981, there were 58,392 persons actively supervised, down 4,367 or 7.0 percent from the 62,759 supervised at the end of last year. Appendix Table E-1 provides the number of persons received for supervision and removed, by district, during the past year.

Persons Received Down Less Than One Percent

As shown in Table 30, persons received for supervision, excluding transfers, declined slightly by 0.4 percent to 29,714 during 1981 from 29,848 during 1980. This moderate decrease was in sharp contrast to the more severe declines reported for the years 1978 through 1980. (See Table 31.) The overall drop in persons received resulted from a decline of 1,563 or 13.8 percent in the number of persons received for supervision from institutions during 1981. The number of parolees received fell the most, by 962. Persons received on mandatory release and special parole terms declined also by 371 and 255, respectively.

In contrast, there were 1,429 or 7.7 percent more persons received for supervision from the courts resulting from the upturn discussed earlier in the criminal caseload. This increase nearly equalled the decline in institutional releasees received. The number of probationers received from U.S. magistrates rose to 5,866 this year, or 23.5 percent higher than the 1980 figure. The 12,175 court probationers received during 1981 was also 357 more than were received last year. Persons received under conditions of pretrial diversion declined by 2.3 percent.

Statistics on the number of persons received from July through December 1980 and 1981 are shown in Table 32. There was a substantial rise of 9.5 percent in persons received during the last six months of this year. Part of this increase can be attributed to a change in the method of accounting for records received during a reporting period.

Table 32

Military Parole	176	171	-5	-2.8

The six month period increases in probationers received from district courts (16.3 percent) and U.S. magistrates (32.4 percent) served to accent smaller increases of probationers received during the twelve month period. The six month figures for institutional releasees received also indicate a modest drop of 2.4 percent compared to the 13.8 percent decline shown for the year. Of particular note is the rise of 12.2 percent in special parolees received during the last six months of 1981 that reverses the decrease of 14.2 percent reported for the year.

Terminations Decrease by 2.2 Percent

Despite an increase of 790 or 11.6 percent in the number of parolees removed from supervision this year, the total of 32,827 persons removed from all types of supervision this year, excluding transfers, was 754 fewer than were removed during 1980. Totals for both persons removed from court supervision and removals of institutional releasees were reduced by 0.7 percent and 4.8 percent, respectively.

There was a rise of 363 or 7.4 percent in probationers removed from terms imposed by U.S. magistrates and a smaller rise in military parolees removed, from 166 last year to 271 during 1981. These increases were counteracted by significant declines in the number of persons removed from mandatory release (905) and special parole terms (592). Probationers removed from court-imposed terms also fell by 547 or 3.9 percent, while the number of persons removed from pretrial diversion was 1.6 percent higher in 1981 than in 1980.

Persons Under Supervision Reduced by 7.0 Percent

The 58,392 persons actively supervised on December 31, 1981 was 4,367 or 7.0 percent below the 62,759 under supervision at the end of last year. (See Table 33.)

The overall decline during 1981 in persons under supervision was divided somewhat equally between the number of persons supervised from the courts, which declined by 2,047 or 4.8 percent, and those supervised after release from institutions. The latter group declined 2,320 or 11.7 percent.

Reductions occurred in five of the seven types of supervision, with court probationers and parolees showing the largest decreases of 2,284 and 1,636, respectively. Only probationers serving terms imposed by U.S. magistrates, who increased by 445 or 6.4 percent, and military parolees, who increased by 61, numbered more persons under supervision at the close of 1981 than at the close of 1980. (See Appendix Table E-2.)

For update and comparison, the 58,392 under supervision on December 31, 1981 is only 1.1 percent below the 59,016 reported in the June 30 Annual Report of the Director.

Fewer Persons Supervised for Larceny, Forgery and Counterfeiting at Year's End

During the twelve month period ended December 31, 1981, all but five of the 19 major categories of offenders being supervised, shown in Table 34, experienced reductions compared to last year. The largest declines were reported in the number supervised for the offenses of forgery and counterfeiting (down 17.3 percent), and larceny (down 14.0 percent). A substantial decrease of 9.0 percent was also reported in persons supervised for drug-related offenses. This resulted from decreases in persons supervised for marihuana (down 10.3 percent); narcotics (down 8.1 percent); and other controlled substances (down 9.7 percent). There were also 498 or 31.0 percent fewer persons supervised for violations of postal laws at the close of this year.

Other notable declines were reported for bank robbers under supervision, down 371; firearms offenders, down 509; and those supervised following involvement in auto thefts, down 296. The number of persons supervised for "other special" offenses, which includes violations of federal statutes concerning park lands, agriculture, customs, etc., climbed from 2,483 at the close of last year to 3,004 at the end of this year. This is an increase of 521 or 21.0 percent. Smaller rises were also reported in the number of persons supervised for the offenses of embezzlement, fraud, and homicide. An increase of 156 traffic offenders under supervision was reported as well. Appendix Table E-3 shows persons under supervision in each district at the end of this year by offense groups.

Seven Districts Register Declines of More than 200 Persons Under Supervision

Table 35 provides the change since the close of last year in the number of persons supervised in each district. Sixty-five of the 94 probation offices reported smaller caseloads at the end of this year. Caseloads in 18 districts fell by 100 or more and seven districts, with a combined total caseload of more than 14,000, reported declines in their individual caseloads of more than 200 persons. The seven were: California, Central; Illinois, Northern; Michigan, Eastern; Pennsylvania, Eastern; Arizona, California, Northern; and New York, Eastern. Six of these seven districts experienced notable decreases in the number of offenders under supervision for forgery and counterfeiting at the end of this year. Five of the seven also reported fewer persons under supervision for larceny. All seven districts reported reductions since last year in the number of court probationers supervised, ranging from 6.2 percent to 19.5 percent. Similar reductions in parolees, accompanied by significant decreases in special parolees in six of the seven districts, were also reported.

Of the 28 districts with a larger caseload at the end of this year, only six increased by more than 30 persons. The Western District of North Carolina gained 56 persons for supervision with the transfer of four counties from the Middle District of North Carolina, effective October 1, 1981 (P.L. 96-462, 10/15/80). This transfer contributed to the increase of 87 persons in North Carolina, Western's year-end caseload, and the drop of 109 persons in North Carolina, Middle. Two other districts reporting substantial increases in year-end supervision caseload were Hawaii (78) and Tennessee, Western (76).

Technical Note

Because records pertaining to persons received or removed during a specific reporting period can be processed after that period has occurred, the number of persons reported under supervision on a particular date changes in ensuing reports. Appendix Table E-1, therefore, shows a different figure for persons under supervision at the beginning of this year than was reported at the end of last year. Comparisons in the text, however, are based on the ending figure reported last year.
