The eagle is symbolic of protection and freedom to the Indians of the Pacific Northwest. The feathers of this powerful bird are thought to convey extraordinary strength and power.

Washington's judiciary also symbolizes freedom, equality, strength and protection to its citizens; the same traits possessed by one of the Pacific Northwest's most spectacular birds—the eagle.

The eagle has been recreated in Indian symbols for the cover of this judicial report by Diane Robertson, an Olympia artist.

Jurisdiction:

- Direct appeals wherein actions of state officials are involved, constitutionality of a statute is questioned, conflicting statutes or rules of law are involved, or the issue is of broad public interest
- Aggrieved party has right of review when reversal in Court of Appeals is not unanimous; otherwise review is discretionary.

OVERVIEW OF 1980

In all the courts, criminal case filings increased far above expectations based on historic trends. Misdemeanor filings in the courts of limited jurisdiction increased 18%; felony filings in the superior courts increased 21%; criminal appeals filed in the appellate courts increased 17%. Whether this is the result of increased activity on the part of law enforcement officials and prosecutors, increased crime or both cannot be determined at this time. But the result is increased levels of work and pressure on the judiciary.

Many innovative changes are being tried in the superior courts to cope with a caseload that has increased almost 80% in the last ten years compared to an increase

A special concern is the rapidly growing caseload in the Court of Appeals. As the caseload of the superior courts and their productivity grows, so grows the caseload of the appellate courts, especially the Court of Appeals. An analysis of available data indicates that the Court of Appeals may have reached the limit of its current capacity with respect to caseload. The number of matters that can be fairly and properly processed by the appellate courts is finite and even though the Court of Appeals was expanded in 1978, evidence indicates that either further expansion or other means of increasing the appellate courts' productivity may be necessary.

The following is a report on business transacted by the courts of Washington during the 1980 calendar year. This report consists of an appraisal of the caseloads and a summary of the activities of the Supreme Court, the Court of Appeals, the Superior Courts and the Courts of Limited Jurisdiction. Report material is based on statistics reported to the Administrator for the Courts by the courts of Washington during 1980.

Emphasis in this report is placed on 'Intake' and 'Court Activity'. Intake refers to those matters filed with the courts during the year, the composition and source of those filings and the evaluation of trends that are apparent. Court activity generally refers to the disposition of cases, trial activity, judicial workloads and, where available, pending caseloads.

EXPENDITURES FOR COURT SERVICES

Washington's courts are financed through funds appropriated by the state and local governments. This section distinguishes between state expenditures for the judicial system and those of the cities and counties. State fiscal activities are based on a biennium, consisting of two consecutive fiscal years. Fiscal operations of the cities and counties are based on the calendar year.

EXPENDITURES BY THE STATE

Court operations funded directly by the state include the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court Clerk's Office, the Court of Appeals, superior court judges (one-half of the salaries and benefits), the State Law Library, Reporter of Decisions and the Office of the Administrator for the Courts.

Expenditures to support the judiciary comprise a small portion of the total cost of operating state government. During the 1977-1979 biennium, state expenditures totaled $7.9 billion. Only $17.6 million, or two-tenths of one percent, was expended on the judiciary. (This proportion did not change from the biennium immediately preceding.)

In fiscal year 1979-80, the first half of the current biennium, the state expended $12.0 million for judicial operations, an increase of 24.9% over the previous fiscal year.

EXPENDITURES BY LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Local governments finance the major portion of the state's judicial system, including the cost of court administration, grand juries, local law libraries, facilities, civil process services, petit juries, and witness expenses.

With the exception of one-half the salaries of superior court judges, the operation of the superior courts and district courts are funded by the counties. Many district courts have municipal court departments and receive a portion of their operating costs from the cities. Municipal courts are funded by the cities they serve.

In 1979, cities and counties of Washington expended $41.5 million for judicial services and operations. This represents an increase of 14% over the previous year's expenditures. As was the case with state expenditures, the amount spent to support local courts was small relative to the expenditures for other city and county government operations. Expenditures for judicial services during 1979 represented only 3.3% of the almost $1.25 billion spent by Washington's cities and counties. The courts had a smaller percentage increase in costs than the remainder of government services—14% compared to 14.7% for other government costs.

REVENUE FROM COURT ACTIVITY

The role of the judiciary is not to produce a profit or to act as a revenue-producing agency. Revenue is generated by the courts, however, in three areas: (1) fees for the filing of cases and documents with the courts; (2) fines and bail forfeitures from persons convicted of crimes or traffic violations; (3) special surcharges and assessments on fines and forfeitures for dedicated state funds.

During 1979, the trial courts generated more than $46.1 million in revenue from filing fees, fines and forfeitures. The appellate courts collected approximately $41,500 from filing fees during the same period. Most of the revenue collected by the trial courts was used by the cities and counties to defray costs of operating and maintaining judicial services.

During recent years, the trial courts have been required to collect surcharges and assessments on fines and forfeitures. Almost $10.3 million was distributed to a number of state agency funds during fiscal year 1979/80.

THE SUPREME COURT

Statistics on the caseload and operation of the Supreme Court have been compiled from monthly reports submitted by the Clerk of the Supreme Court. The data reported was collected, for the most part, using manual tallying methods. In March, 1980, the Supreme Court began implementation of ACORDS, the appellate court component of the State Judicial Information System. Some subsequent statistical data was collected using that system. Nineteen hundred and eighty one will mark a transition to direct reliance on ACORDS for future statistical information on the Supreme Court.

OVERVIEW

While filings in 1980 were below those for 1979, the Supreme Court disposed of more matters in 1980 than in any previous year and more cases than were filed during the year. This increase in the number of cases disposed was accompanied by an 8% increase in the number of opinions mandated.

INTAKE

The types of matters filed in the Supreme Court include appeals of judgments from trial courts, petitions for review of a decision by the Court of Appeals, personal restraint petitions, notices of discretionary review (which encompass many types of matters) and disciplinary proceedings against members of the Bar. These may be filed directly in the Supreme Court or may be certified (transferred) to the Supreme Court from the Court of Appeals.

Appeals Filed

There were 134 appeals filed in the Supreme Court during 1980, lower than the trend established over the previous ten years. The appellate courts overall, however, experienced an increase in appellate filings. (See table 7.)

Figure 2

Appeals filed in the Supreme Court are either filed directly or are certified from the Court of Appeals. All those filed directly in the Supreme Court have shown a marked increase in the last few years.

Table 6
Supreme Court Appeals Filed by Source

Year	Filed Directly	Certified from COA	Total Filed
1975	94 (60.6%)	61 (39.3%)	155 (100%)
1976	97 (48.5%)	103 (51.5%)	200 (100%)
1977	141 (63.5%)	81 (36.5%)	222 (100%)

1980	116 (86.6%)	18 (13.4%)	134 (100%)

The total number of appeals filed both in the Supreme Court and in the Court of Appeals during the year shows a substantial increase over 1979.

Table 7 New Appeals Filed in the Appellate Courts
Year	Supreme Court	Court of Appeals	All New Appeals
1975	94 (6.2%)	1405 (93.8%)	1499 (100%)

1980	116 (5.1%)	2165 (94.9%)	2281 (100%)

The proportions of appeals filed that are civil or criminal have fluctuated greatly over the last six years but have remained within the same general boundaries.

1979	149 (81.0%)	35 (19.0%)
1980	103 (76.9%)	31 (23.1%)

The number of criminal appeals filed in the Supreme Court during 1980 decreased much less than did the number of civil appeals.

Petitions for Review Filed

The Supreme Court received 400 petitions for review during 1980, 2.9% less than in 1979. The relationship between the number of petitions for review filed in the Supreme Court and the number of appeals for which opinions are remitted in the Court of Appeals has stabilized over the last six years. (See table 10.)

Table 10 COA Opinions vs. Petitions for Review
Year	COA Opinions Remitted	Petitions for Review Filed	Ratio

1978	948	337	0.36
1979	1103	412	0.37
1980	997	400	0.40

The proportions of petitions for review that are civil or criminal have fluctuated on either side of 50% over the last six years. (See table 11.) Petitions for review of civil cases increased slightly from 1979 to 1980 while those for criminal cases decreased 8.4%.

Other Matters Filed

Other matters filed in the Supreme Court include Personal Restraint Petitions, Notices of Discretionary Review and Disciplinary Proceedings against members of the Bar.

Personal restraint petitions filed during 1980 paralleled an increase in the Court of Appeals. The 55 personal restraint petitions filed were more than double the number filed in 1979. (See table 12.)

Figure 4

There was little change in the number of notices of discretionary review filed in 1980 compared to 1979. There has been a substantial increase, however, over the last several years. (See table 13.)

Disciplinary proceedings against members of the Bar increased sharply in 1980 and followed a pattern of wide fluctuations over the last six years. (See table 13.)

COURT ACTIVITY

For the purpose of this report, COURT ACTIVITY includes terminations (dispositions), time-in-process for appeals and pending caseload in the Supreme Court. While the Supreme Court is engaged in far more activities than are referenced by these categories, statistics have been collected only in these areas.

Termination of Appeals

The Supreme Court terminated 167 appeals during 1980, 33 more than were filed.

Appeal dispositions have followed a pattern exhibited by the court over the last ten years. The number of appeals disposed of in any year is very closely related to the number of appeals filed in the Court the previous year. (See figure 4 and table 14.)

Table 14
Appeals Disposed vs Filed Previous Year

Year	Appeals Disposed	Appeals Filed Previous Year
1975	160	151
1976	151	155
1977	200	200
1978	231	222
1979	175	183
1980	167	184

When discussing the termination of appellate matters by opinion, it must be remembered that there is a period of 20 days from the time an opinion is written and filed before it can be mandated to the court in which the issue originated. The appellant or respondent thus has a period of time in which to seek reconsideration of the court's decision. The statistics reported for the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals for appellate matters terminated with an opinion are based on the 'final' conclusion of the matter with the mandate on remission of the opinion and not on its filing which occurred a month earlier.

THE SUPREME COURT

Termination of Petitions for Review

The Supreme Court disposed of 402 petitions for review during 1980, almost the same number terminated in 1979 and substantially more than in previous years. The growth in dispositions for these cases is reflective of the growth in their filings. The number of petitions for review for which opinions were mandated (indicative of those that were 'granted') increased sharply in 1978 and again in 1980 showing that these matters are consuming more of the Court's time than the increase in their volume indicated.

Table 16
Petitions for Review Terminated

Year	Opinion Mandated	Denied	Dismissed	Total
1975	29 (13%)	191	1	221
1976	23 (12%)	160	2	185
1977	23 (9%)	236	4	263
1978	76 (21%)	274	6	356
1979	40 (10%)	363	5	408
1980	79 (20%)	316	7	402

Termination of Other Matters

The Supreme Court disposed of 54 personal restraint petitions, 155 notices of discretionary review and 13 disciplinary proceedings during 1980. As in prior years, the numbers of these matters disposed were commensurate with the numbers filed during the year.

Table 17
Other Matters Terminated

Manner of Termination	Personal Restraint Petitions	Notices of Discretionary Review	Disciplinary Proceedings
Opinion Mandated	9	22	13
Denied	16	129	N/A
Dismissed	0	0	0
Transferred	29	4	N/A
Total Terminated	54	155	13

Opinions Mandated

Opinions were mandated on 203 matters during 1980, 14 more than in 1979 and an increase of 7.4%. While fewer opinions were mandated on appeals, almost twice as many opinions were mandated on cases that had resulted from petitions for review than in 1979. The number of opinions on personal restraint petitions and disciplinary proceedings was more than twice that for 1979.

Table 18 Opinions Mandated
	1979	1980	% Change
Appeals	113	80	-30.2%
Petitions for Review	40	79	+97.5%
Personal Restraint Petn.	5	9	+80.0%
Notice of Discretionary Rev.	22	22	+0.0%
Disciplinary Proceedings	4	13	+225.0%
Total Opinions Remitted	189	203	+7.4%

NOTE: The number of opinions mandated is not the same as the number of opinions written or the number of cases for which opinions are filed. It is possible for more than one opinion (concurring or dissenting) to be written for a single case and there is a time lag between the point at which the opinion is filed and when it is mandated during which a motion for reconsideration can be filed.

Pending Caseload

A total of 276 matters were left pending at the end of 1980, a decrease of 19.3% in the pending caseload during the year. The number of matters pending hearing, however, increased by 7.3% while the number of cases with an opinion or order in process was reduced from 94 at the start of the year to 10 by year's end. The number of matters set for hearing increased 14.8% from the start of the year to the end of 1980.

Table 19
Pending Caseload

	Start of Year	End of Year	% Change

Opinion/Order in Process	94	10	-89.4%
Total Pending	342	276	-19.3%
Opinion/Order Filed but Not Yet Mandated	21	63	+200.0%

There were also 63 cases for which opinions had been filed but not yet mandated pending at the end of 1980. This was three times the number awaiting remittance at the start of the year and indicates that 42 more opinions were filed than were remitted during the year.

Figure 6

THE SUPREME COURT

OUTLOOK

Events in the Supreme Court are linked quite closely with those of the Court of Appeals. The rapid increase in appeals filed in the Court of Appeal portends a similar rise in the number of petitions for review in the Supreme Court separated by the time taken to process the appeals in the Court of Appeals. Therefore, the Supreme Court can probably expect a substantial rise in the number of petitions for review filed in 1982 as a result of the increase in Court of Appeals filings in 1980.

In the past, a great many appellate matters heard in the Supreme Court were cases that had been filed in the Court of Appeals and certified to the Supreme Court. The reduction in certifications in recent years indicates the future caseload of the Supreme Court will consist mostly of matters filed originally in the Supreme Court or heard previously in the Court of Appeals and brought to the Supreme Court for review. As the pending caseload in the Court of Appeals grows (because of filings exceeding the capacity of the Court to dispose of them within a year's time) and the time-to-process appeals is perceived to increase, there will probably be a tendency to seek to file directly in the Supreme Court rather than in the Court of Appeals in order to obtain a faster resolution. Therefore, the number of appeals filed directly in the Supreme Court can probably be expected to increase in the next few years.

Most indicators point to an increasing caseload for the Supreme Court starting possibly in 1982. The increase will probably be both in direct appeals filed and in petitions for review.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

Caseload and operations statistics of the Court of Appeals have been compiled from monthly reports submitted by the clerks of the three divisions of the Court. This data was provided, for the most part, by ACORDS, the appellate court component of the State Judicial Information System. Nineteen hundred and eighty one will mark a transition to direct reliance on ACORDS for future statistical information on the Court of Appeals.

OVERVIEW

The Court of Appeals experienced a greater one-year increase in its caseload during 1980 than in any year since its founding in 1969. A total of 2,752 appeals and other matters were filed in 1980 compared to 2,243 in 1979. This was an increase of 509 cases or 22.7% in one year. No explanation has been found to account for this dramatic growth in appellate filings.

Appeals represented 81.8% of all matters filed in the Court of Appeals during 1980. The number of appeals filed in the Court of Appeals increased substantially. As in the Supreme Court, the number of personal restraint petitions increased dramatically from 1979 to 1980.

The number of matters disposed in the Court of Appeals during 1980, was slightly less than in 1979 but still above previous years. With the sudden and dramatic increase in new cases filed, it is not unexpected that the pending caseload of the Court of Appeals increased considerably during the year.

It appears the Court's caseload capacity may have been pushed to the limit. If this is truly the case, further growth in intake may result in substantial increases in the time required to process appellate matters.

INTAKE

Those matters filed in the Court of Appeals have been grouped into three categories for statistical reporting and analysis. They include appeals, personal restraint petitions and notices of discretionary review. These matters are either filed directly in each division or may be transferred from one division to another or to the Court of Appeals from the Supreme Court.

Appeals Filed

A total of 2,251 appeals were filed in the Court of Appeals during 1980, an increase of 17.2% over 1979. This number was much greater than expected based on the trend exhibited over the previous five years.

Table 25
Appeals Filed by Source

Year	Filed Directly	Transferred	Total Filed
1975	1405 (95.8%)	62 (4.2%)	1467 (100%)
1976	1472 (97.4%)	40 (2.6%)	1512 (100%)
1977	1662 (97.9%)	35 (2.1%)	1697 (100%)
1978	1736 (95.5%)	82 (4.5%)	1818 (100%)
1979	1877 (97.7%)	44 (2.3%)	1921 (100%)
1980	2165 (96.2%)	86 (3.8%)	2251 (100%)

Appeals filed during 1980 in each division of the Court of Appeals were either direct filings in that division (96.2%) or were transferred from the Supreme Court or another division (3.8%).

*The number of "new appeals" filed refers to those appeals filed directly in both the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals; it does not include appeals that are transferred between the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals or between divisions of the Court of Appeals. (While a handful of appeals on probate or juvenile matters are included, their numbers are small and should have no significant impact on the data.)

Substantial fluctuations in the number of superior court cases tried and the types of cases tried can have a profound effect on the number of appeals filed in the appellate courts. At present there is no answer as to why there has been such an increase in appeals filed while the number of cases tried in superior courts has decreased in the last few years. (See table 26.)

There is, however, a very strong correlation between the number of criminal cases disposed in the superior courts and the number of new criminal appeals filed in the appellate courts (including the Supreme Court). The ratio of new criminal appeals to criminal dispositions in the superior courts appears to be increasing at a steady rate and foreshadows a significant increase in criminal appeals as the superior courts dispose of the increased criminal caseload of 1980.

Table 27

1979	12,956	739	5.7%
1980	15,220	863	5.7%

*New criminal appeals does not include those appeals transferred to a division of the Court of Appeals from another division or the Supreme Court.

The number of appeals filed in Division III (Spokane) decreased 9.0% from 1979 so that the portion of the appeals filed in the eastern half of the state was reduced from 22.9% in 1979 to 18.9% in 1980. That portion of the appeals filed in Division I (Seattle) increased by five percentage points.

Table 28

Division III	467 (24.3%)	425 (18.9%)	-9.0%
Total Court	1921 (100%)	2251 (100%)	+17.2%

The proportions of civil and criminal appeals filed in each division vary considerably. Division I (Seattle) has the highest proportion of criminal appeals and, consequently, the largest share of all criminal appeals (62.2%) filed in the Court of Appeals. Division III (Spokane) has the highest proportion of civil appeals in its caseload.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

Other Matters Filed

Other matters filed in the Court of Appeals include Personal Restraint Petitions and Notices of Discretionary Review.

Personal restraint petition filings increased 80% over 1979. Dramatic increases occurred in all divisions while the number filed in Division I more than doubled since the previous year. (See table 30.) A similar increase was experienced by the Supreme Court.

While the number of notices of discretionary review filed during 1980 was 27.0% greater than 1979, part of this increase can be attributed to an annual fluctuation that has been common over recent years. The 188 notices of discretionary review that were filed in 1980 were, however, well above previous years' filings. Over one-third of all notices of discretionary review were filed in Division III (Spokane).

COURT ACTIVITY

For the purpose of this report, COURT ACTIVITY includes terminations (dispositions), time-in-process for appeals and pending caseload in the Court of Appeals. While the Court of Appeals is engaged in far more activities than are referenced by these categories, statistics have been collected only in these areas.

Termination of Appeals

The Court of Appeals terminated 1,741 appeals during 1980. This was fewer than the Court disposed of in 1979 but was in line with 1978. Fewer appeals were dismissed and fewer opinions were mandated in 1980 than in 1979.

Transferred	115	54	58	+7.4%
Total Appeals Disposed	1770	1940	1741	-10.3%

The number of appeals disposed in each division during 1980 was below 1979. Division II showed the greatest decline in appeals disposed and both Divisions I and II were below 1978 in disposition of appeals.

Table 33

Of those appeals terminated by opinion, both Divisions I and III mandated more published opinions than in 1979 increasing the proportion of opinions that were published.

THE COURT OF APPEALS

Termination of Other Matters

The Court of Appeals disposed of 244 personal restraint petitions and 166 notices of discretionary review during 1980. As in prior years, the number of these matters was commensurate with the numbers filed during the year except that the Court had not been able to catch up with the sudden and substantial increase in personal restraint petitions by the end of the year.

The number of other matters terminated in each division increased substantially over 1979 primarily because of the increased number filed during the year.

Pending Caseload

A total of 2,610 matters were left pending in the Court of Appeals at the end of 1980. This was an increase of 557 cases or 27.1% from the beginning of the year. Most of this increase can be attributed to the dramatic increase in filings during the year. The number of cases for which an opinion or order was in process decreased 10.5% during the year so that the number actually pending hearing rose by 31.6% over the twelve month period.

There were also 299 cases for which opinions had been filed but not yet mandated pending at the end of 1980. This was more than at the start of the year indicating that more opinions had been filed than were mandated during the year.

OUTLOOK

The dramatic increase in the caseload for the Court of Appeals during 1980 raises the question of when the capacity of the Court of Appeals will be reached...or whether it has already been met.

The history of appeals terminated versus caseload and the number of judges in the Court of Appeals implies that there is a limit to the caseload that can be reasonably handled by the Court and that this limit may have been reached in 1975/76 with 12 judges and again in 1979/80 with 16 judges.

A comparison between total cases pending and dispositions shows pending caseload passing dispositions in 1975/76 and a resurgence in the productivity of the Court in 1978 with the addition of 4 judges. This resurgence appears to have peaked in 1979.

Note the number of dispositions per judge has not exceeded 140 while it will be necessary for the Court to dispose of cases at a rate exceeding 163 cases per judge to clear the pending caseload from the end of 1980 by the end of 1981.

This is a topic of particular concern with the continual growth in filings and size of the superior court bench. The increases in the number of superior court judges are also increasing the productivity of the supreme court and also the source from which appellate matters arise. The Court of Appeals can expect to experience further increases in its caseload in the coming years. Whether they will be on the same scale as in 1980 cannot be determined at this time.

Table 39 Pending Caseload vs Dispositions

1980	2,293	16	2,146	93.1%	134.1

*A percentage greater than 100% indicates that the court disposed of more cases than were pending at the beginning of the year; i.e., some of the current year's cases were disposed.

THE SUPERIOR COURTS

OVERVIEW

Filings in the superior courts increased for the 24th consecutive year in 1980. Dramatic increases occurred in mental illness (+30.4%), criminal (+17.8%) and juvenile (+10.3%) case filings along with moderate increases in probate (+4.5%) and civil (+3.9%) filings. The number of superior court case filings for both 1979 and 1980 were well above the projected trend established during the ten-year period from 1969 to 1978.

Table 45
New Filings in the Superior Courts

	1979	1980	% Change
Civil	90,689	94,201	+3.9%
Criminal	15,224	17,930	+17.8%
Juvenile	20,836	22,972	+10.3%
Probate*	17,245	18,025	+4.5%
Mental Illness	4,386	5,720	+30.4%
Total Cases Filed	148,380	158,848	+7.1%

*Includes guardianship and adoption matters

The growth in criminal caseloads corresponds to a similar increase in misdemeanor filings in the courts of limited jurisdiction. The number of civil cases filed was also higher than in any previous year. An increase in civil jurisdiction for the district courts in 1979 was expected to divert some civil matters from the superior courts to the district courts, however, there is no evidence this occurred. Both juvenile and mental illness filings have continued to follow a trend that has been established over the last ten years.

THE SUPERIOR COURTS

Even with the dramatic increases in mental illness and in criminal and juvenile filings, the composition of the superior court caseload did not change significantly compared to 1979 because of the comparatively small proportion of the total caseload these types of cases represent.

Superior court case filings did not increase uniformly across the state. Substantial increases were experienced in most Puget Sound counties and in the more urbanized counties around the state. Several of the rural and more sparsely populated counties saw little change (less than 4%) or experienced decreases in superior court filings in 1980.

Figure 14

Superior Courts
Changes in Total Cases Filed: 1979 to 1980
Figure 15

Superior Courts
Total Filings per 1000 Population
Figure 16

While population is generally an excellent indicator of court caseloads, filing rates (filings per 1000 population) vary considerably across the state. Filing rates are very high in several diverse areas, including Skamania, Pacific, Clallam, Franklin, Pierce, Pend Oreille and Jefferson.

INTAKE

Cases filed in superior courts fall into five general categories: civil, criminal, juvenile, probate and mental illness. In turn each of these can be separated according to the nature of the issue brought before the court. Civil caseloads are subdivided into tort, commercial, property right, domestic relation, administrative law review, other civil petitions and complaints, and civil appeals from courts of limited jurisdiction. Probate is also used in a broad sense to include guardianship and adoption matters. Juvenile court caseloads included juvenile offenses (either crimes or status offenses) and juvenile dependency matters.

Civil Filings

There were 94,201 civil cases filed in superior courts during 1980. This was a 3.9% increase over 1979 and continued the trend set by civil filings over the last five years.

Figure 17

Superior Courts
Changes in Civil Cases Filed: 1979 to 1980
Figure 18

Over half the state's counties (21) had a decrease in civil filings or no growth (less than +1%). Eleven of the 19 western counties showed increases of 4% or more while only four of 20 eastern counties had increases of 4% or more in civil filings. Ten counties from Eastern Washington and two western counties experienced decreases of 4% or more in 1980 compared to 1979. (See figure 18.)

Counties with the greatest increases in civil caseloads (considering not only rate of increase but also volume of increase) included Spokane, Snohomish, Clark, Island and Skagit.

Table 46
Civil Cases Filed

	1979	1980	% Change
Torts	6,968	7,141	+2.5%
Commercial	22,469	22,397	-0.3%
Property Rights	6,984	8,730	+25.0%
Domestic Relations	42,529	44,938	+5.7%
Admin. Law Review	888	792	-10.8%
Other Petitions and Complaints	9,979	9,049	-9.3%
Civil Appeals	872	1,154	+32.3%
Total Civil Filings	90,689	94,201	+3.9%

Civil filings did not increase uniformly among all types of civil cases. Property rights cases and civil appeals showed dramatic increases while the number of administrative law review cases, and other civil petitions and complaints were fewer than in 1979. Fluctuations are not unusual and can often be caused by changes in the methods to count and compile statistical information in individual courts.

Distribution of Civil Filings: 1980
Figure 19

Despite the substantial changes in several case categories, little change in the proportion of the total caseload each category represents was experienced with the exception of property rights cases (9.3% of all civil cases vs 7.7% in 1979). (See figure 16.)

THE SUPERIOR COURTS

Superior Courts
Civil Filings per 1000 Population
Figure 20

The rate at which civil cases are filed with respect to the population in each county was high in the Puget Sound area and in most counties containing major metropolitan areas. The number of civil cases filed per 1000 population was highest, however, in Franklin, Pacific, Skamania and Pierce counties.

Torts Filed

A total of 7,141 tort actions were filed in superior courts during 1980. Although this marked an increase of 2.5% over 1979, there appears to be little change in the level of tort filings other than annual fluctuations.

Table 47
Torts Filed

Year	Filings	% Change
1975	6,746	—
1976	6,749	+0.0%
1977	7,321	+8.5%
1978	6,882	-6.0%
1979	6,968	+1.2%
1980	7,141	+2.5%

Notable increases in tort filings occurred in Snohomish (+45.8% or 211 cases) and Whatcom (+67.6% or 69 cases) counties.

Commercial Cases Filed

Commercial cases represent the second largest category of civil filings with 22,397 filings during 1980. Although figures indicate a decrease of only 0.3% from 1979, the actual decrease is probably greater because of changes in counting methods used in some counties. (The actual amount of change due to reporting differences cannot be estimated at this time.) Increases in district court civil jurisdiction are considered to have the greatest potential for impact by diverting commercial cases. The 1979 increase in district court civil jurisdiction to $3,000 did not have near the scale of impact on superior court filings as it did on district court filings. As that jurisdiction is increased further to $5,000 in July 1981, greater changes in commercial case filings may become evident.

Table 48
Commercial Cases Filed

Year	Filings	% Change
1975	17,799	—
1976	18,141	+1.9%
1977	19,779	+9.0%
1978	21,679	+9.6%
1979	22,469	+3.6%
1980	22,397	-0.3%

Twenty-one counties experienced a decline in commercial filings, including King (-18.1% or 1,614 fewer filings reported than in 1979), Chelan, Walla Walla, Mason, Grant and Franklin Counties. (Major decreases in King and Spokane Counties are due primarily to changes in counting methods that have since stabilized.)

Property Rights Case Filings

Property rights cases filed in 1980 were 25% greater than in 1979 and two and a half times greater than those filed in 1978. The primary reason for the heavy increase in this type of case is due to a change in counting methods used in King County. This change accounted for 75% of the growth in filings from 1979 to 1980. Exclusive of King County, the state's superior courts experienced a 9.5% increase in the number of property rights cases filed.

Table 49
Property Rights Cases Filed

1978	3,468	-9.2%
1979	6,984	+100.1%
1980	8,730	+25.0%

Substantial increases in property rights case filings occurred in Pierce (+13.5% or 169 cases), Clallam (+114.3% or 64 cases) and Grays Harbor (+57.1% or 68 cases) Counties.

Domestic Relations Cases Filed

Domestic relations represent the largest single type of case filing in the superior courts. Better than one out of every four cases filed in the superior courts (28%) during 1980 pertained to domestic relations. The 44,938 domestic relations matters filed during 1980 exceeded predictions based on the previous trend.

Table 50

1978	41,659	+4.2%
1979	42,529	+2.1%
1980	44,938	+5.7%

Nine counties experienced moderate or substantial decreases in the number of domestic relations cases filed in 1980 compared to 1979. Pierce (+17.2% or 860 cases) and Spokane (+16.6% or 604 cases) showed large increases.

Other Civil Cases Filed

Other civil cases include Administrative Law Review, Other Civil Petitions and Complaints and Civil Appeals from Courts of Limited Jurisdiction.

Table 51

1979	888	9,979	872
1980	792	9,049	1,154

*not reported separately prior to 1978

Administrative law review cases were first counted as a separate category in 1979. During 1980, superior courts reported 792 of these cases filed, a decrease of 10.8% from 1979. Because this is only the second year for which statistics on administrative law review cases were reported, trends have not been determined. Over half of all administrative law review matters filed in 1980 originated in King (37.7%) and Thurston (17.4%) Counties.

Other civil petitions and complaints include all matters which cannot be classified or included in the previous civil case categories. Generally, this includes uncontested petitions and petitions for writs or injunctions. Other civil petitions and complaints reported filed during 1980 totaled 9,049. While there was a substantial change from 1979 to 1980, most of this change can be attributed to changes in counting methods in a number of counties, particularly Spokane County. With the exclusion of Spokane County, there was a 7.4% increase in the number of cases reported filed.

A total of 1,154 appeals of civil cases tried in courts of limited jurisdiction were received in the superior courts during 1980. This was the second consecutive year in which a substantial increase was experienced—58.5% from 1978 to 1979 and 32.3% from 1979 to 1980. Almost all of the increase over the last two years (87%) occurred in King and Pierce Counties in which 57% of the civil appeals were filed during 1980.

The advent of electronic recording in the courts of limited jurisdiction in 1981 should significantly reduce the number of civil case appeals that are filed in the superior courts.

Criminal Filings

There were 17,930 criminal cases filed in the superior courts during 1980. This represents a 17.8% increase over 1979, well above the trend set over the previous five years.

Figure 21

Superior Courts
Changes in Criminal Cases Filed: 1979 to 1980
Figure 22

Increases in criminal filings were most common in Puget Sound counties but big increases were also experienced in the Tri-Cities and Vancouver areas. Ten Eastern Washington counties and three western counties experienced decreases in criminal filings. (See figure 19.)

The greatest portion of the increase in criminal filings occurred in King (+23.8% or 1082 cases), Pierce (+32.2% or 600 cases) and Snohomish (+32.6% or 339 cases) Counties.

Increases in filings varied among the different types of crimes charged.

TOTAL CRIMINAL FILINGS	15,224	17,930	+17.8%

Despite the different changes among criminal case categories from 1979 to 1980, there was little change in the proportions of the total caseload each represented, except that robbery/theft cases comprised 18% of all criminal cases in 1980 compared to 16.3% in 1979.

Distribution of Criminal Filings: 1980
Figure 23

Criminal filing rates (per 1000 population) varied greatly among the counties and were generally higher in Western Washington counties. Ferry, Clallam, Pacific, and Jefferson Counties showed the highest criminal filing rates with respect to population. (See figure 21.)

Juvenile Filings

There were 59,819 juvenile matters referred to the juvenile courts during 1980. Comparable data for previous years are not available.

Only one out of 2.5 to three juvenile referrals result in a court case. The remainder are generally disposed of informally by juvenile court staff.

A total of 22,972 juvenile cases were filed in superior courts during 1980. This 10.3% increase in filings continues a trend that has seen a near-tripling of juvenile caseloads since 1973.

1980	22,972	+10.3%

Seventeen counties experienced no growth (less than +1% change) or decreases in juvenile filings, including King County. Considering that King County receives 28% of all juvenile cases filed in the superior courts and experienced no growth, the state-wide increase appears even greater—14.5% for the state less King County. Dramatic increases occurred in Pierce (+54.7% or 806 cases), Clark (+45.6% or 455 cases), Spokane (+17.9% or 267 cases), Snohomish (+13.6% or 228 cases), and Yakima (+14.7% or 178 cases) Counties. Several counties with smaller caseloads also exhibited rapid growth in juvenile caseloads. Furthermore, the rise in juvenile caseloads does not appear to be localized or concentrated in particular geographical area or locales with common demographic characteristics.

Of those juvenile cases filed during 1980, the majority (81.2%) are juvenile offense (delinquency) cases which increased 13.9% over the previous year. Juvenile dependency matters comprise only 18.8% of all juvenile cases filed and actually decreased 3.1% from 1979.

THE SUPERIOR COURTS

Probate, Guardianship, Adoption and Mental Illness Filings

While probate, guardianship and adoption filings showed only moderate increases between 1979 and 1980, mental illness case filings increased dramatically. This rapid rise continues a trend that has resulted in a 363% increase in filings from 1973 to 1980.

Figure 26

'Probate' has been used to designate a broader class of cases than the name implies. Included within this broad category are formal probate matters plus guardianship and adoption matters. These three types of matters are combined not because they are similar in the way they are processed but because they all require confidentiality in file handling and may be kept 'open' for protracted periods of time.

Table 56
Other Cases Filed

	1979	1980	% Change
Probate	11,516	12,041	+4.6%
Guardianship	2,020	2,148	+6.3%
Adoption	3,709	3,836	+3.4%
Mental Illness	4,386	5,720	+30.4%

Seventeen counties showed no change or a decrease in the number of probate, guardianship and adoption cases filed, most notably Pierce County which had 323 fewer cases (-20.2%) filed in 1980 than in 1979. Particularly great increases occurred in King (+13.7% or 711 cases) and Benton (+32.4% or 107 cases) Counties.

King, Pierce and Spokane Counties accounted for 67% of all mental illness cases filed in superior courts during 1980. These three counties also accounted for 91% of the increase experienced in superior courts between 1979 and 1980.

COURT ACTIVITY

For the purpose of this report, COURT ACTIVITY includes trials, disposition of cases, sentencing of criminal offenders and general judicial workload. While the courts and court personnel engage in far more activities than are referenced by these categories, statistics have been collected only in these areas.

Trials

Although superior courts held fewer jury trials in 1980 than in 1979, more non jury trials were held than in any other year previous to 1979. Of the 11,843 trials held during 1980, 2,319 or 19.6% were before a jury. (In reporting statistics on proceedings, contested dissolution hearings are not counted as trials.)

The number of jury trials held during 1980 was 17.2% less than in 1979. This continued a trend of decreasing numbers of jury trials since 1977. While 9,524 non jury trials were reported in 1980, this does not include juvenile trials held in Clark and Yakima which were not reported (approximately 150-200 more non jury trials).

Table 57
Trials Held

Year	Jury	Non-Jury
1975	2,647	7,082

1978	2,990	8,071
1979	2,800	10,718
1980	2,319	9,524

Trials for civil actions decreased in 1980 compared to 1979. However, there was a reported increase in civil dispositions. Those courts reporting other civil proceedings showed a substantial increase compared to 1979, indicating a greater level of activity.

Trials for criminal actions decreased in 1980, but again an increase in dispositions was reported. The number of guilty pleas reported increased 20% from 1979 to 1980 accounting for most of the decrease in reported trial activity.

The increases in dispositions combined with a decrease in trials indicates the courts are exercising alternative methods for disposing of disputes.

THE SUPERIOR COURTS

Disposition of Civil Cases

Superior courts reported the disposition of 75,916 civil cases during 1980; 13,484 more than were reported disposed in 1979. Almost 80% of this increase can be accounted for by (1) the purging of inactive files in King County (5,701 civil cases disposed for lack of prosecution), and, (2) the lack of reporting civil dispositions during 1979 by Spokane County (approximately 5,000 cases).

The number of dispositions reported were higher for each type of case.

Increases in the dispositions of property rights and commercial cases may be the result of changes in counting procedures in some courts; i.e., the manner in which some cases were classified.

Figure 28

Civil dispositions generally followed the same pattern as in 1979. A larger number of cases were disposed by dismissal for lack of prosecution (re: King County).

The ratio of civil dispositions to filings for 1980 was 806/1000 (i.e., 806 civil cases were reported disposed for every 1000 that were filed during the year).

Disposition of Criminal Cases

Superior courts reported the disposition of 15,230 criminal cases during 1980. This was 17.5% more than were reported in 1979, however, two-thirds of this increase is accounted for by the increase in criminal case dispositions reported by King County (5,239 criminal cases disposed in 1980 versus 3,793 in 1979).

There was a slight decrease in the proportion of criminal cases disposed by acquittal and also by conviction/sentenced, while dispositions by dismissal or deferred prosecution increased. The number of guilty pleas, however, increased by 20% from 1979 to 1980.

The ratio of criminal dispositions to filings for 1980 was 849/1000 (i.e., 849 criminal cases were reported disposed for every 1000 that were filed during the year.)

Disposition of Juvenile Cases

The superior courts reported the disposition of 18,150 juvenile cases during 1980, an increase of 9.0% over 1979. Of those, 15,674 were for juvenile offenses and 2,476 were dependency matters.

Superior Courts
Disposition of Juvenile Offenders

Figure 30

The conviction rate among juvenile offenders was 72.5%, similar to 1979. The proportion of juvenile offenders who were acquitted decreased from 1979 to 1980 while those juveniles against whom charges were dismissed increased.

The ratio between dispositions and filings for juvenile cases was 840/1000 for delinquency matters and 573/1000 for dependency matters.

Disposition of Other Cases

The superior courts reported the disposition of 13,096 probate, guardianship, adoption and mental illness cases, 8.5% more than in 1979. The ratio between dispositions reported and filings during 1980 was 552/1000 (i.e., 552 cases were disposed during the year for every 1000 that were filed.) Disposition of these cases tends to take many years.

Judicial Workload

Judicial workload in the superior courts is estimated by means of the Washington Weighted Caseload System. The Weighted Caseload System provides a means of estimating the amount of judicial time that will be required to process a given set of cases. This system uses a set of 'weights' for each of 11 different categories of cases. These weights are applied against the number of cases filed in each category. The result is a 'weighted caseload' which represents the estimated amount of judicial time (in minutes) to process those cases. By dividing the 'weighted caseload' by a 'judge-year value' (which differs according to the size of a court and the number of counties served), one derives an estimate of the amount of judicial time needed in 'judge-years' or, more simply, the number of judges required to perform the needed work in one year. Weighted caseload analyses are performed for individual courts using the historic and projected case filings for each court.

Those cases filed in the superior courts during 1980 represent 156.1 judge-years of work based on a weighted caseload analysis. This does not take into consideration, however, the effect of the Juvenile Justice Act of 1978 on the workload associated with juvenile cases. The increase in the number of cases filed from 1979 to 1980 translates to a 10.7% increase in judicial workload.

While felony cases comprise only 9.3% of the total number of cases filed during 1980, they are responsible for approximately 27% of the judicial work associated with the 1980 cases. Likewise, property rights cases represented only 5.5% of the total case filings but accounted for 12% of the judicial workload, according to these estimates. Consequently, the dramatic increases in these types of case filings have a greater impact on judicial workload than the number of filings indicates.

In December, 1980, the Office of the Administrator for the Courts published an analysis of eighteen selected superior courts titled, Need for Additional Judges in the Superior Courts of Washington. The analysis for each of the selected courts was made using the Weighted Caseload System. In almost every case, the analysis indicated a workload in excess of the court's current judicial staffing.

Sentencing Guidelines

In 1978 the Superior Court Judges' Association initiated a program to develop guidelines for the sentencing of felony offenders. These guidelines were voluntarily adopted by superior court judges in 1979. Technical assistance has been provided by the Office of the Administrator for the Courts to collect and compile statistical information on the use of the guidelines. Because the use of the sentencing guidelines is optional, statistical data collected does not represent sentencing policies or patterns of all judges but only those who have participated in the program. The following information is taken from the Report of the Sentencing Guidelines Committee, Washington Superior Court Judges' Association and the Office of the Administrator for the Courts that will be published in January, 1981.

Table 61
Sentencing Guidelines Cases: Jan.-Sept. 1980

Class-A Felonies	178	6.6%
Class-B Felonies	1,285	47.6%
Class-C Felonies	1,237	45.8%
Total	2,700	100.0%

The sentencing guidelines for the superior courts provide recommended sentence ranges for each class of felony (class-A, class-B, and class-C) based on characteristics of both the offense and the offender. The Report of the Sentencing Guidelines Committee is based on statistics collected from 2,700 felony offenders who were sentenced during the period January 1980 through September 1980.

Of those sentencing guidelines worksheets received, 66.4% indicated the sentence given was within the guidelines range and 7.5% indicated the sentence given was above guidelines or more strict than called for in the guidelines. Within each class and type of offense convicted, the concurrence between the actual sentence given and that recommended by the guidelines varied substantially.

Table 62
Relation of Felony Offender Sentences to Guidelines
(Sentencings Reported: Jan.-Sept. 1980)

Offense Class	Below Guideline	Within Guideline	Above Guideline
Class-A Felonies	30.3%	69.7%	0.0%*
Class-B Felonies	28.2%	64.8%	7.0%
Class-C Felonies	23.4%	67.5%	9.1%
All Sentences Reported	26.1%	66.4%	7.5%

*It is not possible to go above the guidelines for class-A felony offenders except to give the death penalty.

NOTE: This data does not represent all sentences for felony offenses but only those for which sentencing guidelines worksheets have been submitted for the collection of statistical information. Because of the voluntary nature of guidelines use, this data does not represent a random sample.

Modifications to the sentencing guidelines will be made following analysis and evaluation of the data that has been collected to date.

OUTLOOK

The rate at which cases have been filed in the superior courts has been increasing faster than the population over the last ten years. The number of superior court cases filed per 1000 population has increased 48.1% (from 25.97 cases per 1000 population in 1970 to 38.46 in 1980). This implies a substantial growth in superior court caseloads over the next ten years.

Table 63
Superior Court Filings vs Population: 1970-1980

Year	Total State Population*	Superior Ct. Cases Filed	Filings per 1000 Pop.
1970	3,413,244	88,627	25.97
1971	3,430,100	92,369	26.93
1972	3,418,800	100,205	29.31
1973	3,424,300	100,135	29.24
1974	3,448,100	111,477	32.33
1975	3,493,900	116,505	33.35
1976	3,571,591	121,811	34.11
1977	3,661,975	127,855	34.91
1978	3,774,300	135,700	35.95
1979	3,911,200	148,380	37.94
1980	4,130,163	158,848	38.46
Projected:
1985	4,476,200	197,000	44.01
1990	4,587,100	207,000	45.13

*Population figures for 1970 and 1980 from Advance Reports, US Bureau of the Census; population figures for other years and for projections from publications by Population, Enrollment, & Economic Studies Div. of Office of Financial Mgmt., State of Washington. Relationship between population and superior court filings determined using linear regression with result of R²=0.904.

Because of the relationship between population (and its growth) and superior court caseloads, future increases in court filings will be most strongly felt among those counties exhibiting high growth rates such as in Puget Sound (particularly those counties on the west side of the sound), in the northeast corner of the state, and in the Tri-Cities and Vancouver areas. (See figure 30.) Rapid population growth may point the way for increases in other areas as well.

The elimination of de novo appeals and an additional increase in the civil jurisdiction in the courts of limited jurisdiction should help to reduce the rate of increase in superior court caseloads. The previous increase in district court jurisdiction to $3,000 in 1979, however, had little apparent impact on civil filings in the superior courts even though there was a dramatic increase in district court civil caseloads. The impact of an additional increase in district court civil jurisdiction to $5,000 on superior court filing rates will be carefully analyzed. Electronic recording of proceedings in the courts of limited jurisdiction, on the other hand, should nearly eliminate de novo appeals in the superior courts. The number of district and municipal court cases appealed 'on the record' should represent a small fraction of the number of cases previously appealed 'de novo'. The greatest impact of the 'record on appeal' will be felt in King County in which 63% of the de novo appeals were filed during 1980.

THE COURTS OF LIMITED JURISDICTION

OVERVIEW

The courts of limited jurisdiction experienced an increase in caseloads or new case filings during 1980, predominantly in criminal misdemeanor, civil and small claims matters. Although traffic filings also exceeded 1979 figures, there appears to be a slackening in the rate at which traffic citations are being received in district and municipal courts. Among the reasons given for these changes in case filings are (1), the increases in civil and small claims jurisdictions implemented in 1979, and, (2) a shift in emphasis by law enforcement from traffic to criminal investigation and enforcement.

District courts handled all cases filed by state and county law enforcement, almost all civil and small claims matters filed in the courts of limited jurisdiction, plus 206,394 cases filed by municipal law enforcement for cities with which they contracted. Consequently, district courts received 72.4% of all cases filed in the courts of limited jurisdiction during 1980.

Figure 35

A one-day mandatory jail sentence for DWI (driving while intoxicated) conviction was enacted in 1979 and implemented in January 1980. Although data is not available to indicate the impact of this provision, jury trials and de novo appeals did not increase beyond that expected from the general increase in criminal and civil caseloads.

The courts of limited jurisdiction conducted more trials in 1980 than in any previous year. However, a smaller proportion of civil and small claims cases were decided by trial than in 1979. Little change occurred in the manner by which criminal and traffic cases were disposed compared to 1979.

INTAKE

The courts of limited jurisdiction process five distinct types of cases: Criminal Misdemeanor, Criminal Felony (for preliminary matters), Traffic, Civil and Small Claims. Criminal and traffic cases are filed by state and county law enforcement personnel in district courts while those initiated by municipal law enforcement personnel are filed either in a municipal court or in the district court with whom their city contracts for court services. Factors considered to influence the volume of cases filed in the courts of limited jurisdiction include: population; law enforcement staff levels, allocation and policy; traffic patterns and changes in traffic and criminal laws; civil jurisdictions and economic and social patterns.

Courts of Limited Jurisdiction

Distribution of 1980 Filings
Figure 36

Criminal Filings

There were 97,350 criminal misdemeanor cases filed in the courts of limited jurisdiction during 1980 including 39,035 from state/county law enforcement and 58,315 from municipal law enforcement. District courts also received 10,324 felony filings for preliminary proceedings.

The misdemeanors filed during 1980 were well above the trend established over the previous five years. (See figure 33). This corresponds to a similar increase for felony filings in the superior courts.

Table 91

1979	119,991	+2.2%	9,876	+31.3%
1980	141,429	+17.9%	10,324	+4.5%

Figure 37

Misdemeanor filings increased both from state/county law enforcement (+16.3%) and from municipal law enforcement (+18.9%). Possible reasons may include, (1) a general emphasis on criminal investigation and crack-downs by law enforcement throughout the state, and, (2), a general rise in crime. (FBI early release data shows a 15% increase in reported crimes in Seattle and Tacoma and a 5% increase in Spokane.)

The major portion of the 1980 increase in misdemeanor filings was in King, Spokane and Yakima Counties. There were slight decreases in Pierce, Thurston and eight other counties.

Felony complaints were filed in 23 district courts for preliminary hearings or other proceedings. Two-thirds of all felony matters filed in the district courts were in Seattle District Court. Excluding those filed in Seattle District Court, there was an 8.3% increase in filings which continues the increasing trend over the previous two years. In spite of the increase in felony matters filed in the district courts, no correlation with the far greater increase in felony filings in the superior courts can be identified.

District Courts	3,474	3,762	+8.3%

*This includes those counties in which felony preliminary matters are not filed in the district courts.

Traffic Filings

There were 851,163 traffic cases filed in the courts of limited jurisdiction during 1980 including 426,052 originating from state/county law enforcement and 425,111 from municipal law enforcement.

The traffic cases filed during 1980 were below the trend established over the previous five years. (See figure 34.)

Traffic filings from state and county law enforcement decreased slightly in 1980 from 1979 while traffic filings by municipal law enforcement increased 5.5%. (See table 90.) This fluctuation supports the hypothesis regarding a shift in emphasis by law enforcement towards criminal investigation and enforcement and away from traffic activity.

The increase in traffic filings from 1979 to 1980 was primarily in minor traffic offenses. Major traffic offenses include those violations for which a court appearance is statutorily mandated, such as driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, driving while license suspended, etc.

*Adjusted for estimated under-reporting by courts.

Decriminalization of minor traffic offenses was enacted in 1979. Implementing legislation passed in 1980. Beginning in 1981, minor traffic violations will no longer be considered as 'criminal' offenses but 'infractions'. Whether or not this will have an effect on driving behavior and/or law enforcement policies cannot be determined at this time. The impact of traffic decriminalization is a subject that will require the collection of substantial data and a great deal of investigation during the coming year.

Civil and Small Claims Filings

There were 82,632 civil cases filed in 1980 along with 30,422 small claims actions. These case volumes were far above trends established during the period 1971 through 1978. The increases in filings for both types of cases coincide with the 1979 increase in civil and small claims jurisdictions. (See figure 35.)

When civil jurisdiction for district courts was increased from $1,000 to $3,000, a diversion of civil cases from superior courts to district courts was expected. While civil filings in the district courts have increased dramatically since then, there has not been a proportionate decrease in the number of tort, commercial and property rights cases filed in the superior courts. The civil jurisdiction of district courts is scheduled to be further increased to $5,000 in July, 1981. While civil filings in district courts can be expected to increase still further, the impact on the superior courts, if any, cannot be predicted.

COURT ACTIVITY

For the purposes of this report, COURT ACTIVITY includes trials, disposition of cases, sentencing of criminal misdemeanants and traffic offenders and the levying/collection of fees, fines and bail forfeitures. While the courts and court personnel engage in far more activities than are referenced by these categories, statistics have been collected only in these areas.

Trials

Courts of limited jurisdiction held more trials in 1980 than in any previous year. Of the 138,815 trials held, 1,724 or 1.2% were before a jury.

Although there were more jury trials reported in 1980 than previously, the ratio between jury trials and cases filed remained the same as in 1979. The number of non jury trials reported was considerably higher than in any previous year and much higher than would have been expected given the number of cases filed in 1980.

Disposition of Criminal Cases

There was little change in the manner by which criminal misdemeanor cases were disposed in 1980 compared to 1979, although a larger proportion of cases was dismissed (or prosecution was deferred) and fewer resulted in acquittal. The conviction rate increased by 1.6%.

*The total reported disposed does NOT represent all misdemeanors disposed by the courts of limited jurisdiction. Disposition data was not reported by some courts.

Disposition of Traffic Cases

There appeared to be little change in the manner in which traffic cases were disposed during 1980 compared to 1979. Conviction rates were practically identical with those of 1979, except that fewer major traffic cases resulted in forfeiture of bail while a larger proportion of minor traffic cases were reported disposed by bail forfeiture.

THE COURTS OF LIMITED JURISDICTION

Disposition of Civil Cases

Nearly two-thirds of all civil dispositions reported were default judgments while one-fourth were settlements. Because there is no data on civil dispositions available prior to 1979, no conclusions can be drawn regarding trends. However, a comparison of 1980 with 1979 data indicates an effort to dispose of civil matters by some means other than by trial.

Table 100

Manner of Disposition	Disposed 1980	(1979)
Dismissed	3,103	7.1% (11.3%)

Settlement	10,361	23.7% (14.2%)
Tried	2,172	5.0% (9.2%)
Total Reported Disposed*	43,797	100.0%

*The total reported disposed does NOT represent all civil cases disposed by the courts of limited jurisdiction. Disposition data was not reported by some courts. Change of venue dispositions (100) not included.

Disposition of Small Claims Cases

A much greater proportion of small claims cases were tried than civil cases, but the proportion of small claims cases tried in 1980 was much less than in 1979. A larger proportion of small claims resulted in a default judgment in 1980 than in 1979. As with civil cases, an absence of comparable data prior to 1979 precludes drawing any conclusions regarding trends in the disposition of small claims.

Table 101

Sentencing Guidelines

As with the superior courts, a program was initiated by the Washington State Magistrates Association in 1978 to develop and adopt guidelines for the sentencing of selected traffic and misdemeanor offenses. Guidelines were voluntarily adopted by the judges of the district and municipal courts in 1979. Technical assistance has been provided by the Office of the Administrator for the Courts to collect and compile statistical information on the use of the guidelines. Because the use of the sentencing guidelines is optional, statistical data collected does not represent sentencing policies or patterns of all judges but only those who have participated in the program and have submitted worksheets. The following information is taken from the Report of the Sentencing Guidelines Committee, Washington State Magistrates Association and the Office of the Administrator for the Courts that will be published in January, 1981.

The sentencing guidelines for the courts of limited jurisdiction provide recommended sentence ranges for selected offenses (DWI, Reckless Driving, Driving While License Suspended, Simple Assault, Third Degree Theft, Shoplifting and Unlawful Issuance of Bank Check), based on characteristics of both the offense and the offender. The Report of the Sentencing Guidelines Committee is based on statistics collected from 1,846 traffic offenders and 456 misdemeanor offenders who were sentenced during the period July, 1979 through July, 1980.

Table 102
Sentencing Guidelines Cases: July, 1979-July, 1980

TRAFFIC
Driving While Intoxicated	1,310	71.0%
Reckless Driving	121	6.5%
Driving While License Suspended	415	22.5%
TOTAL TRAFFIC	1,846	100.0%

Shoplifting	160	35.1%
Unlawful Issuance of Bank Check	21	4.6%
TOTAL MISDEMEANOR	456	100.0%

Of those misdemeanor offenders for whom sentencing guidelines worksheets were received, 68% of the sentences were within the guideline range and 18% exceeded or were more strict than called for in the guidelines. The highest concurrence with the guidelines occurred with offenders convicted of shoplifting while sentences given to offenders convicted of simple assault diverged from the guidelines in almost half the cases reported.

Table 103

(Sentencings Reported: July, 1979-July, 1980)

Offense	Below Guideline	Within Guideline	Above Guideline
Simple Assault	34.2%	51.3%	14.5%
Theft, Third Degree	9.5%	65.2%	25.3%
Shoplifting	3.1%	84.4%	12.5%
Unlawful Issuance of Bank Check	19.0%	66.7%	14.3%
All Misdemeanors Reported	13.8%	68.4%	17.8%

NOTE: This data does not represent all misdemeanants sentenced in the courts of limited jurisdiction but only those for whom sentencing guidelines worksheets were submitted for the collection of statistical information. Because of the voluntary nature of guidelines use, this does not represent a random sample.

Concurrence with the sentencing guidelines for offenders convicted of driving while intoxicated was complicated with the enactment and implementation of the one day mandatory jail sentence for conviction of DWI in January, 1980. Sentencing guidelines worksheets submitted after the implementation of the one day jail sentence reveal a much lower compliance with the guidelines in those instances where the guidelines indicate a sentence without jail.

Table 104
Relation of Traffic Offender Sentences to Guidelines
(Sentencings Reported: July, 1979-July, 1980)

Offense	Below Guideline	Within Guideline	Above Guideline
DWI (Prior to Jan. 1, 1980)	14.9%	59.5%	25.6%
DWI (Jan. 1, 1980, and after)	17.6%	33.9%	48.5%
Reckless Driving	13.2%	70.2%	16.5%
Driving While License Suspended	15.2%	61.9%	22.9%
All Traffic Offenses Reported	15.7%	53.0%	31.3%

NOTE: This data does not represent all sentences for the indicated traffic offenses but only those for whom sentencing guidelines worksheets were submitted for the collection of statistical information; because of the voluntary nature of guidelines use, this data does not represent a random sample.

Modifications to the sentencing guidelines will be made following analysis and evaluation of the data that has been collected to date.

Revenue Resulting from Court Activity

A total of $38 million was received in the courts of limited jurisdiction during 1980 from fees, fines and bail forfeitures. This figure was 10.3% more than in 1979, an increase greater than demonstrated by the caseloads of the district and municipal courts.

Receipts for civil and small claims filing fees almost doubled from 1979 to 1980 and reflected not only the increase case filings but also an increase in filing fees for both civil ($6 to $12) and small claims ($1 to $5) during the year. Receipts from fines and bail forfeitures for traffic cases increased by 7.5%, even though the number of cases filed increased only 1.9% and the conviction rate for traffic cases did not change.

Table 105 Receipts from Fees, Fines & Forfeitures

OUTLOOK

The greatest changes anticipated by courts of limited jurisdiction during 1981 are the decriminalization of traffic offenses and the implementation of electronic recording of courtroom proceedings.

Decriminalization creates an entirely new type of case for the district and municipal courts—the TRAFFIC INFRACTION. Preliminary data indicates that (1), filings will increase, and, (2) revenue generated from penalties imposed for traffic infractions will also increase over current revenue levels for traffic bail forfeitures. Concurrent with the implementation of traffic infractions is the implementation of a new uniform penalty schedule. The new penalty schedule calls for monetary penalties that, in most cases, are higher than set by bail schedules in the past.

On July 1, 1981, the civil jurisdiction of the district courts will be increased from $3,000 to $5,000. Based on the increase in civil caseloads coincident with the last increase in civil jurisdiction, a further increase in civil case filings can be expected.

The advent of electronic recording in most limited jurisdiction courts will result in the near elimination of de novo appeals to superior courts. A few de novo appeals will still be received from small municipal courts where proceedings are not recorded. Appeals of most cases heard in the courts of limited jurisdiction will be 'on the record' and a very substantial reduction in cases appealed is expected. The effect of this change will be most strongly felt in King County Superior Court in which almost two-thirds of the state's de novo appeals have been filed.
