INTRODUCTION

This report provides statistical information about persons admitted into the four main correctional programmes administered by the Correctional Services Department.

Essentially, the Statistical Report is divided into three sections. Section One is a general review of the characteristics of all persons admitted to the four programmes, namely, prison, training centre, detention centre and drug addiction treatment centre. It is intended to give the reader an overall picture of the socio-economic as well as criminal characteristics of persons committed to custody, including such factors as age-group distribution, previous convictions, type and length of sentence, offence, education, occupation and marital status.

Section Two concentrates on drug dependent persons, detailing characteristics such as the type of drug used, method of administering the drug, offence, sentence, age range, length of drug dependence, and causation.

In both Sections One and Two, cross-tabulation of figures is employed wherever appropriate for ease of comparison and elaboration on the relationship among specific variables.

Section Three presents comparative tables for 1981 and 1982, which reflects changes in crime and sentencing patterns.
