PREFACE

The Federal Offenders for 1983 is the seventeenth annual publication of this series (a single volume was published in 1979 for years 1975 through 1979). This publication is a presentation of disposition data for Federal offenders in the U.S. district courts during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983.

The report is comprised of three parts. Part I contains national data including charts and a brief narrative. In addition, tables are provided to show activity of cases filed, convictions, sentences, and demographics. Part II is a composite of historical tables for selected offenses including those offenses of national interest. Part III provides, for each district court, the type of sentence imposed in major offense categories during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983.

Should you have questions or comments concerning this publication, please write James A. McCafferty, Chief, Statistical Analysis and Reports Division, Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts, Washington, DC 20544.

FEDERAL OFFENDERS IN THE U.S. DISTRICT COURTS

Part I National Data for 1983

Criminal Cases in the U.S. District Courts

Cases filed during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983 increased for the third consecutive year. Filings in the district courts (including transfers) totaled 35,872 which was 9.8 percent more than the 32,683 cases filed in 1982. Case terminations in the district courts increased 6.6 percent from 31,889 last year to 33,985 this year. The increase of 11.3 percent in the pending caseload was the result of an increase in filings (3,189) which exceeded the increase in terminations (2,096). The number of cases filed, terminated, and pending during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983 is reflected in Chart 1.

Type of Disposition for Criminal Defendants

During the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983, cases for 43,329 defendants were disposed of in the district courts. There were 35,591 defendants convicted, which was 10.4 percent more than the 32,252 defendants convicted last year. The majority of the convictions were by guilty pleas (29,814 or 83.8 percent). Convictions by the court or jury accounted for 1,286 dispositions (3.6 percent) and 3,782 dispositions (10.6 percent) respectively, while 709 defendants (2.0 percent) pled nolo contendere.

Of the 43,329 defendants, 7,738 (17.9 percent) were not convicted. Cases for 6,566 defendants (15.2 percent) were dismissed; 281 defendants (0.6 percent) were acquitted after non jury-trial; and 891 (2.1 percent) were acquitted after jury trial.

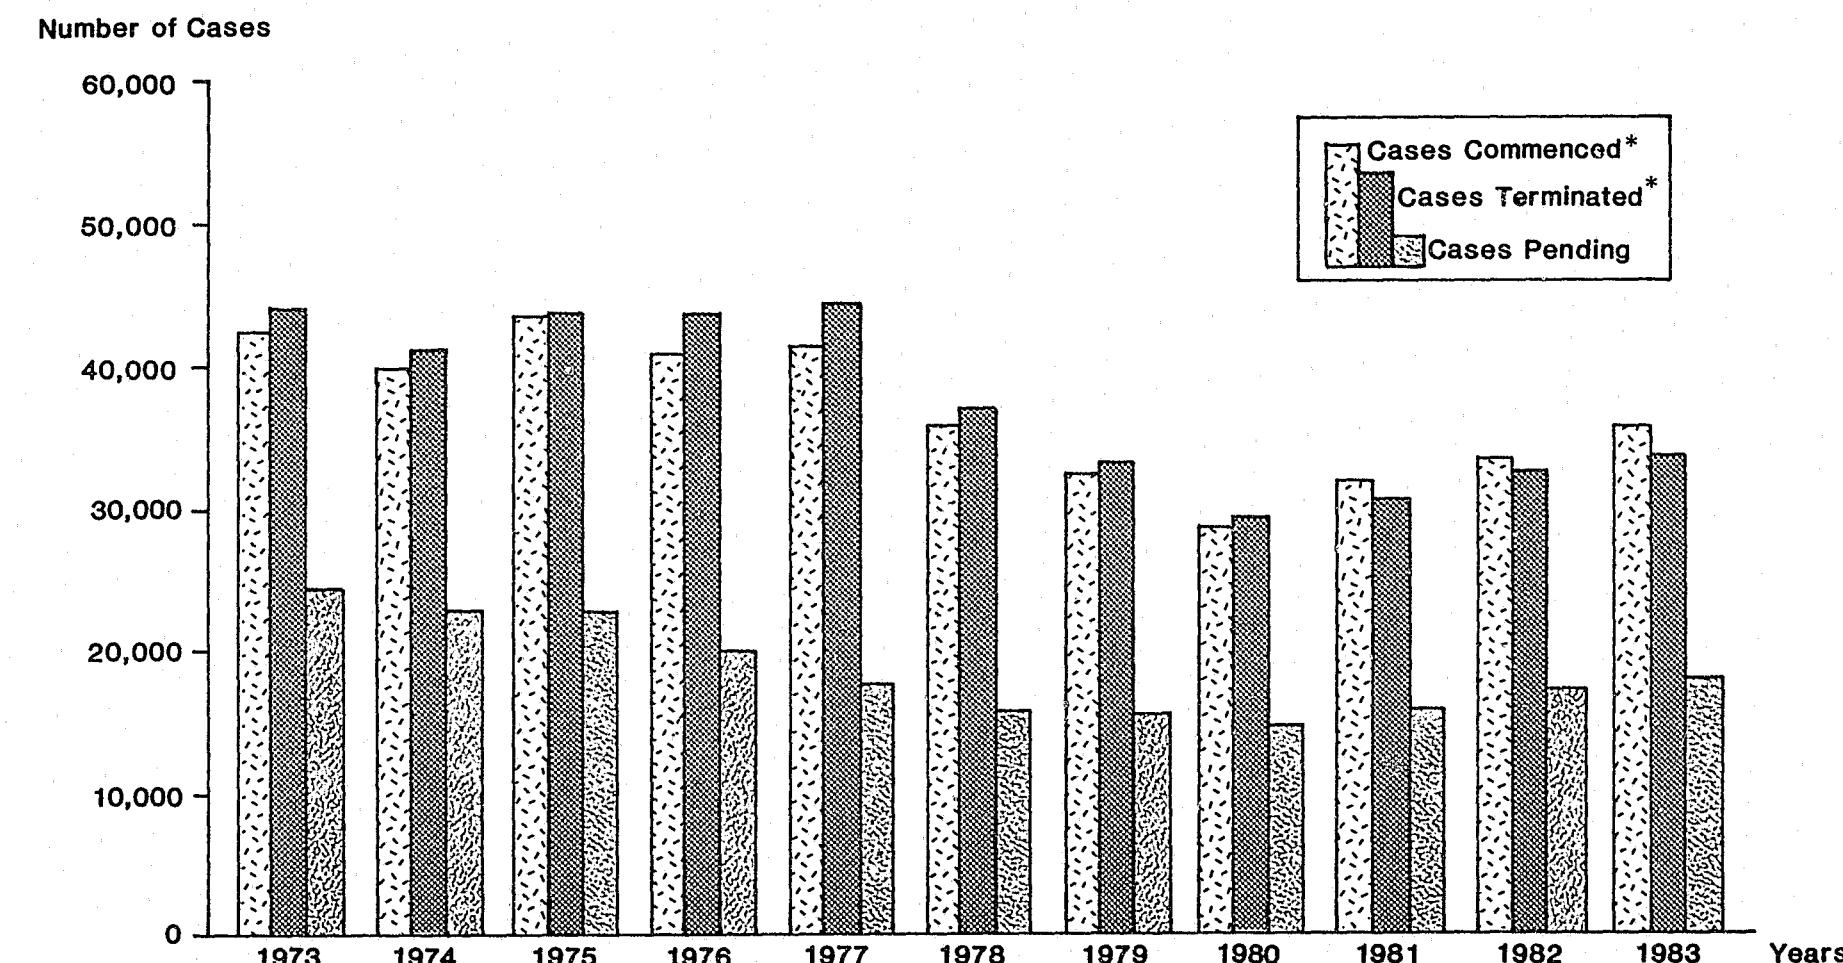

Chart 2 provides the type of dispositions for criminal defendants during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983. Table 3 is a summary of defendants disposed of by type of disposition during the twelve month periods ended June 30, 1970 through 1983.

Type of Sentence for Convicted Defendants

The number of defendants convicted in 1983 totaled 35,591 which exceeded convictions in 1982 by 10.4 percent. Of those defendants sentenced during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983, 13,955 defendants (39.2 percent) received regular terms of imprisonment and 13,050 defendants (36.7 percent) received probation terms. Split sentences accounted for 11.2 percent of the sentences imposed, while fines and other sentences accounted for the remaining 12.9 percent of sentences imposed this year. Chart 3 provides data on the type of sentence imposed for convicted defendants during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983.

Of the 13,955 defendants sentenced to a term of regular imprisonment, the largest portion (46.1 percent) received terms over 37 months. The second largest group (36.0 percent) received terms ranging from 13 to 36 months. Probation terms of 25 months and over were given to over half of the defendants. Probation terms of 13 to 24 months were given to 21.2 percent of the defendants, and a comparable portion (20.7 percent) to defendants with terms of 12 months and under.

Appendix Detail Table X-2 summarizes, by offense and district, the type and length of sentences for defendants convicted during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983. Included in the "Terms of Imprisonment" totals are deportations, suspended sentences, imprisonment for four days or less or for time already served, and remitted and suspended fines. However, Table 4 includes those imprisonment categories in "Fine and Other." These type of sentence dispositions are not included in the average sentence. (See footnote 7 on Table 4.)

Disposition by Age, Sex, and Prior Record

During the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983 demographics were collected for 85.5 percent (30,417) of the 35,591 Federal offenders convicted. The majority of the records with demographics (25,398 or 83.5 percent) were for male offenders. Records for female offenders accounted for only 16.4 percent (4,980) and corporations accounted for .01 percent (39). The largest offense group with demographics (4,991) was fraud. In that offense category, 4,002 were male offenders, 980 female offenders, and 9 corporations.

Age was reported for 30,034 of the convicted defendants this year. The largest offense group was 35 and older (45.2 percent). In that group, 3,315 (24.4 percent) of the offenders were convicted for fraud violations, while for the 35 and over age group, no other offense category accounted for more than 15 percent.

Fraud offenders as a group for 1983 were older than offenders in other offense categories for that age group. More than 67.0 percent of the offenders were 35 and over while only 41.0 percent of offenders for all other offense categories were 35 and over.

There were 28,086 defendants for which prior record was reported. The majority of the offenders (14,828) had a prior criminal record. The larger portion of those had a prior prison record (53.4 percent) or a probation record (44.7 percent). Only a few of the offenders (1.9 percent) had a prior juvenile record. Appendix Detail Table 4 and Chart 4 are summaries of demographic data collected from the records submitted for defenders convicted during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983.

Average Prison Sentence for Defendants Convicted of Drug Violations

Imprisonment sentences for defendants convicted of drug violations during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983 increased for the third consecutive year. However, the average probation sentence decreased over the same three year period. The average sentence for imprisonment this year was 63.8 months, an increase of 2.4 months over the average sentence for imprisonment in 1982. Defendants sentenced to imprisonment 60 months and over (1,802) were about equal to the total number of persons placed on probation (1,893). The average sentence for a probation term this year was 33.7 months. Chart 5 displays the average prison sentence for defendants convicted of drug violations during the twelve month periods ended June 30, 1979 through 1983.

Disposition of Defendants for Weapons and Firearms Violations

This year, dispositions for weapons and firearms violations totaled 1,934, a 3.3 percent increase over the dispositions last year. Dispositions for weapons and firearms violations have increased steadily since reaching a low in 1980 when dispositions decreased by 2,117 defendants (64.7 percent) compared to 3,272 dispositions during the twelve month period ended June 30, 1978. This short term trend of decline in dispositions may have resulted from the low priority given to prosecuting firearms violations and other select violations in order to focus Federal prosecutions on white collar crime during this period. It is not suggested, however, that the change in prosecutorial priorities resulted in no prosecutions for this offense. Often, violators for this offense are referred to state and local authorities for prosecution. Chart 6 is a summary of dispositions for defendants convicted of weapons and firearms violations.

Dispositions for Defendants Convicted of Drunk Driving and Traffic Offenses

The Assimilated Crimes Act, Title 18 U.S.C. Section 13 invoked Federal jurisdiction over offenses committed within special maritime and territorial jurisdictions of the U.S. even though punishment for these crimes was not enacted by Congress. The most common of these offenses were drunk driving and traffic offenses.

During the twelve month period ended June 30, 1983 convictions for defendants charged with drunk driving and traffic offenses increased 15.7 percent from 3,494 in 1982 to 4,044 this year. Fines or other types of sentences accounted for 61.6 percent of the defendants convicted for this offense, while imprisonment and probation accounted for 8.5 percent and 29.8 percent, respectively.

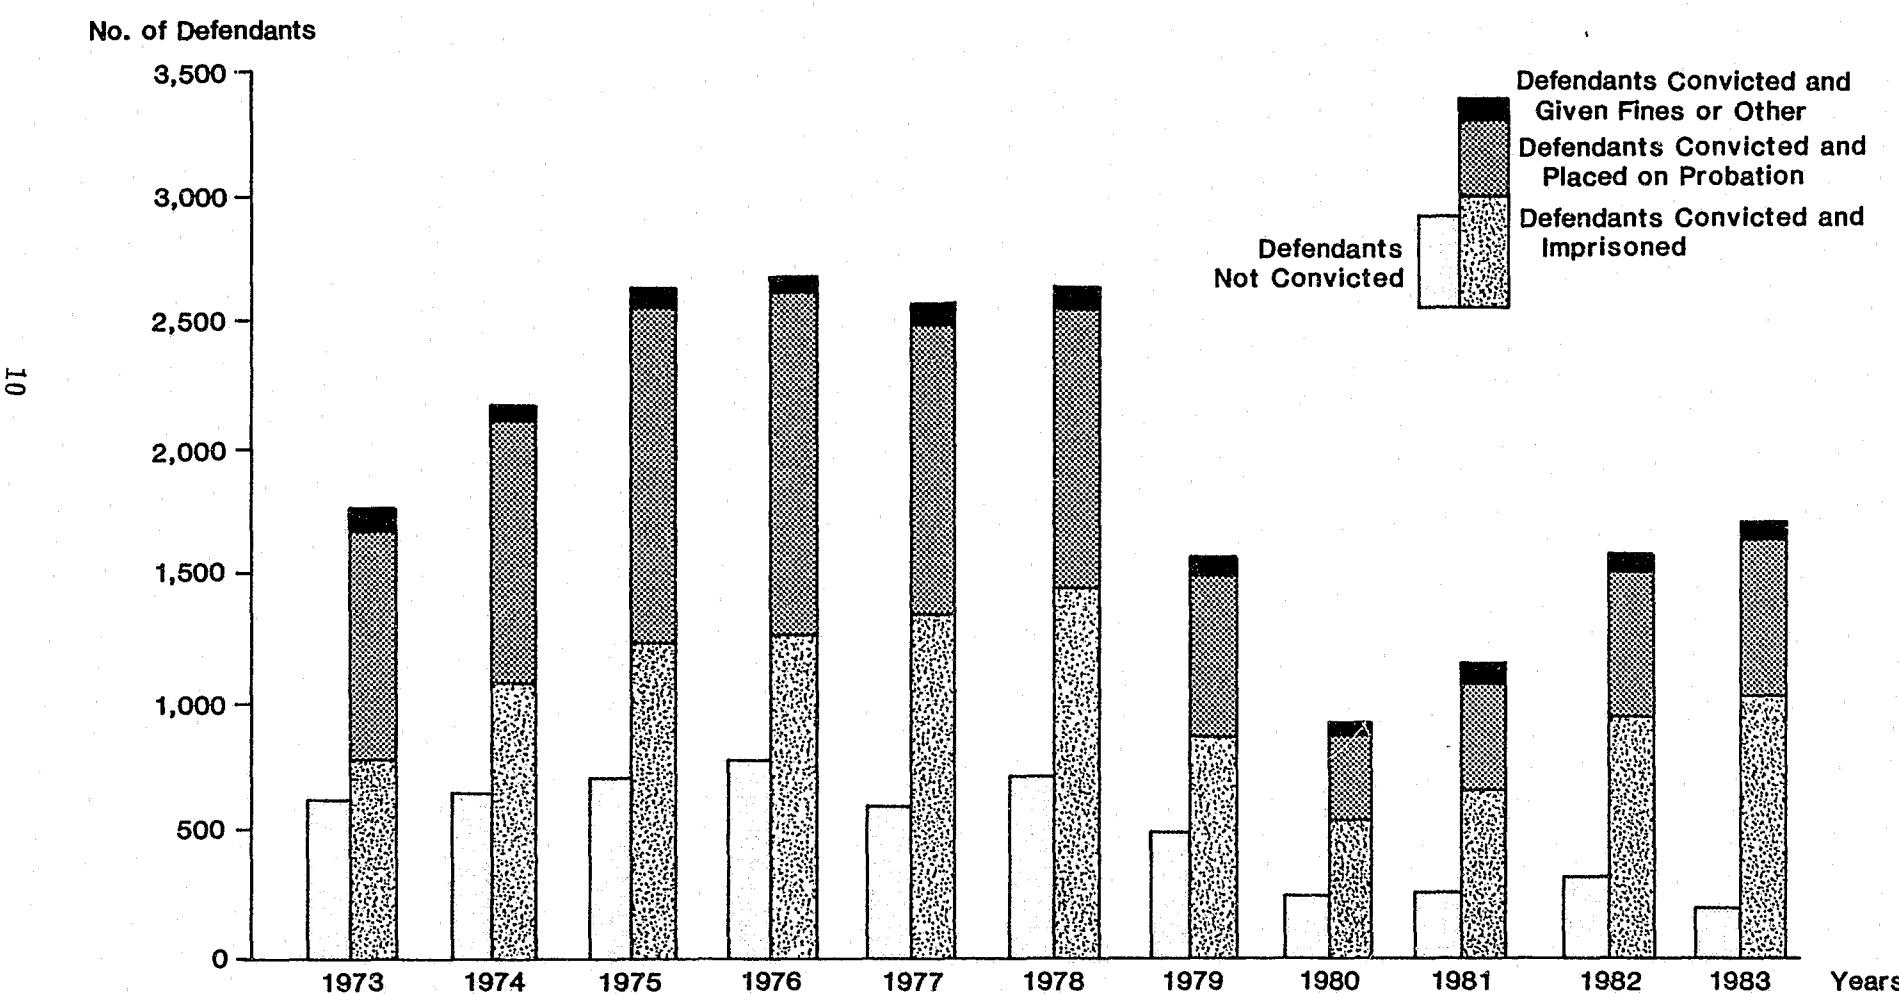

Since the year ended June 30, 1979, the number of defendants imprisoned for drunk driving and traffic offenses increased 516.0 percent. The number of persons who received probation sentences also increased significantly (120.3 percent), while persons fined increased only 5.5 percent. This is the first year since 1979 that fines increased. Chart 7 is a summary of dispositions for defendants convicted of drunk driving and traffic violations during the twelve month periods ended June 30, 1979 through 1983.
