INTRODUCTION

DATA COLLECTION DESCRIPTION

Inmate Victimization in State Prisons in the United States, 1979, was designed to determine the nature and extent of victimization in state prisons across the nation. In particular, it examines such quantitative areas as prison living conditions, prison programs, prison safety, and inmates' victimization of (or by) other inmates in several types of property and bodily crimes. In addition, this collection contains a set of attitudinal measures dealing with inmates' thoughts and perceptions on a variety of subjects including inmates' reactions to general statements about prison life and to a series of hypothetical and potentially provocative situations.

DATA COLLECTION PROCEDURES AND SAMPLING INFORMATION

The survey was conducted by personal interview, with the interviews taking place during the last six months of 1979. Only adult maximum and medium security institutions were included in the sample. These institutions were stratified by size and sex of the inmate population and by region of the United States. The aim was to include as a maximum 2 large male facilities (population 500 and over) and 1 small male facility (population under 500) in each of 6 regions of the country. In each facility a sample of 75 inmates and 10 correctional officers was randomly drawn from the complete prison roster.

FILE STRUCTURE

Inmate Victimization in State Prisons in the United States, 1979, is available from the ICPSR in two formats: card-image and OSIRIS. The card-image file contains several decks per case in a format based on 80 column punched cards. The data are sorted by case with all decks for a case together in ascending order.

The OSIRIS dictionary gives the format and other information for each variable in the OSIRIS data file. The dictionary or dictionary-codebook file is used in conjunction with the OSIRIS software package. The OSIRIS data file is constructed with a single logical record for each case. There are 339 variables on 487 cases.

The OSIRIS data file can be accessed directly through software packages or programs which do not use the OSIRIS dictionary by specifying the tape locations of the desired variables. These tape locations are given in the OSIRIS dictionary-codebook.

CODEBOOK INFORMATION

The example below is a reproduction of information appearing in the machine-readable codebook for a typical variable. The numbers in brackets do not appear but are references to the descriptions which follow this example.

....

[1] VAR 0008  [2] Q.4 CELL PREFERENCE     [3] MD=8
    REF 0008       [4] LOC 15   WIDTH 1  [5] DK 1  COL 17
                            [6] IMP DEC= d

[7] Q.4 If R had a choice, would R prefer a single cell, a cell with others or a dormitory?

2. With others
3. Dormitory

8. Missing Data

[1] Indicates the variable and reference numbers. A variable number and a reference number are assigned to each variable in the data collection. In the present codebook which documents the archived data collection these numbers are identical. Should the data be subsetted or rearranged by an OSIRIS program (e.g., MMP to intersperse data from another source, or TCOT to produce an analysis deck), the variable numbers would change to reflect the order of the new data collection, while the reference number would remain unchanged to reflect the variable number in the codebook describing the archived data collection.

[2] Indicates the abbreviated variable name (maximum of 24 characters) used in the OSIRIS system to identify the variable for the user. An expanded version of the variable name can be found in the variable description list.

[3] Indicates the code values of missing data. In this example, code values equal to 8 are missing data (MD=8). Alternative statements for other variables are "MD=0 OR GE 9," or "NO MISSING DATA CODES." Some analysis software packages (including the OSIRIS software package) require that certain types of data which the user desires to be excluded from analysis be designated as "MISSING DATA," e.g., inappropriate, unascertained, unascertainable, or ambiguous data categories. Although these codes are defined as missing data categories, this does not mean that the user should not or cannot use them in a substantive role if so desired.

[4] Indicates the starting location and width of this variable when the data are stored on a magnetic tape in the OSIRIS format. If the variable is of a multiple-response type, the width referenced is that of a single response. In this example the variable named "Q.4 CELL PREFERENCE" is 1 column wide and is located in the 15th column within the record.

[5] Indicates the location by deck and column(s) of this variable when the data are stored on cards or in card-image format (80-column format)

[6] A variable containing data with implied decimals is denoted by the message "IMP DEC= d," where d is the number of decimal places implied in the variable.

[7] This is the full text (question) supplied by the investigator to describe the variable. The question text and the numbers and letters that may appear at the beginning reflect the original wording of the questionnaire item.

[8] Indicates an additional comment or explanation appended to the variable description.

[9] A variable which has a footnote associated with it is denoted by the message, "SEE NOTE(S) X" where X is the number of the footnote referenced.

[10] "Actual number is coded" appears in the codebook to indicate that the variable has been declared continuous.

[11] Indicates the code values occurring in the data for this variable.

[12] Indicates the textual definitions of the codes. Abbreviations commonly used in the code definitions are "DK" (Do Not Know), "NA" (Not Ascertained), and "INAP" (Inappropriate).

ICPSR PROCESSING INFORMATION

The data collection was processed according to the standard ICPSR processing procedures. The data were checked for illegal or inconsistent code values which, when found, were recoded to OSIRIS missing data values. No consistency checks were performed. Statements bracketed in "[" and "]" signs in the body of the codebook were added by the processors for explanatory purposes.
