BIBLIOGRAPHY

This bibliography is compiled and revised by the Capital Punishment Project at the University of Florida. It is not intended to be an exhaustive listing of works on the subject of capital punishment, but rather gives selected readings by subject headings. There are four general subject divisions in the bibliography. The first is "Historical and General Information," and lists works which provide background information. The second section is "Issues in the Application of the Death Penalty." This section gives important studies and essays on various issues such as racial bias, deterrence, innocence, conditions of confinement, etc. The third section, "Legal Issues," is not intended as a research aid for attorneys, but rather gives lead cases which would be of interest to general readers. The final section, "Moral Issues," lists publications arguing for and against capital punishment on moral and religious grounds.
