INTRODUCTION

For today's criminal justice professionals, access to valuable research information is important to their efforts to reduce violence, drugs, and crime. The National Institute of Justice (NIJ) is mandated to provide that information by making its research, development, and evaluation findings available to those who can put this wealth of information into practice.

This NIJ Publications Catalog is one vehicle for communicating available information. The Catalog lists publications and videotapes produced by the National Institute of Justice between January 1987 and December 1998. Products are listed alphabetically by subject. For each publication the title, author(s), number of pages, identification number for ordering, and electronic availability are stated. A set of keywords is also listed below each entry to give a better representation of that publication's subject matter. Many can be obtained electronically through the NIJ World Wide Web site (<http://www.ojp.usdoj.gov/nij>) and the National Criminal Justice Reference Service (NCJRS) Web site (<http://www.ncjrs.org>). Several documents are available only through either the Office of Law Enforcement Standards (OLES) Web site (<http://www.oles.org>) or the JUSTNET site of the National Law Enforcement and Corrections Technology Center (<http://www.nlectc.org>). OLES, a division of the National Institute of Standards and Technology and funded by NIJ, develops national performance standards for equipment used by criminal justice agencies. NLECTC, a program of the NIJ Office of Science and Technology, provides criminal justice professionals with information on technology, guidelines and standards for these technologies, objective testing data, and science and engineering advice and support to implement these technologies.

Additionally, most of the items are free; others are available either as photocopies for a nominal fee ($5 plus $0.10 per page) or through interlibrary loan. To find out hardcopy availability and to order documents, please contact NCJRS at 800-851-3420 or e-mail askncjrs@ncjrs.org. A complete list of NIJ's most recently published science and technology documents issued through NLECTC can be found in the National Law Enforcement and Corrections Technology Center Publications List (NCJ 164034). Call the national headquarters of NLECTC for more information (800-248-2742) or visit the JUSTNET Web site. A complete list of OLES publications and ordering information can be found in the Literature Library at the OLES Web site or by calling 301-975-2757.

National Institute of Justice

The following lists and describes NIJ's publication and videotape series formats:

AIDS BULLETINS. Short, nontechnical summaries of important information on AIDS and related justice policies.

ANNUAL REPORT. A report to the President, the Congress, and the Attorney General presenting the results of NIJ research and development as well as evaluations of State and local programs aimed at controlling drug abuse and crime.

CONSTRUCTION BULLETINS. Summarized case studies of progressive techniques for constructing correctional facilities.

CRIME FILE. Series of 30-minute videotapes of panel discussions of critical criminal justice issues, accompanied by brief study guides.

ISSUES AND PRACTICES. Detailed descriptions of program options and management issues in a topic area based on a review of research and evaluation findings, operational experience, and expert opinion.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE JOURNAL. Formerly called NIJ Reports and National Institute of Justice Reports, a periodical presenting articles on topical research, evaluation, and demonstration program results, as well as news of NIJ activities, disseminated to a wide audience of policymakers and practitioners.

NIJ STANDARDS. Reports describing and evaluating minimum performance standards for any device with potential use within the criminal justice system.

PERSPECTIVES ON CRIME AND JUSTICE VIDEOTAPE LECTURES. Sixty-minute videos featuring nationally prominent scholars speaking about crime and justice research as it relates to creating effective policy. Volumes containing the full text of each speech have been published in NIJ's new Research Forum series.

PERSPECTIVES ON POLICING. Reports from the Executive Session on Policing, cosponsored by NIJ and Harvard University's John F. Kennedy

School of Government and held with some of the leading figures in American policing. These 8- to 16-page bulletins highlight issues of importance to the improvement and future of policing.

PROGRAM FOCUS. Highlights of a specific State or local criminal justice program that is innovative or promising.

RESEARCH FORUM. Presentations by nationally and internationally prominent criminal justice scholars speaking about criminal justice research and policy issues at NIJ-sponsored conferences.

RESEARCH IN ACTION (RIA). Similar to a Research in Brief, except that the focus is on how the research has been translated into practice.

RESEARCH IN BRIEF (RIB). Nontechnical summary, usually six to eight pages, of findings of NIJ-sponsored research, evaluation, program development, or technology projects whose results are particularly important and reflect high-quality research.

RESEARCH IN PROGRESS SEMINARS. Sixty-minute videotapes featuring criminal justice scholars discussing cutting-edge research before a live audience. These presentations are also summarized in the Research in Progress Preview series or in the NIJ Journal.

RESEARCH PREVIEW. Formerly called National Institute of Justice Update, two-page nontechnical highlights of findings stemming from a specific project, either recently completed or in progress. The results of most projects are disseminated through Research Previews.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY PUBLICATIONS. Available in various formats—from a newsletter (NLECTC Technology Beat, currently called TechBeat) to equipment performance reports to consumer product lists. These materials translate scientific and technological research and development activities into layman's terms for the criminal justice, law enforcement, and corrections fields and contribute to the development of tools to improve the safety and operational efficiency of criminal justice agencies.

NIJ OUT-OF-PRINT PUBLICATIONS

The National Institute of Justice/NCJRS operates a document loan program and a photocopying service. If you want to obtain out-of-print publications, please use one of the following programs or services.

NCJRS DOCUMENT LOAN PROGRAM

NCJRS lends publications only through other libraries for a transaction fee of $4.50 per document ($5.00 for Canadian borrowers). The program is not available to international users other than those in Canada. To initiate an interlibrary loan, contact your local public or agency library. Include the full title and NCJ number on a standard four-part American Library Association form. The following entities are exempt from the interlibrary loan fee: Federal, State, and local criminal justice libraries and members of the Criminal Justice Information Exchange (CJIE) group.

NCJRS PHOTOCOPYING SERVICE

NCJRS photocopies out-of-print government publications on a cost-recovery basis. For more information, call NCJRS at 800-851-3420.

NATIONAL CRIMINAL JUSTICE REFERENCE SERVICE

The National Criminal Justice Reference Service (NCJRS) is one of the world's most extensive networks of criminal and juvenile justice information. NCJRS provides a range of services and outreach activities to respond to the criminal and juvenile justice information needs of professionals, practitioners, administrators, policymakers, and the general public. NCJRS links research findings with those who make policy and implement programs at the State and local levels.

NCJRS provides a variety of information services, including:

- Access to information in the NCJRS document collection of more than 150,000 published and unpublished books, reports, and articles.
  - Information specialists who can search the NCJRS Abstracts Database and other resources to answer questions on a broad range of criminal justice issues.
  - Distribution in print and electronically of more than 200 new titles annually from the National Institute of Justice, other Office of Justice Programs agencies, and the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy.
  - Free subscriptions to the National Institute of Justice Journal and the bimonthly NCJRS Catalog, which together increase awareness of criminal justice issues and knowledge of new criminal justice literature.
- Special products such as the NCJRS Abstracts Database on CD-ROM (abstracts of all documents in the NCJRS collection) and the Construction Information Exchange (information on more than 700 prisons and jails).
  - Research and Information Center in Rockville, Maryland, and document loan capabilities to libraries in the United States and Canada.

For more information on NCJRS, call toll free 800-851-3420. From outside the United States, call 301-519-5500, send an e-mail message to askncjrs@ncjrs.org, or visit the NCJRS Web site at <http://www.ncjrs.org/ncjhome.htm>

About the National Institute of Justice

The National Institute of Justice (NIJ), a component of the Office of Justice Programs, is the research agency of the U.S. Department of Justice. Created by the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, as amended, NIJ is authorized to support research, evaluation, and demonstration programs, development of technology, and both national and international information dissemination. Specific mandates of the Act direct NIJ to:

- Sponsor special projects, and research and development programs, that will improve and strengthen the criminal justice system and reduce or prevent crime.
- Conduct national demonstration projects that employ innovative or promising approaches for improving criminal justice.
- Develop new technologies to fight crime and improve criminal justice.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of criminal justice programs and identify programs that promise to be successful if continued or repeated.
- Recommend actions that can be taken by Federal, State, and local governments as well as by private organizations to improve criminal justice.
- Carry out research on criminal behavior.
- Develop new methods of crime prevention and reduction of crime and delinquency.

In recent years, NIJ has greatly expanded its initiatives, the result of the Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 (the Crime Act), partnerships with other Federal agencies and private foundations, advances in technology, and a new international focus. Some examples of these new initiatives:

- New research and evaluation are exploring key issues in community policing, violence against women, sentencing reforms, and specialized courts such as drug courts.
- Dual-use technologies are being developed to support national defense and local law enforcement needs.
- The causes, treatment, and prevention of violence against women and violence within the family are being investigated in cooperation with several agencies of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.
- NIJ's links with the international community are being strengthened through membership in the United Nations network of criminological institutes; participation in developing the U.N. Criminal Justice Information Network; initiation of UNOJUST (U.N. Online Justice Clearinghouse), which electronically links the institutes to the U.N. network; and establishment of an NIJ International Center.
- The NIJ-administered criminal justice information clearinghouse, the world's largest, has improved its online capability.
- The Institute's Drug Use Forecasting (DUF) program has been expanded and enhanced. Renamed ADAM (Arrestee Drug Abuse Monitoring), the program will increase the number of drug-testing sites, and its role as a "platform" for studying drug-related crime will grow.
- NIJ's new Crime Mapping Research Center will provide training in computer mapping technology, collect and archive geocoded crime data, and develop analytic software.
- The Institute's program of intramural research has been expanded and enhanced.

The Institute Director, who is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, establishes the Institute's objectives, guided by the priorities of the Office of Justice Programs, the Department of Justice, and the needs of the criminal justice field. The Institute actively solicits the views of criminal justice professionals and researchers in the continuing search for answers that inform public policymaking in crime and justice.
