VictimConnect Evaluation Instruments

Toolkit Resource 7

Malore Dusenbery, Sara Bastomski, Krista White, and Erica Henderson

December 2020

This brief is the seventh of seven toolkit resources supporting the Urban Institute’s formative evaluation of the VictimConnect Resource Center, a nationwide victims’ helpline operated by the National Center for Victims of Crime (NCVC).¹ The evaluation was conducted in 2019 and 2020 with funding from the National Institute of Justice (box 1). In this brief, we present drafts of the instruments to be used in Urban’s planned implementation and outcome evaluations of VictimConnect; these instruments will be pilot tested and finalized before being used for evaluation.

Introduction

The evaluation instruments included herein were developed by Urban’s researchers based on their collaborative formative evaluation of the VictimConnect Resource Center, working in partnership with leadership and research liaisons from NCVC, the program’s developer. Urban’s researchers also reviewed previous hotline evaluations and victim research instruments in development of these tools. For discussions of how each instrument will be used to inform Urban’s planned evaluations of VictimConnect’s implementation and outcomes, see the fourth and fifth toolkit resources, which describe the implementation and outcome evaluation plans.

¹ This project was supported by Award No. 2018-V3-GX-0003, awarded by the National Institute of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, US Department of Justice. The opinions, findings, and conclusions or recommendations expressed in this publication are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect those of the Department of Justice.

Overview of the VictimConnect Evaluation Toolkit

The VictimConnect Resource Center is a nationwide helpline that provides information, emotional support, and referrals to victims of crime and their loved ones through four technological modalities: softphone (phone calls via a secure, anonymous internet-based connection), online chat, text messaging, and the center website. In 2019, with funding from the National Institute of Justice, Urban launched a multiphase evaluation of the center, collaborating with research liaisons at the National Center for Victims of Crime. During the first phase, the evaluation team conducted a formative evaluation of VictimConnect through which it assessed the program’s evaluability, used those findings to strengthen the program’s research capacity, and developed a comprehensive plan for a future implementation and outcome evaluation. Findings from the first phase are summarized in Formative Evaluation of VictimConnect: Preparing for Rigorous Evaluation of a National Resource Center and are supplemented by the VictimConnect Evaluation Toolkit resources, which are briefs covering the following: (1) foundational theory and literature, (2) refining the logic model, (3) an evaluability assessment, (4) the implementation evaluation plan, (5) the outcome evaluation plan, (6) research capacity building, and (7) evaluation instruments. If funded, we anticipate that the next phases will begin in 2022 and will entail a comprehensive implementation evaluation and rigorous outcome evaluation of VictimConnect.

Importantly, each of these instruments will undergo pilot testing and any necessary revisions before being used for evaluation purposes. In addition, use of these instruments—for pilot testing or full evaluation—will first require review and approval from Urban’s institutional review board to determine that they provide all necessary human subjects protections (this will, at minimum, entail appropriate use of informed consent for visitors who opt to complete the longitudinal survey; consent forms will be developed during the next evaluation phase and are not included in this brief). Below is a table of contents providing page numbers for each instrument.

Session Observation Protocols

Instructions to Urban researcher/reviewer: During the observation, please make note of how the process is unfolding, paying attention to the following:

- What and how information is shared;
- The nature of the interactions between the visitor and Victim Assistance Specialist (VAS);
- Challenges with the process of the interaction (e.g., the conversation was slow to get off the ground, visitor seemed reticent);
- Other observations

This section should be used for the reviewer to note anything that transpires during the interaction that is not captured by the above tool. It can note tone of conversation, attitude of advocate, attitude of caller, off-target call, etc., as well as any unusual or noteworthy occurrences during the call (interruptions, abrupt ending to interaction, sudden outburst).
Staff Interview Questionnaire

1. Background/Experience—First, we want to understand your background and experience with VictimConnect.
   a. How long you have been a part of operating the program?
      i. What role you play in doing so?
   b. Do you have any prior hotline/victim service experience?
      i. If yes, do you think having prior hotline/victim service experience has been beneficial to your role?
      ii. If no, do you think having this experience would have helped you excel in this role in any way or is the training sufficient?

2. Training
   a. For VictimConnect supervisors - Next, we would like to know about the trainings you have given on VictimConnect and any information about VictimConnect that you have provided to others as their supervisor.
      i. Do you believe the training is adequate? Why or why not?
      ii. Do you provide training on dealing with vicarious trauma?
         1. If yes, can you describe the training?
         2. In your view, is this training helpful for you? For VASs?
      iii. In what format do you usually provide training (e.g., virtual, in person)?
         1. Are you generally satisfied with this format? What works well, and what could be improved?
      iv. What are some of the things you always want VAS to do when interacting with VictimConnect visitors?
      v. Do they have a checklist to follow, and do you provide oversight on their interactions (in what ways)?
      vi. Do the trainings differ by staff VAS and volunteers? If yes, how?
   b. For VictimConnect former/current VASs - Next, we would like to know about the training you have received on VictimConnect and any information about VictimConnect that was provided to you.
      i. What are some of the things you always try to do when interacting with VictimConnect visitors?
      ii. Do you have a checklist to follow, and does anyone provide oversight on your interactions (in what ways)?
      iii. In what format was the training you received (e.g., virtual, in person)?
1. Are you generally satisfied with this format? What works well, and what could be improved?

iv. Did you receive training on dealing with vicarious trauma?
   1. If yes, can you describe the training?
   2. Has this training been helpful for you? Why or why not?

v. Do you feel adequately prepared to field inquiries after being trained? Or is there something more you feel you need in order to be successful in this role?

3. VictimConnect Visitors—We would like to understand what types of visitors typically interact with VictimConnect and the needs they typically want filled.
   a. What types of victimization experiences and needs do you most commonly encounter when interacting with VictimConnect visitors?
   b. How often is the visitor the victim of a crime themselves vs. a family member, friend, or other supporter of the victim?
   c. How do visitor types differ by telephone, chat, and text (if at all)?
   d. In your experience, is VictimConnect reaching underserved populations? Why or why not?
   e. What do you see as VictimConnect’s primary goal with regard to helping visitors who are (a) victims in crisis, (b) survivors, (c) family members/friends, or (d) service providers?

4. Staff Knowledge and Skills—We are also interested in hearing about your knowledge of the types of services and resources you might refer visitors to.
   a. First, what do you see as the most important goals to accomplish with each interaction?
   b. How often do visitors request a referral to a service provider or other resource?
      i. How confident do you feel about your ability to identify the appropriate services for a given visitor’s needs?
      ii. Are there certain types of resources or services that you feel you need more information about? If so, what are they?
      iii. How often do you use the VictimConnect resource database when interacting with visitors?
         1. How often are you able to find an appropriate service or resource?
         2. Is the information up-to-date?
         3. Have you experienced any challenges in using the resource database?
      iv. How often do you provide information to visitors about relevant services that they didn’t already know?
c. How confident do you feel about your ability to complete other types of activities during your interactions with visitors (e.g., assessing the visitor’s safety, assisting with safety planning, exploring help seeking options)?
   i. Have you experienced any challenges in completing these types of activities? If so, what were they?

5. Service Delivery—Next, we’d like to get your thoughts on how VictimConnect's services are delivered and whether the service delivery meets the needs of visitors.
   a. In your experience, do VictimConnect’s technological platforms meet visitors’ needs in terms of ease of use, privacy, and safety? Why or why not?
   b. How often do you typically warm-transfer a visitor to a service provider? What works well about that process, and what could be done differently?
   c. What are your thoughts on individuals who try to access VictimConnect “after hours?”
   d. What types of protections does the VictimConnect platform have in place to protect visitors’ confidentiality and anonymity?
      i. How do visitors learn about these protections (e.g., from VAS, on the website)?
      ii. In your view, are there any other protections that VictimConnect should implement to ensure that visitors feel safe? If so, what are they?

6. Service Provider Collaboration—VictimConnect also collaborates with service providers through referrals, coordinated outreach activities, and training and technical assistance.
   a. During your time working with VictimConnect, how has collaboration with service providers changed, if at all?
      i. Has it gotten more/less common? Covered a wider/narrower range of activities? Covered a more/less diverse set of victimization types or populations?
      ii. What types of victimizations or geographic regions, if any, need additional representation/coverage within VictimConnect’s network of service providers?
      iii. What is working well about collaborating with service providers, and what could be improved?
   b. How often does VictimConnect provide training and technical assistance to service providers? Has that changed since you’ve been working with VictimConnect?
   c. What is your perception of VictimConnect’s training and technical assistance? What about it is working well, and what could be improved?

NOTE: A version of this instrument for the comparison group of “after hour” visitors—people who attempted to reach VictimConnect but did so outside of its operational hours—will be developed in the next evaluation phase, mimicking all questions above but referencing the “attempt” to contact VictimConnect rather than actual connection.
Stakeholder Interview Questionnaire

1. Current Role/Background/Experience—First, we want to understand your current role, professional experience and educational background.
   a. What is your current position and what are your major responsibilities in that role?
   b. How long have you been working at [insert current organization name]?
   c. What professional experience and/or education prepared you for your current role?

2. Organizational Background—We’d additionally like to understand the role your organization/agency plays in serving victims/survivors.
   a. What is the mission of your organization?
      i. Who is the target population that your organization serves?
      ii. What types of services does your organization provide?
      iii. How long has your organization been operating for?
   b. Where is your organization located? What is the geographic area that you serve (e.g. entire city, several counties, etc.)?
   c. We’d also like to know about the size of your organization.
      i. About how many staff work there?
      ii. About how many victims do you serve annually?

3. Knowledge and Familiarity with VictimConnect—Our next set of questions focuses on your familiarity with VictimConnect Resource Center.
   a. How did you first learn about VictimConnect?
   b. In what ways have you or your colleagues engaged with VictimConnect (e.g. referring clients; receiving referrals, coordinated outreach activities, receiving TTA)?
      i. Can you please describe this in more detail (e.g. how frequently do you engage in this way, for how many years, are you familiar with specific staff at VictimConnect, etc.)?

4. VictimConnect Warm Transfer Referral Services—Next, we’d like to get your thoughts on how VictimConnect’s warm-transfer referral services are delivered and whether the service delivery meets the needs of visitors/victims that you work with.
   a. How does your organization typically receive referrals?
   b. When did you first begin to receive referrals from VictimConnect?
c. How frequently has your organization received warm-transfers from VictimConnect? What works well about that process, and what could be done differently?
   i. In your experience, to what extent do warm transfers meet the need of victims?
   ii. What are the benefits—to victims and to your organization—of receiving these warm transfers (e.g. victim doesn’t need to repeat their story, victim finds out about a service they otherwise wouldn’t be aware of)?
      1. To what extent, if at all, has engagement with VictimConnect helped your organization reach underserved or hard-to-reach populations?
      2. To what extent, if at all, has VictimConnect helped your organization serve more a more diverse population (e.g. demographically, people experiencing different types of victimization, people living in a broader geographic area)?
   iii. Have you noticed any differences between clients who are referred to you via VictimConnect, in comparison to clients who are not? If so, please describe those in more detail (e.g. victimization type, needs, demographics).
   iv. What are some of the challenges? What has been done to develop solutions around these challenges (or what do you recommend should be done)?
   v. What could be done to improve this service, if any?
   vi. To the best of your knowledge, to what extent are victims satisfied with their experience with VictimConnect staff and warm-transfers in particular?

d. What happens after your staff receive a VictimConnect referral?
   i. What types of services do these victims typically receive at your organization, and what does a typical timeframe for those services look like (e.g. single appointment, multiple appointments or ongoing services, etc.)?

5. VictimConnect Resources, Training and Technical Assistance (TTA) for Service Providers - Next, we’d like to get your thoughts on how VictimConnect’s TTA.
   a. Please tell us about the TTA you received from VictimConnect.
      i. How was TTA initiated? What needs did your organization have?
         1. What did the TTA consist of and how long did the engagement last?
         2. What did you hope would happen as a result of the TTA?
   b. What is your perception of VictimConnect’s training and technical assistance? What about it is working well, and what could be improved?
      i. What were the specifics benefits, if any, to your organization and staff?
1. How do you expect TTA to be used by your staff? Do you have plans to do any follow ups as a result (e.g. additional staff training, incorporate new technology into services, adopt or enhance best practices, connect with other service providers, adopt new outreach efforts)?

2. What progress, if any, has your organization made in terms of making these adjustments to services?
   a. What are some of the things that have worked well as you make these changes? What are some of the challenges?
      i. In what ways, if any, could TTA support you in addressing those challenges?

3. Would you recommend this TTA to other service providers? Why or why not?
   c. What resources or other TTA services do you think would be helpful (to your organization or the field)?

6. Closing Thoughts -
   a. Do you have any other thoughts you’d like to share with us today?
About the Authors
