BJS RELEASES PROBATION AND PAROLE IN THE UNITED STATES, 2013

WASHINGTON – The Department of Justice’s Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) released Probation and Parole in the United States, 2013, which presents data on adult offenders under community supervision, describes changes in the probation and parole populations, and provides statistics on the entries and exits, mean time served, and outcomes of supervision, including the rate at which offenders completed their term of supervision. BJS also released Corrections Statistical Analysis Tool-Parole, an online tool that allows users to examine data collected by the Annual Parole Survey on persons sentenced as adults.

The Office of Justice Programs (OJP), headed by Assistant Attorney General Karol V. Mason, provides federal leadership in developing the nation’s capacity to prevent and control crime, administer justice, and assist victims. OJP has six components: the Bureau of Justice Assistance; the Bureau of Justice Statistics; the National Institute of Justice; the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention; the Office for Victims of Crime; and the Office of Sex Offender Sentencing, Monitoring, Apprehending, Registering, and Tracking. More information about OJP can be found at <http://www.ojp.gov>.
