What is a lease?

A lease is one type of procurement action allowable with federal grant funds. While leases are a less used method, they can be a more economical way of obtaining items necessary for your work on federal grants. This is especially so if the item is not needed after the grant period is over. There are many types of leases an entity may need to secure including:

- Equipment
- Machinery
- Real property (buildings and land)
- Sub-leases
- Vehicles

What are included in lease agreements?

- Item being leased and a description of the item
- All parties included in the transaction are identified
- Terms of the lease including:
  - Length of the lease
  - Amount and options for payment
  - Responsible party for maintenance and repair
  - Provisions for default or other termination clauses
  - Laws governing the agreement

NOTE: Because a lease is a legally binding document, it is advisable to consult an attorney or other source who is knowledgeable in lease agreements.

What are procurement requirements?

- The DOJ Grants Financial Guide requires any item your entity plans to purchase with a value of $5,000 or more to have prior approval before the purchase is completed. This also applies to any items over $5,000 you plan to lease.

- If you plan to lease an item with a value over $5,000, you must send a request to your OVC Grant Manager, before you begin the lease, for review and approval along with your lease versus purchase analysis process. If you have questions or want a preliminary review of your analysis before you send it to your OVC Grant Manager, you can send it to TFMC at TFMC@OVCTFMC.org. One of our Financial Specialists can provide suggestions to aid in your analysis and submission.
Steps for a lease versus purchase analysis

| 1    | Document lease information
- Length of lease
- Benefits of leasing the item versus purchasing |
| 2    | Obtain quotes to both purchase and lease the item
Unless you are required by your entity’s policy to go through a specific vendor, it is suggested you receive at least three written quotes to lease and three written quotes to purchase.
Note: Because you are completing an analysis, it is best practice to let vendors know you are collecting this information for an analysis to determine whether leasing or purchasing is the most economical option for your needs. |
| 3    | Complete an analysis of the actual cost to lease versus the actual cost to purchase
The analysis includes the following:
Lease:
- Cost to lease the item = the average cost of the quotes received
- Cost of maintenance of the item
- Total lease cost = lease price + maintenance costs
Purchase:
- Cost to purchase the item = the average cost of the quotes received
- Cost of maintenance of the item
- Depreciation value over the use of the item
- Calculation of resale value (purchase price - estimated depreciation)
- Total purchase cost = purchase price + maintenance costs - resale value
Note: In some localities, leasing a vehicle (or other equipment) is not an option because the grantee and/or lessor cannot comply with common lease terms (e.g., a prohibition on driving a leased vehicle on unimproved roads, a requirement that leased vehicles be serviced at a facility distant from the grantee location, or other reasons). In these circumstances, grantees will not be required to do a lease-purchase comparison. Still, they will use the lease-purchase template to detail their purchase-cost analysis and use the check box at the bottom of the form to indicate it is not feasible to lease a vehicle. Therefore, no lease-cost analysis is required. |
What are the steps for OVC Grant Manager approval?

Once you have analyzed your options for leasing versus purchasing an item and have decided which option to pursue, send the following documents to your OVC Grant Manager for review and approval:

- Completed lease versus purchase analysis
- Copies of the quotes you received
- Justification for your preferred option

Steps after receiving OVC Grant Manager approval

Once you have approval to proceed, upload both the lease versus purchase analysis and the written approval from your OVC Grant Manager into JustGrants. You can access information about how to use JustGrants through the online JustGrants Training Overview.

When you are ready to purchase or lease the item, follow your entity’s procurement policy and abide by all procurement requirements as identified in 2 CFR § 200.317-326 during the process to complete the lease agreement.
